Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required, we can furnish, gratuitously, to purchasers, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the middle States of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

HISTORY OF INTEMPERANCE.

To-day we give the conclusion of the Statistics of Intemperance in Portsmouth, prepared ten years ago, by a committee chosen for the purpose, by a general meeting of the citizens,—to which the reader's attention is respectfully invited; as most of the matter therein contained, is as pertinent to the present time, as it was when prepared, to that time.

CHAPTER V.—ARGUMENT.

Having presented to you this statement of the extent to which intemperance prevails, and traced some of its effects, it may be expected that we should propose some definite mode of arresting the evil. But it is so deeply founded, being less a local disease than the effect of a diseased system, that no specific can be devised for its cure. The preliminary step indispensable to the great object, is, to produce general and serious thought on the subject; the evil will exist and extend so long as the people do not consider. We do not fear that the facts we have stated will be denied, but we do fear that they will not long be a subject of thought.—Should, indeed, some superior being reveal to us the fact, that a single bad habit is the cause of nearly all the crime that comes under the cognizance of the law—of most of the immorality that escapes its cognizance, and of the pauperism that fills our alms-houses,—should he further reveal to us that this evil has no foundation in the wants of our nature, and that man is not seduced into the practice of it by any impulse of passion; we should listen to such a revelation with wonder, anxious to know what that solitary, superfluous, bad habit could be, the suppression of which would remove so many of the evils that afflict our race; and we should resolve to use our utmost energy for its suppression. But the truth is before us, no revelation can make it either greater or less. Then let every man who has the good of society at heart, make this matter a subject of serious consideration, and his influence and example will be given in aid of the good cause; his powers of intellect will be brought to bear upon it, and the first great step is attained.

If reason and example cannot effect a reformation, we fear that the case, in this community at least, is hopeless. Law is a dead letter while one-half of the people encourage transgression, and a large part of the remainder are indifferent to its execution; nor is that kind of reformation which is enforced only by law, of a sure and permanent character.

When a large majority of our citizens shall regard this matter seriously, and become truly desirous of suppressing intemperance, little will remain for the action of the law, and the few stubborn characters that resist the general will, may be easily crushed under its penalties.

We think also, that the process of reformation should not begin with the drunkard; it must commence with those who occupy a higher place in public estimation; many who hold good places in society and who profess to agree in principle with the advocates of temperance, do nothing by example to discourage intemperance. They cover their table with wine of many vintages: they push the social glass to the extreme of temperance, yet profess to abhor the drunkard. If they are disposed to reason against intemperance, they are disarmed of argument by their own acts.

He who is unwilling to sacrifice a paltry gratification of the appetite, as an example to those of whom more difficult acts of self-denial are required, can hardly be deemed very zealous for the public good. We will grant that the moderate use of wine is innocent in itself, and we may perhaps grant the same for ardent spirit. But it is because the moderate use of ardent spirit is almost a certain precursor of its immoderate use, and because when such haply is not the case, it still is the occasion of immoderate use in those who follow example but are weak of purpose, that we regard it wrong to use it in any degree.—If the same reason, in the present state of the case in this town, does not apply to the use of wine, the distinction is not obvious to us.

CHAPTER VI.—EXAMPLE.

It is not the example of the 289 drunkards that encourages intemperance. The 400 moderate drinkers look down upon them with contempt; they never mean to sink so low; and though these 400 mutually afford encouragement to each other in their practices, they all look to the more respectable wine drinker for countenance, and the higher his position, the greater is their own self-justification. It is a happy circumstance for our prospects in this town that the class which is always expected to be foremost in good example, viz. the clergy, are almost unanimous both in advocating and practicing principles of total abstinence.

It is not a solitary good that will have been effected, when the efforts of the friends of temperance shall be crowned with success.—Not only will the physical and moral evils that follow in the train of intemperance be banished; a greater victory will have been achieved; a principle that forms the very basis of virtue will have been strengthened and established—the principle of self-control, whose triumphant action will be felt in every other struggle with evil.

To seize a present good or to enjoy a present pleasure at the expense of future pain and evil, has always been the characteristic of man; it is the failing which lays at the foundation of every vice; they who overcome it have ever been the wise and good of their generation—philosophers—christians. Self control is the antagonist principle. To encourage and strengthen its exercise, all well directed efforts of the advocates of temperance will be applied. On no other foundation can they build their hope of permanent success. Others may point out the way, but a man can, after all, be saved only by his own efforts.

Every exhibition of the evil effect of intemperance upon the individual himself, upon his family or upon society, every argument addressed to his conscience, every appeal to his feelings, will tend to induce in him the effort to exercise self-control.

To insure success in our important moral effort some means must be taken, by which these considerations may from time to time, be brought to the attention of the people.—Concert and union among all who wish to banish from our town the evil in question, should therefore be effected. When this union is formed, those who compose it, will best devise the mode of action, and no present suggestion from us would be appropriate.

Let no cold calculations of the chances of success enter your minds. We have heard it said that all effort to produce general reformation is vain; that man always has been, and will remain the victim of intemperance. But intemperance is not a necessary evil; it is man's own free act; and must man always be the victim of a tyrant of his own creation? But much has already been effected by the friends of temperance—they have the gratitude of all good men—they have indeed the ridicule of a different class. But neither the smiles of the one, nor the sneers of the other are of any real importance; they have done that which conscience prompts them to do; and neither smiles nor frowns can affect the verdict of conscience.

We therefore ask you to unite in an effort for the good cause, not deterred by fear of failure, nor prompted altogether by hope of success, but because you feel it to be your duty, and are resolved to do it.

Carrying this principle into the effort, no obstacle will be strong enough to deter you—perseverance will be guaranteed by the sense of duty, and success will be its natural reward. In pursuance of these views, the committee respectfully recommend the following resolutions.

Signed, ALFRED W. HAVEN,
RICHARD JENNESS,
OLIVER AYERS,
JOS. M. EDMONDS,
JOHN KNOWLTON,
Committee.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That it is very desirable to bring into action many respectable citizens who have not yet seen fit to join in the public efforts of the advocates of temperance, and who may object to join societies organized on the principle of giving individual pledges of abstinence; and that, for the purpose of engaging them in the cause, and of effecting a concert of action among all the friends of temperance in this place, and of promoting the adoption of such measures as shall from time to time attract and engage public attention, an association of all who are opposed to intemperance and willing to use their efforts for its suppression, be formed as soon as may be practicable.

Resolved, That a committee of twenty, to be nominated by the Chairman, be now chosen, for the purpose of forming such an association.

Resolved, That the proposed association is not intended to supersede any society for the suppression of intemperance, that now exists in this town, but to endeavor to effect the same object in a spirit of brotherly feeling with the members of such society.

We may add, that the proposed association was not formed; nor was any other specific action had in consequence of this report. Nor did we expect there would be. Yet the publication, we have no doubt, strengthened the hands of the friends of temperance for the time being, and so did good. We have preserved it as a valuable document, entirely reliable,—and republish it for the many lessons it contains.

We have not the means now, of knowing exactly how the trade stands at present. But our impression is, the quantity of liquor sold here now, falls below the quantity sold ten years since, and considerably below what was sold two years ago;—but that it now rises above what was sold six or eight months ago.

We have never seen a stronger condemnation of the trade and use of intoxicating drinks, expressed in language at once mild and decided.

It is said that Julia Deane Haynes has entirely lost her voice by overtaxing her powers.

We suppose it is meant that she overtaxed her vocal powers. It ought to be known by all public speakers and singers, that they can hold out much longer, and with more ease to themselves, in speaking and singing, if they have a plenty of exercise of the muscles, in the open air,—than if they shut themselves up and live in indolent languor, as to their physical nature.

The old travelling preachers, who did really travel, used their lungs excessively in speaking and singing, for years together, and some of them finally broke down—but they did so after an amount of work that would have killed ten or a dozen men who were shut up, or who did not have much exercise.

THE BLIND POLICY.—More than three hundred persons, (says the Boston Transcript of Monday evening,) have been disappointed at the stations on the line of the Boston & Maine Railroad this morning, on account of the alteration in the trains, of which no public notice was given. In some towns there was not even a handbill to inform the patrons of the road respecting the movements of the trains. We hope none of those disappointed and outraged at this petty meanness will be on a jury where the railroad corporation is a party in a suit.

We have often wondered at this policy: there is no reason why notice cannot be given a week before hand.

The manufactory of the Chicago Rosin Oil Company was burned on the 7th inst. Loss $20,000.

LOCAL.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, Wednesday, April 16.

The case of Clarke and wife vs George and Cyrus Wood, has occupied the attention of the Court throughout the day, and will probably be finished on Thursday morning.

As a new, and to us unobjectionable feature, not in the usual routine of proceedings, we noticed several ladies in attendance to-day, as spectators.

DISCUSSION.—The Boston Post receives the following singular hint, from one of its Democratic coadjutors:—

Slavery Extension.—The Boston Post says it is a libel on the Democracy to say that they are in favor of slavery extension. Well, then, of course they are opposed to its extension. So is Greeley, and Seward, and Hale, and Chase, the men and the party which the Post opposes or assumes to oppose. There is no escape from this conclusion. "Slavery extension" is the sole question before the country, for Know Nothingism is merely a galvanized corpse, without life or motion beyond that imparted to it by the artificial stimuli of political necromancy. We repeat, "slavery," negro slavery, and negro slavery extension, is the sole question before the country, and to be determined in the approaching Presidential election, and as Mr. Senator Seward, above all other public men of the day, embodies the opposition to this slavery extension, the Democracy, if opposed to it in common with Mr. Seward, should at once make him President; and the Boston Post, if opposed to this extension of slavery, should join heart and hand in placing the man above all others truly embodying that opposition, in the Presidential chair, for the good and substantial reason that the opposition would be most effective when thus represented. But the Democracy are not opposed to slavery extension, and the time is at hand when those who assume to speak for it must understand what they are doing in the matter, or they had better hold their tongues, aye, had better cut out their tongues a thousand times over rather then thus help to mystify and bewilder, and indeed debauch the common sense of the people.

The above comes from the Day Book, which is, we believe, the only administration journal published in New York city, and it would be satisfactory to know how the Post stands under such an admonition. There is certainly no mystification nor bewilderment about this paragraph, which announces so broadly all its belief and understanding as one of the organs of the national administration. —Boston Courier.

☞ We learn from the Boston Mail that James W. Ricker, formerly of this city, and recently a clerk in the office of the Boston Herald, is to start a Daily evening penny paper in that city, commencing next Monday.

☞ Our thanks are due to Hon. Mr. Pike, Representative in Congress for this District, for a valuable document for reference, viz. the Census Statistics for 1850.

The Virginia Sentinel tells a story of a Shanghai hen which fell into an unfinished well 70 feet deep, and remained there 29 days without food or water, yet was taken out alive.

Henry Brett, of Portsmouth, England, 18 years old, was standing in front of the gun which the whaler Vineyard fired for a pilot, upon her return to Edgartown on Sunday last, and was knocked overboard by the discharge and lost.

SWINDLING.—Several swindling transactions have recently transpired, wherein rogues advertised for clerks, &c., and decamped with the money deposited by applicants to guarantee their honesty. D. M. Fanning, who formerly traded in Washington street, has left Boston with $200 thus deposited by a young man belonging in Biddeford, Maine, says the Atlas.

☞ Fast Day in Maine to day.

In a South Carolina paper, called the Southern Enterprise, appears a letter from Hon. J. B. O'Neall, in which, speaking of South Carolina College, and the young men who are educated there, he says—

"I graduated in the college forty-three years ago last December. I have been a trustee for thirty-seven years. I know that I have watched over its interests with all the care of a deep and abiding love; and yet I know that of all the students graduating from 1806 to 1855, forty-nine years, one-fourth of the whole number have died drunkards, or are now drunkards—a shame to themselves and a burden to their families."

EXTRACT FROM REPORT.—"After repeated trials and hearings, your Committee feel prepared to say that this (BROWN & ALLEN'S) Piano Forte is one of the very best they have ever met with in the course of seventeen years' observation of the progress of Piano manufacture in this country; and they consider it eminently worthy of the highest premium in this department.

Of nearly 40,000 persons who have emigrated from Virginia to other parts of this country, almost two-thirds have chosen to remove into free States. We may add, that unless we are deceived by the Virginian advertisements in Northern papers, offering large districts of land to Northern settlers, there is more reason to expect a considerable emigration of free labor into Virginia, than of slave labor from it. —Boston Advertiser.

The laborers on the Chats Canal, at Bytown, struck for higher wages on Thursday last. They proceeded to the residence of the contractors, fired their barns, destroyed a large quantity of hay and grain, and burned many valuable horses.

The Canton (Miss.) Citizen speaks of the man who was lately tarred and feathered in that place on suspicion of being an abolitionist, "as having borne a very good character, and as having, during the yellow fever last year, deported himself as a truly benevolent man and a gentleman." His benevolence to the sick was perhaps what caused the suspicion of abolitionism.—Boston Chronicle.

14 DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE EMPIRE CITY.

NEW ORLEANS, April 15.—The Empire City, via Havana, has arrived, bringing California mails of the 20th March.

The steamer Osprey was burnt in Kingston, Jamaica, harbor on the 25th of March, and was a total loss.

Advices from Aspinwall state that 400 Nicaraguan troops under Col. Schlessinger, were defeated by a body of 500 Costa Ricans, under Mora. The Costa Rican army was about to enter Nicaragua.

The Indian troubles in Oregon and Washington territories continue.

CONGRESS

TUESDAY, April 15.

SENATE.—Mr. Rusk, from the Post Office Committee, to which was referred the memorials of Messrs. Vanderbilt and Livingston, reported a bill to encourage new steam navigation lines, to provide for the transportation of mails by sea, and for other purposes.

In consequence of the illness of Mr. Clay, who had the right to the floor, on the bill to admit Kansas as a state, the subject was postponed, and the Senate went into executive session. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House passed the Senate bill authorizing payment to Jacob Dabson for services as a volunteer from California in the Mexican war; being a colored man, and the law not permitting him to enter the army, this special act is necessary for his relief.

The bill amendatory of the act of 1849, regulating the payment for horses and other property lost in the military service of the United States, was passed. The bill is intended to facilitate the means of obtaining proof in such cases.

The Deficiency Appropriation bill being under consideration, the House rejected the Senate's amendment appropriating $300,000 for continuing the Washington Aqueduct, and, without final action on the bill, adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The bill introduced into the Senate by Mr. Rusk, authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to enter into a contract with Messrs. Vanderbilt and Livingston for the conveyance of mails between Southampton and New York, or such ports of the United States as the public service may require, in steamers suitable for defensive purposes, and which the government may at any time employ on payment of a reasonable sum of money. The length of time to which the contract may extend without renewal is not to exceed six years, and the compensation for carrying the mails is not to be more than that paid by the English government to the Cunard line.

The President transmitted to the Senate a voluminous document relative to the payment of the $3,000,000, under the Mesilla Valley treaty. The report confirms the statement heretofore unofficially published on the subject, and says that Messrs. Howland and Aspinwall received three several sums, amounting to $2,250,000, and Messrs. Hargons Bros. the remainder, on the 7th of Feb. last.

The Senate today ratified two treaties concerning annuities to Indian tribes in New York and Michigan, besides confirming many Executive appointments, including some in the Marine Corps.

About twenty delegates to the Cincinnati Democratic Convention have arrived here for political purposes.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon, as the Rev. George B. Jewett, who was settled over the 1st Congregational Society at Nashua a year ago, was riding out with his wife and only child, a boy of about seven years of age, they arrived at the Concord Railroad track, and the horse stopped and no persuasion could prevail on him to move on. The Concord train came down upon them, and the engine threw the carriage from the track, demolishing it, and badly and fatally injuring those within. Mr. Jewett was so badly injured that it is thought that he can survive but a short time. Mrs. Jewett was seriously injured, but she may recover. The child had a leg and arm torn off, and died during the evening. Mr. Jewett, previous to his settlement at Nashua, was a professor for several years at Amherst College, and is a brother of John P. Jewett, Esq. of Boston, and of Prof. Charles C. Jewett, late of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Mrs. Jewett is a daughter of Mr. Henry Whipple of Salem.

GENEVA, 15th.—Steamer Burnt.—The steamer John Arnott was burned this morning at her dock, and a man named Dennis was burned to death. Several others on board were more or less injured.

Major General Scott looks exceedingly robust, and continues to perform his duty at the "Headquarters of the U. S. Army," in West Eleventh street, with the severest application during business hours. His "shadow has not grown less."—Jour. Com.

BANGOR, April 15.—The ice on the Penobscot moved down this afternoon, and navigation will probably be unobstructed to this city by to-morrow morning. There has been no freshet of any consequence, and no loss of logs.

ALBANY, April 15.—The canal between Buffalo and Lockport is reported to be in such a condition as will prevent its being opened before the 5th of May.

SUICIDE IN HINGHAM.—Capt. Perez Lincoln hung himself in his barn at Hingham, last Friday afternoon. He was 78 years of age, and had been blind and quite infirm for several years past.

Something New for Ladies and Gentlemen.

50,000 BOTTLES ALREADY SOLD.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It contains no ESSENTIAL OILS, or other Drying and Poisonous articles, such as Nitrate of Silver, Lac Sulphur, &c., but is a simple distillation from a VERY VALUABLE HERB. We do not offer it to the public as an article of Cologne, or Perfume, though its odor is very fragrant and agreeable, and especially so to the sick, who prize it much; but we say, that as a Medicated Hair Tonic, its equal, for beautifying and strengthening the hair, has never been discovered. It is a new article and its preparation is only known to the Proprietor.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

☞ Observe—It is not a hair dye, and we do offer it as such. We recommend the article for what it is, and not for what it is not. A little hair oil should be used once a week, as this article is not oily.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OVER TWO MILLION ACRES

OF

FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credit and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the north-east, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly adted for grain, grass and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and planting.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of those lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost, if not more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles adds the price of the lands named, carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precludes their the income from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, and the objections of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brot under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FURNISHED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up in the most substantial manner, from the cost $150 In cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements will be made to assist those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale rates.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due, and the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to DRUNKENNESS.—The Newburyport Herald, in the main, is considered as rather a conservative paper; and certainly is not answerable to the charge of undue fanaticism in advocating the prohibitory liquor law. From an article in that paper on Fast Day and its observance in that city, we make the following extract.

Thursday, instead of being a religious anniversary, was an unbridled jubilee; when the drinking houses were better patronized than the meeting houses, and when we observed more drunkenness than we had seen on any Fourth of July or Thanksgiving day in the last seven years. * * * And we were sorry to notice that several affected by liquor, were young men, who are doubtless ashamed of their folly before this. For the life of us we cannot imagine what can induce young men with the promise of many days before them, to touch a drop of the infernal stuff that is sold in the groggeries, of which heaven knows we have too many about our streets. They cannot be so blind as not to see that their steps take hold on death.* * The fire of insanity is dealt out: the miserable mixtures beget madness — they are rank poison; as deadly as the adder's sting; wasting all that is ennobling in man. If the devil himself had made chemistry a study, he could not have compounded ingredients that would sooner have palsied the wretched drinkers, tortured all whom they came in contact with on earth, or peopled hell faster than the liquors that are now sold — and were sold on Fast Day—in the low dram shops in this city, some of which, the quicker to reduce their patrons to a jelly of corruption, add to their drinking, gambling and other operations not more beneficial to moral or physical health.

The editor seems to think there is a great difference between the quality of the liquors sold now, and those of some past time; but we don't believe there ever was a time when wine was not "a mocker," and when strong drinkers failed to "rage."

We hope the above remarks of the Herald, have no application out of the city of Newburyport.

LOWELL, MS.—The City Marshal's Report for March states that there have been during the month 288 arrests and 170 complaints, as follows:—

Drunkenness 57, common drunkards 9, disturbing the public worship 1, violation of Sunday law 5, violation of city ordinances 17, adultery 12, fornication 3, assault and battery 40, assault 1, disobedient child 1, disorderly house 1, disturbing the peace 1, houses of ill-fame 1, common vagrants 3, insane 1.

The Marshal calls upon the Mayor and Aldermen to allow him to put upon regular duty three or four additional watchmen, as the beat of each officer on the principal streets is quite too large; cases of larceny and assault and battery have increased to an alarming extent, mostly in the night time. The whole number of officers on night duty is eighteen; The Marshal thinks the additional expense will be more than balanced by the decrease of crime and the inevitable cost of its prosecution.

The amount of money earned to the city during the month, by the four "detective" officers of his corps, was $585,62; this is $4,75 apiece for each day in the month, their daily pay from the city being $1,75.

APPEAL FROM VIRGINIA. — The Richmond Enquirer has an article in regard to Kanzas which commences thus:

The "border ruffian," the farmer of the far South and West, is the noblest type of mankind. In his person is revived all the chivalry and generosity of the knights of the Middle Ages. He is equally noble, but far more useful. He is the pioneer of a high and honorable civilization. He is planting a master race—men like the Greeks and Romans —on a new soil; not buying up white men at the shambles to remove them from slavery to capital in Boston, to make them, in a few generations, slaves to capital in Kanzas.

It addresses the North in this strain;

Free men of the North! Boston that grew fat on the African slave trade, Boston that is driving a neat little business in Chinese slaves, this Boston wishes to engage in a grander and more profitable business, by sending you to Kanzas. Go there. But invite Southerners with their slaves, who have equal rights, to come also. Then the African will be the menial, which suits his nature, and you, however poor, a privileged and honored class, like the ancient Greeks and Romans. To be a citizen of Kanzas, will then be an honor and a distinction, as once it was to be a citizen of Rome.

But the Enquirer has odd notions of civilization as well as of man. It informs us that without slaves in Kanzas, "white men must clean the streets, work the roads, stand behind the chairs of gentlemen at the table, brush their clothes, black their boots, and hold their horses."

On this the Atlas says:

The human mind shrinks back, appalled at this horrible condition of society. Why, this is worse than war, pestilence or famine—this is worse than the degradation of dirt-eaters in Africa, or of the Esquimaux of the frozen regions. A white man blacking boots! a white man brushing a coat! there's ruin for you! there's a debased condition of society for you!

The great end of all emigration, the great purpose of settling Kanzas, then, is to render it certain that future generations there can have their boots blacked by "niggers," without bestowing upon the aforesaid swarthy menials the customary sixpence. In order to promote this praiseworthy polishing, the border ruffians are trampling all decency under foot, and treading in dirty ways, in order to get their boots into a proper condition to be thus gratuitously, constitutionally and virtuously japanned. It was for this that the fathers fought and died; it is for this that the Union is to be preserved. Day & Martin were the real founders of the country, and not Franklin, Jay and Adams! Let us then remove the eagle from our coin, and in its place put a blacking pot, supported by a pair of brushes, with the legend, "Real Japan Blacking, 97 High Holborn," encircling the whole.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1856.

THE SHIPPING INTEREST.—The Boston Traveller speaks discouragingly of the prospects of the shipping interests. Freighting, it says, is now a losing business. The decline of breadstuffs has checked the exportation of corn to Europe, the speculations in corn have prevented that from going abroad, and charterers for other business hold off, so that the poor employ for the present has occasioned a material decline in the value of shipping.

To this statement, the Newburyport Herald appends the following remark:—

It would appear that this must be a temporary embarrassment. The Cotton crop, larger than ever before, must be exported finally, and when peace has been definitely declared, it ought to give a new impulse to business in Europe, that will create a demand for ships, and so we believe it will be.

THE ACCIDENT AT NASHUA.—In regard to the melancholy accident to Rev. George B. Jewett, the editor of the Nashua Telegraph says the accident occurred while transferring freight cars from one track to another, near the freight depot. He says that the chaise had passed the track about twenty-eight feet, when the horse became suddenly restive and commenced running backwards, and continued till the carriage was directly on the track, when it was struck by the car and smashed in pieces, although it was moving so slow that only the wheels of one end of the first car passed over it. Mr. Jewett had his right ankle crushed, and was otherwise injured.—Mrs. Jewett had one hand crushed just below the wrist, and the boy was so badly injured that he died early in the evening. One leg and one arm were severed from his body, and the other leg was broken.

The accident was witnessed by several men, who attempted to prevent it, but such were the circumstances that nothing could be effected.

The Salem Register learns from a relative, who left Nashua Wednesday, that Mr. Jewett's right foot and Mrs. Jewett's left hand had been amputated, and that it is considered very doubtful whether the husband will survive. He is constitutionally feeble, and his system may not be able to sustain the shock.

☞ A superior oak built ship of about 1650 tons, called the Black Prince, was launched from the yard of Geo. W. Jackman, Jr., at Newburyport, Thursday. She is owned by Bush & Wildes, of Boston, and others, and intended for the California and China trade, under the command of Capt. Charles H. Brown, late of ship Whistler.

☞ William F. Merrill of Augusta, Me., for the last two years depot master of the Kennebec & Portland Railroad Company, is charged with having robbed the mail of certain land warrants, and is now under bonds in the sum of $2000.

DECIDEDLY CLASSICAL.—Dwight's Journal of Music says: "Worse than the 'old clothes concerts,' which hang their huge bonnet banners upon every wall, 'Gift Concerts' still infest the musical atmosphere."

PRESENT.—A beautiful Silver Salver and four silver goblets were presented to Hon. Neal Dow on Wednesday evening last, by the Ladies' Temperance Band of Portland.

The Boston Traveller states that Bishop O'Rielly is a passenger from Liverpool in the Cambria. Of course the report that he had taken passage in the Pacific was erroneous.

☞ Dr. S. F. Cones of this city, has been promoted to Passed Assistant Surgeon, and has been ordered to the Coast Survey Steamer Walker.

RESULT IN RHODE ISLAND.—Newport, says the Providence Journal, at the second trial on Saturday last, elected a Representative as well as Senator. Henry Bedlow, the American candidate, received 532 out of 790 votes cast. Joseph Anthony received 512 votes for Senator; all other candidates had 291 votes.

The representation from all the towns is now complete. The Americans and Republicans, counting the Lieutenant Governor, will have 22 of the 32 members of the Senate, and 52 of the 72 members of the House, being a majority of 44 of the Grand Committee.

THE DELAWARE REPUBLICANS.—Night before last there was a large and spirited meeting at Wilmington to inaugurate the Republican movement in Deleware. The Chairman was an ex-Speaker of the House, and most of the leading whigs of other days participated. Senator Wilson was among the speakers, and was received with enthusiasm.—Correspondence of the Tribune.

A SMALL EXPERIMENT.—Mr. Rockwell, the straight Whig candidate for Governor of Connecticut in the late election, received less than a thousand votes in the whole State.—He had one vote in Hartford—a Whig gain.—Worcester Transcript.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The steamer Baltic arrived this forenoon.

The Treaty of Peace has been signed by all the Plenipotentiaries. On Sunday, 30th ult, great demonstrations were made in Paris.—The English demonstration was much quieter. Ratifications cannot be exchanged within four weeks.

Cotton market stronger under peace news, and advanced 1-16 a 1-4d. Breadstuffs dull but not lower. Consols advanced to 93 5-8.

Parliament re-assembled on the 31st ult.—In reply to a question, Lord Palmerston said that, though a treaty of peace had been signed, yet it was determined by the congress that the particular conditions of the treaty should not be made public until the ratifications had been exchanged; at the same time he would express his conviction that the treaty will be deemed satisfactory by England and by Europe. It would be found that the object for which the war had been undertaken had been fully accomplished.

It would be found that the integrity and independence of the Turkish Empire had been secured; it would be found that the treaty is honorable to all contracting powers, and that while it has put an end to a war which every friend of humanity must wish to see concluded, it will lay the foundation of a lasting peace.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 16.

SENATE.—The Senate to-day passed the bill providing for driving the small Spanish coin from circulation.

Mr. Seward presented a joint resolution providing that uninhabited islands, lying beyond the maritime jurisdiction of nations, which have or may hereafter be discovered and taken possession of by American citizens, whether in the public service or not, shall become part of the territory of the United States of America, whose jurisdiction over them shall be asserted and maintained; but the right of property in deposits of guano, or any valuable natural products of such islands and of embayed waters thereof, shall be vested in the persons who shall have discovered and taken possession of the same; provided they shall be citizens of the United States, not engaged in public service; their successors, administrators and assigns; with the privilege of entering upon and occupying the grounds and waters for the purpose of preserving, disposing of or taking away said deposits and productions. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Tyson, from the Library Committee, reported a joint resolution for the purchase of 15,000 copies, at $5 each, of Kane's Narrative of the Arctic Expedition, for distribution among the members of Congress, and authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to have appropriate medals struck of and presented to Dr. Kane, his officers and men, expressive of the high esteem in which Congress holds their respective services. Passed, under the operation of the previous question, by four majority.

Mr. Stanton moved a reconsideration of the vote; he said this system of book publishing was condemned by every intelligent man in the country, and ought not to be tolerated. He did not want his friends who were in the majority to be responsible for such extravagance. In the Presidential election it would stick to them like the poisoned suit of Nessus. He expected to arraign the administration, not only for the sins of the Nebraska Act, for executive influence and bayonets for propagating Slavery, but also for profligate expenditures.

Mr. Keitt replied.

Mr. Giddings appealed to the chivalry of Mr. Keitt to give him the floor.

Mr. Keitt said he could not, having promised to renew the motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote.

Clamorous cries for the "question" followed and the question being put, was decided in the affirmative.

Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—An error was inadvertently made in the telegraphic dispatch yesterday, relative to Senator Rusk's bill for the transportation of the mails between New York and Southampton. It proposes to open contracts for general competition, and not for the benefit of particular parties.

Gen. Robles to-day presented his credentials as Minister from Mexico, to the President. Expressions of friendship, and an earnest desire to preserve peace between the two countries, were mutually exchanged.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 14.—From Havana.—Steamship Isabel, with Havana dates to the 10th inst., has arrived at this port.—Among her passengers was Senator Mallory. She brings no news of importance from Havana.

The British men-of-war Powerful and Arab were at Havana.

The Florida Indians.—Further Indian outrages are reported near Tampa. Capt. Pratt's party at Fort Roman, had been attacked, and Corporal Crookes and one private killed, and two wounded. More United States troops were urgently required.

NEW ORLEANS, April 16.—The Agent of the Government of Nicaragua in this city, denounces the statement of the rout of Col. Schlessinger as a falsehood. He says the account received from headquarters is, that Col. S. had only 250 men, that he was attacked by nearly 3000 Costa Ricans, and that he retreated to San Juan.

☞ Mr. Shores, bookseller, of this city, has received Harpers' New Monthly for May. It contains four illustrated articles, viz: The Silver Mines of Central America; Commodore Perry's Expedition to Japan; The Gnawers, and chapters 15,16 and 17 of Dickens' Little Dorritt. There is a vast variety of interesting matter in the miscellaneous and literary departments.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

THURSDAY EVENING, April 17.

In Board of Aldermen.—Several applications for leave to obstruct streets while repairing buildings, were granted.

B. Whitcomb asked for new sidewalk—referred.

Eben. Wentworth asked for a new fence between his land and the Burying Ground—referred.

The Building Committee of New High School reported that the building was finished except painting, which was contracted for, and asked for an appropriation for a fence, and that they be empowered or a new committee be appointed to complete the work, and prepare for its dedication.

Referred to a select committee.

A resolution for a Convention to elect officers was concurred in.

Common Council.—Notice was received from the City Clerk that several vacancies existed in various city offices.

A resolution, calling a Convention to fill the vacancies, was passed and sent up.

In Convention—Proceeded to ballot for a City Marshal, with the following result:

	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th	10th
J. B. Adams,	11	11	10	10	12	11	11	12	12	12

—and there was no choice.

After the 6th ballot a motion to adjourn to Friday evening was negatived.

After the 10th ballot, Ald. Rundlett moved that the Convention rise. Decided in the affirmative by the casting vote of the Mayor.

The Convention rose, and both boards adjourned to Monday evening next.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 17.

In case of Clark et ux. v. G. & C. Wood, the jury returned a verdict for plfs.

On motion of W. W. Stickney, Esq. Messrs John T. Perry and Geo. S. Sullivan of Exeter, and Joseph Eastman of Kingston, were admitted as Attorneys to practice in the Courts in this State.

Case No. 60, Ephraim Abbott (by C. W. Follett) v. Town of Poplin, then came up for trial. The plff., an insane man and unable to take care of himself, was taken into the charge of the town; his earnings exceeded the sum paid for his support. He now sues the town for the excess. The judge ordered a verdict for the plff. and the case goes up to the S. J. Court.

Case No. 79, John Watson v. Boston & Maine Railroad is now on trial. This suit was brought to recover damages for injuries done to the plff. by deft.'s cars, while crossing a public thoroughfare in Exeter.

☞ A number of boys, from 14 to 16 years old, were brought before the Police Court in this city, on Wednesday, charged with committing various misdemeanors and crimes at the farm of Mr. Edward T. Huntress, Gravelly Ridge, on Fast Day. John H. Stringer (the lad who figured in the recent liquor and abduction case here,) was convicted of stealing an axe, valued at $2.50, from the above farm; and was sentenced by Justice Odell, to imprisonment in the House of Correction for 30 days, to pay treble the value of the goods, and costs of prosecution ($6.44)—in all 13.94.

All the others were discharged for want of evidence to convict.

☞ As Mr. Nathan Jones, of this city, was riding from Congress into Vaughan street, on Thursday, with a very nice team, one of the clasps connecting the shafts with the axle, broke; the shaft-bar striking the mare's heels, caused her to run, and Mr. Jones was thrown out near his stable. Though the buggy was literally turned upside down, Mr. J. was not seriously injured, but was severely bruised by striking on the pavement. The horse with the shafts alone, ran some distance up Hanover street, but was secured without much damage.

ARRIVAL OF THE GEORGE LAW.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The steamship George Law arrived at this port this afternoon. She left Aspinwall 4th inst., and sealed at Havana. She saw the American Home Squadron off the coast of Cuba. She brings about 500 passengers, and $1,458,000 in treasure.

California Markets dull; heavy arrivals during the fortnight.

Advices from Washington territory state that a body of Indians, 1500 strong, were about to make another attack on Seattle.

A conflict had taken place on the White river between a portion of the 4th Infantry under Lieutenant Kants, and a large body of Indians. The latter were routed. One white was killed, and Lieutenant Kants and eight privates wounded.

General Wool had arrived at Vancouver, and was preparing to take the field early in April.

The case of Adams & Co. vs. Cohen was decided at San Fransisco on the 8th, by a verdict of $265,000 against Cohen.

The California Senate rejected the resolution condemnatory of the election of Speaker Banks, previously passed by the house.

The steamer Cortez, which left San Fransisco March 20 for San Juan, took one hundred recruits for Walker's army.

The San Jose Telegraph hoists the names of Fremont and Blair for President and Vice President.

The War in Central America.—The news of the defeat of Walker's troops under Schlessinger, was brought to Panama by the Dutch steamer Emilie, from San Jose. Col. S. with 400 men, was well fortified at the hacienda Santa Rosa, where he was attacked March 20, by a party of 500 Costa Ricans, under Gen. Mora, and entirely defeated. Nineteen prisoners were courtmartialed and shot by the Costa Ricans, chiefly Irish and Germans. Accounts say that Walker's party were surprised, the Costa Ricans, after firing one volley, leaping the walls, and, with knife and bayonet, cutting down all they encounterd, and dispersing or taking prisoners the remainder. The Costa Ricans had 16 killed and 25 wounded. An express, arrived at Punta Arenas, says 90 of Walker's men were found dead, and it was supposed others perished in the woods. The official details from Gen. Mora are published in the San Jose papers.

Previous accounts stated that Costa Rica was in great excitement, and the war popular with all classes. Many foreign residents had tendered their services to the government.

A levy of 9000 men had been ordered, and a loan of $100,000.

Punta Arenas was full of troops, under Baron Brulow. The principal army, 3000 strong, under General Mora, was marching upon Nicaragua. and would cross the frontier in eight days.

Gen. Mora, in his dispatch to the Minister of War, states that the attack lasted but fourteen minutes, when the fillibusters broke and fled, terrified, to the woods, closely followed by the Costa Ricans. The field was strewed with dead. Among the Costa Ricans six officers were killed.

Private letters state that at last accounts Gen. Mora had embarked for Punta Arenas Before his departure, the foreign residents at Liberia, his then head-quarters, gave him a public entertainment. His troops were in excellent spirits, and well armed.

The cholera and fever were making great ravages in Nicaragua among the natives and Walker's army. Some of Walker's people had taken the English mail from Greytown for Costa Rica.

Something New for Ladies and Gentlemen.

50,000 BOTTLES ALREADY SOLD.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It contains no ESSENTIAL OILS, or other Drying and Poisonous articles, such as Nitrate of Silver, Lac Sulphur, &c., but is a simple distillation from a VERY VALUABLE HERB. We do not offer it to the public as an article of Cologne, or Perfume, though its odor is very fragrant and agreeable, and especially so to the sick, who prize it much; but we say, that as a Medicated Hair Tonic, its equal, for beautifying and strengthening the hair, has never been discovered. It is a new article and its preparation is only known to the Proprietor.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

☞ Observe—It is not a hair dye, and we do offer it as such. We recommend the article for what it is, and not for what it is not. A little hair oil should be used once a week, as this article is not oily.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OF

FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands are granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed with timber, with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the north-east, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, in gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, fencing and cultivating wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $1 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands these of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles with which to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent proportionately lessen the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts can be made by the agent during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it has been ascertained that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the payments become due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the States, showing the cost of farming, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

POISONOUS MILK.

The Boston Journal of Thursday morning, informs us, that a few days since the family of a gentleman, a worthy citizen at the North end of that city, came near being poisoned by partaking of impure milk. A cat to whom a dish full of the "fluid" had been given, died under its effects in just one hour. The members of the family who had used it in their coffee experienced a nausea, which was soon over. A sample of the article was sent to Dr. Hayes, the well known chemist, for analysis, who after a careful examination submitted the subjoined report. In connection with the above, the Gazette adds, that a few days since a prominent distiller offered at a "ruinous bargain" the swill which is merely a residue of the grain from which the more potent poison is extracted. Whether it was understood to be ruinous to the seller, the buyer, or the cattle who eat the vile stuff, is another question.

The sample was in an acid state when received, and hence its microscopical characters could not be determined.

Chemically, it proves to be milk free from metallic oxides or earths, excepting a mere trace of tin, doubtless derived from the vessel containing it. But it has not the composition of pure milk, and if produced by a cow, it shows either that the cow was unhealthy, or that a part of the ordinary constituents have been withdrawn.

It contains an abundance of free lactic acid, and an odorous body, not found in pure milk. The proportion of butter is not one-fourth part so large as belongs to ordinary milk, while the cheese or curd (also much less than usual) predominates over the butter. As a probable suggestion, this condition would be met by a mixture of pure milk with twice its bulk of skimmed milk, which, from exposure, had become sour and partly putrid.

The attending physician can decide whether the large amount of lactic acid taken into the stomach would produce the symptoms noticed, or whether the unhealthiness of the cow has caused an abnormal condition, affecting the system, as meat in a state of decay does. The milk is not at any rate pure milk, and the one who furnished it should be called to answer for a fraud, at least. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, State Assayer.

SYMPATHY FOR BARNUM. — The New York Express says that a New York millionare, whose name it does not give, has invited Mr. and Mrs. Barnum to make themselves perfectly at home as long as they please at his palace on the Fifth Avenue.—This sympathy was excited by the manly and honest course Mr. Barnum has pursued in his misfortunes. The manner of the offer is thus reported by the Express. Meeting Mr. Barnum in Nassau street last week, he grasped him warmly by the hand, and said:—

"Barnum, I heartily condole with you in your troubles. Still, I've a favor to ask."

"Of me? replied B., in surprise. "What can I do for a millionaire like yourself?"

"Why, you see, Barnum, I've a very large house and a very small family, up the Fifth Avenue. I've plenty of servants, horses, carriages and et cetera. Now, the favor I want you to do for me, is to remove yourself and wife to my mansion, make yourselves a portion of my family, and stay there this whole year, and next year, and—and—in fact, as long as you please—the longer the better."

"My dear sir," he replied, at last, "your generosity pains me beyond expression."

"Generosity! nonsense!" exclaimed the man of wealth; "its no generosity at all; it's pure selfishness; for I tell you frankly that I shall feel more gratification than you possibly can, if you will accede to my proposition.—You can do it without the slightest feeling of dependence. Make my home yours, and I repeat it with all sincerity, that I and not you will be the party especially accommodated. Say no more about it, but come at once. You have now arrived at a time of life when too much excitement may destroy your health. You need rest and quiet. I offer it to you; my house shall be 'Liberty Hall' to you and yours, and in it you shall do just as you please. I have talked it all over with my wife, and she unites with me in asking this favor at your hands."

Whether or not this generous offer was accepted, we are not informed, but we know the above to be a literal fact.

Mr. Allman was smoking in his store where there was an open keg of powder, at Gallatin, Miss., when suddenly the walls were seen to spread with a loud crash, and the building became a mass of ruins. Mrs. Allman was taken out alive, badly bruised, but her husband perished in the building.

A telegraphic dispatch dated Cleveland, April 14, states that the storm of Saturday night did great damage along the line of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad. A church and fifteen houses were demolished at Alliance, and one man killed. A large number of trees were were blown across the track between Salem and Damascus, and much other damage was done.

It is said that Mrs. Stowe, the authoress of Uncle Tom's Cabin, will soon put to press a work illustrating the alleged degradation of the poor white population of the South. She expects to make it appear that Uncle Tom's miseries are but part of the results of slavery, his white brethren keeping him company in the same.

WALTHAM, MASS. — The Selectmen of Waltham are taking active measures for the suppression of liquor shops and groggeries throughout the village. Two were closed by them the last week, and one of the sellers sent to the House of Correction for six months. Orders were also given to the police to see that the bars of the public houses are closed on the Sabbath.—Boston Td.

CONGREGATIONAL SINGING.—A New York correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

I have spoken in my letters of the experiment made in the church of Dr. J. W. Alexander, to establish congregational singing. I am happy to say that the experiment is satisfactory in the highest degree. It has been made under most favorable circumstances, such as must have insured its success. The congregation is large, wealthy, fashionable. A new organ has been provided—one of the best in New York. It is placed behind the preacher, and the organist sits on a level with the congregation. The organist is Mr. William Mason, and he is paid the largest salary that any organist receives in this city. His playing is exquisite, and his fine taste and thorough culture enables him to bring the full power of the instrument to bear upon the congregation.—The leader is Lowell Mason, Esq. At the proper time for singing he steps forward from a side seat in front of the organ, and his fine form and gray hairs make him look like one of the old prophets. At his right hand are about a dozen trained singers, who start the tune promptly with him, and the congregation catch both the tune and time, and swell the song till the vast edifice shakes with melody. A meeting for practice is held on Saturday night, and new tunes of a plain character are added to the list. The house is worthy a visit from all who have doubts about congregational singing.

Uncle Toby has no doubts at all about Congregational singing, with such machinery and surroundings as are here set forth.

He is not quite so old a man as Lowell Mason, and probably not any better than he as a Leader or Musician—but if any Church will build the best possible Organ, on the ground floor, hire the best Organist,—and then hire Uncle T. and twelve trained singers whom he shall select to stand at his right hand,—then he will guarantee that the Church shall have congregational singing! Or, if the Congregation should not happen to sing, this choir of a baker's dozen, backed by a fine organ, will furnish a tolerable substitute.

The circumstances of most congregations in the rural districts, are not quite so favorable for this experiment.

CONCORD.—Rev. Dr. Bouton, on Fast Day afternoon, delivered a discourse on Concord as it was, and as it is. Many of the comparisons apply to the present time as contrasted with a period about 30 years past, Dr. B. having been settled there 31 years. Some items which here follow, we have selected from a notice in the Congregational Journal.

In morals, there have been great changes. Gambling, card and billiard playing were formerly practiced openly and without restraint, but all such practices are now carried on in secret places. In the matter of temperance, the comparison was very striking. In 1827, liquor was sold in every store and tavern in town. Not less than 15,000 gallons of intoxicating liquor were sold that year, which was on an average about 4 1-2 gallons to every man, woman and child in town. At that time there were not less than 60 men in town who were common drunkards, not less than 60 more who were occasional drunkards, and all the rest were temperate drinkers. Were spirituous liquors used as generally in Concord now as they were in 1827, it would take at least 45,000 gallons to supply that population! At this time only one man can sell them legally.

For 40 years there was no diversity of religious belief, and for 90 years, all, with the exception of a few families, attended one place of worship. Now there are in the bounds of the city not less than ten denominations and 16 places of worship. There is now much more liberality and charity among different denominations than formerly. If our fathers erred in being too exclusive and bigoted, we are in danger of the other extreme. Our liberality is tending towards indifference to doctrine. In 1820, there were not more than 400 professors of religion in town—about one in five of the population.—At the present time there are about 1800 communicants in the various churches in the city, or about one in six of the population.

BREADSTUFFS IN THE WEST.—The Milwaukie Agriculturist of Saturday, publishes letters giving the stock of wheat and flour at Milwaukie, Chicago, and other ports on Lake Michigan, Detroit, Cleaveland, Cincinnati, Rochester, Oswego, Toronto and Buffalo.—The whole amount is stated to be 1,501,770 bushels of wheat, and 319,257 brls. flour.

SENTENTIOUS.—Shipnews reporters are not given to the use of many words. In a report of the San Francisco Herald man of the shipping at Callao, he announces among vessels at that port, "Ship Westward-Ho, Hussey, selling slaves." Is this the righteous coolie trade?

FIRE.—In Windham, N. H., on Monday night April 7th, at half past 9 o'clock, the old tavern, three barns and a store, were destroyed by fire—supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.—A Washington dispatch of the 17th, gives the following information. The first item is a pleasant one, as it indicates something like a return to Jefferson's Indian policy, which was approved by Madison, Crawford, Adams and others,—but which was reversed by Georgia politicians and intriguers, in General Jackson's time.

Here is the item:

The two treaties for the benefit of Indian tribes in Michigan, recently ratified by the Senate, makes provision for their occupation of lands in that state in severalty, instead of in common, and diverts the annuities to their moral and industrial improvement. The treaty with certain Indian tribes in New Mexico, likewise recently ratified, proposes to concentrate them apart from the injurious influence of the whites, and encourage them in the arts of peace and civilization.

The other item is one of those, so often recurring, of aggression by the strong upon the weak.

Among the official documents received from Oregon is a letter from Joel Palmer, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, who confirms the statements of Gov. Curry, and says the present difficulty in Southern Oregon is wholly attributable to the acts of the whites, adding:—"I cannot but feel it our duty to adopt such measures as will tend to secure the lives of these Indians, and maintain the guaranties secured by treaty stipulations.—The future will prove that this war has been forced upon these Indians against their will, and that too, by a set of reckless vagabonds, for pecuniary and political objects, sanctioned by a numerous population, who regard the treaty of the United States as a legitimate object of plunder. The Indians in that district have been driven to desperation by acts of cruelty against their people. Treaties have been violated, and acts of barbarity committed by those claiming to be citizens, that would disgrace the most barbarous nations of the earth. If none but those who committed such acts were to be affected by this war we would look upon it with indifference, but, unhappily, this is not the case."

BOSTON SATURDAY EVENING GAZETTE.—The Boston Journal in alluding to the popularity of this paper says: "The enterprising publisher spares neither pains or expense to render the Gazette acceptable to the public; and its readers will bear record to its success." This week's issue is now for sale by Mr. J. P. Morse, and contains:

I. BERTHA, a tale by the authoress of "Little Genevieve," "The Sister's Trial" "A New Years Blessing," all of which have met with great favor from those who delight in stories of great—though not morbid interest.
II. THE RECOGNITION, A Tale of English Life, written with marked ability.
III. THE MOTHER AND THE CHILD. A sketch from the pen of Mrs. Lowell.
IV. LITERARY GOSSIPINGS, by William Winter, Esq.

The Gazette is not exclusively a story paper, but always contains two or more tales, written for its columns—while its forty-eight columns enable the publisher to add to its general variety by departments devoted to local and general news, Correspondence;—carefully prepared editorials upon the Topics of the day—flashes of Wit and Humor—Theatrical and Musical Reviews, etc.

Mrs. Partington is a constant contributor to this sheet, and writes for no other paper.

DOES IT PAY?—The real estate and other property belonging to the Essex Mills Corporation at Newburyport,—recently burnt out, was sold at auction on Wednesday, at low figures. After some remarks respecting the disastrous consequences of the fire, the Herald says;

When persons talk of the unprofitableness of factory stocks, so far as relates to this city, we disagree with them. If the real estate of this city had been taxed to build all the mills in it, and they never had made a cent, the additional value they have given to real estate and the employment furnished to the owners of real estate, would pay in full: and as low as property is now, the real estate could afford to build as many more, and give them to persons to run them, and then not be losers by the outlay.

The total of the amount of sales from the above real estate, from the iron and other materials saved from the fire, and goods on hand belonging to the Essex Corporation, will not be far from $12,000, and together with the insurance will give a dividend of about 65 per cent, while the stock in the market at the time of the fire, would have brought about 75 per cent.

☞ The Savings Institution of Newburyport has declared the usual 3 per cent semi-annual dividend. Its average dividends in the last five years have been 6 per cent.

The number of depositors is nearly 6000. The total deposits are $1,200,000, more than twice the capital of the three banks of discount in Newburyport; and a third of what the entire valuation of the town was 25 years ago. The funds of the bank are invested, $432,080 in Bank stocks; $64,314 in Railroads; $236,018 in mortgages of real estate; $178,600 in county and town loans; $200,000 in personal securities, and the remainder in smaller sums otherwheres.

☞ "Reuben and Phœbe" is the title of a pathetic ballad, just published by Geo. P. Reed & Co., Boston; as sung with applause by W. F. Durant, of Whitehouse's New England Bards. Composed by D. B. Tenney.—For sale by John S. Harvey & Son, who always have a full assortment of the best new music, musical instruments, &c.

LOCAL.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 17th.

Case of John Watson vs. B. & M. Railroad will probably be given to the jury to night.

As Judge Sargent will necessarily be absent from town, the Court will adjourn this evening until Tuesday morning next.

☞ Will subscribers please remember that the price of the Daily Chronicle is $4 per annum—and reduced to three dollars only when paid in advance. Also that our Weekly is only one dollar a year, when paid in advance. We thus discount two per cent. a month on our Daily, (and even more than that on the Weekly) for advance payment. If our subscribers can make more than that by keeping their money till the end of the year, we are willing they should do so; but it is hardly fair, for them to "eat the cake" and expect to "have it too."

WATCHMEN.—On Thursday evening, the Board of Aldermen, in executive session, appointed the following Watchmen, for three months from Monday next:

Amos W. Twombly,	Franklin C. Hoyt,
George Woods,	John Hodgdon,
Oliver W. Ham,	Edmund Clark,
Abraham Holmes,	Robert H. Marden,
Edward A. Weeks,	Alexander L. Rand,
William Cate,	John H. Marden,

LIQUOR AGENCY.—On Thursday evening Ald. Rundlett presented the following Order, which was laid on the table for one week:

Ordered, That the appointment of John Smith as Agent for the purchase of spirituous and other liquors on account of the city, be revoked, and the store rented for that purpose relinquished; and that said Agent be and hereby is required to turn over all liquors and other property in his possession belonging to the city, to the City Marshal, who will receipt therefor on account of the city, and store the same in such place as the Mayor shall direct, to await further action; and that said Agent be further required to pay over any money in his hands due the city, to the City Treasury.

☞ Charles W. Brewster & Son propose to publish a Directory of the City of Portsmouth. The work is to be commenced as soon as 400 subscribers are obtained.—Price 50 cents per copy.

The Boston Times speaking of the intemperate use of "bad rum" in Newburyport, asks how such proceedings can be, when we have the Maine Law on our statute books?—That is a question for the men about the City Hall to answer.—Herald.

☞ The minority report of the Committee on the liquor laws, to the Legislature of Massachusetts, is merely the presentation and recommendation of a license law. It will not pass this year.

NEW YORK, April 17th.—A letter from Punta Arenas has been received, which gives the most reliable assurance that intercourse between that place and Gen. Walker will be cut off by the stoppage of the river steamers on the San Juan del Norte. The filibusters by the Orizaba will therefore be unable to reach their destination.

NEW HAVEN, April 17th.—The jury in the murder trial of Samuel Sly, Widow Wakeman, and Thankful Hersey, this afternoon, returned a verdict of not guilty, on the sole ground of insanity. They were all three tried on one indictment. The result was generally anticipated.

THE CITY MISSIONARY.

Mr. Amos Abbott, the faithful and vigilant City Missionary, is to leave his occupation in Portsmouth, on the 28th of the present month, and repair to Andover, Mass. there purposing to spend a year in study and preparation, and then go out to India, his former field, as a Missionary of the American Board, under whose patronge he is to engage in these studies preparatory to his ordination as a missionary preacher.

At a meeting of the Directors of the City Mission, Mr. AMOS ABBOTT's request for a dismission from the service of the Board, that he might engage in studies at Andover, preparatory to a return to India as a missionary, being considered, it was voted to grant it.

The Board then directed the President and Scribe to write and in due time publish, a minute of their esteem for Mr. Abbott, which was done as follows:

This Board express their high and grateful sense of Mr. Abbott's diligence and faithfulness in his office as City Missionary, and of his skill and assiduity in the various departments of his arduous duty, and their best wishes for his happiness and usefulness in whatever field of labor the Divine providence may open for him.

A. P. PEABODY, President.
L. WHITING, Scribe for the time.

In accordance with the above, Mr. Abbott now expects to remove his family to Andover next week. All whose friendly hearts dispose them, are invited to a Farewell Visit at his house, No. 40 Pleasant street, on Tuesday, P. M. at evening, of next week, the 20th inst. And it is the hope of the Board, in proposing this parting interview with one whose faithful services have made him known to so many of all classes in this city, that the comfort of personal thanks may thus reach him, and that he may "not go empty-handed away" from us. L. WHITING, Scribe for the time.

DEATH FROM JUMPING ROPE.—We understand that a little girl named Trask, connected with one of the Primary Schools in East Boston, died a day or two since from excess of exertion in jumping rope. It is said that she jumped about two hundred times without stopping. She was immediately after taken ill, and died the next day. This is not the first death from the same cause, which we have had occasion to record, and should be a warning to children not to indulge in excessive exercise.—Traveller.

MY REMOVAL FROM MARKET ST.
Portsmouth, N. H. in January last.

THE Store No. 15 Market Street had been occupied by Henry A. Bigelow for the thirteen years prior to January last, and was greatly enlarged and improved in value, beauty and convenience, at a cost of about $700 to said Bigelow—his own personal expense. The said Bigelow did, by his counsel, S. H. Goodall, Esq. apply about two months before the removal was effected, to the agent and part owner of said store, (or in his absence to his wife, who acts for her husband as agent in making of bills, collecting rents, &c.) for a renewal for five years of said Bigelow's lease, offering satisfactory security for the same or to pay the rent always in advance; and the said agent and part owner's wife did rejoice and express much satisfaction that their tenant desired to remain, and gave her cordial consent, but said she had heard her husband say he should object to give any lease for so long a time as five years, but thought he would not object to two or three years, and would write her husband in regard to a lease of five years.

On the 16th of January last, the day after the ejectment was accomplished, Henry Peyser came into said Bigelow's store, and did say and confess of his own accord, in a proud and boastful spirit, before three witnesses, that he wanted Bigelow's store; that he meant to have had it at whatever cost; that he had left no stone unturned to get the store away from said Bigelow without his knowledge or consent; that he had been to see the wife of said agent and part owner of his store five or six times, made misrepresentations to her, how said Bigelow was injuring the store, the merchants and Market street (not that he was doing injured his trade, or could, as he kept another class of goods); and did go up and down Market street and the city, inciting other merchants to join him in his representations to the said agent's wife whenever they should see her, and he did not object that she should come to his part owner upon arriving home, did step into Mr. Albert Laighton's store, to whom he had given the refusal of the first store he had to rent larger than the one he occupied, and told him he could have said Bigelow's store, if he could make up his mind by nine o'clock, otherwise he should let Mr. Peyser have it. Mr. Laighton decided to take the store, and the countenance of the said Henry Peyser did fall; but having so zealously enlisted in his work of love in "doing unto others as he would have others do unto him," he offers Mr. Insley, who kept the next door, one hundred dollars premium money to move into the more commodious and convenient store to be made vacant by Mr. Laighton; which offer was accepted. All the arrangements having been made, the said agent and part owner notified the said Bigelow to quit his store in two weeks, or he should charge double rent after that time, while the law would allow him to stay, without assigning any reason for the same, (nothing was said as to the hush money; and the said Peyser has made his store and Mr. Insley's into one, where he can be seen daily, in his own self-aggrandizement, by any one who dares to venture near enough to look into the window.

HENRY A. BIGELOW,

Having thus been so ungentlemanly injured in his business and deprived of his store, has opened a New Store, No. 4 Congress Block, Congress Street, with a new stock of FRESH DRY GOODS, BONNETS & MILLINERY, where he will be happy to wait upon his old customers and the ladies of this city and vicinity who may favor him with a call. PORTSMOUTH DIRECTORY, 1856-7.

SIX years have elapsed since the last edition of the Portsmouth Directory was issued. The many changes which have taken place in that time have rendered the issue of a new edition desirable. The call for it has frequently been made upon us, and we are now taking the preliminary measures for responding to that call. The labor of preparation is considerable, and to warrant the undertaking a sufficient number of subscribers to meet a portion of the expense must first be obtained.

It will contain such information as is usually found in works of the kind.

Those who have houses or stores without Numbers affixed, would benefit themselves by placing up their numbers, and sending information to the Journal office.

Officers of Societies will confer a favor and guard against errors, by handing in the names of their institutions, with list of officers, and such information respecting them as may be of public interest.

Those who have a desire to announce their occupations in any different form from that in the last edition, will please hand in the change.

Advertisements will be inserted in a conspicuous manner, on reasonable terms. Such advertisements are stationery cards, ever before the eyes of the public.

The price of the Directory will be 50 cents per copy.—The work will be commenced as soon as 400 subscribers are obtained. C. W. BREWSTER & SON, Portsmouth, April 19, 1856. Publishers.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, April 17.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner made a motion that the Committee on Commerce be directed to inquire into the character of the commerce known as the Coolie trade, by which large numbers of Chinese are transported from their country in American ships, on alleged contracts for services in distant places. Also to ascertain if the same is not conducted in violation of an existing treaty with China, and to consider if any legislation is expedient in view of the prohibition of this commerce, or to prevent abuses incident thereto, on board American ships, or to extend to it the provisions and penalties of the recent act of Congress regulating the transportation of passengers in American vessels.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the Bounty land bill, but without disposing of it, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—On motion of Mr. Pringle, the President was requested to have prepared statements showing the appropriations made during each session of the last three Congresses, particularly distinguished those made on the recommendations of the President, heads of departments and chiefs of bureaus; likewise what expenditures were made during the same period, and whether defalcations have occurred, and if so, to what amount.

The Senate's fortification bill was then tabled by a large majority, on the ground that it improperly originated in that body.

The consideration of the deficiency appropriation bill was resumed, and debated until adjournment.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate on Thursday of last week, a motion made by Mr. Stuart to take up the river and harbor bill failed by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Bell of N.H., Bell of Tenn., Benjamin, Bright, Cass, Collamer, Dodge, Foot, Geyer, Hale, Hamlin, Harlan, Pugh, Seward, Stuart, Sumner and Trumbull—17.

Nays—Messrs. Adams, Bayard, Briggs, Bigler, Broadhead, Brown, Butler, Crittenden, Clay, Douglass, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Houston, Hunter, Iverson, Mason, Reid, Rusk, Sebastian, Slidell, Toombs, Toucey, Weller, Wright and Yulee—25.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS,

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not gripe or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It contains no ESSENTIAL OILS, or other Drying and Poisonous articles, such as Nitrate of Silver, Lac Sulphur, &c., but is a simple distillation from a VERY VALUABLE HERB. We do not offer it to the public as an article of Cologne, or Perfume, though its odor is very fragrant and agreeable, and especially so to the sick, who prize it much; but we say, that as a Medicated Hair Tonic, its equal, for beautifying and strengthening the hair, has never been discovered. It is a new article and its preparation is only known to the Proprietor.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will not act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

☞ Observe—It is not a hair dye, and we do offer it as such. We recommend the article for what it is, and not for what it is not. A little hair oil should be used once a week, as this article is not oily.

Sick Headache

CURED BY EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OF

FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credit, at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west, on terms of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark rich mold, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. One hand can by two teams for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $3 to 3.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, oats, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at Chicago, at the price of Wood at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the courses of railroads for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. Add to this the problem of hauling, some one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this Company at six times the cost.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses and consequently where it is far greater, still every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this Company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $6 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for lands may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be remembered that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be br'ht under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's contracts for lands will be certainly fulfilled.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent in a few years, when money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the Eastern States, the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to NEWFOUNDLAND DOG PUTTING OUT A FIRE.—One of the most astonishing instances of the sagacity of the dog transpired this morning, which ever came to our knowledge. The Messrs. Staude, tobacconists, No. 35 Congress street, closed their store last evening, leaving their favorite Newfoundland inside. This morning, on opening the store, the floor in the back room was found to be on fire, and the dog with his fore feet and mouth trying to subdue it. A pail of water which stood in the room had been poured down the hole. The faithful animal had so successfully combatted the fire as to prevent its spreading beyond a spot two or three feet square. How long the noble animal had stood sentinel and fought down the advancing flames can only be conjectured—it must have been several hours. His feet, legs and mouth were badly burned, and it is feared that he is seriously injured internally by inhaling the hot air. He refuses food, and is apparently in much pain. We trust the sagacious and faithful creature is not dangerously injured. This is the same dog which discovered the man Lally on the ice a few weeks since. He is worth his weight in gold, and may safely be pronounced the noblest of his race. —Troy Daily Times, March 8.

Rev. James Beecher, wife and child, are to sail from Boston, on the 25th inst., in the ship Wild Pigeon, for Canton, China, where Mr. Beecher will enter upon his labors as a missionary. He is a son of Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher, who has now lived to see all his sons preachers of the same gospel that he has declared for so many years, and they are persons, as are also his daughters, twelve in all, of more than ordinary abilities and promise; some of the sons are at the head of their profession in this country, and Mrs. Stowe ranks among the first literary women in the land. Mrs. Beecher is a native of Newburyport, the daughter of the late Capt. Stephen Goodwin, and formerly wife of Mr. Daniel Morse.—Herald.

A Herald correspondent in St. Domingo City, writing under date of March 15th, confirms the reports which had previously reached us from other sources, of the immense losses sustained by the Haytien army in the battles of Santoine, Cambroual, and Sabana Larga, when on its march to invade the Dominicans. Gen. Santana had entered the capital at the head of his triumphant army amidst popular rejoicing and a Te Deum. The Dominican Senate was about to ratify a treaty of commerce and extradition with the United States, identical with that of Gen. Cazencan, notwithstanding the opposition of the representatives of France, Spain and England.

FULL DRESSES.—Recently one of the most renowned French pulpit orators, the Abbe de Deguerry, observed, in a sermon,—'Women, now-a-days, forget in the astonishing amplitude of their dresses that the gates of Heaven are narrow.'

Ah! well remembered. But if the gates of heaven are so narrow as to exclude the ladies on account of their full dresses, how will the clergy go in, clad in their enormous surplices? How will the Catholic, and Episcopalian and Unitarian clergy get to heaven in their full dresses?—Boston Trumpet.

Mary Myers, a dissipated native of New York city, of 16 years, committed suicide there, on Monday morning; and a few hours afterwards Frederick Webber made a desperate attempt to murder his mistress, Catherine Haltemeyer. In the case of James Irving and John Morrissey, indicted with Baker for the murder of William Poole; a nol. pros. has been entered. In Baker's case it is hard work to get a jury.

THE INSURANCE ON THE PACIFIC.—The insurance on the Pacific is very large; the amount on the ship is $600,000—half in the United States and half in Europe; the freight money is insured for $40,000. Her cargo consisted of six or seven hundred tons, valued at $1,500,000. Most of this was insured.—The total insurance amounts to over $2,000,000.

A young clerk in the employ of Charles Burrall, a Wall street broker, has proved a defaulter to the amount of $12,000. It is supposed that he left on Saturday in the Atlantic.

LEGAL OPINION.

Mr. Editor.—I beg you to lay before your readers the following opinion on the ninth section of our prohibitory law by an able legal gentleman of Vermont. At my request he has added the sanction of Judge Poland of that State, to the weight of his own opinion on the two most important points, the first and second. At the authors request you will please withhold his name. Yours ever,

COLLABORATOR.

[Sec. 9 is the one which provides for the punishment of persons found intoxicated.]

St. Johnsbury, Vt., April 7th, 1856.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of the 3d instant enclosing a copy of section 9th of your prohibitory law, and proposing some questions as to its interpretation, was duly received, and I take my earliest leisure moment to reply. It is not always judicious to construe an isolated section of a statute without knowing the relations which it sustains toward the rest and the rest toward it, as it is an established rule in the construction of statutes that the intention of the lawgiver is to be deduced from a view of the whole and of every part of a statute taken and compared together. Unless this section is liable to modification by the remainder of the statute, I am of opinion as follows:—

1. "Can a man be arrested if found drunk and quiet in the streets?" This is a question of grammar quite as much as of law, and regarded in either light, it is hardly possible to answer it otherwise than in the affirmative. It is to be observed that the offense against which this section is directed is drunkenness, and not the disturbance of the peace. The object of the whole statute, as appears from its title, is to suppress intemperance; and breaches of the peace are sufficiently held in check and punished by the general laws. Disturbance of the public or domestic tranquility is by this section made a component part, under certain circumstances, of another offense, drunkenness in a private building or place being the other component, and the two together rendering the offender liable to arrest. But drunkenness in a public place is per se an offense under this section, and does not need the additional element of disturbing the peace to make it complete. The Legislature evidently designed to make a distinction between public and private drunkenness; and while in the latter case they so far respected "the sanctity of the domicil" as to allow a man to be as drunk as he pleases in his own house if he is quiet and peaceable in so doing, they have guarded against the evil example of the public drunkard by providing that he may at once be removed from the presence of those to whom his presence is odious, even though his drunkenness is of the stupid rather than of the boisterous kind. It would be a strange oversight in a statute designed for the suppression of intemperance, if it would allow a man to be dead drunk (the most quiet condition a drunkard can be in) in the public highway, and yet furnish no means to punish either him or the greater reprobate who has put the bottle to his lips and made him drunken. There is no such oversight in this statute.

1. "Can a warrant issue for a man who has been drunk in days past, but who is now sober?" Not by virtue of this section. The whole proceedings depend upon the fact that a person is "found in a state of intoxication." He is to be arrested flagrante delicto — or not at all. This is rendered still more evident by the provision that after arrest he is to be detained until he "is so far recovered from his intoxication as to render it proper to convey him before a court of justice." The only part of the section which affords the slightest ground for a different conclusion, is that which declares that after the person who has made the disclosures is discharged, "he shall not be liable to be prosecuted again for the same offence." From this it might be inferred that without the protection afforded by that clause a man might be liable to prosecution for past drunkenness. But I think that clause was inserted not because it was necessary for the protection of the person discharged but to encourage him to "freely and fully testify" by giving him a direct and positive assurance of his exemption from any future molestation for the same offence.

3. "Are stores, railroad cars, depots, taverns and work-shops, public places, in the intent of this section?" there can be no doubt as to any of these unless possibly the railroad cars. The term "public places" would seem to include all places to which the public have free resort, — certainly all to which they are invited to come as they are to taverns, depots and stores. And although a railroad car is not so much a "place" as a means of conveyance from place to place, the same reasons that would justify an arrest in a store or depot would justify an arrest in a railroad car. By "reasons," it here means not legal reasons but such as address themselves to the senses, the tastes and the judgments of those who occupy the same car with the drunken person. And I am by [no] means certain that the legal reasons are not sufficient.

4. "If a man man when arrested is already sober may he be brought before the justice immediately. I think he may if a person be found in a state of intoxication which renders him liable to arrest, and all reasonable dispatch is made in instituting proceedings against him. The fact that he becomes sober before the officer succeeds in serving process on him should not discharge him from arrest. And if already sober it would be a mere farce to detain him "until he is so far recovered as to render it proper to convey him before a court." He may therefore be brought before the court immediately.

5. "What is a state of intoxication; and how shall the justice satisfy himself of the fact?" For the definition of intoxication see Webster's Unabridged. Whether a person is or has been intoxicated is a question of fact, and the justice is to satisfy himself of that as of all other facts—by the testimony of competent witnesses.

6. "If a justice refuses to issue a warrant or refuses to commit, what is probably the remedy in New Hampshire?" Unless some other section of the statute furnishes a remedy there is probably none. Our prohibitory law of 1852 subjected a justice or other officer who should neglect or refuse to do any duty required of him, by that statute to a prosecution by indictment and a fine of $300. That portion of the statute was repealed in 1853. If there is no similar provision in your law, I would recommend in such a case as you mention, that you subdue your indignation as well as you can and the next time apply to a justice who has a clearer head and a stiffer back bone.

MONT VERNON.—In that interesting new book The New Hampshire Churches, we read in the account of Mont Vernon, in Hillsboro' County, that Rev. Nathl. Kingsbury was ordained pastor of the Cong. Church there, Nov. 8, 1836.

The temperance movement began early during Mr. Kingsbury's ministry. The youth of the present day, where for years no liquors have been publicly sold, cannot even imagine the condition of this small community with eight tavern licences given during one year. In some of these places they sold a hogshead per week. It was no easy matter to control public opinion. The church seemed on the point of being rent asunder, and the minister of being driven from his post. Professors would angrily leave the sanctuary, if the subject was alluded to; but the truth finally triumphed, and intemperance was excommunicated from the community as well as the church. The following anecdote may illustrate the times: When the new road was building south of the church, Mr. Kingsbury, passing that way, overtook one of his deacons with two pails full of mixed liquor, (grog) who advised his pastor to go on the old road, for the workmen were all so drunk that he would be insulted.

In 1840, Mont Vernon contained 729 inhabitants.

This brief statement amply corroborates a statement of ours which has been carped at in some quarters, viz. that our New England Community, 30 or 40 years ago, were just about as temperate or intemperate, as the Irish immigrants now are. Knowing this to be a fact, we have taken great pleasure, repeatedly, in contradicting the statements, whether made by friends or foes of temperance, that there is as much intemperance among us, now, as ever, nda more liquor sold now than ever! We know better; and therefore say so. There was about one quarter part as much liquor sold here in 1854, with 10,000 inhabitants as there was when we fell below 8000.

What has produced the change?—Effort, action, discussion, preaching, example, pledges, law and gospel. And these efforts, one and all, have been opposed,—and the men who have made the efforts have been maligned and abused, whenever they have attempted any new measure—by men and classes of men who have generally professed to admire what temperance men did last before, and to wonder why they could not let well enough alone.

Perhaps the best answer would be, that letting intemperance alone does not cure it, nor prevent its spreading,—any more than letting a great fire alone in a great city, will put it out. The engines should come and pour on water. If they can't save all— they may save some.

POOR DEBTOR DISCLOSURES.—The Supreme Court of Massachusetts have decided on a certain case as follows:

In this case a certain time was appointed for the examination of a poor debtor. The magistrate waited half an hour after the time fixed, and then no creditor or representative of any creditor appearing, the magistrate discharged the debtor. The Court held that one hour was the proper time in such cases.

In New York on Thursday, Mary Rerkik complained before Justice Osborne that a person living in Chatham square advertised for a dog, and that upon presenting herself with a very pretty little poodle, the inhuman monster took a knife, and without further ceremony, cut his tail short off!

FIRE.—The dwelling-house of David Hoag, Esq., Boscawen, N. H., was destroyed by fire on Saturday night, 28th ult., with most of its contents. Loss about $1500—partly insured. The fire caught from the chimney.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 19.

The case Watson v. Boston & Maine Railroad was given to the Jury last night. They were unable to agree, and at 11 o'clock the Court adjourned to Tuesday morning.—Gaz.

☞ On Tuesday morning, the first train on the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad will leave Portsmouth at 6 o'clock A. M. to accomodate persons attending Court at Exeter.

BURGLARY.—On Saturday night the Apothecary Store of Wm. R. Preston, in Congress Block, was entered through the cellar, by breaking a square of glass and removing the bar to the cellar door. The thief carried away about twenty small boxes of cigars, and broke open one of the money drawers which was provided with an alarm thief detector. This drawar was opened by prying off the slides on which it run, but the bell was run down in the operation. The thief was evidently frightened away while clearing the money drawer, as he left several packages of cents, though he carried off a hundred or two loose coppers. The silver and bills taken during the day had been removed by the proprietor. Another drawer in the other counter was untouched. The thief probably worked without a light, as the front of the store has no shutters.

Where were the watchmen? By the way —it was raining at the time.

RECOVERING.—The Nashua Telegraph says, in relation to the clergyman and his wife who were injured on the railroad at that place,—"We are happy to learn that at the hour of going to press Friday morning, that Mr. and Mrs. Jewett are both improving, and that hopes are now entertained of the recovery of both."

NEW YORK, April 19.—Steamship Africa, from Liverpool 5th inst, has arrived below but will not be up till 5 o'clock.

MR. BUCHANAN AND THE STUDENTS OF HISTORY.—We see it stated that the Hon. James Buchanan delivered a Fourth of July oration at Lancaster, Pa., in 1815, in the course of which he said:

"Above all, we ought to drive from our shores foreign influence, and cherish American feeling. Foreign influence has been in every age the curse of republics—its jaundiced eye sees everything in false colors—the thick atmosphere of prejudice by which it is ever surrounded, excluding from its sight the light of reason."

Well, what of it? asks the New Orleans Bee. Didn't Mr. Buchanan once declare that if he thought he had a drop of democrat blood in his veins, he would let it out; and is he not now a patent pure steel democrat? consistency in politics is altogether a novelty. —N. Y. Post.

MAINE LAW DECISION IN CONNECTICUT.—An important decision in the Middlesex County Term of the Supreme Court, was in the case of an action of debt, brought by States Attorney Vinal, upon a forfeited bond, in a liquor prosecution. The "Act for the suppression of intemperance" provides that bonds in prosecutions under it shall be taken to the County Treasurer, but owing to the reconstruction of the Judiciary system by the last Legislature, many in this and other Counties were taken to the State Treasurer. The Court rendered its decision in favor of the defendant. This case decides a hundred others in other Counties.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.—An attempt was made Thursday night throw the Boston express train from the track near Port Chester, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, by removing the pilot of the engine; its loss was discovered in time to prevent a serious catastrophe. On the night previous, near the same place, a large rock was placed between the rails, and heavy sleepers spiked across the track. The Port Chester special train barely escaped.

Nine of the crew of the ship Underwriter, Capt. Shipley, from Liverpool, were arrested at New York on Wednesday, for mutiny.—They were in irons, and in a bad condition, with teeth knocked out, noses and heads broken. On Friday, William Welsh and Thomas Keel mates of said vessel, were arrested for cruel treatment of the men, and the latter for the murder of a man named Johnson on the passage.

Charles List, Esq, formerly connected with the Commonwealth newspaper, as editor and proprietor, died at Melrose an Wednesday evening. He had for several years been afflicted with elephantiasis, the disease of which he died, and borne sufferings which must have been very great with the most exemplary patience.—Boston Chronicle.

The three Congregational societies of Manchester worshipped together in the Hanover street church on Fast Day, and listened to a sermon by Rev. Wm. Wallace, on "The Servitude recognized in the Scripture."

Charles G. Adams, an eminent physician, and son of late Daniel Adams, long an eminent physician—died at Keene, N. H., on the 9th, aged 63 years. He leaves a large fortune, partly inherited, and partly acquired by great ability in financial matters.

The Buffalo Courier says all the roads in that vicinity are taxed to their utmost in the transportation of freight, and their whole force of engines and cars is in constant use.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not gripe or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, April 18.

SENATE. — On motion of Mr. Seaward, resolutions were adopted, directing the Committee on Post Offices to inquire into the expediency of establishing uniformity of postage throughout the United States.

The bill to authorize the Executive to facilitate the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Mississippi river to the Pacific Ocean, was considered.

Mr. Weller maintained that the government has the constitutional power to construct military and other roads through territories of the United States.

Mr. Seward obtained the floor, and the farther consideration of the bill was postponed to the 29th inst.

Sixteen private bills were passed. Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—Mr. Haven submitted two letters addressed by the Secretary of the Navy to Mr. Benson, Chairman of the Committe on Naval Affairs, in which he invites members of Congress to visit the war steamer Merrimac, at Annapolis, saying that the President and himself expected to leave Washington for that city this afternoon, and will wait the arrival there of to-morrow morning's train before going to the steamer.

The Committee on Elections reported against the right of Mr. B. B. Chapman to retain his seat as delegate from Nebraska territory, and in favor of Mr. Hiram P. Bennett.

The Deficiency Appropriation bill was considered without final action. Adjourned till Monday.

ANOTHER ITEM FROM WALKER.—It is said that despatches from Col. Wheeler to the government mention that Col. Schlessinger's retreat was not a defeat by the Costa Ricans, but a stroke of successful policy, superinduced by the largely overwhelming force of the enemy.

The following item, however, confirms the news of the defeat:

WALKER'S DEFEAT.—New York, April 18th.—The Courier and Enquirer contains the following letter to a mercantile house in this city, from a reliable correspondent in Costa Rica:—

"Last evening arrived notice of the first victory gained over Walker's people; they say 400 fillibusters had taken possession of the hacienda of Santa Rosa, a very advantageous position, situated on the top of a hill, and surrounded by stone cattle yards. The Costa Ricans, in force 500 fired once only, and then rushed on with the bayonets, cleared them out in fourteen minutes, and took possession of the ranch. Several letters have arrived besides the army dispatch, all agreeing in the circumstances, so that beyond a probable exaggeration of the number of the Yankees, there is no doubt of the victory.

It took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and they were to be pursued early next morning by mounted troops, and it is said they were between three of the corps of the Costa Rican army, and in a country where there is not a drop of water, so that they are in a bad way, unless they can re-form and cut their way through. One of the prisoners says that a part, who came from San Juan del Sur, fell in with a patrol of eight men, whom they murdered, and then came on to Santa Rosa. It seems all the prisoners were condemned on account of the aforesaid murder. An English man-of-war ought to arrive to day at Punta Arenas, as she was seen outside by the steamer Oregon. The French one has sailed from Panama for the same destination. The French have orders to treat Walker and his men as pirates, if caught on the water.

LATER FROM MEXICO.—Baltimore, April 18th.—New Orleans papers of Saturday were received here to day. They contain details of news from Vera Cruz to the 8th of April. The country was still in a very unsettled condition. Notwithstanding the defeat of the insurgents at Puebla.

The clergy having been the principal fomenters of the recent insurrection, government had issued an edict forfeiting church property. This edict is very severe against any persons who may conceal any of the church property.

The Bishop of Puebla, having refused to deliver up his books containing the statements and accounts of the property of the church, Government sent a military force to the Bishop's palace to take them.

On arriving at the gates it was found that the Bishop had posted on the gate a notice of excommunication against any person who should assist government in carrying out its designs. The officials, notwithstanding this threat, proceeded to take possession of the property.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE AT WEYMOUTH.—We learn that last night the office of Fisher A. Kingsbury, Esq., at Weymouth Landing, was blown completely to peices by some villain, by means of a keg of powder placed upon the sill of the cellar window. This is the second time Mr. Kingsbury's office has been blown up, an attempt on the night of the 5th inst. not fully succeeding. The cause of these outrages is Mr. Kingsbury's execution of the liquor law in cases brought before him as Justice of peace. The citizens of Weymouth intend to hold an indignation meeting, and take efficient measures for the prosecution of all the liquor sellers in the place.—Boston Journal, 19th.

MURDER.—Mr. Thomas R. Borden, an aged and respectable citizen of Newbern, Ala., was murdered recently while asleep, being shot through a window. From the circumstance that the gun wadding found in the deceased's room was a piece of newspaper which fits a torn place in a paper discovered in the son's room, the son is suspected of having committed the crime, and has been arrested.

CHOLERA AT PERNAMBUCO.—New York, April 18th.—A letter from Pernambuco of March 15th, states that cholera was very prevalent there, over 200 having died.

LOSS OF NEW IRON STEAMER.—The Brazilian steamer Marquis de Chuada, was lately lost near Coriano. She was a new iron steamer on her first voyage, built in England, and supposed insured for £30,000 sterling.

50,000 BOTTLES ALREADY SOLD.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; it will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c. it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

ADAMS'S

CORSET WAREROOMS,
Removed from Washington Street to 28 WINTER STREET,
BOSTON.
The Corset Warerooms of Thirty Years, (Established in 1825.) Also, the Inventor of ADAMS'S PATENT ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER, And the only place where the genuine article can be obtained.

MRS. ADAMS has recently returned from Europe, where, among the looms and weaving rooms of France, she has devoted the best part of a year in re-arranging and symmetrizing the best features of the French Woven Corset, adapting it to the necessities of the peculiarly delicate structure of the American women, and is happy to say that in these efforts she has been eminently successful; and since presenting her experiments, the increased demand has been continued. Thinking it best to introduce these beautiful and easy fitting articles by some other than the formidable name of Stay or Corset, she calls them BODICES. They are so constructed as to give a sustaining brace to the back, shoulders and abdomen, at the same time inducing an expansion of the chest never before attained in anything of similar purpose. The next consideration is the price, it being as low as the most ordinary and ill-shaped of other manufacture, whilst the style and quality of texture surpasses other goods hitherto disposed of at most exorbitant charges.
Mrs. A. would invite the attention of dealers, and would assure them that an investment in these goods, at the fixed low prices, is the same as gold already twice told. All orders promptly and judiciously attended to.
For sale, the WILBERT CORSET, of the Boston Agent, as above.
Mrs. Adams has no store on Washington street, nor are her goods for sale by any Agent, or at any other place than the

THE
OR,
VALDIMIR THE MONK.

A Tale of the Empire under Peter the Great.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

[Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1856, by ROBERT BONNER, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the Southern District of New York.]

[We copy the following brilliant and powerfully written story from the New York Ledger, the great weekly literary paper. Our readers will enjoy a rare treat in its perusal, and we commend it to their attention. The author, Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., is decidedly the best newspaper story-writer in the United States.]

CHAPTER I.

THE GUN-MAKER AND THE MONK.

The time at which we open our story is mid-winter, and towards the close of the seventeenth century. Russia had passed through the long and bitter ordeal of national night. The Tartar yoke had been worn till the very bones of the nation were galled; and when this was thrown off, civil dissensions and insurrections commenced. The Poles and Swedes plundered the country, and amid general tumult and confusion some half dozen men were clamoring for the throne. At length a few patriotic citizens, pledging everything they held dear on earth to the cause of freedom from this curse of anarchy, and headed by a noble prince and an humble, patriotic butcher, made a bold stand to save the country. Moscow was retaken, and MICHAEL ROMANOFF was chozen Czar; and this illustrious family still occupies the imperial throne. And now the day of Russian greatness dawned; but the sun was not fairly up— the broad light opened not upon the empire — until Peter came to the throne.

In the department of the Sloboda—the suburbs of Moscow — and very near the river Mowska, stood an humble cot, the exterior of which betrayed a neatness of arrangement and show of taste that more than made up for its smallness of size. Nor was it so very small, in fact, but only in contrast; for near at hand about it stood many large, shabby, dirty-looking structures that overlooked the prim cot, as bleak mountains may look down upon a verdant hill. And within this cot was as neat as without. The two apartments in front, one of which was only used in winter, were furnished not only with neatness, but with a fair show of ornament and luxury. Back of these were a large cooking and dining room, and two small bed-rooms; and back still from these there was an artisan's shop, and other outbuildings. The shop was devoted to the manufacture of fire-arms, mostly. Some swords, and other edged weapons, were made here upon special application.

The gun-maker now stood by his forge, watching the white smoke as it curled up towards the throat of the chimney. He was a young man, not over three-and-twenty, and possessed a frame of more than ordinary symmetry and muscular development. He was not large—not above a medium size, but a single glance at the swelling chest, the broad shoulders, and the sinewy ridges of the bare arms, told at once that he was master of great physical power. His features were regular, yet strongly marked, and eminently handsome; his brow, which was full and high, was half-covered by the light brown curls that waved over it; while his eyes, which were of a bright, brilliant, deep gray in color, lent a cast of genius to the intellect of his brow. His name was Ruric Nevel. His father had been killed in the then late war with the Turks, and the son, leaving his mother with a sufficiency of sustenance, went to Spain soon after the bereavement. There he found work in the most noted armories; and now, well versed in the trade, he had returned to his native city to follow his calling, and support his mother.

Near by stood a boy — Paul Peopoff — a bright, intelligent lad, some fifteen years of age who had bound himself to the gun-maker for he purpose of learning the art. His hair, and his eyes were darker than his master's, and if he possessed not so much sound intellect, he did surely possess an unwonted degree of keen, quick wit, and a principle of unswerving truth.

The sun had been some time below the horizon, and the only light of any consequence that made things partially visible within the shop came from the dull blaze of the coals on the forge, as Paul ever and anon bore down upon the brake that moved the bellows. Suddenly Ruric started from the forge as his mind broke from the deep reverie into which he had fallen, and having bade his boy to see that matters were all properly disposed for the night, he turned towards the door, and was soon in the kitchen, where his mother had supper all prepared and set out.

Candia Nevel was a noble looking woman, if the impress of a noble generous soul can be called such, but the light of her still handsome countenance was never brighter than when gazing upon her boy. She had seen the snow of fifty winters, and if they had left some silver upon her head, and some age-marks upon her face, the sunshine of full as many summers had left her with a thankful, loving heart, and a prayerful, hopeful soul.

'It is snowing again, faster than ever,' remarked Paul, as he took his seat at the table.

'Ah,' returned Ruric, resting his knife a few moments while he bent his ear to the voice of the storm, 'I had hoped, twould snow no more for the present. The snow is deep enough now. And how it blows!'

'Never mind,' spoke the dame, in a trustful, easy tone, 'it must storm when it listeth, and we can only thank God that we have shelter, and pray for those who have none.'

'Amen!' responded Ruric, fervently.

After this the trio remained some minutes silent, seeming to be busy in listening to the storm-notes that came pealing about the cot. The wind was high and the snow now came dashing upon the windows with a dreary melancholy sound. The meal was at length eaten, and the table set back, and shortly afterwards Paul retired to his bed. It was wont to retire early, for he rose early to build the fires and prepare for labors of the day.

Ruric drew his chair close up to the fireplace, and leaning his head against the jam he bowed his head and pondered again. This had become a habit with him of late. Sometimes he would sit thus during a whole hour without speaking, or even moving, and his mother did not interrupt him, as she supposed he might be solving some problem that had arisen to bother him. But these fits of thought had become too frequent, too lengthy, and too moody, for such a hypothesis, and the good woman was forced to believe that they were caused by something more remote than the business of the forge or the lathe. The youth now sat with his brow resting upon his hand, and his eyes bent upon the hearth.—For half an hour he had not moved, and his face wore an anxious, troubled look.

'Ruric, my son,' spoke the mother at length in a low, kind tone, 'what is it that occupies your thoughts so much?'

The young man started and turned his gaze upon his mother.

"Did you speak to me, my mother?" he asked, after having recalled his mind to things about him.

"Yes, my boy," she said. "I did speak to you. I asked you what in was that occupied your thoughts."

"O—nothing—nothing," Ruric answered, after some moments of hesitation. "I was only thinking—that was all."

"I know you are thinking—and I know that was all at the time; but of what, Ruric? Come—hide no secrets from your mother. I have noticed you of late, and I know you are changed. The old smile is gone from your face, and sometimes I have found the gladness was gone from your heart. I have seen you bent in thought over your work when I knew that of your work you were not thinking; and I have seen you buried in deep pondering when you should be reading or conversing with me."

"Have I then offended you my mother?"

"No, no,—O, no, my noble boy. Never did such a thought enter my mind. If I have been made uneasy thereby it was only in love for thee, and the fear that thou wert not so happy as in the past. Will you not tell me all? Oh, I hope my boy fears not to trust his mother with his thoughts."

As she spoke she thus moved her seat close to where Ruric sat, and placed her hand upon his arm.

"Tell me, my boy," she added in a low, persuasive tone, "what is it that dwells thus upon your mind."

Ruric reached out and took his mother's hand, and having gazed for some moments into her face he said—

"Surely, my mother, I have nothing in my soul that I would hide from thee. If I have kept this thing of thought to myself with unseemly silence it has been because I feared you would laugh at me if I told you of it."

'Ah, no, my son,' the mother replied, almost reprovingly; 'nothing that could claim such deep and absorbing consideration from a mind like yours would move me with derision.' Speak plainly, and be sure of my sympathy.'

A few moments more the youth gazed silently upon his mother, and then he answered—

'All this thought has been of one person—of—of—Rosalind Valdai.'

Claudia Nevel started as she heard that name, and for the while the color forsook her cheeks.

'What, my dear boy—what of her have you thought?' she asked, tremulously.

'What, but of one thing, could I think, my mother? You have seen her!

'Yes, Ruric.'

'And you have marked the grace—the loveliness—the soul-given beauty of the noble girl?'

'I know she is beautiful, my son; and also, that she is good—at least so I think.'

"Then what but love could move me with deep thought of her? Oh, my mother, I do love her. I love her with the whole strength of my heart and soul."

'Alas, my Ruric, she will never dare love thee.'

'You know not that,' the youth quickly replied, his eye burning deeply, and his brow flushing. 'Did I not know she loved me, be sure I never would have allowed my thoughts such range. We were children together, and even then we loved. Fate has dealt differently with us in the years that have passed since those childhood times; but yet I am sure her love for me is not changed, save as increasing age must change all the emotions of our natures into deeper, stronger lights and shades.'

'But think, my boy: You, a mere artizan—she the offspring of nobility and the ward of a Duke—a stern, cold, proud aristocrat, who looks upon our station only as harsh masters look upon their beasts of burden. I fear you will find little else but misery in such a course of thought.'

"At least, my mother, I will see Rosalind, and if she loves me as I love her, and if she would accept my hand—"

'Hush, my boy, do not cherish such hopes. Why should she mate with thee when the richest nobles of the land would kneel for her hand.'

'Hold,' cried Ruric, starting to his feet, his handsome face flushed, and his bright eye burning. 'Speak not thus—at least not now. I flatter not myself, but I claim a soul as pure and a heart as noble as any man in the land. My mind is clear; my hopes are high; my ambition as true to real greatness, and my will as firm as any of them. If Rosalind seeks the love of a true heart and the protection of stout arms and a determined success, then I fear not to place myself by the side of any suitor in the land. But if she seeks immediate wealth, and the glitter of some high-sounding title, then—Ah, I know she does not. But let it pass now. I will see her.'

Claudia would not oppose the wishes of her son, and she said no more upon the subject.—For a while nothing further was said, until Ruric remarked upon the increasing force of the storm.

'Hark!' uttered his mother, bending her ear in a listening attitude, 'Was that a knock upon our door?'

'Surely no one is out on such a night that could seek shelter,' returned Ruric. 'You must have—'

The youth did not finish the sentence, for at that moment the knock came so loud that it was not to be mistaken. The youth caught up the candle and hastened to the door. He opened it, but the blast came roaring in, whirling a cloud of snow in Ruric's face, and extinguishing the light at once.

'Is there any one here?' the gun-maker asked, bowing his head and shielding his eyes from the driving snow with one hand.

'Yes,' returned a voice from the Stygian darkness. 'In God's name let me in, or I shall perish.'

'Then follow quickly,' said Ruric. 'Here—give me your hand—there—now come.'

The youth found the thickly gloved hand—gloved with the softest fur—and having led the invisible applicant into the hall he closed the door, and then led the way to the kitchen. As soon as the candle was relighted, Ruric turned and gazed upon the new comer. It was a monk—and habited something like one of the Black monks of St. Michael. He was of medium height, and possessed a rotundity of person which was comical to behold. He was fat and unwieldy, and waddled about with laughable steps. His huge black robe, which reached from his chin to his toes, was secured about the waist with a sash of the same color, and the snow, which lay upon his shoulders and back, presented a striking contrast. Ruric brushed away the snow with his own hand, and having taken his visitor's thick fur bonnet, the latter took a seat near the fire.

Before a word was spoken the youthful host carefully examined his guests face; and the latter seemed equally desirous of discovering what manner of people he had fallen in with. The monk's face was a peculiar one. The features were dark and prominent, and almost angular in their strongly marked outlines.—His brow was very fair in mental development, and his eyes were dark and brilliant. The slight circle of hair that escaped from beneath the tight skull cap which he retained upon his head was somewhat tinged with silver, though his face did not betray such advanced age as this silvery hair would seem to indicate.

'You have been caught in a severe storm, good father,' said the youth, after his guest had somewhat recovered from the effects of the cold.

'Aye—that have I, my son,' the monk returned, in a deep, rumbling tone. 'I left the Kremlin this morning, little thinking of such a change. This storm has commenced since I started on my return. About a mile from here my horse got foundered in the snow, and I left him with an honest peasant, and then started to make the rest of my way on foot; but I reckoned wildly. The driving storm blinded me, and the piling drifts swallowed me up at every dozen steps. My body is not well used to such work.—Ha, ha, ha. But I saw your light, and I determined to seek shelter here for the night. By St. Michael, but this is a most severe storm; yet you are comfortable here.'

'Aye, father—we try to be comfortable,' said Ruric. 'My mother could hardly survive a winter in some of the dwellings which stand hereabouts.'

The monk made no answer to this, save a sort of commendatory nod; and shortly afterwards the youth asked—

"Do you belong here in the city good father?"

"Aye—at present I do," the monk returned. And then, with a smile, he added,—"I suppose you would like to know whom you have thus received. My name is Valdimir, and my home is wherever I may chance to be on God's heritage. At present, I am residing here in Moscow. There—could you ask me to be more frank?"

Ruric smiled, but he made no direct reply.—He was too deeply interested in the face of the monk to enter with much eagerness into conversation. At length, the guest asked if he could be accomodated with some sleeping place, and having answered in the affirmative, the youth lighted another candle and conducted him to a chamber which was located directly over the kitchen, and which was very well warmed by means of several iron tubes that connected with the furnace below.

"Mother," uttered Ruric, as soon as he had returned to the kitchen, "who is that man?"

"How should I know?" the woman replied.

"But have you never seen him before?" Ruric asked, in an earnest, eager tone.

"I cannot tell, my son. His face most surely calls up some strange emotions in my mind, but I think I never saw him before."

"And yet he seem familiar to me," the son resumed.

"Those eyes I surely have seen before, but to save my soul I cannot remember when or where."

And so Ruric pondered and pondered, but to no avail. After he had retired to his bed he lay awake and thought of the strange face; and all through the night his dreams were but startling visions of the Black Monk.

CHAPTER II.

A STRANGE PROCEEDING.

When Ruric came down in the morning he found the monk already there, and breakfast nearly ready. But little was said during the meal time, for the monk seemed busy with thoughts of his own, and Ruric was too much engaged in studying the strange man's features, and pondering upon the various doubts and surmises that had entered his mind. After the meal was over the monk accompanied the gun-maker to his shop, and there he spent some time in examining the quaint articles of machinery that were used in the manufacture of arms.

Ruric was engaged in finishing a pair of pistols, and for some minutes the monk had stood silently by his side watching his movements. At length the youth stopped in his work and laid the pistol down.

"Excuse me, good father," he said, rather nervously, at the same time gazing his visitor in the face; "but I must ask you a question. Where have I seen you before?"

"How should I know?" the monk returned with a smile.

"Why—" resumed Ruric, with some hesitancy, "I knew not but you might enlighten me. I have surely seen you somewhere."

"And are there not hundreds whom you have seen in this great city—aye, thousands—whom you might recognize as you recognize me?"

"Ah—it may be so; but not like this. There may be a thousand faces I would recollect to have seen, but not one of them would excite even a passing emotion in my soul. But your face calls up some powerful emotion—some startling memory of the past—which bothers me. Who are you, good father? What are you? Where have we met before? Was it in Spain?

"No," said Valdimir, with a shake of the head. And then with a more serious shade upon his face he added—"Let this pass now.—I will not deny to you that there may be some grounds for your strange fancies; but I assure you most sacredly that until last night I never came in direct companionship with you before; —at any rate, not to my knowledge. You have acted the good Samaritan towards me, and I hope I may soon return the favor."

"No, no," quickly responded the youth, "If you return it then it will be a favor no more.—I have only done for you what every man should do for his neighbor; and so far from needing thanks for my services, I would rather give them for the occasion, for I know no source of joy so pure and uncontaminated as that feeling in the soul which tells us we have done a good act."

The dark monk reached forth and took the youthful artizan's hand, and with more than ordinary emotion he said:

"You touch the harp-strings of the soul with a noble hand, my son, and if any deed of kindness can give me joy it will be a deed for you. We may meet again, and until then I can only say, God bless and prosper thee."

With these words the monk turned away, and ere Ruric could command presence of mind enough to detain him he had gone from the house. The youth wished to say something, but among the varied emotions that went leaping through his mind he could gather no connected thoughts.

After the monk was gone Ruric returned to his bench and resumed his work. He asked his boy if he had ever seen the strange man before, but Paul only shook his head, and answered dubiously.

"What do you mean?" the gun-maker asked, gazing the boy in the face. "Do you think you have seen him before?"

"I cannot tell, my master. I may have seen him before, and I may not. But surely you would not suppose that my memory would serve you better than your own."

Ruric was not fully assured by this answer.—into Paul's face, and he fancied that he detected some show of intelligence there which had not been spoken. But he resolved to ask no more questions at present. He had asked enough, he thought, upon such a subject, and he made up his mind to bother himself no more about it, feeling sure that if his boy knew anything which would be for his master's interest to know, it would be communicated in due season. So he applied himself anew to his work, and at noon the pistols were finished.

Towards the middle of the afternoon just as Ruic had finished tempering some parts of a gun lock, the back door of his shop was opened, and two men entered. They were young men, dressed in costly furs, and both of them stout and good-looking. The gun maker recognized them as the Count Conrad Damanoff and his friend Stephen Urzen.

"I think I speak with Ruic Nevel," said the Count, moving forward.

"You do," returned Ruric, not at all surprised by the visit, since people of all classes were in the habit of calling at his place to order arms.

The Count turned a shade paler than before, and his nether lip trembled; but Ruric thought that might be the result of coming from the cold into a warm place. However, he was soon undeceived, for the Count's next remark was significant:

"You are acquainted with the Lady Rosalind Valdai!" he said.

"I am," returned Ruic, now beginning to wonder.

"Well, sir," resumed Damanoff, with much haughtiness, "perhaps my business can be quickly and satisfactorily settled. It is my desire to make the Lady Rosalind my wife."

Ruric Nevel started as these words, and he clasped his hands to hide their tremulousness. But he was not long debating upon an answer.

'And why have you come to me with this information, sir?' he asked.

'You should know that already. Do you not love the lady?'

'Upon my soul, Sir Count, you ask me a strange question. What right have you to question me upon such a theme?'

'The right that every man has to pave the way for his own rights,' replied Damanoff sharply.' 'But if you choose not to answer, let it pass. I know you do love the lady.—And now I ask you to renounce all claims to her hand.'

'By St. Paul, Sir Count, your tongue runs into strange moods of speech. I renounce all claims to Rosalind Valdai's hand?—Was't so you meant?'

'Aye sir—precisely so.'

'Perhaps you will inform me what claims I may have in that quarter,' Ruric returned, with some tremulousness in his tone, for the very subject was one that moved him.

'Ruric Nevel, you shall not say that I did not make myself fully understood, and hence I will explain.' The Count spoke this as speaks a man who feels that he is doing a very condescending thing, and in the same tone he proceeded: 'The lady Rosalind is of noble parentage, and very wealthy. My own station and wealth are equal with hers. My station, at all events. She may possess the undivided right to more property than I do. But that matters not. I love her and must have her for my wife. I have seen the noble Duke, her guardian, and he objects not to my suit. But he informed me that there was one impediment, and that was her love for you. He knows full well—as I know, and as all must know—that she never could become your wife; but he is anxious not to interfere too much against her inclination. So a simple denial from you to the effect that you can never claim her hand, is all that is necessary. You understand me, I trust. We seek this only for the fair lady's own good. Of course, you must be aware that the Duke would never consent to her union with you; and yet he would wish to have your denial to show to Rosalind when he announces his decision. I have a paper here all drawn up, and all that will be necessary is simply your signature. Here—it is only a plain, simple avowal on your part that you have no hopes nor thoughts of seeking the hand of the lady in marriage.'

"As the Count spoke he drew a paper from the bosom of his martin doublet, and having opened it he handed to it towards the gunmaker. But Ruric took it not. He drew back and gazed the visitor sternly in the face.

'Sir Count,' he uttered in a tone of noble indignation, 'what do you suppose I am? Do you mean to tell me that Olga, Duke of Tula, has commissioned you to obtain such a renunciation of me?'

'Stephen,' spoke the Count, turning to his companion, 'you heard the instructions the Duke gave me this morning?'

'Aye,' returned Urzen, directing his speech to Ruric. 'I did hear; and you have stated the case plainly.'

'I may be as much surprised as yourself,' resumed the Count haughtily, 'at this strange taste of the Duke. Why he should seek this signal from you I can only imagine upon his desire to call up no regrets in the bosom of his fair ward. He knows that she was once intimate with you, and that she now feels a warm friendship for you. For her sake he would have this signal from you.'

'But how for her sake?' asked Ruric.

'Why,' returned Damanoff, do you not see? Rosalind, in the simplicity of her heart, may think that you—a—that you might claim her love; and out of pure principle grant it to you simply because you were the first claimant.'

'But I never claimed her love,' said Ruric, warmly. 'If she loves me, she loves me from her own heart. With the noble Duke I never spoke but once, and then he came here for me to temper his sword. If you would marry with the lady, do so; and if you seek help in the work, seek it from those who have some power in the matter."

'You mistake, sir,' uttered the Count, hotly. 'I seek not power now. I only seek a simple word from one who may have some influence—even as a beggar, having saved the life of a king, may, through royal gratitude, wield an influence. Will you sign the paper?'

Now all this seemed very strange to Ruric, and he knew that there was something behind the curtain that he was not permitted to know. He knew the proud and stubborn Duke well enough to know that he never would have sent such a message as this but for some design more than had yet appeared. In short, he could not understand the matter at all. It look dark and complex, and its face was in direct conflict with the nature of the man from whom it now appeared to have emanated.—Ruric pondered on this a few moments, and he made up his mind that he would on no account yield an atom to the strange demand thus made upon him.'

'Sir Count,' he said, calmly and surely, 'you have plainly stated your proposition, and I will as plainly answer. I cannot sign the paper.'

'Ha!' gasped Damanoff, in quick passion. 'Do you refuse?'

'Most flatly.'

For a few moments the Count gazed into Ruric's face as though he doubted the evidence of his own senses.

'Is is the Duke's command,' he said, at length.

'The Duke of Tula holds no power of command over me,' was the gun-maker's calm reply.

'Beware! Once more, I say—Sign the paper!'

FROM EUROPE.—PEACE.

By the Africa, at New York, we have three days later news from Europe. London money market firm and unchanged. Consols 93 a 94 1-8. American stocks active, but prices without material change. Cotton had advanced and breadstuffs were steady.

American affairs have been introduced into Parliament, but nothing important was said or done.

Illuminations and other joyous demonstrations are the order of the day in Europe.—There is no part of the continent which has not an interest in this peace. The first effect is felt in commercial matters, especially in England, where merchants have a large amount of property in Russia or elsewhere, which has been unavailable during the war.—In every department of industry and trade, great activity is promised from the restoration of peace.

A letter from Hamburg of the 20th, in the Brussels Independence, says:—

Since peace has been considered certain, merchants and negotiators have arrived almost daily from all parts of England, with the object of starting factories in some part of the Russian empire. It is a remarkable fact that of all the people of Europe, the English show most eagerness to renew business relations with Russia. It is now in contemplation to form a great Anglo-Russian company, which, with considerable capital in its hands, will solicit the government authority to turn to profit on a vast scale the territorial and mineral riches of the Russian territory.

PARIS, April 3d.—P. M.—The details connected with the Danubian Principalities, and the liberties of the Christian subjects of the Porte, are the points to be arranged in the renewed conference. The Porte objects to any occupation of Turkey by the allied forces, and it is possible that the point will be waived, if the powers are satisfied as to the safety and privileges of Christians.

ST. PETERSBURG, RUSSIA, April 2d.—Peace Declared.—By an imperial manifesto peace is proclaimed, the object of the war having been gained by the security required for the privileges of Christians. It is added that a fresh frontier line for Bessarabia has been conceded.

Italy.—It grows confirmed that the situation of Italy will form a subject of deliberation before the Conference dissolves.

Turkey.—An English church is to be built in Constantinople by subscription, as a memorial of the British who perished in the war.

The English fleets and armies, lately operating against Russia, are to go home at leisure. The late opposing armies in the Crimea, are now living in friendly intercourse with each other.

STEAMER PACIFIC.

The following from Lloyd's List, may or may not have reference to the missing Pacific.

"Figueria, March 24.—The Shipwith, Capt. Ryan, which left St. Johns, Newfoundland, Feb. 13, has arrived here, and reports that, in coming off the Newfoundland coast, she fell in with ice to the distance of two hundred miles from the land, and saw the lights of a steamer in the ice.

On this statement the Boston Courier remarks:

Again a slight hope is raised for the unfortunate Pacific. When the story, however of this St. Johns captain is analyzed, we fear there will be but slight grounds for expectation of the safety of the missing steamer; still due weight should be allowed for all the facts in regard to it. In the first place, this captain, who reports having seen lights in the ice, could not at the time have known that any steamer was out of time. Again, if a steamer's lights really were seen, as indicated, it is known that they could not have been those of the Pewsia or America, and no vessel of the sort is known to have been in such a position at the date named. If, too, it was the Pacific's lights that were seen, and she was beset in by ice, it does away with the supposition, which has generally prevailed, that she had struck the ice violently and been sunk, and leaves a probability that something may yet be heard from her. Had the Pacific been compelled to drift until she was released by the ice separating, the time consumed by such an operation would not be very extraordinary, in view of the crippled state the vessel would most likely find herself in after the encounter.

☞ The Tangletown Letters, edited by the author of the "Records of Bubbleton Parish," are just published in a neat volume of 300 pages, by Wanzer, McKim & Co. of Buffalo.

The talented author has succeeded as well in this book as in the Bubbleton Parish, in shooting folly as it flies, and making a readable, pleasant book; besides it is well illustrated, and will be popular.

PORTLAND.—The Inquirer says that the democratic party vote is some two hundred less than last fall. "Their plurality over us last fall, was 498; it is now only 288. A like gain between this and next fall will give us the city."

LIBERALITY.—The Portland Advertiser of Saturday says:—

Some person or persons unknown, have recently presented to the Union Congregational church of this city, Rev. Henry D. Moore, Pastor, a very handsome service of Silver for the Communion Table, consisting of eight pieces—two tanks, four goblets and two plates.

This young church thus far, has been most favorably regarded by the Christian community.

It is worthy of note, that though no effort has been made, as yet, to secure the necessary funds for the building of the new church, yet some fifteen thousand dollars have been voluntarily subscribed; twelve thousand of which are from eight individuals.

The work of erection will commence on Monday next.

PRIZE SONGS.—By the last number of the New York Musical Review, we see that to Otto Dresel, the pianist and composer, of Boston, has been awarded the first prize ($200) offered by the enterprising publishers of that paper, for the best song; and to Charlie C. Converse, the well-known and popular ballad composer, of New York, the second prize ($100) for the next best song. The votes or opinions of subscribers to the Review, sent by letter, settled the matter. About two hundred compositions were sent in, we believe; and a committee selected the eight they deemed best, which were published in the Review, with the above result.

THE INSTALLATION of Rev. Jona. Cole as pastor of the Unitarian Society in Exeter, N. H., will take place on Thursday, the 24th inst. The order of services will be as follows:

Introductory Prayer and Reading of Scripture, by Rev. Mr. Hassell, of Haverhill; Sermon, by Rev. Dr. Gannett, of Boston; Charge, by Rev. Dr. Barrett, of Boston; Address to the People, by Rev. A. P. Peabody, of Portsmouth; Right Hand of Fellowship, by Rev. Charles Lowe, of Salem; Concluding Prayer, by Rev. Mr. Bridge of Hampton Falls. Services to commence at 3 o'clock P. M.

A PARALLEL.—The Claremont Eagle draws the following parallel between this State and Connecticut.

The parallel between the election in New Hampshire and Connecticut is remarkable both in the general result and in the actual figures. For instance, the whole number of votes cast in New Hampshire was 66,642, in Connecticut it was 66,000. The Administration candidate in New Hampshire lacked, according to the Patriot's account, 1254 of an election; in Connecticut he lacked 1554.—Our majority in the Senate is 4; in Conn. 3. Our majority in the House is from 20 to 25; in Connecticut the Republican majority is 23.

☞ We published an account of a case of house-breaking, and the shooting of one of the drunken rowdies by the occupant of the house, near Exeter, a few days since. Our correspondent gave no names. The News Letter states that the aggrieved party, who fired the gun, was Mr. John Marsh, living about two miles from Exeter or the Epping road; and that the shot entered "the calves of the young man's legs, and are proving quite troublesome. His physician fears that amputation will be necessary." Verily, "wine is a mocker."

"The word slaves or slavery is not found in the Bible."—Amos Kendall's letter to Israel Hunt.

"Is Israel a servant? Is he a home-born slave? Why is he spoiled?"—Jeremiah II. 14.

With regard to the first two questions, we rather think he is. But with regard to the other, we are sure we can't tell. For some wise purpose probably. But the Hon. Amos must mend his reading. Folks will not believe his Bible argument, else.—Nashua Telegraph.

On Tuesday evening, some persons thoughtlessly or malisiously threw stones into the cars of the Eastern railroad as they were going to Newburyport and coming from Boston just outside of the tunnel. One of the stones broke a pane of glass and came near striking a lady in the head. It was about the size of a hen's egg, and might have instantly have deprived her of life had its direction been changed one inch.

THE RUSSIAN WAR.—It is estimated that the whole loss of men during the war from battles, privation and sickness, cannot be less than six to eight hundred thousand, and the entire cost of the war not less than $1,500,000,000! Does not this look like the most astounding folly and crime?

The Tribune is teaching Western emigrants how to make frame houses without mortices and tenons. With lumber, saw, hammer and plenty of good nails, any man can make a good house in a day or two without the aid of a carpenter.

FROM TRINIDAD.—Schooner Searsville arrived at New York from Trinidad, Port Spain, brings a load of old guns, got by the Sub-Marine Diving Company from the wrecks of Spanish war vessels which were sunk near that place in 1797.

Advices from Bahia, Brazil, to March 19th, state that the yellow fever still prevails to some extent at that port.

Rev. Dr. Sprague of New York, has been engaged a long time upon a "History of American Divines," and hopes to complete it in about a year from this time.

LOCAL.

MONDAY, April 21.

In the Board of Aldermen no business of importance was transacted.

and was elected.

The following officers were elected to fill vacancies:

Mr. Raynes offered a resolution instructing the committee on printing to make inquiry as to the expense of publishing the Ordinances of the City (to be revised for that purpose) in the Portsmouth Directory.

The resolution was adopted and sent up.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, April 21.

Before Justice Bennett,—Jeremiah Murphy was accused of an assault on his child, (4 years of age,)—plead guilty; and was sentenced to 20 days imprisonment in common jail; and costs, $5,32.

Jeremiah was also accused of threats of bodily harm to his wife, on which examination was had, and the justice ordered him to give bonds in $100, with good sureties, to keep the peace till September Court.

THE RAG BUSINESS.—We do not now refer to the dry goods business, which is frequently designated as above, especially by those engaged in it; but the trade in old rags, and associate commodities—which is, perhaps, a more extensive business than people generally are aware of. Happening into the large stable and store-house of Mr. Frank Jones, on Hanover Street, a few days since, we were surprised to see a large pile of old cast iron, estimated to weigh about forty tons, which had crushed through the floor to the earth below. His rag room had recently been cleared of the gatherings of a few months; a schooner having taken an entire cargo of rags from it, which amounted to about $4000.

There are from three to six men, with teams, continually circulating about this city, engaged in this business. One of them told us that he took upwards of a hundred pounds of rags from one house, a few days since; and he "guessed that family hadn't sold any rags before, since they had been keeping house." At this house-cleaning season of the year, the rag-men (of both sorts) drive the briskest trade.

☞ The farewell visit to Mr. Abbott, the City Missionary, will take place this afternoon and evening. The afternoon will be improved by the elder people; the evening by the younger.

☞ Rev. N. K. George of Franconia, (an applicant for the office of our City Missionary,) will be in this city on Thursday or Friday and will preach at Mr. Lord's Chapel on Hanover St. on Sabbath next.

☞ The thief who broke into Dr. Preston's store on Saturday night, and stole cigars, &c. returned several of the cigar boxes on Sunday night. They were found in the back yard, empty, on Monday morning. The individual did not leave his card; but—see the Dr.'s advertisement.

☞ An easterly storm commenced here on Saturday night and continued throughout Sunday and Monday, with a good deal of rain, and a high wind from north-east to east. It extended very widely, and at Rutland, Vt. snow fell during all of Sunday.

THE PISCATAQUA RIVER CLEAR OF ICE.—Capt. John Elliott sailed with his packet from the port of Exeter for Portsmouth on Thursday last, and returned on Saturday with a full cargo—the first trip of the season.—News Letter.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not grip or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

PORTSMOUTH DIRECTORY, 1856--7.

SIX years have elapsed since the last edition of the Portsmouth Directory was issued. The many changes which have taken place in that time have rendered the issue of a new edition desirable. The call for it has frequently been made upon us, and we are now taking the preliminary measures for responding to that call. The labor of preparation is considerable, and to warrant the undertaking a sufficient number of subscribers to meet a portion of the expense must first be obtained.

It will contain such information as is usually found in works of the kind.

Those who have houses or stores without Numbers affixed, would benefit themselves by placing up their numbers, and sending information to the Journal office.

Officers of Societies will confer a favor and guard against errors, by handing in the names of their institutions, with list of officers, and such information respecting them as may be of public interest.

Those who have a desire to announce their occupations in a any different form from that in the last edition, will please hand in the change.

Advertisements will be inserted in a conspicuous manner, on reasonable terms. Such advertisements are stationery cards, ever before the eyes of the public.

The price of the Directory will be 50 cents per copy.—The work will be commenced as soon as 400 subscribers are obtained. C. W. BREWSTER & SON, Portsmouth, April 19, 1856. Publishers.

MY REMOVAL FROM MARKET ST.

Portsmouth, N. H. in January last.

THE Store No. 15 Market Street had been occupied by Henry A. Bigelow for the thirteen years prior to January last, and was greatly enlarged and improved in value, beauty and convenience, at a cost of about $700 to said Bigelow—his own personal expense. The said Bigelow did, by his counsel, S. H. Goodall, Esq. apply about two months before the removal was effected, to the agent and part owner of said store, (or in his absence to his wife, who acts for her husband as agent in making of bills, collecting rents, &c.) for a renewal for five years of said Bigelow's lease, offering satisfactory security for the same or to pay the rent ways in advance; and the said agent and part owner's wife did rejoice and express much satisfaction that their tenant desired to remain, and gave her cordial consent, as said agent had heard her husband say he should object to any lease for so long a time as five years, but thought he would not object to two or three years, and would write her husband in regard to a lease of five years.

On the 15th of January last, the day after the ejectment was accomplished, Henry Peyser came into said Bigelow's store, and did say and confess of his own accord, in a proud and boastful spirit, before three witnesses, that he wanted Bigelow's store; that he meant to have had it at whatever cost; that he had left no stone unturned to get the store away from said Bigelow without his knowledge or consent; that he had been to see the wife of said agent and part owner of his store five or six times, made misrepresentations to her, how said Bigelow was injuring the store, the merchants and the trade of Market street [not that he had injured his trade, or could, as he kept another class of goods]; and did go up and down Market street and the city, inciting other merchants to join him in his representations to the said agent's wife whenever they should see her, and so effected his object that the said agent and part owner upon arriving home, did step into Mr. Albert Leighton's store, to whom he had given the refusal of the first store he had to rent larger than the one he occupied, and told him he could have said Bigelow's store, if he could make up his mind by nine o'clock, otherwise he should let it. Peyser knew it. Mr. Leighton decided to take the store, and the countenance of the said Henry Peyser did fall; and having so zealously enlisted in his work of love in doing unto others as he would have others do unto him," he offers Mr. Bisley, who kept the next door, one hundred dollars premium money to move into the more commodious and convenient store to be made vacant by Mr. Leighton; which offer was accepted. All the arrangements having been made, the said agent and part owner notified the said Bigelow to quit his store in two weeks, or he should charge double rent after that time, while the law would allow him to stay, without assigning any reason for the same, (nothing was said as to the hush money; and the said Peyser has made his store and Mr. Bisley's into one, where he can be seen daily, in his own self-aggrandizement, by any one who cares to venture near enough to look into the window.

HENRY A. BIGELOW,

having thus been so ungentlemanly injured in his business and deprived of his store, has opened a New Store, No. Congress Block, Congress Street, with a new stock of FRESH DRY GOODS, BONNETS & MILLINERY, where he will be happy to wait upon his old customers and the ladies of this city and vicinity who may favor him with a call. Portsmouth, April 19, 1856.

'You but waste your breath, Sir Count, in speaking thus. You have my answer.'

'By Heavens, Ruric Nevel, you'll sign this!' the Count cried madly.

'Never, sir.'

'But look ye, sirrah: Here is my whole future of life based upon my hopes of union with this fair girl. Her guardian bids me get this paper of you ere I can have her hand.—And now do you think I'll give it up so easily? By the saints of heaven, I'll have your name to this, or I'll have your life!'

'Now your tongue runs away with you, Sir Count. I have given you my answer. Be sure that only one man upon earth can prevail upon me to place my name upon that paper.'

'And who is he?'

'I mean the Emperor.'

'But you will sign it,' hissed Damonoff, turning pale with rage. 'Here it is—sign! If you would live—sign!'

'Perhaps he cannot write,' suggested Urzen contemptuously.

'Then he may make his mark,' rejoined the Count, in the same contemptuous tone.

'It might not require much urging to induce me to make my mark in a manner not at all agreeable to you, sir,' the youth returned, with his teeth now set, and the dark veins upon his brow starting more plainly out. 'You have come upon my premises, and you have sought your purpose. You now have your answer, and for your own sake—for my sake—I beg you to leave me.'

'Not until your name is upon this paper!' cried Damonoff, shaking the missive furiously and crumpling it in his hand.

'Are you mad, Sir Count? Do you take me for a fool?'

'Aye—a consumate one.'

'Then,' returned Ruric, with a curl of utter contempt upon his finely chiselled lip, 'you need have no further dealings with me. There is my door, sir.'

For some moments Conrad Damonoff seemed unable to speak from very anger. He had some deep, anxious purpose in obtaining Ruric's name to that paper; and to be thus thwarted by a common artisan was maddening to one, who, like him, based all his force of character upon his title.

'Sign!' he hissed.

'Fool,' uttered Ruric, unable longer to contain himself in view of such stupid persistence. 'Do you seek a quarrel with me?'

'Seek?—I seek what I will have. Will you sign?'

'Once more—No!'

'Then, by heavens, you shall know what it is to thwart such as me! How's that!'

As these words passed from the Count's lips in a low, hissing whisper, he aimed a blow with his fist at Ruric's head. The gunmaker had not dreamed of such a dastard's act, and he was not prepared for it. Yet he dodged it sufficiently to escape the mark upon his face, receiving the blow lightly upon the side of the head. But he stopped not to consider now. As the Count drew back Ruric dealt him a blow upon the brow that felled him to the floor like a dead ox.

'Beware, Stephen Urzen!' he whispered to the Count's companion, as that individual made a movement as though he would come forward. 'I am not myself now, and you are safest where you are.'

The man thus addressed viewed the gunmaker a few moments, and he seemed to conclude that he had better avoid a personal encounter, for his fists relaxed, and he moved to the side of his fallen friend and assisted him to his feet.

Conrad Damonoff gazed into his antagonist's face a few moments in silence. He was ashen pale, and his whole frame quivered. Upon his forehead there was a livid spot where he had been struck, but the skin was not broken.

'Ruric Nevel,' he said, in a hissing, maddened tone, 'you will hear from me. The mad spirit of a vengeance such as mine can overlook your plebian stock.'

And with this he turned away.

'Paul,' said the gun-maker, turning to his boy, after the men had gone, 'not a word of this to my mother. Be sure.'

CHAPTER III.

LOVE.

That night Ruric Nevel had strange fancies while waking, and strange dreams while sleeping. Long and deeply did he ponder upon the strange business which had called Count Conrad to his shop, and in no way, under no light, could he get any reason from it. Why he, a youth who had never spoken with the proud Duke, save once on common business, and who was so far down in the social scale, should have been thus called upon to give a virtual consent to the bestowal of Rosalind Valdai's hand, was beyond his ken. He was but a poor artizan—she, a wealthy heiress and a scion of nobility—and she was under the legal guardianship of the Duke, whose word, so far as she was concerned, was law. And again, Conrad Damonoff was a Count, and reputed to be wealthy. To be sure, he was somewhat dissolute, but then a majority of his compeers were the same. Now, if this Count loved the lady Rosalind, and had asked for her hand, and the Duke was willing he should have it, why had this extraordinary proposal been sent to the poor gun-maker?

Ruric asked this question of himself a hundred times. He would commence and lay down all the premises in his mind, and then he would try to make the deduction; but no reasonable one could be arrive at. One thought clung about him like a dim spectre in the night, which Hope would make an angel, and which Fear would paint a demon. Could it be possible that Rosalind had told her love for him, and that the Duke would pay some deference to it? He tried to think so. Hope whispered that it might be so; but Fear would force itself in, and speak in tones so loud that they could not be misunderstood. Finally the youth resolved upon the only reasonable course He concluded to let the matter rest, so far as his own surmises were concerned, until he could see Rosalind, and that he was determined to do as soon as possible.

On the following morning, as he was preparing for breakfast, he saw Olga, the Duke, pass by, and strike off into the Borodino road. Now, thought he, is the time for the visit to Rosalind; and as soon as he had eaten his breakfast he prepared for the visit. He dressed well, and no man in Moscow had a nobler look when the dust of toil was removed from his brow and garb.

'Paul,' he said, entering the shop where the boy was at work, 'I may be back at noon. At any rate, such is my intention; and if either of those men call who were here yesterday, you may tell them so.'

'But,' returned the lad, 'if they should ask me any questions?'

'Answer them as you think best.'

'And if they should ask me if you would fight?'

'Tell them that I hold my life as too dear at the expense of an insult.'

'But surely, my master, the Count will challenge you.'

'I think he will. 'And,' added Ruric, as an entire new thought came to his mind, 'maybap he came here to create a quarrel to that end. By my soul, I think he did.'

'I am sure of it,' said Paul.

A moment Ruric's frame quivered with suppressed passion, and then he said—

'Let them come—and if they come—or if either of them comes, while I am gone, tell them, or him, that I am their very humble servant in all things reasonable.'

Paul promised, and then the gun-maker turned away. In the hall he threw on his heavy pelisse, and having reached the nearest hostelry he took a horse and sledge and started off for the Kremlin, within which the Duke had resided.

Within one of the sumtuously furnished apartments of the palace, of the Duke of Tula sat Rosalind Valdai. She was a beautiful girl; moulded in perfect form, with the full flush of health and vigor, and possessing a face of peculiar sweetness and intelligence.—She was only nineteen years of age, and she had been ten years an orphan. Her hair was of a golden hue, and the sunlight loved to dwell amid the clustering curls. Her eyes which were of a liquid blue, sparkled brightly when she was happy; and when she smiled the lovely dimples of her cheek held the smile even after it had faded from the lips. There was nothing of the aristocrat in her look—nothing proud, nothing haughty; but gentleness and love were the true elements of her soul, and she could only be happy when she knew that she was truly loved. She loved respect, but she spurned that respect which only aims at outward show, while the heart may be reeking, with vilest sensualism.

Rosalind sat there, in the apartment which was hers for her own private use, and she was sad and thoughtful. One fair hand supported her fair brow, while with the other she twisted the ends of her silken sash that confined her heavy robe. Thus she sat when the door of her apartment was opened, and a young girl entered. This new comer was a small, fair creature, bright and quick with that raven hair and those large, dark eyes of dreamy light, which bespeak the child of Moslem blood. Her name was Zenobie, and she was now about sixteen years of age. Rosalind's father had picked her up on the battle field from which the Turks had fled, and being unable to find any claimants he had brought her home, then almost an infant. And now she was Rosalind's attendant and companion.—She loved her kind and gentle mistress, and would have laid down life itself in the service.

'How now, Zenobie?' asked Rosalind, as she noticed the girl hesitate.

'There is a gentleman below who would see you,' the girl replied.

'Then tell him I cannot see him,' said Rosalind trembling.

But this is Ruric Nevel, my mistress.

'Ruric!' uttered the fair maiden, starting up while the rich blood mounted to her brow and temples. 'O, I am glad he has come. My prayers are surely answered. Lead him hither, Zenobie.

The girl departed, and ere long afterwards Ruric entered the apartment. He walked quickly to the place where Rosalind had arisen to her feet, and taking one of her hands in both his own he pressed it to his lips. He had had a well-formed speech upon his lips when he entered the room, but 'twas gone now. He could only gaze into the lovely face and murmur the name that sounded so sweetly on his lips. But the emotions of his soul became calm at length, and then he spoke with more freedom.

'Lady' he said after taking a seat, 'you will pardon me for this visit when you know its cause. And you will pardon me, too, if I speak plainly what I have to speak.'

'Surely, sir—'

'O—call me Ruric. Let us at least not forget the friendships of childhood.'

'Then I am not a lady,' said Rosalind, smiling.

'No, Rosalind.'

'Ah, Ruric.'

'As we were in childhood,' whispered the youth.

'In all but years,' returned Rosalind, in the same low one.

'And I may wear the same image in my heart?'

'I cannot cast it from mine if I would.'

'The image of childhood, dear Dear Rosalind?'

'Aye—say that it has grown to manhood, dear Ruric.'

What more could he ask for love? He had not aimed at this confession so soon. He gazed a moment into the maiden's kindling eye and as he saw the love-lit tear gathering there and the happy smile working its way about the rosy lips, and away into the joyous dimples, he opened his arms and clasped the fondly loved one to his bosom.

'Oh, I am not deceived in this,' he murmured. 'Speak, dearest one.'

'I cannot forget the love of the happy times agone,' the noble girl replied, gazing up through her happy tears. 'Oh, how many and many an hour have I prayed to God that those might return, and that the one true heart of earth I loved might be mine again.—Ruric, why should I hide the truth, or why set it aside. To me thou art all in all. I have no one else to love, and none to love me else, save the noble girl who brought you hither. I can tell you no more.

Happy Ruric! Happy at that moment—forgetting all else but the love that gleamed out upon him then, and clasping the cherished object so ardently to his bosom.

But the moments flew on, and at length his mind came to the subject of his visit.

'Rosalind,' he said, holding one of her fair hands in his grasp, 'you know the Count Conrad Damonoff.'

'Aye,' returned the maiden with a shudder, 'he is here very often, and he has forced himself upon my companionship when, if he had sense, he must have known, I liked it not.'

'He is a suitor for your hand, is he not?'

'He was; but he is not now?'

'Not now?' repeated Ruric with surprise.—'What mean you?'

'Why—simply that he has asked the Duke for my hand, and that he was answered in the negative.'

'Did you hear the Duke answer him so?'

'No; but so the Duke assured me he had done.' But what mean you?'

'I will tell you. Yesterday the Count came to my dwelling accompanied by Stephen Urzen. He had a paper drawn up by the Duke's own hand, in which I was made to say—or rather, by which the writer said—that he disclaimed all pretensions to your hand, and that he wished not to marry you. That he freely gave you up, meaning to seek within the sphere of his own social circle some companion when he wished. And this I was asked to sign.'

'By the Count?'

'Yes—but by the Duke's orders.'

'Oh—it cannot be,' uttered the fair girl trembling.

'And he further assured me that the Duke had requested him to obtain my signature thereto, so that he might receive your hand without impediment.'

'So that the Count might receive my hand?'

'Yes.'

'But the Duke assured me only yesterday that I should be troubled no more with the Count. May there not be some mistake.'

'There can be more on my part. The instrument was in the Duke's own hand.'

'But you did not sign it.'

'Ask me if I took my own life—if I made a curse for all I loved.'

'It is strange,' the maiden murmured, bowing her head a few moments. 'And yet,' she added, looking up into her companion's face, 'I do not think the Duke would be treacherous?'

'He may be,' answered Ruric. 'He knows how lightly our noble emperor holds empty titles, and perhaps he fears that if this matter comes to the imperial ear, and you should claim to marry with whom you pleased, Peter would grant your prayer. Hence he wished to get my claim set aside so that he may have a clearer field in which to move. Do you know how the Duke's affairs stand at present?'

Rosalind thought awhile ere she answered; and then, while a startled expression came to her face, she said—

'Ruric, I do remember now that between the Duke and young Romanoff there is some matter of dispute. There is some question of property.'

'Ah,' uttered the youth earnestly. 'How is that?'

'Why—as near as I can understand it, there was a dispute between the Duke and the elder Damanoff, concerning the ownership of Drotzen, the estate on the Don, in Kaluga; and since the father's death Conrad has maintained his family claim. You know the Duke and the old Count married sisters, and the estate belonged to them.'

'And now,' suggested Ruric, 'may not the Duke mean to compromise this matter by giving your hand to the Count, and taking Drotzen in exchange?'

'Oh, I cannot think so,' the maiden returned, earnestly. 'The Duke would not do that. He is kind to me, I am sure. He loves me as though I were his own child. I know he does, for in a thousand ways has he shown it. He is mindful of my comfort, and anticipates my every want. No, no,—if he is deceiving any one he must be deceiving the Count.'

Ruric started as the new suspicion flashed upon him. Had the Duke sent Damanoff on that mission on purpose to get him into a quarrel. 'By my soul,' thought the youth to himself, 'the Duke knows that I have taught the sword-play, and he knows the Count would be no match for me. So he thinks in this subtle manner to make me an instrument for ridding him of a plague.'—But the youth was careful not to let Rosalind know of this. He knew she would be unhappy if she knew that a duel was likely to come off between himself and the Count.

After some minutes of comparative silence, Ruric touched a point which lay very near his heart.

'Rosalind,' he said, taking both her hands in his own, 'there is one point upon which we have never spoken; and I know you would have me speak plainly and candidly. You know my situation. My father and your father fought side by side, but my father fell while yours returned to his home. For his eminent services your father received a title and a noble estate from the grateful Feodor, while my father was only forgotten. Hence our stations are now widely different. Yet I am not poor. No other man in the manufacture of arms excels me, and from my labor I derive a handsome income. You know all that. And now, if other obstacles were removed, would you give me your hand and become mine for life?'

'Aye, Ruric,' the noble girl answered, with beaming eyes, and a joyful expression of countenance. 'Were you reduced to the lowest estate of poverty, as long as your generous, pure soul was free, I should only be the more anxious to lift you up. Oh, my love knows only the heart wherein it is secured, and for my future of joy I ask only in the truth of my husband's love.'

'Bless you, dearest,' Ruric murmured, clasping the fair being to his bosom. And for a long while Rosalind's head pillowed upon the shoulder of the man she so truly, fondly loved.

GUN MAKER OF MOSCOW;

OR,

VALDIMIR THE MONK.

A Tale of the Empire under Peter the Great.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

CHAPTER III (Continued.)

That was not the time for bringing forward doubts and fears. Ruric had many questions in his mind concerning the impediments that stood in the way of their union, but he kept them to himself now. At length he arose to take his departure, and he simply said, as he drew the maiden to his side,—

'You will not allow the Duke to give your hand away.'

'Never, Ruric.'

'If he asks you for your hand to bestow upon any of his friends, you will tell him——'

'That my heart is not mine to give, and that my hand cannot go without it.'

'Oh—bless you, Rosalind—bless you. God keep and guard you ever.'

There was one warm, ardent pressure of lip to lip, and then Ruric Nevel turned away, and was soon in the open court. Here he entered his sledge, and then drove to the barracks in the Khitagorod, where he inquired for Alaric Orsa, a lieutenant of the guard. The officer was quickly found, and as he met Ruric his salutation was warm and cordial. He was a young man, not over twenty-five, and one of the finest looking soldiers in the guard.

'Alaric,' said the gun-maker, after the first friendly salutations had passed, 'I may have a meeting with Conrad Count Damonoff. He has sought a quarrel—insulted me most grossly—aimed a blow at my head—and I knocked him down. You can judge as well as I what the result must be.'

'Most surely he will challenge you,' cried the officer, excitedly.

'So I think,' resumed Ruric, calmly.' 'And now will you serve me in the event?'

'With pleasure.'

'I may refer his messenger to you?'

'Yes—surely. And how shall I act? What will you do?'

'Knock him down again under the same provocation.'

'I understand. You wish to retract nothing?'

'No. Listen: I will tell you all since I seek your aid.'

And thereupon Ruric went on and related all that had occured at the time of the Count's visit to his shop.

'Good,' uttered Alaric, as the gun-maker finished. 'He must challenge you, and then you'll punish him. He's too proud now. He can handle some of his lilytops who associate with him; and perhaps he thinks he can do the same when he comes out among the harder men. But never mind — I will be punctual and faithful.'

Ruric reached home just as his mother was placing the board for dinner. He often went away on business, and she thought not of asking any questions.

CHAPTER IV.

THE CHALLENGE.

In the afternoon Ruric retired to his shop, where he went at work upon a gun which had been ordered some days before. As yet he had said nothing to Paul concerning the affair of the day before, since his return from the Kremlin. He asked him now, however, if any one had called.

'Only the monk,' returned Paul, without seeming to consider that there was anything very important in the visit.

'Do you mean the black monk—Valdimir?' asked the young man starting.

'Yes, my master. He called here about the middle of the forenoon. He wanted one of the small daggers with the pearl haft.'

'And did you let him have one?'

'Certainly. He paid me four ducats for it, and would have paid me more had I been willing to take it.'

'And did he make any conversation?'

'Yes. He asked me why the Count Damonoff came here yesterday.'

'Ha—How did he know of their visit?'

'He was waiting at the inn for a sledge when he overheard the Count and his companion conversing upon the subject.'

'And did he ask you any questions touching the particulars?'

'Yes—many.'

'And how answered you?'

'I told him the whole story, from beginning to end. I found he knew something of their purpose from what he accidentally overheard, and rather than have him go away full of surmises, I told him all.'

'Of the message, too?'

'Yes, my master. I told him all that happened, from the showing of the paper which the Duke had drawn up, to the departure of the angry man.'

'And what did the monk say?' Ruric asked, very earnestly.

'Why — he said he knew the Count, and that he was a proud reckless fellow, and worth but little to society. That was all. He did not seem to care much about it any way; only he said he should have done just as you did, and that every law of justice would bear you out. He had more curiosity than interest, though I am sure all his sympathies are with you.'

'Very well,' returned Ruric. 'It can matter but little what this monk thinks about it, though I would rather have him know the truth if he must know anything, for I would not be misunderstood.'

'He understands it all now, my master; and I trust you are not offended at the liberty I took in telling him.'

'Not at all, Paul—not at all.'

Here the conversation dropped, and the work was resumed in silence. It was passed three o'clock when Ruric's mother came and informed him that a gentleman, in the house, would speak with him.

'Is it Stephen Urzen?' asked the youth.

His mother said it was.

'Then bid him come out here.'

Claudia retired, and in a few moments more the gentleman made his appearance.

'Ruric Nevel,' he said, bowing very stiffly and haughtily, 'I bring a message from the Count Damonoff.'

'Very well, sir,' returned the gun-maker, proudly, 'I am ready to receive it.'

Thereupon Urzen drew a sealed note from his pocket and handed it to Ruric, who took it and broke the seal. He opened it, and read as follows:

'RURIC NEVEL:—An insult of the most aggravating nature has for the time levelled all distinctions of caste between us. Your blood alone can wash out the stain. I would not murder you outright, and in no other way but this can I reach you. My friend, the bearer of this, will make all arrangements. If you dare not meet me, say so, that all may know who is the coward. DAMONOFF.'

When Ruric had read the missive he crushed it in his hand, and gazed its bearer some moments in the face without speaking.

'Will you answer?' said Urzen. He spoke more softly than before, for he saw something in the gun-maker's face which he dare not provoke.

'Are you acquainted with Alaric Orsa, a lieutenant of the guard?'

'Yes, sir—I know him well.'

'Then let me refer you to him. He will make all necessary arrangements, and I shall hold myself bound by his plans. I trust that is satisfactory.'

'Yes, sir.'

'Then you and I need have no more to say.'

'Only on one point,' said Urzen, with some little show of confusion. 'You are the challenged party, and you will have the choice of weapons. The Count has not mentioned this—mind you, he has not; but I, as his friend, deem it no more than right to speak of it. I trust you will choose a gentleman's weapon. In the use of the pistol, or the gun, he is not versed.'

'While you imagine I am,' said Ruric, with a contemptuous curl of his lip; for he knew that the man was lying. He could see by the fellow's very looks that Damonoff had commissioned him to broach this matter.

'Of course you are,' returned Urzen.

'And the Count is most excellently versed in the use of the sword, is he not?'

'He is accounted a fair swordsman.'

'Aye—so I thought. But it matters not to me. The thought had not entered my mind before, save that I supposed swords would be the only weapon thought of. However Orsa will settle it with you. I have given him no directions at all, save to serve me as he thinks proper, and to act upon the understanding that if I have given offence to the Count, I would do the same again under provocation. You understand now?'

'I do, sir,' returned Urzen, in a choking tone.

'Then wait a moment, and I will give you a message to Orsa.'

Thus speaking Ruric went to his desk, and upon the bottom of the missive he had received from the Count he wrote:

'DEAR ALARIC: I send this to you by the same hand that bore it to me, and you are hereby empowered to act for me as you may deem proper. I shall be governed strictly by your arrangements. RURIC.'

Having written this he showed it to Urzen, and asked him if he would bear it to the lieutenant. An affirmative reply was given, and then simply folding the note in the opposite way from the original fold, the gun-maker superscribed it anew to the lieutenant, and handed it to his visitor. Urzen took it, and with a stiff bow, but without speaking, he turned and left the place.

That evening, about eight o'clock, a sledge drove up to Ruric's door, and Alaric Orsa entered the house. He called the youth aside, and informed him that the arrangements had been made.

'Damonoff is in a hurry,' he said, 'and we have appointed the meeting at ten o'clock tomorrow forenoon. It will take place at the bend of the river just beyond Viska Hill.'

'And the weapons?' asked Ruric.

'Swords,' returned Orsa. 'The Count will bring his own, and he gives you the privilege of selecting such an one as you choose.'

'I thank you, Alaric, for your kindness thus far, and you may rest assured that I shall be prompt.'

'Suppose I call here in the morning for you?' suggested the visitor.

'I should be pleased to have you do so.'

'I will, then. I shall be along in good season with my sledge, and we will both reach the ground together.'

Thus it was arranged and then Orsa took his leave.

When Ruric returned to his seat by the fireplace he noticed that his mother watched him narrowly, and with more than ordinary interest. He had once made up his mind to say nothing to his mother about the affair until it was over; but as the time was set, and the hour drew nigh, his mind wavered. When it was over where might he be! But he was cut short in his reflections by the voice of his parent.

'Ruric,' she said, and her voice trembled while she spoke, 'you will pardon me for prying into your affairs, but I cannot hide from myself that something of more than usual moment is on the tapis with you. Why are these men calling to and fro? and why are you so thoughtful and moody? You know a mother's feelings, and will pardon a mother's anxiety.'

'Surely, my mother,' the youth returned, gazing up for a moment, and then letting his eyes droop again. At length he resumed,—'I had made up my mind to tell you all ere you spoke.'

There was something deep and significant in Ruric's tone, and his mother quickly caught the spark.

'What is it?' she tremblingly uttered, moving her chair nearer to her child's side.

'Listen:' the young man said; and thereupon he detailed the circumstances attending the visit of Count Damodoff to his shop. Then he told of his own visit to Rosalind, and its results; and then of the visit of Stephen Ursden.

'And now, my mother,' he added, without waiting for any reply, 'you know it all. You see how I am situated. Remember, our nation has reached its present point by successful war. The soul of the nation is built upon military honor, and since our noble Emperor has opened the way of advancement to the lowest of his subjects who are brave and true, the coward is looked upon with disgust upon all hands. Yet, my mother, I would have you speak.'

For some moments Claudia Nevel was silent. But at length she said, while a tear glistened in her eye,—

'I have given one loved being up to my country's good. Russia took my husband from me, and I could ill afford now to lose my son. Yet, rather than one stain should rest upon name I would see him dead before me. O, Ruric, you know whether dishonor would rest upon you were you to refuse this challenge.'

'I will speak plainly, my dear mother,' returned the youth in a tremulous tone, 'In my soul I should feel perfectly justified in refusing this meeting, for no principle of real honor is at stake. But were I to back out now from this I should never meet another generous look in Moscow. Every one would point the finger of scorn towards me, and the word coward would ring always in my ears. It may be a false state of things—I feel that it really is so; but how can I help it? It is the curse of all great military epochs. Battle alone makes heroes, and so all must measure their honor by the force of their arms. The Count carries even now upon his brow the mark of my blow, and all will say he has a right to demand satisfaction; though I know that he provoked the quarrel on purpose. I cannot refuse him on the ground of station, for he is above me in that. I must meet him.'

'Then,' said the mother, in a low, calm tone, but with much effort, 'you shall not feel that your mother would thwart your design. If your own good judgment says, go—then go. If they bring your body to me in the stern grasp of death, I shall pray for the soul that has gone, and shall hope to meet you in the home of the redeemed. If you come back to me alive I shall thank God that you are spared; but alas! the joy will be clouded with the thought of blood upon your hands, and the knowledge that my joy is another's grief.'

'No, no, my mother, cried Ruric, quickly and earnestly. 'I will not have a fellow being's blood upon my hand if I can avoid it. Only to save my own life will I take his. He has done all this himself—all—all. The quarrel was his own, and the first blow was his. The challenge is his, and now is not the responsibility his also?'

'It is my son, so far as he alone is concerned. If you have a responsibilty it must be to your own soul. But tell me — has not the Emperor made some law touching this practice of duelling?'

'Yes — but only the challenger is responsible. The party challenged is held free from blame in the eyes of the law.'

'Then I shall interpose no more objections,' said the mother. She tried to speak hopefully, but she could not hide the fearful sadness of her heart. 'Could fervent prayers avert the blow it should not fall; but I can only pray as one without power.'

A long time after this was passed in silence. Both the mother and son seemed to have something upon their minds which they wished to say, but dared not. But the former at length overcame her reluctance.

'Ruric, my son,' she said, keeping back the tears that struggled for utterance in their silent speech, 'is there any little word you would leave?—any matter of moment—'

'No, no,' the boy answered, speaking calmly by effort. 'I am yours, and all is yours. But I shall not fall.'

'Ah—be not too confident my son. Let no such assurance lead you to forget your God. I have heard of this Count. It was he who slew Rutger; and Momjako, too, he slew in the duel. He is an expert swordsman, and surely means to kill you if he can.'

'I am aware of that my mother. But do you know that we are all prone to overlook our own powers when wondering upon the feats of others? I may be pardoned for assuring you that the only man who has ever yet overcome the Count at the sword-play was one of my own scholars. While in Spain I practised with some of the best swordsmen in the kingdom—But listen: I will send one word. For yourself I can tell you nothing you do not know; but yet you may see Rosalind. If you do, tell her—But you know my soul. You can tell her as you please. — But I shall not fall.'

It was now late, and ere long Ruric kissed his mother, and then retired to his bed.

And the widow was left alone. With her eyes she followed the retreating form of her beloved son, and when he was gone from her sight she bowed her head and sobbed aloud.

When she reached her humble couch she knelt by the side thereof, and poured forth her pent up soul to God. When her head pressed the pillow she tried to hope—she tried to fasten one hope in her mind; but she looked only into the Night. Not one ray of light reached her struggling soul. She opened her eyes of promise in vain—for she looked into a gloom so utter that out of its depths loom d only the blackness of Despair.

Sleep on Ruric. But oh! could'st thou know how thy fond mother's heart is racked there'd be no sleep for thee!

CHAPTER V.

THE DUEL.

On the following morning Ruric was up betimes, and at the breakfast table not a word of the one all-absorbing topic was uttered. After the meal was finished the gun-maker went out to his shop and took down from one of the closets a long leathern case, in which were two swords, both of the same make and finish, only different in size. They were Toledo blades, and of most exquisite workmanship and finish. Ruric took out the heaviest one, which was a two-edged weapon with a cross hilt of heavily gilded metal. He placed the point upon the floor and then, with all his weight he bent the blade till the pommel touched the point. The little steel sprang back with a sharp clang, and the texture was not started. Then he struck the flat of the blade upon the anvil with great force. The ring was sharp and clear, and the weapon remained unharmed.

'By St. Michael, Paul, Moscow does not contain another blade like that. Damascus never saw a better.'

'I think you are right, my master,' the boy returned, who had beheld the trial of the blade with unbounded admiration. 'But,' he added, 'could you not temper a blade like that?'

'Perhaps, if I had the steel. But I have it not. The steel of these two blades came from India, and was originally in one weapon—a ponderous, two-handed affair, belonging to a Bengal chieftain. The metal possesses all the hardness of the finest razor, with the elasticity of the most subtle spring. My old master at Toledo gave me these as a memento.—Were I to mention the sum of money he was once oofered for this largest one you would hardly credit it.'

'How much?' asked Paul, with a boyish curiosity.

'It was a sum equal to about seven hundred ducats.'

'And yet he gave it away.'

'Aye—for its price was but imagiuary, while its worth to him was only commensurate with the good it did him. If he told the truth he loved me, and these he gave me as a parting gift, as the best patterns I could wish for when making such.'

After this Ruric put up the smaller sword, and then gave Paul a few directions about the work, promising to be back before night. The faithful boy shook his head dubiously as he heard this promise, but he said nothing, and shortly afterwards Ruric went into the house. Just then Alaric Orsa drove up to the door.

Ruric was all ready but putting on his bonnet and pelisse. His mother was in the kitchen. He went to her with a smile upon his face. He put his arms about her and drew her to his bosom.

'God bless you, my mother.—I shall come back,' He said this and then he kissed her.

'God keep—and—'

It was all she could say.

Ruric gazed a moment into her pale face—then he kissed her again—and again he said—

'God bless you, my mother. I shall come back.'

He dared stop to speak no more. Gently seating his fond mother upon a chair he turned and hurried from the place. In the hall he threw on his pelisse and bonnet, and then he opened the door and passed out.

'Have you a good weapon?' asked Orsa, as the horse started on.

'I have a fair one. I think it will not deceive me,' returned Ruric.

'I asked,' resumed Orsa, because Damonoff prides himself upon the weapon he wears. It is a German blade, and he thinks he can cut in twain the blade of any other weapon in Moscow with it.'

'I have a good weapon,' Ruric said, quietly; 'one which has stood more tests than most swords will bear.' After some further remarks he related the peculiar circumstances attending the making of the sword, and his possession of it.

At length they struck upon the river, and in half an hour more they reached the appointed spot. The day was beautiful. The sun shone brightly upon the glistening snow, and the air was still and calm. The sharp frost of the atmosphere served only to brace the system up, and Ruric threw open his pelisse, that he might breathe more freely. He had been upon the ground but a few minutes when the other party came in sight around the head of the river.

As soon as the Count and his second had arrived, and the horses had been secured, the lieutenant proposed that they should repair to the building which was close at hand. This was a large open boat-house, which was unused and deserted in the winter, and it was proposed to go in there because the reflection of the strong sunlight from the bright snow was calculated to blind and blur the eye.

'Ha! what means that?' uttered Orsa, as he saw a sledge just turning the bend of the river with an officer in it.

'It is only a surgeon,' replied Damonoff. 'I would not cut a man's flesh without giving him a fair chance to survive it.'

'And then you may find him serviceable to yourself, eh?' suggested the lieutenant.

'Of course. There is no telling what may happen.'

In a moment more the new sledge came up, and Ruric recognised its inmate as an army surgeon whom he had seen before, though he knew not his name.

'Now for the old boat-house,' cried Urzen.

'Aye,' added Damonoff—'Let us have this business done, for I would be back to dinner. I dine with Olga to-day, and a fair maiden awaits my coming.'

'Notice him not,' whispered Orsa, who walked close to Ruric's side. 'This is one of his chief points when engaged in an affair of this kind.—He hopes to get you angry and so unhinge your nerves.'

'Never fear,' returned the gun-maker. 'Be sure he only brings new danger to himself, for such efforts will find their point in the muscle of my arm.'

The party halted when they reached the interrior of the rough structure, and the Count threw off his pelisse and drew his sword. Ruric followed his example.

'Sir Count,' the latter said, as he moved a step forward, 'ere we commence this work I wish all present to understand distinctly how I stand.—You have sought this quarrel from the first.—Without the least provocation from me you have insulted me most grossly, and this is the climax. So, before God and man, be the result upon your own head.'

'Out, lying knave——'

'Hold,' cried the surgeon, laying his hand heavily upon the Count's arm. 'You have no right to speak thus, for you lower yourself when you do it. If you have come to fight, do so honorably.'

An angry reply was upon Damodoff's lips, but he did not speak it. He turned to his antagonist and said—

'Will you measure weapons, sir? Mine may be a mite the longest. I seek no advantage; and I have one here of the same length and weight as my own if you wish it.'

'I am well satisfied as it is,' replied Ruric.

'Then take your ground.——Are you ready?'

'I am!'

The two swords were crossed in an instant, with a clear sharp clang.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, 1856.

THINGS IN MEXICO.—The Newburyport Herald says, Mexico gives promise at last of having a man at the head of its affairs capable of subjecting its mixed and miserable population, and regenerating the republic, if that is possible.

Comonfort in his suppression of the Haro insurrection, has shown the highest qualities of leadership. Haro had some of the best drilled soldiers in the country, and was supported by the priesthood of Puebla, with all their means; but when he surrendered, there were two things done that must be done in all Mexico to give it the least chance of redemption. All the generals and other officers of the rebel army were at once reduced to serve as common soldiers, or driven into exile, which was a blow struck at military power which curses the republic, heavier than it ever received before. Then in the attack, he had no respect for religion when it was in rebellion. He threw his bombshells into the holy cathedral which tradition informs us was in part built by angels, for in proportion as the workmen built the walls in the daytime, in the same proportion did the angels build its walls at night—as though it had been nothing but a barn; and as a crowning act confiscated church property to the amount of $40,000,000 to pay the expenses of the war, and pension the widows, orphans and wounded.

The New Orleans Picayune truly says, this is the most important act in the history of Mexico. It has killed the priesthood in one State, and he will serve the others the same as fast as they give occasion. If Comonfort can crush the soldiery, and crush the priests, he may do something for a liberal government; but while they live, freedom dies.—The people who fear and tremble beneath the oppression of these two evils, are rejoiced at his prompt and decisive action.

DR. DANIEL DANA IN LONDONDERRY.—Rev. T. G. Brainerd, in a sketch of the Presbyterian Church in Londonderry, (see New Hampshire Churches, pp. 90, 91,) tells us:—

Rev. Daniel Dana, D. D., President elect [we should say Ex-President.—Edr.] of Dartmouth College, was installed pastor of the church Jan. 16th, 1822, and had been previously settled at Newburyport, Ms. At his own request he was dismissed in April, 1826, after a pastorate of a little more than four years.

It was during Dr. Dana's ministry that the temperance movement began. His spirit was grieved by the customs and habits of the people in respect to the use of intoxicating drinks. He saw great need of reform, and labored hard to effect one. A few facts and anecdotes may here be admissible. On the day of Dr. Dana's installation, at a store near by the church, the keeper of it says a hogshead of rum was sold and drank. In one part of the house in which Dr. Dana resided was a tavern, where spirit was sold and drank on the Sabbath by members of the church. This was a common practice, nor was it then considered disreputable. Indeed one is said to have remarked, "I do not see how I can worship God acceptably when I feel so very thirsty." On a Sabbath preceding a State Fast, Dr. Dana urged his hearers to give him a full house on that occasion, as he had for them a special message from the Lord. Fast day came, and the house was very well filled to listen to the message. It was a plain searching discourse on Temperance. A member of the church who was known at times to be the worse for strong drink, was seen to rise and stand up, as was then sometimes practiced by persons who felt sleepy. But he was observed by a neighbor to be wiping, first with one hand and then the other, great drops of perspiration from his face. That neighbor saw him a few days afterwards, and inquired how he liked Dr. Dana's Fast day discourse. The reply showed the strongest opposition to the instructions of the pastor. Another member of the church said, "Dr. Dana may preach to empty seats and naked walls" (as he complained he had to) "for all my going to hear sich doctrine." On one occasion this same man was found on the road sitting in his wagon from which his horse was detached and gone; and when asked how he was getting along, answered, "jist jogging along slowly." Though much opposition and disaffection were excited by his decided treatment of this evil, yet great and permanent good was the final result of his efforts. These facts are not set down as showing peculiar depravity in this people. Many churches and pastors had similar trials.

To this we may add, of our own recollection, that several pastors were unsettled in consequence of their efforts against this most palpable and tangible of sins and follies. Dr. Dana was well known as a most conservative, courteous and affable man, a kind and attentive pastor, and gentle and forbearing in his manner as a preacher,—yet because he preached plainly against such an evil, great contempt and wrath arose among the "red brethren" in his church, which probably paved the way for his going back to Newburyport.

By a partition of the large estate of the late Duchess de Plaisance of France, the surviving children of Dr. U. E. Ewing, of Louisville, Ky., fell heir to property amounting to about $120,000. These heirs—Mrs. R. B. Hopkins, Mrs. Dr. Marshall, and Miss Mary L. Ewing—have been proven co-heirs with the children of Mr. Richard Willing of Philadelphia.

LOCAL.

MUSICAL ADDRESS.

Rev. Mr. Whiting has kindly acceded to our request, and permits us to publish below, his Address on Music, delivered on Fast evening. It will well repay perusal.

ADDRESS given at Mr. J. W. Clark's Concert, in Portsmouth, on Fast Day Evening, April 10, 1856. By Rev. L. Whiting, Pastor of the North Church.

"The time of the singing of birds is come." The brilliant mornings are resonant with melodies; warbling strains salute the King of Day! "For lo! the winter is past; the flowers appear on the earth." The birds in our apple-trees, and from the stems of the leafless shrubs are trilling their chirpings sweeter than sung the Grecian Minstrels among the Ægean Isles; more thrilling than the choral "Eis Athenae" of the maidens of Thrace!

Now, the Christian Sanctuary, come to be the singing room for so large a part of Christendom, offers us its chosen lyrics and its stately harmonies for our Evening Anthem. From earliest time, Religion has fed her devotion, plumed her hopes, and shrined her sighs, in the melodies peculiar to herself. A SACRED Air discovers itself, if only a strain of it is woven into the web of other music. Its peculiarities are distinct and irrepressible. Possibly the pious heart possesses the germs of that great song beyond, resounding along the marches of the heavenly life.

It is very noticeable that the great monumental names in musical genius; in its science, and the implements of it,—Gregory, Guido, Mozart, Handel, Haydn and Beethoven, came to their renown through Sacred Music studies,—and hence we may hold that to be the truest, highest style of music, which best gathers from the pious heart, the emotions which crave music for utterance,—and which most skilfully frames them into song,—and hence he is the true musician who best discovers a truly Sacred Music; best divines the poet's thought to which he weds his music, and so stirs the lines into pulses, and makes the Christian's lyric throb as under a double inspiration: its own, and that of the music put to it.

The oldest Sacred Song,—the Hebrew,—owed more probably to poetry than to melody. Modern hymn-singing reverses the order. In the Synagogue the poetic words burned with fervent signification; and the plaintive recitative, the touching response, and and the solemn chant, needed do little more than just utter them. What charm and power as a sweet, lone voice stole over the throng, blending them as if every voice sang in that one! Then the response, in words rich in the accumulated significancies of centuries; anon the stately chorus, wreathing endeared sentences, with reverent, plaintive, or exultant melodies.

The Latin Church poorly reproduced that effect,—with superior melodies, but having only inferior poetry,—in solo, semi-chorus or full choir; as of a dialogue of souls, in thanksgiving, confession or petition. * * *

The revival of Sacred Music in the 7th century, first gave the great principles of Sacred song to the care of Science. The harmony of four voices was then attained—'tis said, in a Gregorian Chant, sung at first with notes of equal length and without meter. Gregory and his successors spread this discovery through the West. It reached England. In France, Charlemagne set up schools for instructing it, and required its practice in the monasteries. Boniface helped it into Germany, and soon it spread over Europe. The Organ too came at once to higher consequence and was rapidly perfected by the masters of that time. But 500 years of study were then needed to reach the present every-day science of the art. One line for a staff is found in a missal, as late as the year 900. A red line was used for the key of F, and a yellow one for C.

After numberless trials, Guido, about the year 1500, hit the plan of five lines and four spaces; but in place of our clef, set an opened hand,—the fingers drawn into lines, and the spaces between showing the relations of the hexachords to the five tetrachords of the Greeks.

This harmonic hand appears till the French schools put the syllable Si for the sound C. Guido also set the syllables ut, re, me, fa, &c., in place of the letters of the alphabet, on the staff. They are from a celebrated old hymn to St. John the Baptist.

So noticeable is it, that the bare elements of musical science came at the call of studies in Sacred Music.

Let us then cherish Church Music, — the nursing mother of all true Song. Life's solace it is, the wine and oil to make glad the heart,—and to freshen and to soothe. We should esteem highly, for their work's sake, the devoted students of sacred song.

Speak comfortable words to the acutely nerved ear. Its tender fineness selects and blends those tones our spirits crave for balm and for bread.

High is the rank of the genuine sacred musician! The footprints of the rarest genius known to the world are in his path. He joins us to them. In our dearest solemnities he aids, and gladdens our most favored hours.

His gifts are, Requiem for the bier,—Gaudeamus in Deo for the bridal, — Ora pro Nobis and Te Deum for the sacramental host. Cherish then this royal art. Let our souls persuade that kindly skill—for

"That strain again;
O, it came o'er mine ear like the sweet South
That breathes upon a bed of violets,
Stealing and giving odor."

In the city "not made with hands" discourse shall be made in endless song. A holy harmony will fashion every sound, a celestial rythm mould every sentence. The song of that world may we all learn,

"The song of Moses and of the Lamb."

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—Returning from dinner, to work, as usual, on Monday—the wind blows our hat into the mud, and then into more mud,—if the victorious race with hat, get feet wet and both boots and pants well mudded. Finally arrive, and get fairly at work—discover that the wind has started the side-brace of our swinging sign from the building, and threatens to "shake down" said sign on the sidewalk. Just succeed (by reaching out of the window in the rain) in temporarily securing the aforesaid side-brace to a blind-hook,—when it appears that the perpendicular brace is also flying in the wind;—hunt up a ladder, and hail Capt. Clark to bear a hand in belaying the braces. Just get a part of the water shook off, when a dense cloud of black smoke passing overhead, attracts us up stairs—chimney afire, and apparently bound to be literally burned up. Discover hole in chimney near the floor, and blaze issuing forth directly in charcoal pen. Dash on water, call in landlord, wait till chimney is tired of burning—tear down coal-pen, rip up stationary tables—joiner cuts up floor, mason bricks up hole in chimney, and boy clears up:—show 's over. Going home, late to supper—three awnings blown down, shutters flying about loose, and about forty feet of old fence suddenly assumes a horizontal position, just as we are passing. Arrive back at office, however, safe and sound—write this item, and hardly know whether to venture out again tonight, to go home, or not. Whew!

DUMB VS. DOG.—Much is said, generally with disdain, about "dumb dogs," (though we must confess we are not familiar with that breed of canines that can't speak for themselves;) but we have a story to tell, of a dog who learns people, never so dumb before, how to talk, in one easy lesson.

A few days ago, one of those very unfortunate individuals so numerous in large cities, whose misfortunes have assumed a paper form—often printed—telling of disaster, disease, deprivation and desolation; but always omitting to record their chief misfortune—which is that of being too lazy to work—we say one of these chaps presented himself at the door of the Woodbury mansion in this city a few days ago. The house is now unoccupied, and the man in charge of the premises, inquired of the fellow his business. He was without speech, however, but made signs and noises like the deaf and dumb, indicating that he desired pecuniary aid. After trying in vain to get any word from him, his wearied questioner gave a low whistle, and "Tiger" soon appeared; and no sooner saw our hero, than he had his teeth locked through his unmentionables. Upon this the dumb man shouted,—"Oh, call your dog off—he's tearing me to pieces; call him off! Oh, oh!"—much to the merriment of the dog's master, who, after a little time did call Tiger off, and release the terror stricken beggar, more scared than hurt.

Soon afterwards, seeing another dumb supplicant (probably a close relation of the first), at the door of a neighbor's house, bothering a lady, the gentleman told her he would show the fellow how to talk; and no sooner said than done, for on opening the gate and calling "Tiger," the dumby took to his heels, saying—"Don't set that dog on me! don't!"

We think Tiger should be dubbed teacher of motion and language, or singing and dancing—for he gives instruction in talking English and walking Spanish.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 22.

Case No. 71, Mary Barry v. Boston & Me. Railroad. This action for an injury to the plff. at Exeter several years ago, was opened to the jury this morning, and the jury went out to view the place where the injury happened.

No. 85, A. H. Jones et al. v. A. W. Haven, J. W. Emery, J. W. Pierce and J. G. Hedley, was next opened to the jury, and is now trial. This case relates to the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, of which the defts. were directors.

This case was afterwards taken from the jury, and will probably go up to the S. J. Court on questions of law. Hackett for plfs. Hatch for defts.

A mot of Baron Alderson, which is "going the round" at Westminster, may be recorded here. Alluding to the life-peerage just conferred, "Parke," he said, "has lived in precedents until he has actually conceived an ambition to be a precedent himself."

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not gripe or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, April 21st.

SENATE.—The Senate adopted a resolution calling upon the Secretary of War to transmit copies of all the letters not heretofore communicated addressed to him during the present year by Governor Stephens of Washington teritory respecting the existing difficulties with the Indians; also, all correspondence relative to the hostilities in Washington and Oregon.

Mr. Toombs, from the Judiciary Committee, reported back the bill to amend the naturalization laws, with the recommendation that it do not pass.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the bill was made the special order for May 12.

Mr. Clay replied to the speeches of Messrs. Seward, Sumner, Wilson and Harlan, on the bill for the admission of Kansas. He complimented the executive for his course regarding Kansas matters; for the firmness and consistency he had exhibited in maintaining the right of the entire country.

HOUSE.—Upon assembling, the House immediately proceeded to vote upon the action of the Committee of the Whole on the Senate's amendments to the Appropriation bill.—The amendment to appropriate $300,000 for continuing the work on the Washington aqueduct was rejected by 27 majority. The amendments were not all disposed of when the House adjourned.

THE OFFICERS OF CUSTOMS.—In the U. S. Senate, on Thursday, the bill relating to the salaries of Custom House officers, was brought up again; and Mr Hamlin proposed several amendments, which were adopted.—These propose to have the auditing clerks of collectors appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, to be a check on the former; and increasing the compensation of the inspectors at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charlestown, and New Orleans, to four dollars a day, and the salary of weighers and gaugers at the same ports from $1500 to $1800 a year. Mr. Hale desired to have the bill printed, and said:—

It is a very important bill. It makes essential alterations in the law. I have seen the complaints of the inspectors, which have been sent here on paper, as to their compensation. I believe, however, that the compensation of these inspectors is so high that there is a tariff levied on them. Every time there is an election in New Hampshire, a collection is made in the custom houses; an agent goes up there, and in some instances they have disposed of inspectorships for votes in the Legislature. If these officers are so valuable that a tariff can be levied on them, and the money carried to New Hampshire to endeavor to buy votes when an important Senatorial election is pending, I think they are paid high enough. I hope the amendments will be printed.

The bill as amended was ordered to be printed, and was postponed to Monday. As introduced, it made the salary of the New York Collector $8000, the San Francisco Collector $10,000; and the other districts are divided into eight classes.

DISASTER.—Schooner Mary, Nickerson, from Argyle, N. S. for Boston, was thrown on her beam ends, about three miles east of Baker's Island, on Monday, about 10 o'clock, A. M. The captain and crew lashed themselves to the rigging. One man was washed off, and the captain and one man died in the night.—One man, the only survivor, was taken off by a boat from Salem, early on Tuesday morning.

EGARTOWN, April 22d.—Fishing smack Ocean Queen, arrived here on Sunday, reports seeing a ship of about 1200 tons ashore on Rose and Crown shoal, throwing over cargo of flour, tobacco, hides and cotton. She succeeded in getting off about noon.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The gale of yesterday and last night did much damage in this city and vicinity. Many trees were uprooted, buildings unroofed, and two or three church spires demolished.

One of the spires of the new Congregational church in Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, fell upon and stove in the roof of the church, doing much damage.

The immense cross on St. James's Cathedral, in Jay street, Brooklyn, was also blown down. Considerable injury was done to the shipping in the docks.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Robert L. Stephens the inventor of the bomb-proof floating battery, and originator of steam navigation on North river, died at Hoboken on Sunday.

A bookseller of Southampton, England, was lately fined five shillings for selling a newspaper on the Sabbath. The magistrate, in pronouncing the sentence, remarked, that by the terms of the English law, (Stat. Charles II. and William III.) nothing could be sold on the Sabbath but milk and mackerel.

For the Chronicle.

TO A DECEASED MOUSE.

Lines written in a Lady's Album, and stolen for publication.

Here lieth one who met a watery grave,
But not, alas, beneath the swelling wave;
A lady's washbowl proved the fatal spot
Where life forsook him; ere he is forgot,
Let me in humble strains his fate record,
Nor let him pass away without a friendly word.

Poor little mouse! thy hopes and fears are o'er,
And thou art gone to t'other river-shore:
Adieu! thy kindred haply wait, a happy band,
To bid thee welcome to that peaceful land,
Where snarling terrier, nor treacherous cat,
Shall lie in wait to break thy requiescat:
But mouldy cheese, and milk, and yellow cream,
Shall bring to thee more bliss than thou could'st ever dream.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OF

FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly suited for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be had for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $3 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the price fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to operate to detract precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $22, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it is understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained at the following Responsible Prices.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the unoccupied lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, prior of farming lands, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

JOHN WILSON,

Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. R. Co., Office up to the 1st of May, 52 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.; after that date in the New Stone Passenger Depot, So. Water st. a8 6m

SPICED RUM PALACES.—A New York paper, the Mirror, says:

If all that we hear of some of the gay confectionery establishments on Broadway be true no lady of respectability will ever be seen in them, even in company with "her natural protectors." They are frequented by pimps and blacklegs, and the whole atmosphere is tainted with intemperance of all sorts. We suppress for the present a communication which we have received on the subject, in order to verify the statements of the writer.

The above paragraph, with a little softening would, we fear, (says the Boston Courier,) be applicable to Boston as well as New York.—No good comes from this thronging together of women and men at these cake, pie, coffee and cordial saloons which so abound in large cities. The practice has a tendency to something worse than dyspepsia.

Even so. These places are genteel tippling shops, assignation offices, dens of vice, fountains of misery.

A SLAVE-CATCHER IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT OF STATE LAWS.—At the Probate Court, yesterday, H. H. Robinson, Esq., U. S. Marshall, appeared before Judge Burgoyne to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt; and in answer to the specifications filed by the Prosecuting Attorney, put in an answer, taking the ground that he was at the time of doing and omitting to do the various acts complained of in said specification and still is, Marshal of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, and that said acts were done and committed in the discharge of the duties of his said office, and in pursuance of the laws of the United States, under which he claims protection. And he denies the jurisdiction of the Court to call him to account for thus performing the duties of his office.

Judge Burgoyne—We are not aware of any law that requires the Marshal to treat the process of this Court with contempt; and conceiving the responses to be all insufficient, and not sustained by the facts, we shall order the issuing of the attachment.

The Prosecuting Attorney intimated that under the Probate Act there would be no necessity for issuing the attachment.

Judge Burgoyne—We then shall direct that Mr. Robinson be fined in the sum of $3000, and to stand committed untill he obeys the order of the Court.

After the committal of H. H. Robinson to jail, an application was made to Judge Leavitt, of the U. S. District Court, to have him liberated on habeas corpus.

Judge Leavitt said that it was impossible to decide the case that day, and asked if some arrangement could not be made by which the necessity for Mr. Robinson going to jail might be avoided.

Mr. Robinson said he presumed the parties would not consent to an arrangement, and he was remanded to jail in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Buckingham.—Cincinnati Columbian, 18th.

FATAL RESULT—PREDICTION FULFILLED.—The Woonsocket Patriot says that Major Washington Hunt, who was severely burnt by the explosion of alcohol at the store of Dr. Fillmore, in that town, last week, died on Monday last. Being burnt inward, his injuries were more serious than at first supposed. He was seventy years of age. A short time prior to his death, Mr. Hunt was conversing with a lady far gone in consumption, when to encourage her, he used the following remarkable words—"Madam, don't despond; you will probably live longer than I—I apparently in robust health, and you on a sick bed.—When I go, it will be suddenly."

One Nathan Brown out west is said to have married nine wives in succession and run away with their property as soon as he could convert into money. The seventh wife has finally proved too much for him. She was a Buckeye woman, and armed with a requisition from Gov. Chase, she has brought him back from the wilds of Indiana, where he was keeping honey-moon with his ninth, and he is now safe in an Ohio jug.

PRICE OF AN OLD ALDERMAN.—A good thing is going the rounds about one of our new Aldermen, which is related in this wise:

The Grand Jury summoned——before them for the purpose of asking him some questions. He came before them, and the following conversation occurred:

"Alderman——has any one ever offered you any money in the shape of a bribe, since your election?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who was it?" said one of the Grand Jury.

"Mr. ——"

"And how much did he offer you?" inquired one of the other jurors.

"Twenty-five dollars," responded the Alderman, with a curl in his lip.

"Did you take it?" said the foreman.

(Emphatically,) "No sir."

Mr. ——, the briber was sent for.

"Mr. ——, did you offer Alderman —— twenty-five dollars as a bribe for voting so and so?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he take it?"

"No, sir."

"Why didn't he take it?" said one of the jurors much surprised.

"Well, he said he could not sell himself for twenty-five dollars, as that was the price of an old Alderman—the new ones ranged higher.—Buffalo Repub.

The Stars and Stripes, published at Manchester, N. H., is "after" an individual named Pease, whom it pronounces an imposter and humbug. A few weeks since a paragraph appeared in that paper relative to the man, and in its columns this week we find the following:

"SPIRITUALISM—ONE PEASE.—This individual has turned up in Lawrence, and publishes an item in a paper of that city, stating that 'he desires to inform the public that he is not a spiritualist, though made insane by the new ism.' We tear his plea of 'insanity' would hardly go down with our constables, should he be caught in this city again. The Spiritualists rejoice to find that he considers himself as not one of their number."

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, APRIL 24. 1856.

WHO WOULD NOT BE A SOLDIER?—The London Times of the 22d of March, depending on a French correcpondent, represents the French army in the Crimea, as in want of provisions, clothes, and other things, and as suffering sickness and death in consequence. To this the Paris Moniteur of the 26th replies, that the French Crimean army were really suffering by sickness and death, but not in consequence of neglect or want. They have, states the Moniteur, enough and to spare of good provisions, and ample clothing.

It is true that, notwithstanding the care of which it has incessantly been the object, our army has been for some time visited with sickness, which seems to spare our allies more fortunate than ourselves. But if one considers that our troops are encamped around Sebastopol, on the very theatre of the struggle—that is to say, on a ground which, having served as a tomb for so many victims, is far from offering those conditions of healthiness which the English army finds at Balaclava, it will be understood that the present inferiority of our sanitary state may be the consequence of unavoidable circumstances and that this cannot be attributed to a want of solicitude.

That is to say, if we may put the idea into into our plain English,—The French soldiers who find themselves alive to-day, pile their dead comrades by thousands in a ditch, with thousands more of their Russian foes, who fell dead in mortal combat together, spread a little earth over the whole, and then pitching their tents on the spot, lie down to sleep. It is autumn when these events take place. Months pass on; and the winter passes off. The decomposing bodies send up a frightful and pestilential miasma, in the midst of which the living and dying melt down into the mass of the dead.

And this is war—the war of the great Christian powers,—in the latter half of the nineteenth century.

WHAT IT COSTS.

The Cincinnati Columbian says, the number of certificates issued to deputy marshals for the full term of the recent slave trial in that city, was 301, each of which entitled the holder to $56, amounting in all to $16,856.—Besides these, there were from two to three hundred other deputies, who drew certificates of from five to eighteen days service, the sum total of which may be computed at $4600; thus making a draft upon the U. S. Treasury, for deputy-marshals alone, $21,456, and the whole expense of the trial at from thirty to forty thousand dollars.

Not a dollar has yet been paid on these certificates, but they have been bought up by speculators at from 40 to 70 per cent. of their face. It is not proved that the marshal was in any way concerned in the purchase of them, but it is said that some of the deputies were in partnership with those who bought them.

The Cincinnati Gazette says:

We understand that Mr. Robinson in conversation yesterday remarked, that if the U. S. did not pay the Deputies for their services in the late Fugitive Slave case, there was an end to nigger catching in this city. We can't get, said he, merchants and gentlemen to engage in the business, but we have to employ river men, &c. and if those whom we employed in the late case don't get their pay, neither they nor their friends will ever have anything more to do with it.

The danger the Union will suffer if it have no slave hounds here, will doubtless weigh so heavily with the Treasury dhpartment as to settle that little bill.

It further appears that an officer of the U. S. Treasury who was despatched to investigate the affairs of the Marshal's office in Cincinnati, has discovered a systematic course of frauds and forgeries upon the treasury, which have amounted to about ten thousand dollars, according to the Cincinnati Columbian.

The frauds appear to have been perpetrated by the subordinates in the office, and consist partly of false charges for services rendered, and charges for the same things several times, &c. The Marshal does not appear to be implicated in the matter, except in the bad selection of assistants and a neglect to exercise a proper supervision over their doings.

The latter paragraph is remarkably suggestive of recollections about some events in Boston a few years ago, when the most intemperate, profane and atrocious gamblers, bullies and pimps that could be scraped up around the city, were hired to assist the Marshal.—Such a set of fellows, if they have them in Cincinnati, are doubtless those who are employed in the same business there—and theirs are the precious fingers which are thrust into the U. S. Treasury for double pay.

AN OLD TEACHER. — Died, in Newburyport, on Saturday, 19th inst., at the advanced age of 92 years, Mr. Henry Tiscomb; long esteemed for his piety and uniform goodness of character. He was a lineal descendant of William Titcomb, who came to Newburyport from Newbury, in Berkshire County, Eng., about the year 1634. Mr. T. has been a public instructor of youth in Newburyport for 36 years.

In Gloucester, the fishing fleet consists of 294 vessels; and they have 12 brigs and barks in the Surinam trade. The fishermen this spring have done well. These vessels employ 3000 men, most of them belonging out of town, and 60 liquor shops, and 12 gambling rooms are in constant operation to take away their money, health and reason.—Newburyport Herald.

MASSACHUSETTS.—In the Senate, on Tuesday, the reports, majority and minority, of the Joint Special Committee on so much of the Governor's address as relates to the subject of intemperance, came up, when Mr. White of Norfolk moved the whole subject be postponed indefinitely. This would keep the matter out of the House, and save a long discussion, which would be useless. Without debate the motion was carried. A single stentorian 'no' was heard—supposed to proceed from the lungs of Mr. Munroe of Suffolk. This leaves the law as it is.

The Newburyport Herald says, (before it knew this vote,) "We do not care to see the present act repealed till a better can be substituted, for we prefer to suffer the present evil, than rush to a greater extreme in the same direction. In the towns where public opinion will support the law, it answers well enough as it is; but we suppose it to be entirely inoperative in all the cities and large towns. It certainly is here, and in Salem, and in Boston. * * * There are probably a hundred places in this city where liquors can be obtained; some of the Boston papers say two hundred, though nobody could find them if they should try. There is no probability that the city of Newburyport, if the responsibility was thrown upon them, would license more than twenty, and those of a respectable character."

The evil is seen and felt;—but license would only make it worse. The enforcement of the law in the country, drives the vice and the vicious into those cities that will not enforce it,—and the consequence is seen.

FRIENDS IN NEED.—The other day, on the occasion of the disastrous fire at the Gerrish Market, a creditor of a man who had been burned out, with severe loss, promptly came to the aid of his unfortunate debtor, doing the thing handsomely. And now it is said that the business friends of Mr. Barnum, whose entire loss of a large fortune has been placed so frequently before the public of late, have held a meeting at Bridgeport, Ct., for the purpose of helping him to wind up his affairs and to give him a new and a fair start. The call for this meeting was signed by over three hundred gentlemen, including bankers, merchants, &c.

The Boston Courier says:—

These cashiers and presidents, whose names appear here, doubtless represent in this capacity the views and sentiments of a large circle, including the stockholders of their respective institutions, and a large portion of Mr. Barnum's creditors. This act is a highly creditable one; it is not only commendable as a liberal and generous exhibition of feeling towards an unfortunate fellow-citizen, but it really discovers great good sense and sound policy.

It has been stated as the observation of an old merchant who took careful note of the fact, that of a hundred buiness men of his acquaintance, in one of the large cities, who were relieved from heavy embarrassments by the United States bankrupt act some years ago, nearly all of them acquired a competency by their own exertions, and a large proportion of them made subsequently the most satisfactory settlements with their former creditors. Instances are of daily record of honorable men paying debts, after the legal obligation to do so had been removed from them.

The Newburyport Herald says:—

Barnum deserves the sympathies of everybody. We talk of humbugging the public, but it is doubtful if he ever gave an exibition or started an enterprise, in which he did not give the full value of the money he received; and when by industry and perseverance he had amassed wealth, he invested and loaned it for the public good, to establish business and give employment. There is scarcely a man in America who has done so much for the immediate neighborhood where he lived as Barnum; and now in his poverty he will be more respected by the people that knew him, and he will more deserve esteem, than the hundreds of rich men who have consumed their time and all their energies in accumulating only for themselves, and who grasp their bonds, mortgages and deeds, even to death, till their hearts grow so dry that they will rattle like the parchments they love to look at so well. Give us one whole-souled man like Barnum, and we can spare a whole world of such rebels against God and humanity.

MONSTROUS HEN'S EGG.—Col. Aaron Quimby of Danville, N. H., has left an egg at our office, which weighs 6 ounces. It was laid by a hen, whose death ensued as a result, it is said, of this unnatural production. The circumference from end to end is 9 inches, and in the largest place, the other way, 7 1-2 inches. On a further examination of the above large egg, there was found inside another well formed egg of common size.—The yolk in both was composed of the usual ingredients and in fair proportions.—Exeter News Letter.

Olive Oatman, who was taken prisoner by the Yuman Indians in 1851, when her parents and five brothers and sisters were killed, on their way to California, has recently been ransomed by the officers of the United States army at Fort Yuma. She is now sixteen years old, and is more fully developed than many girls of twenty. When brought into camp she threw herself on the sand, and would not rise till suitable female garments were given to her.

The agricultural branch of the Patent Office is likely to grow gradually into an important agricultural bureau. The House has appropriated thirty thousand dollars—just six times as much as the appropriation last year—for the purchase of seeds, plants, &c., for general distribution.

LOCAL.

PRINTERS' CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION IN PORTSMOUTH.—The first Printing Press was introduced into New Hampshire in August, 1756; the first newspaper printed in October; the first book in November of the same year. The press was brought to Portsmouth by Daniel Fowle, the newspaper was the N. H. Gazette, and the book was Ames' Almanac, for 1757. It has been suggested that the centennial of this introduction shall be celebrated. We think very favorably of the suggestion. Such an event of itself is worthy of a celebration; besides there are outside matters that should call printers and publishers together, and this would be a most desirable occasion for their meeting. Where shall the celebration take place and when? Portsmouth would an appropriate place, and perhaps August the best time. What will our Portsmouth brethren say to the suggestion? Manchester Mirror.

The editor of the Gazette is "in favor of a celebration of this anniversary in October next, in the city of Portsmouth, and hope to meet the craft generally on that occasion."

And so are we. Let us have a good one,—worthy the time, the place, and the occasion.

The Newburyport Herald says, "Have it! the border printers 'will be there to see.'"

LAUNCH.—The new ship Jumna, of 800 tons, built by George Raynes, Esq., for William F. Parrott, Esq., of Boston, will be launched this afternoon, at about 1 o'clock.

☞ Rev. N. K. George of Franconia, (an applicant for the office of our City Missionary,) will preach at Mr. Lord's Chapel on Hanover St. on Sabbath next.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 23.

Case Mary Barry v. B. & M. Railroad is still on trial, but will probably be finished on Thursday morning. Wood for pltf.; Wells for defts.

GOSPEL WAGES.—Hardly an exchange reaches us that does not chronicle the advance of some preacher's salary. From the great parade of such matters, one would conclude that the chief busines of preachers of the gospel is to get large salaries. It was not thus in the days of the apostles and early christian fathers. The laborer is worthy of his hire, but why talk so much about it in the public prints? Secular and worldly-minded as we are, we would like to hear of more instances of men turned from wickedness by the labors of the clergy, and less about salaries.—Boston Herald.

We don't see why an editor of a newspaper should be more worldly-minded than a preacher—nor why an increase of salary for the latter may not be as fitly chronicled, as any little item about the former. In the Roman Church, the regular clergy are the monks, the recluses; while the secular clergy are those who mingle with the people as pastors. In this sense of the word, all our ministers are secular—they live among their people; they are, or should be, sustained by those who desire their services in this manner; and when expenses of living increase, their stipend ought to be enlarged. "Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn! Saith he this for oxen only? Nay, but for our sakes," &c.

A TIGHT MAN IN A TIGHT PLACE.—Some people in West Broadway, N. Y., were awakened Saturday night by groans in the chimney. Proceeding to open it they found a carman, by the name of Patrick Gibson, wedged into a flue and nearly dead. He said he resided next floor; that having drank freely the evening before, he went upon the roof of his dwelling, and by some means unknown, as he says to himself, he got into the chimney alluded to. It was thought that he might have been attempting a burglary, and Justice Welsh held him to await an examination.

☞ During the storm on Monday night, the steamer Silver Star at Newburyport, caught on Horton's wharf, tearing away her guard fore and aft, damaging her several hundred dollars.

FINALLY ORGANIZED. — The Common Council in New Bedford has been finally organized, on the 80th ballot, by the election of he American candidate, Abner J. Phipps.—Isaac M. Richardson was elected clerk.

Dr. Emily Blackwell, sister of Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, of New York, has taken her diploma at a medical school at Paris.

The Boston Courier is calling for a reorganization of the Whig party, which has now been dead for more than three years. The Courier must believe in spiritualism that altogether outdoes the rapping theory.—Newburyport Herald.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not gripe or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARAGO.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The Arago has arrived with advices from England to the 9th.

The steamers Desperate and Tartar, after a nine days search for the Pacific, put into Galway without meeting with the slightest success.

The treaty of peace being signed, all measures of blockade were to be raised, and the merchant vessels of the Western Powers permitted to enter Russian ports, and all Russian vessels detained in neutral ports, liberated.

A difficulty was said to have existed in the Peace Conference, owing to a refusal of Austria to vacate the Danubian Principalities.—Later intelligence, if correct, states that the Austrian army had commenced taking their departure.

Advices from St. Petersburg state that the law prohibiting the export of Russian produce has been repealed.

It is reported at Berlin that the English Cabinet had decided to reject the propositions for the capitalization of the Sound dues, on terms offered by Denmark, but would make propositions herself.

TUESDAY, April 23.

SENATE.—The House bill amendatory of the bounty land law of 1855 was passed. The object of the bill is to provide for the admission of parole testimony in all cases where no record of evidence exists, and to allow the time occupied in travelling to and from the place of muster to be included in the period of service. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The deficiency appropriation bill was considered, and the greater portion of the Senate's amendments thereto rejected. Among the amendments adopted was one appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of seeds and cuttings, to be distributed throughout the country by the agricultural department of the Patent Office.

The House passed a joint resolution turning over to Wisconsin the remaining part of the $10,000 heretofore appropriated for the improvement of the harbor of Sheboygan, to be expended for that purpose under direction of the state.

Messrs. Washburn of Ill. and Wade, from the committees to which the subjects were referred, reported about fifty bills for the improvement of various rivers and harbors; also for post office and custom house purposes at Buffalo.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; it will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

CAT-ASTROPHE.

A PARODY.

Oft in the stilly night,
Ere slumber's chains have bound me,
Those same, star-gazing, amorous cats,
Are vocal all around me.
They heed no rage from youth or age,
Nor prayer, though sadly spoken,
Nor aught they care, curse you or swear,
For midnight slumbers broken.
Thus in the stilly night,
Ere Hovey's bolts have bound me,
These cats infernal, black or white,
Are vocal all around me.

When I remember all,
The cats thus chimed together
I've heard around me squall,
I often wonder whether
The nooks and lanes,
The holes and drains,
Can ever be deserted:
No—more will come,
When those at home,
In mercy have departed.
Thus in the stilly night,
Ere slumber's chains have bound me,
Those musical, star-gazing cats,
Are vocal all around me. Z. S.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with U.S. Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as usual), or by others, will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that what we say is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procurel of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of pursuing their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Commissioner of Patents.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OF
FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half or two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of equal value, along river courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great facility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $6 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS.

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $160 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing of the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the meantime the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

MAINE LICENSE LAW.

The following is a brief abstract of the new license law of the State of Maine:

Sec. 1. No person shall sell intoxicating liquor, except as provided herein.

Sec. 2. No person shall manufacture intoxicating liquors, without giving a bond in $1000, that he will not sell any except of his own manufacture, and without adulteration, or in quantities less than 30 gallons, to be carried away at one time.

3. Any person manufacturing without giving bonds, to forfeit $1000.

4. This act not to extend to imported liquor, cider, or home-made wine.

5. Physicians, &c. to sell it mixed with such of their medicines, as cannot be used for drink; all persons may sell in the ordinary course of trade, such articles compounded in part of alcohol, as cannot be used for drink.

6. City and town authorities to authorize persons to sell, as follows: every town and city at least one and not more than two; every town or city having more than 3000 and less than 8000 population, two additional persons; for more than 8000, one additional person for every 3000. Such authority to expire on the 1st day of May next succeeding the granting of the same.

7. Inholders may be authorized to sell to guests, but shall not keep a bar.

8. No person shall sell to any minor, Indian, soldier in the army, drunkard or intoxicated person.

9. Notice shall be given concerning persons of intemperate habits.

10. No person shall be authorized to sell, until he has given a bond of $400 that he will not violate this law.

11. Any person violating the 7th and 8th sections shall be fined $20, be liable to a suit on his bond, and to have his authority revoked.

12. No person shall furnish liquors to intemperate persons to whom its sale is forbidden.

13. If any person, not authorized, shall sell, he shall be fined not exceeding $20.

14. Three unlawful sales constitute a common seller—liable to a fine of $100, or imprisonment for six months.

15. (Entire.) No person shall keep a drinking house or tippling shop within this State.

16. A drinking house or tippling shop is any place, except an inn, where liquors are sold except as provided by this law.

17. The keeper of such drinking house shall be fined $200, or imprisoned one year.

18. No action can be maintained on any claim originating for intoxicating liquors illegally sold.

19. The aldermen, selectmen or assessors shall prosecute.

20. Any person selling to a drunkard shall be held liable for all injuries committed by him while intoxicated.

21. Same penalties, if an unauthorized person sell to one.

22. Any one selling impure liquor shall be fined $100.

23. If any person shall appeal and be convicted at the same term of the appellate court upon three such complaints, he shall be deemed a common seller of intoxicating liquors, and shall be punished as provided in the fourteenth section.

24. Any person who shall lease or let any building, knowing that intoxicating liquors are to be sold therein, contrary to law, shall be punished by fine therefor, not exceeding five dollars, for every day that such liquors are sold therein.

25. If the tenant or occupant shall sell intoxicating liquors therin, contrary to law, the owner of the building may recover possession thereof, according to law, without any notice to quit.

26. Justices of the peace, municipal and police courts, shall have jurisdiction by complaint, of all prosecutions under this act, where the penalty cannot exceed twenty dollars.

27. Breaks up the agencies.

28. Repeals all former liquor laws.

29. This act shall take effect the fifteenth day of April, 1856.

This Act, it will be seen, contains those mischievous features which are inseparable from all legal license to do wrong. The license part of it, the liberty to sell, we have no doubt, will be taken,—but we do not see how or why the restrictive and prohibitory provisions, (for example Sec. 15.) are to be more easily or thoroughly enforced, than those of the laws just repealed. We cannot see any reason to suppose that the witnesses who swore to a lie for three cents, before, would scruple to do the same thing now.

Its principal features are like those of the old license laws of New England, under which Intemperance was nurtured and expanded to a gigantic evil.

FAST DAY passed off with customary quietness, excepting rather an unusual amount of drunkenness.—Portland Adv., 19th.

A writer in the Argus of April 10, says:

It is a sad fact that there are more places where intoxicating liquors can be had in this city than when the odious Maine Law took effect. Let this be remembered; for it will not be six months before we shall hear that when Dow and his law deceased, there was no more rum sold in Portland.

The Argus does not confirm, editorially, this statement that there is more liquor sold now than five years ago—and we are confident it is not true: but we have no doubt it is a fact that selling and drinking have greatly increased in Portland within one year past: and we know that they had greatly diminished within the previous four years.

The Inquirer of the 16th says:

The fruits of the new order of things are apparent. In many places in our city, streams of men of all ages may be seen, as in old times, going in and coming out at doors of shops where liquors are sold. Almost every day and every night, there are rows and fights and broken heads and black eyes—and more of them on Sunday than on any other day.

Last Sunday there were two great rows at opposite ends of the city, at which hundreds of persons were assembled, either as participants or spectators. It is within the truth to say, that since the election last fall, there have been ten times as many rows and fights and disturbances in this city, as there were in all the time from June 2, 1851, when the Maine Law was approved, to Sept. 1855, when the Rum triumph took place, omitting the Wells Liquor Riot of June 2nd.

The Advertiser of the 12th says:

Since the passage of the new Liquor Law, some of the Irish dealers on Fore street have paraded their liquor casks in front of their groggeries.

MR. PIKE VINDICATED.—The N. H. Patriot says:

Some time since we stated that we were informed that Rev. Mr. Pike had written to the Presiding Elder of Rev. Mr. Hartwell's district, requesting him to take measures to prevent Mr. H. from further circulating and sending to Washington copies of his published sermon against political preaching and the interference of clergymen in politics. We have a letter from the Presiding Elder referred to, in which he says this report is not true—that "Mr. Pike has not requested me to do or say anything to Mr. Hartwell to prevent his sending his sermons to Washington, nor has he requested me to do or say anything to him in any respect whatever." We very cheerfully make this correction, but in so doing we deem it proper to say that we made the statement upon authority which we deemed entirely reliable.

Quite proper to say it—but the authority was most unreliable! The Rev. Mr. Pike referred to, is the Representative to Congress from this District, about whom somebody was pleased to tell a most unmitigated lie.

BORDER RUFFIANISM AND CREDIT.—The Boston Daily Advertiser, in speaking of the miserable condition of the credit of Missouri, says:

The real difficulty is in the border outrages. A State governed by Atchinsons and Stringfellows cannot borrow money on easy terms.

GLORY ENOUGH. — Under this head, we give the following extracts, relating to Portland.

The Portland Charter election has resulted in the complete triumph of the anti-republican candidates by a majority of about 300, and in the total overthrow of the Dowites. * * * Their stronghold is irretrievably lost to them—gone beyond redemption, and the Liberal banner waves triumphantly ever the walls of the citadel—floats proudly from the battlements so lately in the hands of the Black Republicans. With the Argus we say, 'glory enough for one day.'—Somerset Spectator.

A sailor was taken to the watch house Thursday afternoon, in a decidedly confused state of mind. He arrived in port the day before, and undertook to keep Fast in a very fast manner. About $58 was found in his pockets. Had he not been locked up, he would probably have lost all his money. It was a happy arrest for him.—Portland Argus 19th.

COL. WALKER. — From Nicaragua we learn the confirmation of Col. Schlessinger's defeat by the Costa Ricans, with a loss of 50 men killed. The account says that Walker is in a position, and prosperous, receiving large accessions to his force. Another battle had taken place at Arcopoka, between 14 of Walker's men, under Capt. Baldwin, and 200 Costa Ricans, in which the latter were defeated with a loss of 30 killed. Baldwin lost 2 killed.

CHURCH BLOWN DOWN.—During the high wind on Monday, the new Congregational Church at Indian Orchard village, on which the carpenters had just completed their labors, was leveled to the ground—a loss to the contractors of some $2000.

Where is Indian Orchard Village? In Massachusetts, or Kentucky. [In Mass.]

An advertisement appears in a Washington paper, to recover a negro boy called "Gustus" who it is said "presents quite a white man in appearance." His hair is black and straight, his eyes gray or blue, and he has often been taken for a white man. His complexion is fair, his manners and expression genteel and polite.

LOCAL.

THE CITY MISSION.

By whom is it supported? What are its aims, purposes, and objects? Does it accomplish, or has it accomplished any good?

These questions are put, in substance, if not in form, by portions of our community; and they are pertinent to our general welfare. We will answer them, so far as the statement of a few facts will go toward an answer; believing that the intelligent reader will best draw his own inferences.

A dozen years ago, or thereabouts, a charitable society, connected with the South [Unitarian] Church, and composed in part of wealthy and liberal members of the same, resolved to devote a few hundred dollars to Missions; and having done something for objects and societies abroad, they looked round at home, to spend something on a mission in Portsmouth.

They found a minister of the orthodox congregational church, preaching in the Alms House Chapel on the Sabbath afternoons whenever called upon in the Summer, and regularly in the Winter, and also in other places as occasion offered, without any pecuniary compensation whatever, and with no expectation of pay. They gave him $100 in acknowledgment, as they said, of his services. And they repeated the gift another year, at the end of which the preacher engaged elsewhere.

Some time afterwards, Rev. Mr. Dall, a Unitarian Clergyman was employed here as a Minister at large, and was sustained mainly, but not entirely, by the benefactions of the same liberal givers, but not in the same form. He also was a preacher, and, while he conversed with the poor and neglected, sought to relieve their lack of food and clothing, and also to gather them into a congregation. His ministry here lasted a year or two only.

After this, as attempts were made to collect a Sabbath congregation in Hanover st. chapel, subscriptions from the former friends of a Portsmouth Mission were made, by ministers and members of most churches in the place, (but the largest amounts from the Stone Church,) in aid of the ministers who preached there,—one of whom was Elder Morrell. He performed some of the duties of a minister to the poor.

For the last three years, Mr. Amos Abbott, who is just now leaving, has been in the place, first as connected with the Seamen's Home, and afterwards devoting his time mainly to the City Mission,—not chiefly as a preacher, in which light he did not consider himself,—nor did he collect and minister to a congregation.

His ministry, while it had regard to moral and spiritual culture, yet dealt chiefly in temporalities.

He examined all cases of poverty brought to his knowledge, or which he found by his own explorations; and while he took pleasure in being the almoner of small gifts to the suffering but honest poor, he had a most vigilant eye to detect the impudent or crafty shams of those who would rather beg than work, and rather swindle and lie than do either.

Mr. Abbott was sustained by a Society composed of episcopal, unitarian and trinitarian congregational, baptist, and other ministers and christians. He was himself an orthodox congregationalist. His mission was not sectarian—but catholic and prudential. And in it, while he distributed only a very moderate amount of alms,—he prevented more pauperism and beggary than any man we ever had among us.

Whether we are to have another City Missionary, depends on the wishes of those who are to support him. And so of what kind of mission it shall be. If it is merely desired to to give $200 or $2000 to the poor—almoners can be hired very cheap—or just let it be known that money can be had, and beggars will throng round your door and clamor for a share. If you desire a preacher, he can be had. But if you wish for a man who can not only be almoner, but vigilance committee against cheats, and also a good preacher, you must look sharp to find him.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—THURSDAY EVENING.—Benj. Akerman asked leave to enter drain in Cabot street—referred.

The committee to whom was referred the petitions of John K. Pickering for removal of post; and of F. R. Jarvis for enlargment of culvert — reported that the requests be granted. The reports were adopted.

The committee on streets advised that the east end of State street be graded—referred to committee on finance.

The following Order, offered by Ald. Rundlett, last week, was taken up:

Ordered, That the appointment of John Smith as Agent for the purchase of spirituous and other liquors on account of the city, be revoked, and the store rented for that purpose relinquished; and that said Agent be and hereby is required to turn over all liquors and other property in his possession belonging to the city, to the City Marshal, who will receipt therefor on account of the city, and store the same in such place as the Mayor shall direct, to await further action; and that said Agent be further required to pay over any money in his hands due the city, to the City Treasury.

Mr. Tucker moved to amend by striking out the word "Marshal" and inserting "Liquor Agent."

The amendment was rejected.

The Order then passed: Yeas, Ald. Goodrich, Rand, Wendell and Rundlett. Nays, Ald. Tucker, Rowell and Yeaton.

The Board went into executive session.

☞ Mrs. Wentworth's Concert will take place at the Temple in a few days, as soon as all arrangements are complete. Tickets can now be had of Joseph L. Ham.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Died in Newington, on Friday the 18th inst., Mr. George Towle, aged 52 years. He was engaged in pruning trees, fell from a ladder, and died in about four hours. He was seen at work, and in a few minutes was found lying on the ground, in a helpless condition. He stated that the slipping of the ladder threw him to the ground, but the physician (Dr. Odell of Greenland) pronounced it a case of palsy.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 24.

In the case, Mary Barry v. B. & M. Railroad, the jury returned a verdict for pltff. for $104.25.

No. 75, John Murphy, app'e v. B. & M. Railroad, was then placed on trial and concluded. Verdict for pltff. Damages $6.40.—Wood for pltff.; Wells for deft.

No. 76, Michael Barry, app'e, v. B. & M. Railroad, app'ts, was commenced, but subsequently taken from the jury, and by consent of counsel, a verdict was entered for pltff.; damages laid at 40 cents, the amount claimed.—This was an action to recover the amount of fare paid by app'e, who was ejected from app't cars.

INSTALLATION.—Rev. Jonathan Cole recently of Salem, Mass. was installed pastor of the Unitarian Church and Society of Exeter, on Thursday afternoon, April 24th. The introductory prayer and reading of the Scriptures were by Rev. A. M. Bridge of Hampton Falls. The sermon, by Rev. E. S. Gannet, D. D., of Boston, was an eloquent production and one well suited to the occasion, it occupying an hour and a quarter in its delivery. The prayer of installation was offered by Rev. A. B. Muzzy, of Concord; Charge to the Pastor by Rev. S. Barrett, D. D., of Boston; Right hand of Fellowship by Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., of this city. The address to the people by Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., was one worthy of its author, and was attentively listened to by those present.

Concluding prayer by R. Hassell, of Haverhill, Mass., and Benediction by the Pastor.

The church has recently been papered and painted throughout, and presents a neat appearance.

"It is said that a new temperance paper is to be on the tapis at Concord. It is to be anti-Maine Law and anti-political."

So says the Manchester American. We have heard no such saying here. Should any one think of establishing a new temperance paper, whether for or against the Maine Law, political or anti-political, our advice to him is, First, sit down count the cost, whether he will be able to sustain it. Among the whole family of Temperance papers that have had their being in Concord the past 25 years, not one has been a remunerating concern. It may be thought that a paper of the character of the above named may live and prosper. Try it if you please. Our advice is gratis.—Congregational Journal, Concord, April 24th.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The carpenter's shop of Mr. Cooper, near the depot at Jamaica Plain, was blown down on Monday in the storm, while Mr. Cooper and two other men were in the shop at work, and though there was a large quantity of lumber in the upper story, which, together with the building came tumbling down about them, they all escaped without serious bruises.

COMING HERE.—A recent letter from Paris has it:—"Last week, a ship-load of 350 emigrants left the city of Anvers, for the United States. It is said that the French emigration to America will this year be immense. The Provincial French are a sober and industrious people.

☞ Col. Tuttle, of Dover, has leased the Merrimack House, at Newburyport, of Mr. Enoch Tilton, and will take possession on the first of May.

The intensity of maternal affection was well illustrated in the observation of a sweet little boy, who after reading "Pilgrims Progress," asked his mother which character she liked best. She replied "Christian, of course, he is the hero of the story." He responded: "I like Christiana best, because when Christian set out on his pilgrimage he went alone, but when Christiana started she took the children with her."

"POLITICAL SIGNS."—Under this head the Eastern Argus mentions the case of straight-Whig in Hartford, Ct., who being elected Mayor by Democratic votes, immediately announced himself a Democrat henceforth! Is this cited as an encouraging example?

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.—A Hartford paper gives the following "signs of the times" to be found in that city: "Washing and going out to days works, done here;" "Breakfest, dinner and supper, at all hours;" and "Saws filed, and set up stairs."

Punch has been seized in France for the first time for several months. Its offence is a picture representing the emperor standing by the cradle of his infant, while a figure of liberty in coming forward, says—"May I not be godfather."

MOTHERS—TRY IT!—Dr. Rogers' Syrup of Liverwort, Tar, and Canchalagua is a medicine peculiarly adapted to cure the Snuffles, Wheezing, or those bad Colds in your children, which, if neglected, are so apt to bring on CROUP. We say it is a safe and certain remedy for these complaints, and is also pleasant to the taste. All Drug Stores keep it.

SICK HEADACHE AND DEBILITY. — The Oxygenated Bitters are worthy the attention of all who are afflicted with these or any other symptoms arising from a weakened and deranged state of the digestive system.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

From Dr. E. C. Phillips, late of Wisconsin, Physician of high standing.

SIR,—At your request I have administered your Improved Vegetable Pills to seven or eight patients, and I am happy to state that in every case, without exception, they have given much satisfaction. I find their superiority consists in the fact that they do not gripe or leave the bowels costive, nor do they evacuate the bowels too powerfully, which they should not do, as it is liable to weaken their future action, which is my principal objection to purgative medicines generally. In those cases for which they are recommended, they cannot fail of being advantageous.

I remain, yours, &c. E. C. PHILLIPS.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

HALIFAX, April 23.

The steamship Arabia, from Liverpool, about 1 P. M., Saturday, 12th inst., arrived at this port at 7 A. M., this day.

The Conferences.—The Paris correspondent of the Post says the telegraph is constantly employed on the Italian question, between Rome, Naples, Vienna, and Paris, Count Cavour's propositions having been referred to those Courts, and, on the answers being received, France and England will take decision.

Great Britian.—A British order in council raises the blockade of all Russian ports, and permits the free resumption of commerce in all articles.

France. — The expeditions against Madagascar and the Kabylies are decided. Permission will be sought to send troops through Egypt to the former, and the latter will serve as a cause for the Emperors visit to Algeria, although he will not himself command the army.

Belgium.—Breadstuffs markets are generally declining.

Italy. — Sardinia and Piedmontese corn markets generally lower.

Russia.—The Naval Armistice was officially published at St. Petersburg April 7.

After the ratification all ships seized will be returned.

Commercial relations are re-established between belligerent powers.

The energies of the Russian government are said to be now devoted to three objects, viz: Firstly—Alliance with France; Secondly—Completion of great railways; Thirdly—The manufacture of Russian feeling on the Continent, especially in Germany.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 23.

SENATE. — The consideration of the $3,000,000 armament bill was resumed.

Mr. Bell of Tennesee expressed doubts as to whether this large amount could be probably expended within the present year. He thought it better to make a small appropriation now.

Mr. Weller showed that the whole sum ought to be appropriated forthwith, in order to be used most advantageously.

Mr. Hale opposed the bill, thinking the guns to be refitted with percussion caps and Maynard primers would not be all equal with breech loading rifles. He was of the opinion that they would be serviceable in wet weather. He condemned such a large expenditure in time of peace, and advocated economy.

Mr. Cass said the administration should not be held responsible for large appropriations. Congress had sometimes made them in opposition to the recommendation of the Executive.

Mr. Hale replied that if the Democratic party had not controlled Congress pretty generally, particularly the Senate, for a good many years past, they were not to be held responsible. These large expenditures of 70 or 80,000,000 annually, ought to attract the attention of the people, for they were made at a time when the people were suffering from hard times from one end of the country to the other.

Further discussion of the bill was postponed, and the subject of the Naval Board taken up, and debated till the adjournment.

HOUSE.—Mr. Thurston of Rhode Island moved the re-consideration of the vote by which the Senate's amendment to the Deficiency bill was lost—the amendments referred to being to prevent the former law concerning public printing being so construed as to allow the printer 20 per cent. for extra compensation.

This was debated by Messrs. Cobb, Haven, Clingman and others.

Mr. Washburn of Illinois said the record shows that thirty-eight men, known as Republicans, voted with Mr. Haven for the Senate's amendment, while only twenty-four of that party voted against it. Mr. Giddings remarked that now the European war was over, he rejoiced to see the Republican party taken under the care of gentlemen all around. This was cheering to his heart, and was an advent of the grand political millenium, of which there had been so much talk. (Laughter.)—He was gratified with the exhibitions of friendship displayed by the Democrats and others, for the Republican party.

Mr. Clingman replied that he had no friendship for that party, but, in a good cause, he would rather have the devil for an ally than to have no aid at all. (Laughter.)

Mr. Giddings—Old friends should never be seperated. (Renewed merriment.)

At the instance of Humphrey Marshall Mr. Thurston's motion was reconsidered and tabled by 17 majority.

The Indian appropriation bill was taken up, and Mr. Stanton of Ohio, in reply to remarks of Mr. Keitt, said—The gentleman need not trouble himself about the Republican party. He will have a fair field in the Presidential contest, and will find foemen worthy of his steel. There will be no questionable motto, or doubtful inscription on the Republican banner, but such words as these—"Freedom is national and slavery sectional—no more slave states—union for the sake of liberty, and liberty for the sake of the Union.

DEATH FROM RECKLESS DRIVING.—On the 24th, of March last, Michael Lynch was walking by the side of his team in Hanover street, Boston, when a man named Edward Stearns, who was driving a horse and chaise, at tempted to pass, and in so doing knocked him down and injured him so severely that he was taken to the hospital, where he died on Saturday morning. Stearns at that time was arrested for assault, and is now out on bail in 4000 on that charge. A coroner's inquest has returned Stearns guilty of criminal carelessness.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

MY REMOVAL FROM MARKET ST.
Portsmouth, N. H. in January last.
THE EXPLANATION.

THE Store No. 15 Market Street had been occupied by Henry A. Bigelow for the thirteen years prior to January last, and was greatly enlarged and improved in value, beauty and convenience, at a cost of about $700 to said Bigelow—his own personal expense. The said Bigelow did, by his counsel, S. H. Goodall, Esq. apply about two months before the removal was effected, to the agent and part owner of said store, (or in his absence to his wife, who acts for her husband as agent in such affairs, collecting rents, &c.) for a renewal for five years of said Bigelow's lease, offering satisfactory security for the same or to pay the rent always in advance; and the said agent and part owner's wife did reject and express much satisfaction that their tenant desired to remain; gave her cordial consent, but said she had heard her husband say he should object to give any lease for so long a time as five years, but thought he would not object to two or three years, and would write her husband in regard to a lease of five years.

On the 16th of January last, the day after the ejectment was accomplished, Henry Peyser came into said Bigelow's store, and did say and confess of his own accord, in a proud and boastful spirit, before three witnesses, that he wanted Bigelow's store; that he meant to have had it at whatever cost; that he had left no stone unturned to get the store away from said Bigelow without his knowledge or consent; that he had been to see the wife of said agent and part owner of his store five or six times, made misrepresentations to her, how said Bigelow was injuring the store, the merchants and the trade of Market street (neither he nor injured his trade, or could, as he kept another class of goods); and did go up and down Market street and the city, inciting other merchants to join him in his representations to the said agent's wife whenever they should see her, and so effected his object that the said agent and part owner upon arriving home, did step into Mr. Albert Laighton's store, to whom he had given the refusal of the first store he had to rent larger than the one he occupied, and told him he could have said Bigelow's store, if he could make up his mind by nine o'clock, otherwise he should let Mr. Peyser have it. Mr. Laighton decided to take the store, and the countenance of the said Henry Peyser did fall; but having so zealously enlisted in his work of love in "doing unto others as he would have others do unto him," he offers Mr. Daley, who kept the next door, one hundred dollars premium money to move into the more commodious and convenient store to be made vacant by Mr. Laighton; which offer was accepted. All the arrangements having been made, the said agent and part owner notified the said Bigelow to quit his store in two weeks, or he should charge double rent after that time, while the law would allow him to stay, without assigning any reason for the same, (nothing was said as to the hush money; and the said Peyser has made his store and Mr. Daley's into one, where he can be seen daily, in his own self-aggrandizement, by any one who dares to venture near enough to look into the window.

HENRY A. BIGELOW,

Having thus been so ungentlemanly injured in his business and deprived of his store, has opened a New Store, No. 4 Congress Block, Congress Street, with a new stock of FRESH DRY GOODS, BONNETS & MILLINERY, where he will be happy to wait upon his old customers and the ladies of this city and vicinity who may favor him with a call. Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has commenced, and will carry on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof shall be within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would abd that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringements of patents. All inventors of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britian, France and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful practitioners in the United States; and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1852.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of the office, and I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OF

FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $3 to $5 per acre. By judicious management, the child may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous Coal is abundant at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per load.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no facilities for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Iowa and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted inter communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, must more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase price, one fifth down, and the remaining installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be broken under cultivation, and if payment be from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates. The Company will furnish all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When any such experienced settler will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers in the neighborhood of the Illinois Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

JOHN WILSON,
Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. R. Co.,
Office up to the 1st of May, Chicago, Ill.; after that date in the New Stone Passenger Depot, foot Water st. a8 6m

The Inventor has just added to these superior Machines an improvement whereby they can work on any kind of

From a coarse Cotton fabric to the finest Linen Bosom, in such a perfect manner as no other Machine professes.

They will also Bar and close all kinds of Kid Boots and Shoes, and make the finest Gaiter Boots in every part without a skip—making them the most desirable for girls to use at home, or for any who wish to do more than one kind of work.

SELECTIONS FROM ROGERS'S TABLE TALK. LONDON A CENTURY AGO.—Before his going abroad, Garrick's attraction had much decreased; Sir William Weller Pepys said that the pit was often almost empty. But, on his return to England, people were almost mad about seeing him; and Sir George Beaumont and several others used frequently to get admission to the pit, before the doors were open to the public, by means of bribing the attendants, who bade them "be sure as soon as the crowd rushed in, to pretend to be in a great heat, and to wipe their faces, as if they had just been struggling for entrance."

At the sale of Dr. Johnson's books, I met General Oglethorpe, then very, very old, the flesh of his face looking like parchment. He amused us youngsters by talking of the alterations that had been made in London, and of the great additions it had received within his recollection. He said that he had shot snipes in Conduit street.

I recollect when it was still the fashion for gentlemen to wear swords. I have seen Hadyn play at a concert in a tie wig, with a sword at his side.

Sheridan was in the habit of putting by, not only all papers written by himself, but all others that came into his hands. Ogle told me that, after his death, he found in his desk sundry unopened letters written by his (Ogle's) mother, who had sent them to Sheridan to be franked.

Sheridan, Sir Walter (then Mr.) Scott, and Moore were one day dining with me, and Sheridan was talking in his very best style, when, to my great vexation, Moore (who has that sort of restlessness which never allows him to be happy where he is) suddenly interrupted him by exclaiming, "Isn't it time to go to Lydia White's?"

Sheridan had very fine eyes, and he was not a little vain of them. He said to me on his death-bed, "Tell Lady Besborough that my eyes will look up to the coffin-lid as brightly as ever.

DR. PARR.—Dr. Parr had a great deal of sensibiltiy. When I read to him, in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, the account of O'-Coigly's death, the tears rolled down his cheeks.

After their quarrel, (about Gerald,) Parr often spoke with much bitterness of Mackintosh; among other severe things, he said that "Mackintosh came up from Scotland with a metaphysical head, a cold heart, and open hands."

PALEY.—He permitted—nay, wished—his daughters to go to evening parties; but insisted that one of them should always remain at home, to give her assistance, if needed, by rubbing him, in case of an attack of the rheumatic pains to which he was subject. "This," he said, "taught them natural affection."

THE DUCHESS OF GORDON.—I knew Jane, Duchess of Gordon, intimately, and many pleasant hours have I passed in her society. She used to say: "I have been acquainted with David Hume and William Pitt, and therefore I am not afraid to converse with anybody."

A SENATOR TURNED ORANGE MAN.—On Saturday afternoon, Capt. Baxter, a distinguished and accomplished State Senator, while returning to his home in the cars, was asked by a fruit lad to buy some oranges.

He bought three or four, and gave the boy a five dollar bill. The youngster "stepped out" to get the bill changed, leaving his basket of fruit with the Senator; but the young huckster forgot to return. The cars moved on, but the Captain was determined not to be a sufferer, so he hawked the oranges through the train, and realized five dollars and forty cents by his sales.—Transcript.

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1856.

NEWS—WITH NOTES.

Argus, a correspondent who writes letters from Boston for the Gazette, treats of the Massachusetts Liquor Law, and of Temperance in general, as follows:

As all attempts to enforce it in the large towns have been long since abandoned, it will of course remain inoperative except in the rural districts, where public sentiment is in accordance with prohibition, and the use of ardent spirits is neither customary nor desirable (1). It is not to be denied, however, that the traffic in our densely populated communities requires some judicious restraint and regulation; and every well wisher of humanity must deplore the folly and obstinacy which would force this impracticable code upon them, or leave them wholly without protection (2).

A matured experience and extensive observation leads us unavoidably to the conclusion, that the more artificial the life and habits of a people are, the greater will be the necessity and demand for artificial stimulants, and that lawfully or unlawfully they will be indulged in (3). Their use, both in a sanitary and moral point of view, may be considered as indispensable to the condition of things (in which excitement is the habitual aliment both of the mind and body) which exists in a crowded metropolis, like ours. But in the more retired walks of life, where regularity and quiet are possible conditions of existence, and the order of nature is not subject to any disturbing influences, there is little desire and probably a rare necessity for alcoholic stimulants (4).

The developments of physiological science have also tended to mislead and mystify the advocates of temperance (5). A few years ago, the best medical authorities were cited to prove (contrary to the alleged experience (6) of many) that the effect of alcohol upon the system was, in all cases and without mitigation, positively injurious. It was asserted that the functions of nature, whether in disease or healthy, were best performed without its interference; that its only effect was to intoxicate, and that the individual who drank occasionally and moderately was as much a drunkard as he who imbibed constantly and to excess (7). But of late, medical writers have taken a different view of the subject.—Prof. Liebig, the great German chemist, was the first among them to break ground in favor of alcohol as a beverage, (8) and within the last two years most of our eminent professors have expressed their concurrence in his views (9). The public are now assured, (on the same authority which cautioned them to beware of it as a rank poison) that this article, as well as tea, coffee, &c., is an excellent promoter of nutrition and supporter of the vital energies (10). Old Bourbon whiskey and the best brands of Cognac are now freely prescribed, by many of our physicians, in all cases of debility (11). This unaccountable regulation (12) of scientific theories, however embarassing to the professed philanthropist, shows that the light of experience is the only reliable guide to temperance (13). It does not touch the important fact that the abuse of artificial stimulants is a prolific source of evil nor affect the duty of individuals and communities to guard against this abuse (14).

NOTES, BY UNCLE TOBY.

1. A valuable admission, that ardent spirits are not desirable in the rural districts.—Judging from what we see of their effects in the city, they are not desirable any where.

2. This is like the prayer to Hercules, from the teamster who did not put his shoulder to the wheel. Boston rebels against the law—nullifies it as far as she can for the benefit of the traffic, and then groans over the natural effect of the act. Obey the law—enforce it as far as you can, and the evil will diminish. License only makes it worse.

3. The more artificial and foolish the life—the more artificial and foolish the stimulus.—Even so.

4. If the writer means, as we suppose he does, to contrast city and country in this respect,—he is in great error here. The history of intemperance in the last hundred years in New England, shows that the farming, milling and lumbering towns, were quite as intemperate as the seaports.

And, by the way, we don't believe dram drinking is indispensable to good morals even in Boston.

5. They have mystified the advocates of intemperance, much more.

6. The experience of nearly all confirmed tipplers, as they tell it, does not amount to much with a sober man.

7. While a few ultra speakers might take a view something like this,—it is a remarkable fact, that nearly all the pledges, which were then signed, were against the use of intoxicating drinks as a beverage, thus excepting the medical use, and leaving it out of the case.

8. A great mistake this, as to the first time, Medical men and chemists, advocated and used spirits as a beverage, long before Liebig was born.

9. Professors of what? A number of Professors of paste and scissors have copied from the Westminster Review and from each other, parts of a Review of Carpenter's Essay, in which the reviewer often quotes Liebig. And many of them, by their remarks, show themselves, like the reviewer, and Argus, to be profoundly ignorant on the whole subject. No eminent American professor of Chemistry and Physiology, so far as we know, has done any such thing, within the time named.

10. One able, scientific writer, however, in the North American Review, has reviewed the Westminster article,—and this review, which cuts up the nutrition doctrine, we shall republish in a few days.

11. This is no new thing. It has been done for a century;—and made thousands of drunkards.

12. The word regulation should probably be revolution.

13. Experience shows that the less intoxicating drink sold and used, the less drunkards. The total abstinent, so remaining, cannot be a drunkard! No other course can be perfectly safe.

14. Those guard against the abuse most effectually, who let the vile stuff alone.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday forenoon, at the Iron Works in Portland, Me., as one of the workmen named John Barry, in the machine shop of the Portland Company, was adjusting a belt on the drum, his arm was caught, and he was carried round the shaft. The works were immediately stopped, and he was taken out, but died in the course of half an hour.

Barry belonged in Bangor, and had been in the city about five weeks. He had commenced working for the Company on the very morning of the accident. He was about thirty-five years old, and leaves a widow.

The workmen of the Company, immediately took up a collection for the benefit of his widow, which amounted to the sum of $110.

☞ Frank Leslie's New York Journal, for May, contains, among other articles, the following,—composing a valuable number:—

De Lacy Louvane: or, The Star in the Dark, illustrated; Unknown Tongues; Masks and Faces, illustrated; Dry Docks of Sebastopol, illustrated; Brust, the late Admiral, illustrated; Scenes in the Life of Haydn, illustrated; The Sultan; Yorubs, illustrated; Piedmont, or Sardinia; Horse and Foot Messengers in Turkey, illustrated; The Founder of Virginia, illustrated—Male and Female Hemp, illustrated; The Last of the Sugelochs, illustrated — View in Warsaw; Chamber in the house of a Mirza, in the Valley of Baidar, illustrated; Leila, or the Star of Mingrelia, illustrated; Summer Residence of the Emperor of Russia, illustrated; Stonehenge, illustrated; Japan, illustrated.

☞ The Portland Journal, and the Augusta Journal, both represent the revival and prevalence of drunkenness on Fast Day, (17th,) as remarkably great and violent in their respective cities.

The new liquor law went into operation on the 15th, but no licenses can be granted until the first Monday in May. Yet grogshops have sprung up all over the city, the sellers seeming to interpret the law as giving unlimited freedom of selling. We trust the city authorities will teach them their mistake. Let the law be fairly tried and fully executed.—Portland Transcript.

We shall be very much surprised if the city authorities do any such thing.

The Independence (Mo.) Messenger, of the 12th tells the story that a lot of Sharp's Rifles, which have obtained the name of Beecher's Bibles, were brought to that city by the their owners, and sold at auction on the previous Wednesday. They brought only from $12 to $16 a-piece, and the proceeds were invested in provisions. The Messenger does not pretend that the owners were Free State men or eastern emigrants, as it certainly would it they had been, and such emigrants would not be likely to resort to that ruffian city to sell their rifles for provisions. Hence the sermon which the Messenger preaches and the administration papers this way all eagerly copy, is quite out of place.—Boston Chronicle.

SUDDEN DEATHS FROM INTOXICATION.—The New Bedford Mercury states that during the last few days, six persons have died in that city from the use of liquors sold at cheap grog-shops. Among the victims to intemperance are Mary Miller, wife of T. Sherman, found dead in bed on Monday morning at a house on South Front street, and the wife of Sylvester Westgate, found dead the same morning at a house on First street.

GOT HIS MONEY'S WORTH.—The Providence Journal states that one John Rankin, last Thanksgiving day, visited the Hollow, drank, gambled, fought, was robbed of $70 cash, a ring, &c, was beaten and kicked blind, left in the gutter senseless for an hour or two, and was carried to the watch house and kept there till morning. Henry M'Kierney is on trial for the robbery of Rankin.

The newspapers that have accused the good State of Connecticut of confiscating the Catholic Church property in that State, formerly held by Bishop O'Reilly, have just discovered that the State does no such thing, but merely passes it to the Catholic congregations to whom it belongs—as we had it in the Chronicle.—Boston Chron.

Mr. Irving was at the Astor Library, in New York, looking over the proofs of his Life of Washington—the third volume of which is half printed. He is seventy-three years of age, and never seemed in better health or more cheerful.

☞ The Concord Railroad has declared a didvidend of three per cent, payable May 1st.

LOCAL.

CARD.—MR. AMOS ABBOTT would take this opportunity of expressing his sincere thanks and that of his family, for the very pleasant and generous manner some of his friends have taken to show their kind feelings and good wishes on the occasion of their leaving Portsmouth, thus securing an additional claim to their grateful remembrance.

Wherever in the providence of God their lot may be cast, Portsmouth friends will ever live in their grateful memories.

The few years he has spent in this city, has also endeared him to a large circle of friends in the humbler walks of life, in whose welfare he will ever cherish a lively interest, and he earnestly hopes that the City Missionary Society may soon secure the services of a good, faithful and sympathizing missionary, one in whom those for whom he labors will ever find a friend indeed.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 25th.

Case No. 102, Alfred G. Peckham, Stephen A. Dennis, William H. Morrill, v. Joseph H Clarke, has been on trial to-day. This suit is brought by plfs. a New York Jewelry Firm, to obtain the amount of a bill, contracted by deft., which bill, the deft. alleges he has paid. Hatch for plf.; Hackett for the deft.

The case will probably be given to the jury this evening.

Sir Henry Pottinger died at Malta, 18th inst., aged 67. He was a descendant of Egbert, the first Saxon King of England, and grandfather of Alfred. For nearly half a century the deceased served with much distinction in the British East Indian army. In 1841 he was sent to China as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, for the purpose of adjusting the troubles which had sprung up between that government and Great Britain. In 1846 he was appointed to the Governorship of the Cape of Good Hope, and in 1847 he was again sent to India as Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras.

Punch indulges in the following connubial conundrum:

Which is of greater value, prythee, say,
The Bride or Bridegroom?—must the truth be told?
Alas, it must! The Bride is given away—
The Bridegroom 's often regularly sold.

Few persons say more good things than Mr. Choate. Our readers reccollect he gave a lecture in Boston, a few weeks ago, upon the last days of Samuel Rogers, for whom he expressed a good deal of admiration, and whose "Table Talk" has been recently published. Mr. Choate's great personal attachment to Mr. Webster, and admiration of him, are, also, well known. It is said he was recently asked, how he thought the conversational powers of Mr. Rogers would compare with those of Mr. Webster. He replied, as a fiddle to two hundred organs.

ANOTHER ARCTIC EXPEDITION.—Mr. Grinnell has received a letter from Lady Franklin, proposing to fit out a propeller, at her own expense, to search the Arctic seas for any survivor of Sir John Franklin's party who may still be living among the Esquimaux, and to give the command to Dr. Kane. Surely this must be rather too much of a good thing, even for Dr. Kane.

☞ A. S. Wood, baggage-master, was killed on Friday afternoon on the Cheshire road, in Winchendon. He was in the act of looking from the door of the baggage car, when a down train passed, striking and fracturing his skull. Mr. Wood was a resident of Bellows Falls and a good citizen. He leaves a wife.

☞ Mr J. A. Washington writes to the National Intelligencer that he had been willing to sell the Mount Vernon estate either to Virginia, or to the United States; but both of these parties have declined to purchase.—The property is not now for sale.

☞ The Novelty Iron Works, at Rochester, N. Y., were burnt on Friday morning, 25th. Loss $45,000. A hundred men lose their employment.

THE SYSTEM OF THE SQUIRREL'S CAGE. Everybody sees that Routine is like a squirrel's cage; but perhaps certain persons may not see that it is particularly so, because it keeps Ability at work, and at the same time hinders it from climbing and getting on.—Punch.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, April 24.

SENATE.—On motion of Mr. Benjamin, a resolution was adopted, calling on the Secretary of State for information relative to the extent to which the transportation of laborers is now being carried from the Continent of Asia, or any Asiatic Islands, to America, whether such laborers be termed laborers, coolies, or apprentices; also, to show the manner in which they are treated on the passage, and after their arrival, together with any statistics he may possess, showing a sacrifice of human life attending this traffic.

The three million armament bill was then taken up.

Mr. Hale stated that the expenses of the Government, now in a time of profound peace, is ten million more than during any year of the Mexican war; while it required but $2,000,000 annually to keep Washington's administration, $50,000,000 are necessary to sustain that of Mr. Pierce. He did not know but he was doing wrong to state these facts, as it might encourage the President to go into another war, thinking it might be more economical—(laughter).

The bill was laid aside, and Mr. Houston resumed his remarks condemnatory of the action of the Naval Board.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House passed the bill creating Columbus, Ky., a port of delivery.

Mr. Pelton, from the Committee on Commerce, reported, without amendment, the Senate bill, remitting or refunding the duties on all goods, wares, and merchandise, in original packages, destroyed by fire. After an ineffectual effort to pass it, the bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.

The Indian Appropriation bill was considered, and Mr. Ritchie argued the constitutional right of Congress to legislate concerning the territories, on the subject of slavery, as well as other matters, and that Congress might reject, as well as admit, new States into the Union.

Adjourned.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24th.—Hospitalities Refused to Buchanan.—In the Common Council this afternoon, a resolution was offered tendering the use of Independence Hall to Mr. Buchanan, which led to a hearted political debate of the most rabid and violent character, including aspersions on President Pierce, his fainting on the field of Mexico, &c. The resolution was finally defeated by a vote of 33 to 20. In the Select Council a resolution of similar import was presented, which was also rejected by a vote of 13 to 11. This disrespect to the distinguished Pennsylvanian causes much angry feeling amongst all classes of our citizens.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The tide was unusually high on the North River last night. At Rhinebeck it overflowed the wharves, and, by slacking some lime, set fire to a storehouse, which was entirely consumed, with a large quantity of grain. The barge Milani, lying at the wharf, nearly loaded, also took fire and was burned to the water's edge.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 23d.—Fatal Steamboat Explosion.—The steamer Java, plying on the Alabama river, was destroyed on Sunday last, by the explosion of her boiler. Several passengers were killed. The boat was so much damaged by the explosion that she sunk.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White by old age, sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

It is all under fence, except at the southern end, where there is no fence. Upon it are two or three never failing springs of water, and altogether, no thirty-two acres in the neighborhood can be found, better, or more eligibly situated, than are these. Terms—credit, with good security for part of purchase money, will be given, and will be particularly made known at the sale.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof in his within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents, and he has the extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 11, 1856.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OF
FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the north-east, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, in gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of purchase and first cultivation.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one acre per day and two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands in view of value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. The yield of the product of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in reduced price of their products; and to that extent impoverishes they are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance. These, however, are understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brot'd under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,
Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from the Company, if desired.

They will be 13 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply these purchasers with the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing the cross instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of farm labor, and other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

JOHN WILSON,
Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. R. Co.,
Office up to the 1st of May, 52 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.; after that date in the New Stone Passenger Depot. So. Water st. a8 6m

May it please your Honor—In behalf of the Bar of this County I desire to bring to the notice of this Court, at this time, the recent death of Joseph Tilton, Esq., an elderly and much respected member of this Bar—

Mr. Tilton departed this life, at his mansion house in this village, just across the way from this court house, but a few days before the commencement of this present term of the Court.

Having travelled far into the region of the sere and yellow leaf of life, and having for some years been rather infirm, he had become, as one may say, fully ripe, and ready for the sickle of the great Master and Ingatherer of the harvest of human life: yet he came to his final exit rather unexpectedly, without any particular warning; passing away by a sudden and violent illness of but a few hours duration, without apparent consciousness of what was passing upon him, or around him: forcibly exemplifying what shadows we are, and how frail and uncertain and brittle is the thread by which we are suspended between the life that now is, and that which is in the future.

Mr. Tilton was liberally educated; having received his degree of Master of Arts at Harvard University, and having read law under the tuition of the late chief Justice Smith of Exeter, he could hardly be otherwise than well grounded in the principles of his profession.

Possessing a discriminating and well judging intellect, and being of unswerving and undoubted integrity, he was peculiarly successful in such business as was entrusted to his care, whereby he deservedly acquired the confidence and continued good will of those he acted for.

In the more active and vigorous portion of his life he was engaged in extensive practice, and during his entire period at the bar, he was noted for his respectful demeanor to the Court, and for his urbane and conciliatory bearing toward his brethren of the profession.

He was a highly trusted and valued member of the community in which he dwelt, and was from time to time called to fill offices of public trust and confidence—

In times long since gone by, when he was in the prime of his manhood, his friends and fellow townsmen were in the frequent habit of returning him a member of the State Legislature, and I may be permitted to say from my own personal knowledge and experience, having been a member with him, he was a useful, an influential, and a much respected member of that body.—Honors of that sort I think he never courted, in what is now the fashion to canvass for promotion, but they came to him, unsolicited, because of his acknowledged fitness for them.—He was called to office and station on the principle of benefit and advantage to his constituents, rather than to himself.

Mr. Tilton, perhaps it may be said, lived long enough for himself, having passed a long way beyond the period generally allotted to human life, and the enjoyments of it; but that he did not live too long for his friends, and undergo the misfortune of an unwelcome old age, is made fully manifest, by the many tokens of sorrow and regret for his loss, and respect for his memory, daily occurring in the neighborhood where he lived and died, and where he was best known.

The Bar have deemed it proper to take some action in reference to the death of Mr. Tilton and have adopted resolutions expresive of their feelings in regard to their bereavement, which were prepared by a Committee appointed for that purpose; and will now be presented, if the Court please, by Mr. Tuck, the Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Tuck addressed the Court as follows:

May it please the Court: At a meeting of the Bar of this County, holden this morning, for the purpose of taking appropriate action relative to the death of one of their late members, resolutions have been adopted, which I have been requested to present to the Court. They are in the following words:

Resolved, That in the death of Joseph Tilton, Esq., of Exeter, the Rockingham Bar have lost an honored member of their fraternity, an able lawyer, faithful friend and worthy citizen.

Resolved, That we cherish in grateful remembrance the many virtues of our deceased brother, and acknowledge the beneficial influences of his example, during a long life, of the faithful discharge of every professional and social obligation, and of that uniform courtesy of conduct, and kindness of heart, whereby he lived, universally esteemed, and died universally regretted.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the immediate friends of the deceased, in token of our sympathy with them, and that the Court be requested to order the same to be entered upon the records.

In the death of Mr. Tilton, the members of the Bar in this County, have abundant material for reflection. He was the oldest practitioner of their number, it is believed having entered the profession about the year 1800.—He had a fresh recollection of what transpired in our Courts during the first 25 years of this century, during which there were grouped in the old County of Rockingham, legal talent enough to reflect honor upon the whole country, and more than could be found in any other single County in the United States.—Forty years ago, Mr. Tilton was more familiar with the eminent lawyers of that day, whose memories we cherish with so much pride, than many of us are with one another. Daniel Webster was then laying the corner stones, whereon he afterwards reared the vast fabric of his renown; Judge Jeremiah Smith was in the vigor of his strength and the full exercise of all his powers; Jeremiah Mason, unequalled in legal skill and sagacity, was disputing every inch of ground with every adversary; George Sullivan, the music of whose eloquence will never be forgotten by any who ever heard him speak, was in full tide of merited success; and Ichabod Bartlett, last but not least, was displaying those almost universal legal accomplishments, which made him the admiration of two generations of lawyers. Others of less distinction, but of eminent ability, were at our Courts, and Mr. Tilton was for many years an eye witness of, and often a participant in the trials wherein these great men measured their strength, with each other, and polished their weapons for new encounters, and future triumphs. Each contributed to the greatness of the others, and each acquired a reputation superior to most other men in New England. Mr. Tilton well remembered when neither of these men had a name; he watched their rising greatness, rejoiced in the honor they acquired, enjoyed their esteem and confidence, and having lived several years after the last of them had died, has now himself quietly gone to his long home.

Mr. Tilton was born in East Kingston, a few miles from Exeter, in the month of August 1774. He graduated at Harvard College in 1797, studied law at Exeter, in the office of Judge Smith, and was admitted to practice about the year 1800. He commenced professional business at Wakefield in the County of Strafford, where he remained a few years, and then removed to Rochester, where in 1806 he was married to Miss Nancy Folsom of Exeter. In 1809 he opened an office in this town, where he continued afterwards to reside, until his death on the 28th of March last. His wife died in 1837. He was ever held in high esteem by the citizens of this place, as indicated, among other things, by their electing him to represent them in the state legislature nine years in succession, from 1815 to 1823, inclusive. A class-mate of his, who survives him, and who has known him intimately through life, and himself an able lawyer, says of him in a news-paper obituary, that "he was a lawyer of ability and great integrity, a man and citizen eminently kind and useful, beloved by his friends, of unblemished reputation, and universally respected through his long life." None who know our deceased friend, would accord to him any less than is here said in his praise. He was a lawyer of accurate knowledge, a counsellor of safe and reliable character, a kind and sincere friend, a worthy and useful citizen.

Let his virtues be long remembered, the excellencies of his character beneficially affect our own lives, and let us all be admonished by his departure, to be also ready, not for death only, but for that final judgment to which we all hasten.

Mr. Lawrence said that Mr. Tilton was born in East Kingston and that he first became acquainted with him in May, 1793, when Mr. L. entered Phillips' Exeter Academy. Mr. Tilton was then a student at the Academy, and remained till August, 1793, when he entered Harvard College where he graduated in 1797. He then came to Exeter and studied law in the office of the late Judge Smith, who had that year moved from Peterborough to Exeter. He continued in that office till 1801, when he was admitted to the bar.

Mr. T. then moved to Wakefield and commenced the practice of law there. After being there four or five years he moved to Rochester where he remained two or three years and in the summer of 1809 came to Exeter. The speaker having moved into Exeter the previous March, they commenced practice nearly together, and continued together in practice for forty-five years, and then retired from the active duties of their profession, during which time they had the good fortune to become acquainted with the most able and distinguished lawyers in this State, and perhaps in the Union.

Mr. Tilton was faithful to his clients, respectful to the Court, and friendly and amiable in his intercourse with his brothers of the bar — he was a careful and prudent man in the preparation of his cases.

He was a Director in the old Exeter Bank for many years and until it closed. He was a Representative from Exeter in the State Legislature for several years, where his conduct gave perfect satisfaction to those who sent him there.

He was a good neighbor and citizen, and an upright, honest man.

He has now gone to answer for his conduct here, before that Judge from whose decree there is no appeal.

Mr. Hackett said that Mr. Tilton had so long before his death withdrawn from active practice that few of our younger brethren could be aware of the prominent and respectable position which he formerly held at this Bar. Forty years ago Mr. Tilton was in an extensive and highly respectable practice.

He said the first time he recollected of having seen Mr. Tilton was 33 years ago. He was attending Court at Portsmouth. The late Chief Justice Richardson who was presiding, was occupied (as the Court in modern times often is) in calling the docket to ascertain if there were any cause in which both parties were ready for trial. He came to a case in which the late Mr. Sullivan was engaged for the plaintiff. Mr. Sullivan said he was ready, and looking across the bar to Mr. Tilton, said "Are you ready Mr. Tilton?" Judge Richardson not waiting for Mr. Tilton to reply, said, looking towards Mr. Sullivan, "Brother Tilton is always ready."

This incident, and the remark of the Court illustrates the professional habit of Mr. Tilton. Without coveting the prominent and responsible positions in the profession, whatever business he undertook was seasonably, methodically and faithfully discharged.

In his professional and social relations, his good humor was as unfailing as his integrity was undoubted. He appeared to regard his profession as his post of duty in which he was to do his part in guarding and advancing the interests of society.

It is a sufficient proof of his professional success that he gained a prominent position at a bar where Webster, Mason, Smith, Sullivan, Woodbury, Bartlett, Cutts and Haven were his cotemporaries and competitors.

He passed through life in the enjoyment of the respect of his brethren of the bar, and the confidence of the community. He lived to a good old age, and his memory will long be cherished by those who had the happiness of of knowing him.

Judge Sargent replied substantially as follows:—

With the late Mr. Tilton, whose death is the occasion of the resolutions before us, the Court here had not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance.

We learn that he was a member of the legal profession, and that during a long and useful life, he maintained a high character for integrity, and an honorable course of dealing with all those with whom he held intercourse—that he was unassuming and unambitious for the honors of place or of office—that he had endeared himself to all within the circle of his acquaintance, as a worthy citizen, an able and faithful attorney, true to all the confidences and interests of his clients, a safe and wise Counsellor—an intelligent, an honorable and an upright man.

We have been very appropriately reminded of his connection with the past history of this County and our State.

While living he constituted as it were, a connecting link between the present and the past. He was familiar with those great men of a former generation whose memories we have been accustomed to venerate, whose lives were made up of honorable and useful deeds, whom New Hampshire has been proud to claim as her sons, and whose names will continue to shed lustre upon the pages of the State's and Nation's History forevermore.

We are requested to order that the resolutions before us, be entered upon the the records of this Court. It is proper that it should be so. It is fitting that the generation of today should in that way perpetuate and transmit to other generations, yet to come, the remembrance of the name and the many virtues of the deceased. It is meet that his brethren of the legal profession shold in this way show their high appreciation of modest, unassuming merit—their respect and regard for all that is honorable in human action and truly ennobling in human character.

It is above all things highly proper to hold out the lives and example of such men to the view of the younger members of the Bar and those who are just commencing the great contest of professional life, that they may be led to spurn every unworthy expedient as a means of success, and to regard less the importance which may for a time attach to place or pomp, or power—and more that permanent and lasting reputation which is acquired by a course of honorable action based upon sound principles, and that good name and grateful remembrance which a life well spent in the ways of virtue, can alone insure.

And while we are all by the cirumstances of this occasion reminded of the shortness of time and the uncertainty of human life—let us strive to fill up the remainder of the time allotted to each one of us, with deeds of usefulness. Let our efforts be for the good of the race, for the improvement and elevation of man. In this way shall we most successfully accomplish the great object of our being—and glorify the great author of life, the common Father of us all.

It is therefore Ordered that the Resolutions be entered upon the records of the Court.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone!

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 26.

The last action tried by the Jury was Peckham & als. v. Joseph H. Clark which occupied the Court Friday. Verdict rendered about 8 o'clock in the evening for deft. Hatch for plf. Hackett for deft.

The Court at about 10 o'clock adjourned to the 4th Tuesday of June. This was the first Court at which Judge Sargent presided in this county. We understand he has made a very favorable impression.

☞ There is to be a Temperance Meeting at the Temple this evening, commencing at a quarter before 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Whiting and others will address the meeting.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Union of this morning contains the Douglass and Lane correspondence. Mr. Douglass concludes his reply to Lane as follows:

Col. Lane calls on me for such explanation of my language as will remove all imputation upon the integrity of his actions and motives in connection with the memorial.

My reply is, that there are no facts within my knowledge which can remove all imputation upon the integrity of his action and motives in connection with that memorial.

Forged Land Warrants.—The amount of forged Land Warrants already discovered exceeds one million acres. The investigation is still in progress, and additional frauds are coming to light.

BUFFALO, April 26.—A despatch from Erie says a mob had destroyed the office of the Constitutional, a paper advocating railroad interests, and had further threatened to destroy the railroad property.

PROVINCETOWN, April 26.—The schooner Empire Spring, Cook, which left Portland last Monday morning, at 8 o'clock, has not yet reached this place, her point of destination. Fears are enterteined for her safety.

CHICAGO, April 26.—A despatch from Leavenworth, states that on the 22d, Sheriff Jones, while attempting to arrest a man who was implicated in the late difficulties, was resisted by a body of 300 armed men. Gov. Shannon had ordered out the military.

CINCINNATI, April 25th.—The Slave Case.—H. H. Robinson, United States Marshal for this district, who was committed by Judge Burgoyne for contempt of Court in refusing to obey an order to bring up the Gaines slaves, and was subsequently brought before Judge Leavitt on a writ of habeus corpus, was yesterday discharged by Judge Leavitt.

PERJURY IN A LIQUOR CASE.—In the Municipal Court yesterday, in the case of John Dougherty, on a charge of perjury, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The perjury was committed in the liquor case of one Harkins, tried last year, Dougherty at that time testifying that Harkins had no ownership in the liquor, and did not sell or deliver it.—Boston Times.

A FALSE ALARM.—The "Black Republican" meeting said to have been held in Loudoun county, Va., was, it now appears, only a regular meeting of the "Goose Creek Literary Society," at which, merely as a rhetorical exercise, the question of Mr. Fillmore's qualifications for the Presidency were debated by champions chosen for the purpose. The Loudoun Mirror, which reported the affair, has a heavy debt to settle with its contemporaries, who, in the excess of their fears for the safety of the "peculiar institution," were loud in demands for a severe application of the lynch law.—Portland Adv.

SAD ACCIDENT.—As the afternoon train from Portland to Augusta was rounding a curve near the latter city, it came suddenly on a man named Tibbitts, who was walking on the track, and injured him so severely that he lived but an hour. The engineer rang the bell and used every precaution to prevent the accident; but as Mr. Tibbitts was deaf he did not hear the warning.

RANDOLPH SENTENCED TO BE HUNG.—Isaac Randolph, (colored,) who murdered his wife in New Haven on the 24th April, 1855, was brought before the Superior Court, (Tuesday,) and received his sentence. It is that he shall be hung on Thursday, the 10th of July next. Randolph cut his wife's body in pieces, and buried them in different places in his garden; and these facts were revealed, singularly enough, to Coe, the murdered woman's father, five months afterwards in a dream.—Eastern Argus.

Two children were nearly poisoned to death at Manchester, N. H., last week, from digging up and eating the roots of water-hemlock, which they thought were artichokes.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE. — The addresses will be given at the next Commencement of that institution, July 31, as follows:—Before the United Library Societies, Prof. Holmes of Harvard College. Phi Beta Kappa Society, R. J. Raymond, editor of the New York Times. Theological Society, Prof. Hitchcock of Union Theological Seminary, late of Bowdoin College.

MELODRAMA BEHIND THE SCENES.—At the St. Louis Theatre on Tuesday evening last, behind the scenes, while the comedy of the "Serious Family" was being performed, a young actress, whose latest cognomen is Mrs. Ann Behler, was assaulted by an attache of the theatre, named William Anderson, who stabbed her with a knife in the neck, inflicting a severe, though not dangerous wound. Anderson is an old man. Love and jealousy are assigned as having something to do with the assault. He was arrested and confined in the calaboose, and afterwards committed to jail, in default of $500 bail.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, April 25th.

SENATE.—On Motion of Mr. Toombs, a resolution was adopted, instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the expediency of repealing the act of June, 1848, amending the naturalization act of 1813.

The bill for the relief of George P. Marsh was passed, together with several bills relating to the District of Columbia. Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—The session was occupied in a debate on the bill to remit or refund the duties on all goods or merchandise in original packages, destroyed by fire.

The French Emperor has conceived the magnificent project of cutting a ship canal from Havre to Paris, which will be navigable by vessels of a large size. This would give the latter city an important commercial character.

The Boston Courier copies this and says, it would also be a water project, by the time it was completed, of capacity enough to drown all the men in Paris. What with the Suez canal—a French work—this canal to Havre, and the Russian war debt, it would not take more than the cost of one more imperial baby to put all France under water. If Louis Napoleon does not mind, his "Credit Mobilier" will inflate him so high, that one fall will be fatal.

OVERDOING THE THING.—We have seen it stated that the Philadelphia Democratic Convention obliged their candidates for city officers to make declaration that they had never belonged to a party which proscribed citizens on account of their birth or religion.—George W. Biddle, a candidate for City Attorney, went farther, and stated that he was the first person who had opposed the use of the Bible in the public schools. The statement was received in profound silence, and when the balloting took place, he was left far behind his predecessor.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The Lancaster Express, has the following:

THE SUNDAY LIQUOR LAW.—The friends of the Sabbath, and of the entire prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating drinks, will be gratified to learn that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania have unanimously decided that the Sunday Prohibitory Liquor Law of Feb. 26, 1855, is constitutional, and not inconsistent with any of the provisions of the Restraining Liquor Law of April 14, 1855. The Court say that, "believing the act to be eminently calculated to promote public and private morality, and to conduce to the good order and well being of Society, they feel no disposition to favor its repeal by legislative implication, or to impair its force by judicial construction."

GOOD.—Father Cummings, formerly of the Christian Mirror, always had a quiet way of stating things to advantage. It will be seen that he exemplifies the power in speaking of a certain fugitive slave whom he met in Panama.

"In the assembly were two fugitive slaves, who found their way hither. One of them, I am told, was brought hither by his master, on his way to California, and so managed as to give him the slip, and abide here. He affords some evidence that he is the Lord's servant, and prizes his religious privileges. In suffering his human master to go without him, he only availed himself of the inspired license "If thou mayst be free, use it rather," than remain in bondage."

☞ Mr. Buchanan, though not received by a vote of the Philadelphia city government, has been received publicly, with honors and cheers, by a great concourse of his friends and fellow citizens there.

DEATHS FROM BURNS.—On the 19th inst, James Brown and wife, residing on Silver street, South Boston, while engaged about a palmleaf bed, they being in an intoxicated state the time, were badly burnt in consequence of the bed having been accidentally set on fire by their little child while playing with matches. Mr. Brown was taken to the Hospital, where she died on Wednesday.

Some of the papers are rejoicing because farmers and others, who have hoarded their crops for high prices, ar compelled to sell at ruinously low prices. Is it right to rejoice at the misfortunes of others in any case? Philanthropos had his pocket picked once, in which were only two cents and an omnibus ticket. He felt so deeply the disappointment the fellow must have experienced on finding he had got so little, that he carried a pocket-book with ten dollars in it, which he had borrowed, for a week afterwards, in hope the light fingered gentleman might get it. But he didn't, and Philanthropos was obliged to keep it to himself.—Shillaber.

ASSAULT ON A PRIEST.— We see it stated that the Rev. B. M. Poyet, a Catholic priest, pastor of St Joseph's Church, New Orleans, was recently assaulted by five men with sword canes in the public street. He received about twenty flesh-wounds before he was able to escape from his assailants. The cause of the assault was an alleged insult given to two young ladies by the priest in the church on the Sunday before.

ADAMS'S

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

CORSET WAREROOMS,

Removed from Washington Street to

28 WINTER STREET,

BOSTON.

The Corset Warerooms of Thirty Years, (Established in 1825.) Also, the Inventor of ADAMS'S PATENT ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER, And the only place where the genuine article can be obtained.

MRS. ADAMS has recently returned from Europe, where, among the looms and weaving rooms of France, she has devoted the best part of a year in re-arranging and symmetrizing the best features of the French Woven Corset, adapting it to the necessities of the peculiarly delicate structure of the American women, and is happy to say that in these efforts she has been eminently successful; and since presenting her experiments, the increased demand has been continued. Thinking it best to introduce these beautiful and easy fitting articles by some other than the formidable name of Stay or Corset, she calls them Bowens. They are so constructed as to give a sustaining brace to the back, shoulders and abdomen, at the same time inducing an expansion of the chest never before attained in anything of similar purpose. The next consideration is the price, it being as low as the most ordinary and ill-shaped of other manufacture, whilst the style and quality of texture surpasses other goods hitherto disposed of at most exorbitant charges.

Mrs. A. would invite the attention of dealers, and would assure them that an investment in these goods, at the fixed low prices, is the same as gold already twice told. All orders promptly and judiciously attended to.

For sale, the WEEKLY CORSET, of the Boston Agent, as above.

Mrs. Adams has no store on Washington street, nor are her goods for sale by any Agent, or at any other place than this

SPICY.—The editor of the New York Spirit of the Times, in his "answers to correspondents," has the following:

A right stylish horse, 7 yrs. old, that can trot in a wagon inside of three minutes, is worth $700, and you will be lucky to get one at that! Can get you "an old pelter" that can go in 2:40, possibly, for quarter of the money, but wouldn't insure him to repeat the time during his natural life. In purchasing, at enormous prices, some of the fast horses we 'read of,' it appears to be understood that half the money is to be paid when he dies, and the other half when he rises!

"Fred."—You surely must be under a misapprehension. 'Washing and Ironing' is decidedly not 'taken in here!' as one might imagine from your queries, nor 'going out to day's work!' If you care to know of the lost Pleiad, or Symmes's Hole, the King of Otaheite's Toe, or Moses in the Bulrushes, just look over your Pilgrim's Progress, and when found, turn down the leaf! Though deemed to be pretty well 'posted' in matters appertaining to blood stock, we confess to not the slightest knowledge of the pedigree of the 'ram' which Abraham sacrificed on Mount Moriah instead of his son Isaac!

SERFAGE IN RUSSIA.—The Independence Belge says that a project for the abolition of slavery in Russia has been much talked of recently. A St. Petersburg letter states that the plan was sometime since submitted to the Emperor, who be fore he left the capital for Finland, issued a proclamation, by which, hereafter, the serfs will have privilege of suing their masters for their freedom before the tribunals of the realm. Former laws granted the serf this power, but it was always impossible for him to make a practical use of it. Henceforward the nobles can no longer transfer their serfs to another district, to incorporate them into the army, without being authorized to do so, by the decision of a competent tribunal.

Judge Whiting, of the Supreme Court of New York, being about to hold a special term at Chambers, was somewhat frightened at the array of law books by one of the counsel engaged in a case. "What," said he, "is the amount involved in this suit?" "Two dollars, may it please your honor." "Well, I'll pay it myself. Call the next case, Mr. Clerk!"

On Tuesday night, a respectable Irishman named Thomas Donohue, was found lying in one of the streets in Portland, severely stabbed. Suspicion rests upon an Irish shoemaker, named McCracken, who had been heard to say repeatedly that he would cut Donohue's throat, and who has left town.

THE PRACTICAL EFFECT.—The Maine Licence Bill, as amended in the State, will allow rum to be sold in 22 places in Augusta viz:—7 Licensed retailers—9 hotel keepers and 6 apothecaries. In Portland there will be some 60 places, and in Bangor some 40 places where it may be sold legally. As the bill has become a law, no one will have cause to complain that government has not done its best to promote liquor drinking.—Kennebec Journal.

THE SUNDAY CRYSTAL PALACE OPENING. At the last Royal levee an address was presented to the Queen from the women of Woolwich and its vicinity above 21 years, being 2010 in number, three-fourths of whom are of the working classes, humbly entreating Her Majesty to withhold her Royal assent to the prayer of any petition having for its object to open the British Museum, National Galleries, Crystal Palace or other Exhibitions on the Lord's day.

NEW MILL IN MANCHESTER, N. H.—The Manchester American says that ground has been broken for a new mill in that city. It is to be located just above the weir, at the lower end of the city. The mill is to be 160 feet in length, 60 feet wide, and three stories high. When in full operation it will run 5000 spindles, and will employ one hundred and twenty-five hands. The brick and lumber required are already prepared, so that it is expected it will be ready to run by the first of September. The capital required to build it is $100,000. The building of the mill is under the the superintendence of E. A. Straw, the agent of the Land and Water Power Company, but when built it is to be owned by an incorporated company under the title of the "Amoskeag Bag and Duck Mill." This mill is designed for the manufacture of seamless bags and duck cloth. It is an enterprise which will add materrially to the business and prosperity of the city, and more particularly to that portion of the town in which it is located, as it will bring there a large additional population.

THE OLD PRINTER.—A week or two ago we printed a paragraph, purporting to come from the Blackstone (England) Chronicle, about an old printer at work in that office, who commenced his apprenticeship in London 64 years ago, and who was a soldier under Sir John Moore at the battle of Corunna, and witnessed his burial.

The Anti Slavery Standard says:

"The paragraph is of domestic origin, having been originally published in the Blackstone (Mass.) Chronicle of May 28, 1848. It went the rounds of the press at that time. How it happens that after a sleep of almost eight years, it has taken another start, and that too as a foreign item we do not know. Whether father Scowell, the 'Old Printer' alluded to, 'still lives,' or like the Blackstone Chronicle, has ended his earthly existence, we are not informed."

Rev. Ebenezer Burt recently preached a sermon on his ninetieth birth-day, at Athol, Mass. He was born in Taunton in 1756, and was in the ministry from 1794 to 1846, fifty-two years; in which period he preached 4996 sermons, and baptised 197 persons.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, APRIL 29, 1856.

☞ On Sunday morning, says the Boston Chronicle, a man named William Binnie was found in Sun Court street with his person unadorned, save by a dirty cotton shirt. William had laid down during the night in a drunken condition, and some one during his slumbers had made love to the remainder of his apparel.

The same paper says, a woman named Margaret Allen was found in the streets, on Saturday night, wandering about under the guidance of delirum tremens. She was taken to the station house where she endeavored to hang herself in a cell. Her situation was discovered in season to prevent a fatal result.

The Committee on Pardons, of the Governor's Council in Massachusetts, have been engaged for a day or two past, in hearing the three thousand petitioners for the discharge of Coburn and Dalton from imprisonment, through their counsel, R. H. Dana, Jr., Esq. The matter was ably presented by the learned counsel, but his chance is small.

In the Supreme Judicial Court in Boston, on Saturday, the jury in the case of Mr. Littlefield against a German physician named George H. T. W. Taylor, of Hanover street, for the seduction of his daughter Melissa Littlefield, of Charlestown, returned a verdict of $1000 damages for the plaintiff.

The Herald states that their acquaintance began two years ago, and grew into strong intimacy, and on various occasions the parties took excursions into the suburbs, to enjoy the country air and scenery. On one occasion they stopped at Porter's, in Cambridge, drank wine, and from there proceeded to the residence of the girl's aunt. * * * This coming to the knowledge of the girl's parents, her father instituted a complaint:—The defendant made no defence, except in saying that "his friends told a great many lies about him."

RELIGIOUS.—The Universalist Societies of Amesbury Mills and West Amesbury, have united so far as to have but one pastor—Rev. Wm. P. Colby of the latter place, supplying the two pulpits—one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Pike, of Newburyport, baptised 36 persons on Sunday last. Mr. Pike has baptised about 500 persons during the time he has resided in that city. In the evening, 45 persons were admitted to church membership.

The new Advent Chapel at Newburyport, will be dedicated to Divine Worship on Wednesday afternoon, April 30.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which performs the religious legislation for a half-million people, principally in the free States, meets in Indianapolis, Ind., on Thursday, May 1. It will comprise more than two hundred members, chosen by the annual conferences, and will be one of the most important meetings the Methodists have ever held in this country, and may be the most exciting. There will be an attempt made to essentially alter the economy of that church—1st, by abolishing the Presiding Elder's office; 2d, by allowing the appointments of stationed preachers for three or four years, whereas they are now confined to two; and 3d, by taking more decisive action on the slavery question.

In the first two particulars they cannot change without weakening their body. The government of the Methodist church is now the strongest of any in the United States with the single exception of the Catholic, and no change can render it more effective. In the matter of slavery they are just as much between two fires as when united with the whole south. They must be more anti-slavery to suit the north, and cease the agitation, at least in an official form, as through their tract society, or lose some of their strongest churches along the border States from Maryland to Missouri.—Newburyport Herald.

A MEDICAL NOTORIETY.—The New York Express states that Alexis St. Martins, noted in the annals of medical science as the soldier who accidentally shot himself at Mackinaw in 1816 in such a manner as to lay open his side and expose the entire process of digestion to unimpeded scrutiny—upon which Dr. Beaumont made a valuable though too brief series of observations—is now in New York in company with Dr. Bunting of Montreal, who has taken him thither in the interest of physiology.

☞ A correspondent informs us that the jewelry store of James Cushing, and the dry goods store of Geo. H. Wakefield, at South Berwick, were broken into on Sunday night last. The thieves carried off only about $100 worth of booty from the jewelry store—the best goods being stored in the safe; and succeeded in only getting into the cellar of the dry goods' store. A number of attempts to enter other stores in that vicinity, of late, have proved futile.

☞ Five men, out of a crew of six, perished on the wreck of sch. Robert Miller, from Virginia for Boston. The survivor was taken off the wreck by sch. William D. Cargill.

DROLL PARAGRAPHS. — The Parish Will Case in New York, involving about $2,000,000, is so tangled up with codicils, revocations, and numerous relatives variously provided for, each represented by an eminent lawyer, that it is very doubtful when it will terminate. But it is pretty certain that the lawyers will not lose by the delay.

"Let the Kansas-Nebraska bill be a test," says the New York News (Hard-Shell Democrat). That's right. Stick to that. The test on the other side will be 'KANSAS FREE,' as per bill—the right or wrong of the bill to be settled afterwards when the next territory comes to be organized. Democrats, harder than Pharaoh, passed that bill; the test now is to hold their noses to their own grindstone.

A New York Journal accounts for the appearance of uncommonly long street-sweeping dresses on certain ladies, in that city, by the hypothesis that they are borrowed from taller specimens of the sex. There can hardly be a doubt of it.—Boston Chronicle.

JUDICIAL VILLANY.—A young girl of Preble county, Ohio, who had earned $50 by teaching school all winter, went to Cincinnati lately to visit her friends with the $50 in her port monnaie. At the Hampton depot she was relieved of her cash by some pickpockets who were arrested in Cincinnati and the porte monnaie and contents found on them. The girl could not identify the bills till she had written to Preble county to the person from whom she received them. Judge Pruden promised her the money should be kept safely till she had got her answer. But when after three days an answer came giving a description of the bills, the same Judge Pruden told her that he had just ordered the money to be paid out to the lawyers who had defended the pickpockets. Such is the story told by the Cleveland Leader. The Judge seems to have borrowed his ethics from Pendery & Leavitt of the same city.—Boston Chron.

WOMAN MARRIED TO WOMAN.—A singular case of this kind has recently occurred at Syracuse, N. Y. A gay young woman, dressed in man's attire wooed and won one of her own sex to marriage, against the wishes of the father of the latter, after a short courtship. The family suspected the fraud, and had the woman-husband arrested, but the bride still clings to her choice, and claims that the arrest is a conspiracy against them. They were allowed to meet in one of the ante-rooms of the police office, and embraced each other with the greatest marks of affection. She was remanded for further examination.

They should be committed to separate insane hospitals.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Tribune correspondent writes from Kansas City, April 17: Messrs. Howard and Sherman of the Congressional Investigating Commission will leave here today for Lawrence, where they will have its headquarters, instead of at Leavenworth. A party of 30 Georgians arrived here yesterday, and 50 persons have just arrived from Rhode Island, and 150 from Ohio. Emigration from the East averages about 100 daily, and about that number come weekly from the South. Gov. Reeder has been visiting Leavenworth, and leaves here today for Lawrence. He is every where treated with respect.

GOOD FISHING.—Mr. Samuel Harris, one day last week, speared two hundred and fifty flounders in Plum Island river. These fish leave our harbor in the fall, and run into the small streams, where they burrow in the mud until spring, when they pay us a visit.—A gentleman who came up the river a few days since, remarked that thousands of black heads were discerned peeping from the mud and looking towards the city.—Newburyport Herald.

James Tanner, who, when last in Boston, addressed large congregations mostly of Unitarians, whose views he claimed to have espoused—is reported in Western papers as a man of vicious character and life. We see that two papers published at different points give an expose of his conduct, which sufficiently stamps it.

STEAMBOAT DISASTER.—The New Orleans Delta states that by the recent sinking of the steamboat Cuba, on the Alabama river, fifteen passengers were known to be lost, and it was believed that many more perished. The accident occurred at night, when the passengers were asleep.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—Later from Kansas.—A despatch from Kansas city to the Republican says that the United States troops had made several arrests yesterday, and that Sheriff Jones, while guarding the prisoners, was shot. We have no further particulars.

MANUMISSION OF EIGHT SLAVES.—Mr. Hampton Elliot of Adams county, Mississippi, has recently executed in Cincinnati a deed of manumission, setting free and "absolutely discharging from service" a family of slaves, consisting of a mother and her seven children.

ARMINGTON & CO., MERCHANT TAILORS, 136 WASHINGTON STREET.—At the summit of the merchant tailor business of Boston stands the long established house of Armington & Co. They are no less distinguished for the exquisite and superb quality of the fabrics they import, than for the taste and skill with which they get up garments. There are many gentlemen in the various cities of the Union, of Canada and Cuba, who have tried the best the trade can do for them in London and Paris, who constantly keep their measures at Armington's, and have supplied their wardrobes from that establishment for years. Their customers never forsake them. As a consequence of steady application to the regular custom business, their success has been such that they have much enlarged their stock, which now comprises a full assortment of the best and richest goods to be found in the world.—Boston Post.

The last Georgia Legislature appropriated $15,000 to the Military institute at Marietta, which is based upon the West Point system, and it will be enlarged to accommodate one hundred and fifty students.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LOTTERIES. } BALTIMORE, April 18, 1856.

THE undersigned, Commissioner of Lotteries of the State of Maryland, being in receipt daily of letters from various portions of the country, making inquiry as to Lottery Schemes, with which the country is flooded, and which purport to be "decided by the drawings of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries," takes this method to answer all such letters of inquiry, and inform the public that all Lotteries purporting to be decided by the Maryland Lotteries are gross frauds; that certain parties who style themselves Morris & Co., and pretend to be Managers or Sole Agents for the Grand Charter Lotteries at Cleaveland, Ohio, are impostors, and said lottery a fraud, having neither legal nor presumptive existence; and that another fictitious firm, styled Murry & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, are also imposters, and all lotteries which they profess to be managers or agents for, are also frauds.

RICHARD FRANCE, of this city, is the Contractor for drawing the Maryland Lotteries. The business is conducted under the firm of R. France & Co., as Managers, and they have no sole agents in the city of Baltimore. There are, however, some forty licensed venders for the State of Maryland, who derive licenses under him, through this office, to sell tickets in the Maryland Lotteries. D. H. McPHAIL,

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along,"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a slip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone?

LOCAL.

MR. WILLEY'S IMPRISONMENT.—Assistant Marshal Daniel H. Willey, some time early last summer, went, without a warrant, into an Irish house in this city, where there was a drunken scrimmage, and had been a cry of murder. Some of the parties retreated into a room and fastened the door, which the officer opened. There he was resisted by one Leary, whom he struck with his billy, and then conveyed him to the lock up, early in the evening. Next morning he brought him before Justice Parker. At the same time Leary and his friends complained against Willey for an aggravated assault.

Justice Parker discharged Leary—and held Willey for trial, at the Supreme Judicial Court, in September.

He was there found guilty, on the same testimony substantially, as came before Justice Parker, chiefly of inmates of the house, and was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs amounting in all to about $50, we believe.—At the late term of the Court of Common Pleas, at Exeter, Hon. Amos Tuck, as Mr. Willey's counsel, moved for his release from judgement; but as he had not been committed at all, the Court could take no action in the matter—and was forced to order him to comply with the terms of his sentence.—Rather than pay the fine, he took board with Deputy Sheriff Adams, on Saturday last, where he will probably remain till the next term of the Court, which commences on the third Tuesday of June. It would not take long to raise the sum necessary to liberate Mr. Willey, among those who deem his case a hard one, if such a contribution was at all necessary—but he prefers, we presume, to let things take their own course. Mr. Willey is an excellent boot-maker, and can, without much trouble, have his seat transferred to his new boarding place; and we have no doubt he will find Sheriff Adams a most agreeable landlord.

Officer Adams himself has had some experience in arresting rioters, and particularly in being resisted and assaulted. A case tried at the same term of the court with Willey's case, originated in a drunken assault on officer Adams. The assault was clearly proved,—but the prisoner went clear on a lawyer's quibble, whether the rowdy struck him as a Constable, or as a Police officer;—and the jury was about as soft in the one case as the other. In both cases, they leaned in favor of the rowdies, and against the officers.

LYCEUM.—The last lecture of the season before the Mechanics' Lyceum will be delivered this evening, by Wendell Phillips, Esq., of Boston.

☞ The Lecture Committee of the Mercantile Library Association have already commenced making arrangements for a course of Lectures next winter. It is their intention to engage, if possible, a corps of lecturers who have never appeared in this city, and at the same time obtain men of established reputation as scholars and orators.

☞ The Peak Family will give only one concert in this city. It will take place tomorrow evening, at the Temple.

☞ William Fabyan and Frank H. Betton, of Newington, and Alfred Hanscom of this city, left this city on Monday for Lawrence City—Kansas.

Worse than the "old clothes' concerts," which hang their huge bonnet banners upon every wall, "Gift Concerts" still infest the musical atmosphere. One is announced in Portsmouth, N. H., in which Mr. Satter, the pianist, is to play; the gifts range from sleeve buttons to a horse and buggy. A friend, in sending us the programme, says upon the margin: "What a pity that Art's high priests are found serving in menageries!"—Dwight's Musical Journal.

The above we cut from a leading Boston Musical paper, of April 5th. Of course the "friend" who sent the programme with marginal notes, was a resident of this city; and probably had some pique against Mr. Satter. Without entering upon any defence of Gift Concerts at all, we will simply say, that if musquitoes don't "infest" the natural atmosphere this summer any more than those entertainments have "the musical atmosphere," why window "bars" will be at a discount.—We have never known of but four gift concerts, and they have all been given in this city. As to Mr. Satter, he is of age, let him speak for himself; but if newspaper fame is of any account with him, this notice must please him, as going to prove his importance and popularity in the musical world.

THE OLD NORTH MILL-POND.*

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

Rippling, rippling on memory's shore,
Comes the sound of waters evermore—
Comes in the dreams of quiet night,
Comes in the day's effulgent light,
Comes with the thoughts of years bygone,
Thrilling my heart with its monotone,—
Thrilling my heart with emotions fond,
As I think of the dear old North Mill-Pond.

There are lakes which glow neath warmer skies,
There are waves which shine in grander guise,
There are mightier seas, and loftier streams
Than this meandering through my dreams,
But none for me have a stronger claim
Than the humble one with its humble name,
That has drawn my muse from its flights beyond
To bathe its wings in the North Mill-Pond.

I've passed far on life's devious track—
Onward—still onward—but, looking back
O'er a weary landscape of cares and tears,
A boy by a silvery stream appears,
Who smiles as he stands in the sun's bright ray
As I smiled in glad boyhood's day,
Ere the bitter lesson of life I conned
And left the side of the North Mill-Pond.

Oh blessed alchymy of youth,
That holdest the mirror up to truth,
And all that makes the young heart blest
Is on the polished plate impressed;
Each scene by young affection traced
Is vivid still and undefaced,
Drawing me back with a loving bond
Again to the bank of the North Mill-Pond.

The grave yard lies o'er the water blue
The old grave yard which my boyhood knew;
The white stones gleam by the hillock green,
And nameless mounds strew the space between;
And sweetly they rest in their dreamless sleep
Whom the graves in their motherly bosoms keep,
Recalled and held in affection fond
As they rest by the side of the North Mill-Pond.

'Twas beautiful when the eve was still
To list to the drone of the distant mill,
As it rose and fell on the summer air,
In the dewy darkness resting there;
Its tones were words to my youthful ear
My heart was soothed with their better cheer,
And was borne away to scenes beyond
The margin green of the North Mill-Pond.

And when in the north the lightning shone
From out the gathering tempest's throne,
In the hush of the winds ere they woke from rest,
To foam o'er the water's placid breast,
I loved to stand mid the shadows dark
The muttering thunder's voice to hark,
And my sad soul to its music did respond,
As I sat by the side of the North Mill-Pond.

'Tis here again with its early note,
Again on its beautous tide I float;
I bathe once more in its crystal bright,
And sport with the skaters in rapid flight,
And fish for minnows beneath its waves
From the broad flat stone which the water laves,
All, all are here in remembrance fond,
And my heart is glad for the North Mill-Pond.

Thus rippling, rippling on memory's shore,
Comes the sound of waters evermore!
Oh, sounds of delight, my spirit hears
And treasures the words of those distant years—
Ere care had deadened or sorrow pressed
To ruffle my buoyant bosom's rest—
When hope was bright nor knew despond
By the smiling and beautiful North Mill-Pond.

*Portsmouth, N. H.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Herald's advices from Callao of March 13th, state that business was rapidly improving. It was reported that the British Admiral had received orders to seize the Chincha Islands, and hold them as security for the payment of the debt due to Great Britain by Peru. The truth of the rumors was doubted by many.

Castilla ruled nearly alone, and was, in fact, a Dictator. Distinguished Peruvians advocated a union of the South American Republics with the United States. Castilla had issued a decree, which will go into effect on the 6th of May for the suppression of the Coolie and slave trade. There was some yellow fever at Callao.

By the barque Abby, arrived yesterday, we have Rio Janeiro dates of March 16, Pernambuco 1st, Bahia 3d, Buenos Ayres 4th, and Montevideo 7th.

Cholera was very rife at Pernambuco, and 100 persons died daily from its attacks.

Of the Africans seized lately on board the Boston schooner Mary Smith, by order of the Brazilian government, 60 died of hunger and thirst before reaching Bahia, and 141 have perished since.

The election for President in Montevideo passed off quietly, and Senor De Gabriel Pareira was returned by a large majority.

At Rio Janeiro cholera was still lingering, the deaths averaging ten a day.

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—Affairs in Mexico.—we have advices from Vera Cruz to the 22d, and Mexico to the 19th of April. The country was in a more peaceful state, and communication between the capital and other places was uninterrupted. Tamarez had escaped in disguise on board the English war ship Penelope. The church property had been finally seized by the military, the Bishop having refused to surrender it up. It is said that he had previously offered Comonfort $600,000 to have the decree of confiscation revoked.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn by the Bangor Whig that a young man named Jeremiah Hangley, was killed Friday, at his father's house on one of the streets in the rear of the gas-works. He was at work, with other men under the house, in preparations for constructing a cellar kitchen, and having just taken away one of the posts, was passing out under the sill at one corner, when the building lurched to that side and crushed him to death instantly. He was about 20 years of age.

Cream Curling Fluid,

FOR THE HAIR.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CTS.

THIS is a new and valuable discovery, and is more highly prized than any other preparation in use. It has already become a leading article of the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Toilets; and will become more so, as its great value becomes known.

It will assist to curl the hair in a most beautiful manner, without any glutinous substance whatever; will give the hair a fine glossy appearance; will remove all dandruff from the head and keep the scalp healthy and clean, and thereby render those who use it less subject to diseases of the brain; will prevent the hair from falling off, and cause it to grow where it has already fallen off by disease or age; will keep the hair healthy, soft and thick set; will relieve the headache in a very short time, and hence it is greatly prized by those troubled with this complaint. Where the hair has been changed to White or Grey, by sickness, fever, &c it will so act upon the roots as to restore it to a healthy condition, and in a short time it will assume its natural color and remain so.

EXTENSIVE FIRE AT QUEBEC.—We learn from the Chronicle that on the 16th inst. a fire broke out in the lower part of the city, in the warehouse occupied by Messrs. Walker & Berry, which destroyed that building, together with Messrs Tweddell's forge and finishing shop and either burnt or damaged fourteen houses and stores. Among the latter were Rayner's buildings, Mr. Morris's house, Mrs. Fleming's boarding house, Tweddell's buildings, Armstrong's ship-smiths establishment, Mrs. Callaher's tavern, and Tate's grocery. Messrs. Walker & Berry's loss is estimated at £1500, on which they have insurance, and there was £750 insurance on the buildings.—Rayner's buildings are insured for £1000, Tweddell's for about the same amount, and there was £900 insurance on one or two other buildings. With the exception of those insured, the loss will fall heavily on the sufferers—some sixty families—they having lost or had damaged by hasty removal nearly every article of furniture they possessed.

MUSTARD AND PEPPER.—The English papers report a suit brought before Lord Campbell at the Warwick Assizes by a laboring man against a clergyman of the Church of England, for damage sustained from the dogs of the vicar. The plaintiff was badly bitten in the leg by two dogs belonging to the defendant, so that he was incapacitated for work some two months. Tee dogs are of the terrier breed, and bore the characteristic names of "Mustard" and "Pepper." The jury assessed the damages to the laborer at about three hundred dollars. The clergyman and his wife gave the cars a good character, but the neighbors reported several instances of their ferocity. The judge decided that a man must pay damages if he kept a dog accustomed to bite mankind.

Hall's Journal of Health says emanations from cellars do not kill in a night; if they did, universal attention would be forced to their proper management; but it is certain from the very nature of things, that unclean, damp and mouldy cellars, with their sepulchral fumes, do undermine the health of multitudes of families, and send many of their members to an untimely grave. Dr. Hall disapproves of cold bathing in winter.

GRAHAM'S BAD HEALTH.—Some of the Sunday papers say that Graham (of the St. Nicholas homicide) was carried from the State Prison (Sing Sing) on Saturday on a litter, and all have represented him as being in very poor health. A gentleman of Brooklyn saw him leave the prison on Saturday, accompanied by two ladies, and he was apparently in excellent health and spirits!—New York Times.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OF
FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the north-east, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, affords a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from 50 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of,—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their conquest land of over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and if notice of such default be given one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Rearing Men.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers will be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of hay-harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to NAVAL FORTIFICATIONS.—The late Robert L. Stevens, who died in New York recently, was commissioned, by the United States Government, some ten or twelve years since, to build an immense Steam Battery for Harbor defence. The proportions of this projected work work were enormous, and the outlay has been in proportion. Being built under the superintendence of the Government it is quite impossible to state, understandingly, her propelling or projectile force. It is understood, however, that this Battery is no less than 400 feet in length, by 70 feet in width, and that her armament will be of fearful magnitude. This curious piece of machinery is being constructed in a Dry Dock near the ferry at Hoboken, within a close fence, and great secresy has been maintained in reference to its peculiarities. The understanding is, that the vessel is to built of thick plates of sheet-iron, selected with great care in Wales, its stem and stern are clipper-built with rudders at both ends, flat-bottomed, with a large wheel in the middle to act as the propelling power. Rumor further says, that the vessel will measure six thousand tons; will be pierced on each side for thirty guns, heavy calibre, and be provided with large furnaces for heating shot. There will be also on stem and stern decks, four large revolving "Peace-Makers;" it is to have no masts. Its engines, also, for propulsion, are of peculiar construction. It will be ball and bomb-proof, and the hull will not only be divided into compartments, but will be literally comprised of two strong and distinct vessels, one setting within other. The professed intention is to locate this vessel in the Harbor of New York, midway between the Battery and Staten Island. Several years have already passed since the contract for this vessel was given to Mr. S. In this time some eight hundred thousand dollars have been appropriated by the Government for its construction.

THE BLOOMERS.—The ladies, Heaven bless them, of some of the southern and western cities, are not so patient as ours of sweeping the mud from the sidewalks, with skirts far too extensive to be held up by the hand through the whole of their circumference.—Bloomers have made their appearance lately in many places. One is noticed now in Philadelphia, a "Miss Lydia Sayer," Doctress of Medicine from Washington City, who walked through Chesnut street in full bloomer costume, of which the Philadelphia Argus says—"A more befitting and beautiful dress we have never seen." If the man of the moon had come down at noon, there could not have been a greater crowd of impertinent gapers of all ages and genders than followed this presumptuous lady. Nothing of that sort must be done in a free country. The waste of lady's dress goods by the street sweeping fashion—to say nothing of it as a matter of taste—amounts to more than it costs to support the army and navy of the United States but there is no help for it. The foreign manufacturers must live, and the native ninnies must have the privilege of hooting at oddities, or they would die.—Boston Chron.

GAINERS BY THE WAR.—The New York Evening Post is of the opinion that "the greatest gainers by the war will be the various races of Christians which inhabit the Ottoman empire. Their condition was becoming gradually better, and they were rising step by step to an essential equality in rank and consideration with the Mahommedans, but the war and the influence of the allies have hastened this process, till now all civil or political distinctions on account of religion are abolished."

MUSIC IN SCHOOL.—There is usually but very little trouble in government, where the scholars are deeply engaged in their studies or school exercises, and especially if at the same time, the feelings of the parents are enlisted.

A great portion of the disorder and insubordination in our schools, has its origin in a want of interest in the school exercises. He is the successful disciplinarian, who can excite and maintain the necessary interest. As one of these varieties, I may mention the exercise of vocal music in school. As a means of keeping alive the interest in a school, it is very important. Music is the heart, and though capable of being grossly perverted, (and what gift of God is not?)—its natural tendency is to elevate the affections, to soothe the passions, and to refine the taste.

"The Germans have a proverb," says Bishop Potter, "which has come down from the days of Luther, that where music is not, the devil enters." As David took his harp, when he would cause the evil spirit to depart from Saul, so the Germans use it to expel obduracy from the hearts of the depraved. In their schools for the reformation of juvenile offenders, (and the same remark might be applied to those of our own country,) music has been found one of the most effectual means of inducing docility among the stubborn and vicious.

Almost any teacher can introduce music into his school; because he will find if he cannot sing, that it will only require a little encouragement to induce the scholars to undertake to learn themselves. It will consume but very little time, and it is always that time which, if not employed in singing, would otherwise be unemployed or misemployed. It is the united testimony of all who have judiciously introduced singing into their schools, that it is among the best instrumentalities for the promotion of good feeling and good order.—Mass. Musical Journal.

A large body of hackmen were brought before Mayor Wood, in New York, charged with importuning persons to ride in their vehicles to and from the various railroad stations, steamboat and ship landings. They were mulcted in fines varying from $2 to $6, and threatened with the extreme punishment of the law for the next offence.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LOTTERIES.
BALTIMORE, April 18, 1856.

THE undersigned, Commissioner of Lotteries of the State of Maryland, being in receipt daily of letters from various portions of the country, making inquiry as to Lottery Schemes, with which the country is flooded, and which purport to be "decided by the drawings of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries," takes this method to answer all such letters of inquiry, and inform the public that all Lotteries purporting to be decided by the Maryland Lotteries are gross frauds; that certain parties who style themselves Morris & Co., and pretend to be Managers or Sole Agents for the Grand Charter Lotteries at Cleaveland, Ohio, are impostors, and said lottery a fraud, having neither legal nor presumptive existence; and that another fictitious firm, styled Murry & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, are also imposters, and all lotteries which they profess to be managers or agents for, are also frauds.

RICHARD FRANCE, of this city, is the Contractor for drawing the Maryland Lotteries. The business is conducted under the firm of R. FRANCE & Co., as Managers, and they have no sole agents in the city of Baltimore. There are, however, some forty licensed venders for the State of Maryland, who derive licenses under him, through this office, to sell tickets in the Maryland Lotteries.

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

Under this head we begin this day to reprint, from the North American Review for April, 1855, an able and conclusive article on the physiological effects of alcoholic liquors. This republication is made by the special permission of the editor of the North American Review,—and will not, of course, affect unfavorably the circulation of that work,—but will extend the circulation of a useful article among persons who would otherwise not see it.

Dr. Carpenter's Essay is well known, as a scientific argument for teetotalism.—A writer in the Westminster Review attempts to show up Carpenter's Doctrine in his Essay, as an error. This attempt has been copied, wholly or in part, into 50 or 100 newspapers in this country, and highly commended in some of them as a conclusive argument in favor of rum drinking.

Now, the North American Review turns the tables on the Westminster, shows up the error of the attempt, and demolishes its theory, in the following articles, to which we invite attention.

CHAPTER I.

1. PRIZE ESSAY on the Use and Abuse of Alcoholic Liquors, in Health and Disease. By Wm. B. Carpenter, M. D., F. R. S. Philadelphia: Blanchard and Lea. 1853. 12mo. pp. 178.

1. THE PHYSIOLOGICAL ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM. Westminster Review, July, 1855.

Whether the doctrine of total abstinence from alcoholic drinks for persons in health is based upon the established facts and principles of physiology, is a question whose scientific interest is second only to its moral importance. It was decided in the affirmative by Dr. Carpenter; and no physiologist appeared to raise any essential objection to his conclusions. A writer in the Westminster Review has, however, recently attempted to reverse his decision; and thus the question is opened anew. Many also profess to agree with the reviewer; and we therefore propose to examine his arguments,—this being the first and sole professedly scientific and logical defence of the habitual use of alcohol, on physiological grounds, which has attracted our attention.

To use the words applied by the reviewer himself to Dr. Carpenter, "If we confine our polemics to statements advanced by him, we limit the sweep of argument, shorten the demand on the reader's patience, and avoid the pitiable nonsense advanced by champions less able." "Let us find the vulnerable points in his argument, and we need not waste blows on those who fight under his banner."

It is unnecessary for our present purpose to give more than a rapid glance at Dr. Carpenter's conclusions. As a warrant for the high scientific reliability of his essay, it need only be said that he is one of the most distinguished of living physiologists; that "he has never allied himself with any Temperance Society, so called"; that he has treated the subject as one of "purely scientific inquiry; and has avoided mixing up any other considerations with those which presented themselves to him as a physiologist and a physician."

It was the condition imposed by the donor of the prize, that the Essay should answer the following questions:—

"1. What are the effects, corporeal and mental, of alcoholic liquors on the healthy human system?

2. Does physiology or experience teach us that alcoholic liquors should form a part of the ordinary sustenance of man, particularly under circumstances of exposure to severe labor, or to extremes of temperature? Or, on the other hand, is there reason for believing that such use of them is not sanctioned by the principles of science or the results of practical observation?

3. Are there any special modifications of the bodily or mental condition of man, short of actual disease, in which the occasional or habitual use of alcoholic liquors may be necessary or beneficial?

4. Is the employment of alcoholic liquors necessary in the practice of medicine? If so, in what diseases, or in what forms and stages of disease, is the use of them necessary or beneficial?"

In reply to the first question, Dr. Carpenter shows that alcohol irritates and corrugates the healthy tissues, impedes the solidification of fibrine, produces changes in the red corpuscles of the blood, and causes a temporary exaltation of the nervous power. He also gives the phenomena and pathology of alcoholic intoxication, and specifies the diseases produced by the excessive use of alcohol in the nervous system, the alimentary canal, and special organs, besides general disorders of nutrition, diminished power of sustaining injuries from disease or accident, liability to various epidemic diseases, gout and rheumatism, and morbid affections of the heart and arteries. He also states, that "no life-insurance office will accept an insurance on an individual whose habits are known to be intemperate," experience having shown that such habits greatly shorten life, as for instance, in the admitted fact that nearly three times as much sickness occurs among those soldiers serving in India who are not, as among those who are, members of temperance societies. From all these facts, Dr. Carpenter concludes that alcohol has an injurious effect upon the healthy human system.

In answer to the second question, the author shows that the power of enduring bodily and mental fatigue is diminished by alcoholic liquors; and that the power of enduring cold and heat, and of resisting morbid influences, is not increased by them, as is often asserted. They produce a temporary elevation of temperature, if taken into the stomach while fasting; but wholesome food containing some proportion of oleaginous elements generates still greater and far more permanent caloric effects. Dr. Carpenter concludes that "the habitual use of alcoholic liquors, in moderate, or even in very small quantities, is not merely unnecessary for the maintenance of bodily and mental vigor, but is even unfavorable to the permanent enjoyment of health, though it may for a time appear to contribute to it."

Dr. Carpenter admits, in reply to the third question, that in some emergencies, and where a single great effort is to be made, alcohol may prove a stimulus capable of aiding in securing the result. That its use, however, is not the best method even in such cases, is shown to be the fact; for the secondary injurious effects are experienced in these, as well as in other circumstances. It is admitted by Dr. Carpenter, that in certain exceptional cases of debility of the stomach, and in certain infirmities of old age, some benefit may be permanently derived from alcoholic drinks in small quantities; but it is impossible to decide a priori in favor of such a practice in any given case, and its adoption is a dangerous experiment. We remark, however, that he who, whether old or young, has a permanent debility of the stomach, cannot be regarded as possessing a "healthy human system."

The fourth question Dr. Carpenter answers in the affirmative; and specifies the morbid conditions in which alcoholic drinks may be administered medicinally. But as our present concern is with the use of alcohol in health, we here suspend our sketch of the Essay.

NEW HAMPSHIRE CHURCHES.

We have received the following communication, from the author of the above-named valuable book;—and are sorry to perceive that he is not yet putting money in his purse by the publication. We say not yet, because we do not believe it is yet too late to sell the book to advantage, though a previous subscription, for a work of this kind, is far better.

The work is one of real interest and great value. The ministers and members of the orthodox churches in New Hampshire, with the thousands of families connected with their congregations, are therein furnished with an accurate history of their own rise and progress, prepared with great care and much labor.

Five or six good canvassers, or double that number, who should go speedily and faithfully through that denomination in the State, would soon sell the present edition, which needs only a judicious but vigorous pushing, such as the periodical canvassers use every day.

For the Chronicle.

CLAREMONT, N. H., April 22, 1856.

Messrs Editors:—As you kindly lent me the cut of the "Old North" to embellish my book withal, and have said a good word about it, I owe to you and the Portsmouth people some explanation in regard to the histories of its churches. I depended on Mr. Moore, but he was hindered, and finally left, and Mr. Whiting took his place, and he could do but little in the brief time remaining but to add a few important items to the sketch prepared, by the hand of another—a sketch beautiful in its way. It was then too late for me to take up the matter. It would do me great pleasure to supply the defects you notice in another edition, but that is more than my fondest hopes anticipate. The people do not, some of them, understand this book to be any thing but a publisher's hoax, got up to filch their pockets withal. They do not know the years of solicitude which have been passed by ministers and many members of churches and other friends of religion for just such a work. They do not know the labor the book has cost both their own pastors and the compiler. Above all they do not know that here is an amount of information that is not to be met anywhere else. They do not understand that the case is as if one church should get up its own history, as is sometimes done less fully than in this book, and should sell copies to pay the expense, at 10 or 15 cents apiece; while these sketches, so brought together as to form a history of our churches in the State, from 1638 to 1856, are presented them in a handsome volume for less than 7-8 of a cent apiece. If they did, it seems to me they would say, "we will take the present edition at once, and call for another." If they did, some churches that number members by hundreds and occupy several pages in the book, would not send in a subscription list for the book of less than five copies, lest the "boasting" concerning them in the book should seem in vain.

The book must go or I must take the bread out of "a country pastor's" children's mouths to pay for it. The book will be sold out of the State, if not in it. It is a New Hampshire book—a letter from the father to the son. Will the son give away the letter to strangers with all its loving contents, rather than pay the postage. With much respect

Yours, R. F. LAWRENCE.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

LOCAL.

MARKET STREET.

Very many have been the changes of occupants of stores on Market street, in this city, within the last year or two—more, we think, than for the ten years previous. Let us see. To begin, at the head of the street stands Mr. Peyser, the enterprising dry and fancy goods dealer. He has recently taken the store occupied by Mr. Ilsley, next to that on the corner of Daniel street occupied by himself, and opened the two into one—making a commodious and handsome store. He is in one of the best places in the city, and (as will be seen by his "circular" in our advertising columns) is ready to sell his large new stock of goods very cheap.

Mr. J. H. Foster, who succeeded his father in the book business, comes next. He has made no outward change in his business arrangements; and needs to make none, being always up to the times.

The nest of lawyers overhead these stores has been broken up, and the premises are now occupied by a private family.

Next comes Mr. Wingate N. Ilsley, in the store for many years occupied by Mr. Stephen H. Simes. Mr. Simes has removed only one door down street, to the store vacated by Mr. A. F. Nowell.

Mr. William J. Laighton still occupies the old stand, next; but has advertised to sell out at great bargains. He is one of the most genial and kindest men, but we presume has not made so much money by his long and large trade, as some others, no more fair and honest than he.

Next comes Mr. Albert Laighton, in the store long occupied by Mr. H. A. Bigelow. Mr. Laighton is a model trader for us—and we hope will be enabled to roll out the golden dollars, as readily as he does the "golden numbers" when under the inspiration of his muse. See his advertisement of a new stock of goods.

We don't think of any other changes, on this side the street, until we get down to the old stand of Messrs. William Jones & Son. They have been succeeded by Messrs. Jones & Mendum,—who will not let the high reputation of the store suffer—but will be sure to keep as large and well selected a stock as their predecessors,—of whom, and with whom they gained their knowledge of the business. At the head of their corps of attentive salesman may be found Mr. A. F. Howell—with as bland a smile, as cheerful a greeting, and as prompt attention to callers as when he took all the responsibility of the business in his own store. He is certainly the of the laughing philosphers, who wisely "make the best" of everything.

Mr. Oliver F. Gerrish, next door, has succeeded Mr. John Yeaton in the grocery business—and we trust his sales and profits may be, in comparison to those of former years, as a corporeal developement is to that of his predecessor.

Messrs. Moses & Downie, the enterprising merchant tailors come next. They have just increased their facility for doing business, by taking two stores into one; and have much improved the arrangement of their large store and stock.

In the chambers over them, the firm of Brown, Treadwell & Co., furniture manufacturers and dealers, has dissolved,—Mr. S. P. Treadwell retiring. See the advertisement of the new firm.

Next and last on this side, and in this section of the street, is the extensive and well known Monument clothing establishment of Charles E. Myers & Co.,—Mr. Charles E. Simpson having recently become partner in the business. Mr. Simpson has been clerk here for several years, and for his faithfulness, industry and close attention to the business of his employer, richly merits his advancement.

We shall have something to say of the stores on the other side of the street, and perhaps some of those farther down, to-morrow.

☞ Our streets were somewhat disquieted on Monday evening, by drunken and noisy men or boys. In Congress street about half past 9, four of them impeded and offered insults to a woman. It is said nine drunken persons were counted in the street. For this or to of things, some persons would blame the police—but we blame the community, particularly that portion of it which has set its power and influence against temperance efforts,—and by sneers falsehoods, and tricks of various sorts, has done its best to encourage tippling in spite of law and gospel. If we will have the tippling, we must have drunkards.

☞ The Temperance Meeting at the Temple on Monday evening was well attended.—Mr. Fernald offered the opening prayer, and Rev. Messrs. Whiting and Patterson addressed the meeting, with interesting remarks and arguments. A similar meeting is appointed to be held in the same place next Monday evening.

☞ Wendell Phillips, Esq., who was to have delivered the lecture before the Mechanics' Lyceum, last evening, was prevented by sickness from fulfilling his engagement. In consequence there was no lecture. He is expected to close the course, on a future evening.

☞ The Concert by the Peak Family, takes place this evening, at the Temple.—This family of vocalists and campanologians have before visited this city, and on every occasion have been listened to by very large audiences. The Temple to-night will prove that they have lost none of their popularity.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, April 28.

SENATE.—Mr. Hamlin introduced a bill to incorporate the Atlantic and Pacific National Union Railroad Company. He said the bill had been sent to him by an individual whom he did not know. It was referred.

Mr. Brown of Missouri spoke on the Kansas question.

Mr. Stuart of Michigan moved to take up the River and Harbor bills. Rejected.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Two or three members explained their votes for speaker.

The Senate's bill to remit duties on goods, wares, and merchandise, destroyed by fire, was taken up.

The House reconsidered its action overruling the decision of the Chair that the bill did not make appropriation, and was not therefore required to be referred to the Committee of the Whole. The decision of the Chair was then sustained by five majority, and after an unsuccessful motion to make the bill a special order, it was sent to the Committee of the Whole.

The Senate bill amendatory of the act establishing the Circuit Court of California was passed.

Adjourned.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE

ARRIVAL OF THE PERSIA.

The Persia arrived at New York on Tuesday, bringing news from England to the 19th of April, being 7 days later.

The principal features of her news are the closing of the Conferences at Paris—the postponement of the debate in Parliament on the American question until the return of Lord Clarendon—the Civic Banquet given in London to Mr. Dallas—Lord Panmure's explanation why troops are being sent to Canada,—and the slight defeat met by government in the vote against the grant to Maynooth College and of strengthened rumors in consequence that Parliament will shortly be dissolved.

Commercial.—Cotton very active at an advance of 1-8d. Sales for the week 120,000 bales. Market closed firm but less active.

Breadstuffs depressed—Flour declined 6d a 1s; Wheat declined 3d; Corn unchanged.—Weather favorable.

Money tight—Discounts range at 6 a 7 per cent. Consols 93 1-8 a 93 1-4.

American Stocks generally quiet..

ENGLAND.—The Lord Mayor of London entertained Mr. Dallas on Thursday, at the Mansion House, in honor of his arrival as Minister of the United States. Two hundred guests were present. The Lord Mayor toasted Mr. Dallas, prefacing it, and followed with a speech full of generous sentiments toward America.

FRANCE.—Breadstuffs and provisions were declining in France.

The Moniteur announces that the Conference closed its sittings on Thursday. The ratifications will be exchanged at the end of the month. The questions considered at the last sitting were: 1st, Free navigation of the Danube. 2d, Interior regime of the Principalities, and arrangement of the frontiers.—3d, Situation of Christians in Turkey. For these purposes three Commissioners are appointed.

It is reported in Paris that diplomatic movements are on foot respecting Italy. An Austrian Ambassador is to go immediately to Rome on a special mission, and it is rumored that the mission refers to the Concordat, but Italian journals say it relates to the general state of Italy.

LATER FROM THE ISTHMUS.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Empire City, from Havana April 24, arrived this morning.

The Philadelphia, from Aspinwall, with California passengers and mails of March 17, was at Havana. California dates no later.

A terrible affray occurred at Panama April 15, between American transit passengers and the natives, in which the former had 70 killed and 20 wounded. A large amount of the passengers' baggage, and property belonging to the railroad, was destroyed.

The passengers upon whom this outrage was committed were those who left San Francisco March 20, in the Cortez, for San Juan, but were landed at Panama in consequence of the Walker troubles.

Among the wounded brought by the Empire City, is J. H. Putnam of Lowell.

The Savannah (Ga.) Journal says, "The free States are settling down upon an issue in which those who sympathize with the South are likely to be crushed."

On Saturday evening, Joseph Mitchell was found driving a horse and chaise around the streets of East Boston, so drunk as to not only endanger his own life, but also those of other persons. Mr. Mitchell was put up at the station house, and the horse at at a stable.

Nova Scotia potatoes are said to be selling at our wharves for 25 cents a bushel. That perhaps accounts for the generous alacrity with which our market-man allowed us to have a bushel yesterday for 60 cents.—Boston Chronicle.

The New York Crystal Palace is advertised to be sold at auction on the 22d of May. It cost $600,000, and can now be bought for $125,000.

SHOOTING CASE.—On Saturday night last, about eleven o'clock, (says the Claremont, N. H. Eagle,) some young men, while nearly full of "fighting rum," as we have been credibly informed, proceed on the other side of the Connecticut River, went to the house of Dr. Slocum, and called for a man boarding in the house against whom they had some real or imaginary cause of anger. The Dr. informed them that the man was in bed, and hinted in broad terms that it was time for all order loving citizens not necessarily from home to follow his example, and finally told them that he should not call him. The gang, however, insisted upon seeing the man in question, and after some further parley threatened to tear the house down, and commit other outrageous acts upon the premises, if he was not produced forthwith. The Doctor, in reply told them any attempt to break in or tear down the house, would be followed by unpleasant, if not fatal consequences; or in other words he would shoot the first one who made any demonstrations of hostility. The parley continued for some time, which was concluded by a charge of buckshot fired into the legs, below the knee, of one of the assailing party named William Brainard. The party probably not exactly relishing the Doctor's mode of treatment, took up the wounded man and left the vicinity.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid heretofore by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal throw him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agencies of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent, more worthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OVER TWO MILLION ACRES
FARMING LANDS,
In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to make the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at new York along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, are now from twenty to forty miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. Unless the land the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments, as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although valuable lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in cost of transportation, especially when by the aid of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others yearly thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security for the payment of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brought under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,
Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground adjoining, not exceeding $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates. The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings, ready for the Plane and saw.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to DEARADATIONS ON THE MAILS.—To such an extent have the depredations on the mails been carried in the State of Missouri, as to compel the Judge of the United States Court now in session at St. Louis, to bring the subject to the notice of the Grand Jury, and that body has made an investigation. Their inquiries have substantiated a body of facts which it is hoped will enable the Department to trace the evil to its source. The Grand Jury found that the mails are transported, in stages and hacks, in such a careless and unsafe manner as to put all idea of security out of the question. The provisions of the laws for the security of the mails have been entirely disregarded, and robberies are of daily occurrence.—Boston Journal.

It is quite remarkable that this mail trouble comes up in the patriotic and Union-saving State of Missouri—just at the time, too, when there is such an odor of sanctity about the border ruffians.

GEORGE HOUGH, Esq.—A Surprise.—The Concord Statesman says, the office of Mr. Hough was upon ground now covered by Phenix Block; and the Concord Bank was in the slate colored building, in the room now occupied by the Liquor Agency. Mr. Hough once upon a time walked over from his printing office to the bank, took out a note bearing his autograph, walked back to his office, opened the door of a sheet-iron stove, put the note in, closed the stove-door, sat down at that well remembered pine table 2 1-2 by 3 1-2 ft., put spectacles on nose, and proceeded in the reading of a proof-sheet.

Not long afterwards George Kent, Esq., cashier of the bank, walked into the office of Mr. Hough, and placed that identical note on the aforesaid pine table. The good old man was as much astounded as it was possible for so moderate, amiable and unexcitable a gentleman of the Old School to be. He gazed at the paper, as Robinson Crusoe stared at the impression of a human foot in the sand upon the margin of Juan Fernandez; looked from the note to Mr. Kent and from the cashier back to the note; until the truth dawned upon his understanding. The stove had, it seems, a draft so powerful that the note was carried through the funnel into a brick chimney, and thence over the building into Main Street, where it was picked up by Mr. Kent.

So soon as his mind was relieved from the disagreeable surprise, Mr. Hough exclaimed, "Bless me!" and uttered a laugh the mere remembrance of which is exceedingly pleasing.

A GREAT VOYAGE.—Ship Abigail arrived at this port last night, from a whaling voyage, having been absent 44 months. She has taken during that time 329 barrels of sperm oil, 5,153 barrels of whale oil, and 81,500 lbs of bone. At present prices, the aggregate of the voyage would amount to about $195,000.—New Bedford Standard, 22d.

The National Colonization Society have issued an appeal to the puplic for the sum of $15,000, to enable them to establish a settlement on the elevated country of the interior, in the expectation that it will prove more salubrious than that bordering upon the sea, in Liberia.

The Yearly Meeting of Friends at Philadelphia terminated on Thursday without a disruption. There are in the United States 715 churches belonging to the Quakers, and the number of attendants is estimated at 283,000.

WOMAN'S LOVE.—A young man, formerly of this city, says the Newburyport Herald who was arrested last spring and condemned for bigamy, was released one day this week, having served out his time, and was met at the depot by his first wife, whom he had not seen before for several years. The meeting was of a very affectionate character. The young wife forgave his indiscretion, and took him to a clothing store, where she purchased a nice suit of clothes for him, which he donned; when she placed in his hands a purse of three hundred dollars, that she had earned since he had left her bed and board. The next day the re-united and happy couple took the cars for New Hampshire, where among the pure air of the Granite Hills, we trust their cup of connubial bliss may always remain full. For such an expression of affection as this, the words of the poet are altogether too tame:—

"Oh for such love, let rocks and hills
Their lasting silence break."

FAST WOMEN.—Under this head, the Paterson (N. J.) Guardian, says,

Much excitement has been created at West Milford by the elopement of Mrs. Sarah Courson, with David White, of the same place. This is the third time this lady has figured as one of the parties of an elopement. Her first elopement occurred at the age of 20, or thereabouts, when she left her mother's residence with her first lover and went to New York, staid a spell, came back home, never having been married—or at least it is so said, became a mother and resided home about six months or a year, when she went off on a tour with a man named Armstrong, a New Yorker.

She was afterwards married to a Courson, with whom she resided till the 25th of March last, when she again left West Milford to meet the said David White, before spoken of, at Sloatsburg, where the two took the cars and went west, since which time nothing more is known of them. She left her child at West Milford.

This Sarah Jane Courson is one of a family of six sisters named Ryerson, five of whom have left their husbands, and not one of the six live with a lawful husband at the present day; five having eloped, and the only remaining one deserting her husband, or refusing to live with him. We doubt if a case of equal singularity can be found anywhere in the Union.

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

CHAPTER II.

From the North American Review.

We now come to the article in the Westminster Review, which claims entirely to demolish Dr. Carpenter's Essay, and to prove that the habitual moderate use of alcohol is beneficial to the healthy human organism.

In a boastful exordium, the writer would at once prepare his readers to expect the speedy defeat of his antagonist. "We must," says he, "call in the aid of Logic, for we have to combat a fallacy; we must call in the aid of Science, for we have to combat a scientific error." "We have to show that the fears of the moderate are idle." He also bespeaks good-will by the assurance that Dr. Carpenter's argument "staggered" him, "and for a time coerced his assent, until a more exact scrutiny revealed the fons et origo of Dr. Carpenter's error." Professing also to sympathize with the moral aspects of the temperance movement, he says: "Considered as a moral movement, it is difficult to speak of it in terms too laudatory." "We rescue a scientific question, we do not oppose the moral principles of the movement." Indeed, he virtually admits that even total abstinence is very well for the masses. "Nevertheless," he continues, "we shall restrict ourselves to the question of the use of alcohol by moderate and sensible persons. The readers of this Review [the Westminster] are obviously not of the poorer classes. Very few of them are likely to be among the intemperate; to them the teetotal arguments are impertinent."

We propose to institute a somewhat exact scrutiny of the reviewer's arguments, and to show that they are entirely fallacious. We shall endeavor to use only the weapons he has himself put in our hands; since, as he asserts of Dr. Carpenter, "it is with his own weapons he can be overthrown." But whoever makes such pretensions to science and logic, prescribes to himself a most rigid adherence to facts and right reasoning; and, if found deficient in these cardinal points, he must expect precisely such treatment as science and logic may award to him.

The main object of the article under consideration is to prove the two propositions,—first, that alcohol is food; and secondly, that use is not abuse. All the other points raised are merely collateral to these; for if alcohol be food, the inference seems legitimate that its moderate use is beneficial to the healthy human organism, and that therefore abstinence from it is a "physiological error"; and if use is not abuse, and does not necessarily lead to it, the reviewer infers that the effects of an excessive, constitute no valid objection to a moderate, use.

Before proceeding to establish the propositions just stated, however, the writer specifies the 'two vulnerable points" of Dr. Carpenter; namely, "first, the confused conception he entertains of what, strictly speaking, must be called food; and secondly, the fallacy of arguing from abuse to use."

The position of Dr. Carpenter to which the reviewer first objects is, that "alcohol is essentially poisonous." He admits that large doses of it will kill; but this does not prove it to be essentially poisonous, since oxygen is not so, and yet an over-dose of oxygen will kill. He does not, however, inform us in what the essentiality of a poison consists; and since his argument applies no less to arsenic and strychnine than to alcohol,—since these two substances also kill only when taken in an over-dose,—the inquiry need not at all detain us. In this connection he also sneers at idea that the word intoxication, used to express the effects of alcohol, has been adduced to support its claim to be considered as a poison; and remarks that "Philosophy shrugs its shoulders at such proof." We merely remark, that Dr. Carpenter does not adduce this fact as proof, but merely as affording a presumption in favor of the idea that alcohol is a poison,—a presumption which no physiologist will fail to appreciate.

Since our writer argues in favor of the "moderate" use alone of alcohol, it is quite important that our readers should know, at the outset, what his "moderate man" is. "The moderate man," says he, "drinks beer, or wine, at dinner, is not accustomed to anything approaching to intoxication, although he may occasionally take 'more than is good for him,'—which excess he sleeps off that night,—or pays for by a headache next morning, and hears no more of it." And he adds, "If positive science and daily experience warrant any decisive conclusions on this subject, they warrant the conclusion that to such a man alcohol is beneficial."

Now it strikes us as very singular that a writer, professedly scientific, should have inserted in a definition two so indefinite terms as "occasionally" and "accustomed." The former may mean once a year, or once or twice a week, according to the various interpretations of different readers; and surely the "benefit" derived from alcohol by the drinker, when "more than is good for him" is taken, must vary widely with the greater or less frequency of the indulgence. Moreover, we are not informed how often a man must experience "anything approaching intoxication," to be "accustomed" to it. "Strictly reasoning," the whole argument is vitiated by this looseness of expression. Waving this radical defect, however, we find that the position to be proved, when divested of all non-essentials, is this: Positive science and daily experience warrant the conclusion, that if a man drinks beer or wine at dinner, (it being understood, we suppose, that he gets a dinner every day,) yet is not accustomed to anything like intoxication, though he occasionally takes "more than is good for him," but sleeps off the effects that night, or merely feels them in the form of a headache next morning,—to him, though in perfect health, the use of alcohol in this way and to this extent only, is beneficial. For, (1) Alcohol is food; and, (2) Use (such as this) is not abuse, and does not necessarily lead to abuse.

The proposition that alcohol is beneficial where the drinker takes "more than is good" for him, we need not very seriously discuss. Just so often as that amount is taken, we suppose, is not beneficial. The general proposition therefore, that "to such a man alcohol is beneficial," is marred in the very making.

[The reader will be amused, we think, with the Westminster Review's notion, that while the masses had better abstain entirely,—the genteel people who read that review, may safely take a little more than is good for them!]—Ed. Chronicle.

CONGRESS.

He said, Cuba, the last remnant of the gigantic despotism of Spain, is necessary for the protection of our commerce, and for the national repose and security. [i. e the repose of slavery.] We have not our own connectiong link between the Atlantic and Pacific States, and that man is guilty of moral treason who halts about the means of seizing the Isthmus. It must be taken, even at the expense of a war. It is manifest destiny, as well as national necessity. With such remarks as these he occupied the time till the adjournment.

THURSDAY, 30th.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY FOR MAY.—Fetridge & Co., Boston, and J. F. Shores, jr., Portsmouth, have the May number of this sterling periodical. It opens with an exceedingly interesting article, sketching the history of the Kane relief expedition. The Apple Tree Table is an account of original spiritual manifestations, the mystery of which is more simple and satisfactory than such manifestations usually are. A short sketch of Nathan Hale, the martyr spy of the Revolution, Scenes in the Western district, the Spirits in 1692, are entertaining and readable papers. Our relations with England are treated in a sensible and intelligent manner. The number, on the whole, is quite equal to the high reputation which this journal has already established. Putnam's Monthly is now published by Messrs. Dix & Edwards, New York.

The same publishers have just issued the May number of Household Words, a mothly journal conducted by Charles Dickens. This periodical always comes to us freighted with good things for the entertainment and instruction of the household. It is always fresh, vigorous and attractive. The present number contains three chapters of a "Rogue's Life," a tale issuing in numbers, and about half finished.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "moti" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along."—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself! Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for a Spring Complaint; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone?

LOCAL.

MARKET STREET,—No. Two.

We mentioned on Wednesday, the changes which had been made in the occupancy of the stores on the eastern side of Market St., as far as Bow St.; and also drew attention to a few of the store-keepers who had made no change. Of course we confined our remarks to those who avail themselves of the advantages of using our advertising columns—for it is but fair to infer that all who desire or appreciate such mention, are willing to pay for it. We have now something to say respecting the opposite side of the street.

On the western side of the street, fewer changes have been made. Mr. Wm. H. Foster has just sold out his apothecary store, on the corner of Market street, to Mr. J. N. Maffit Hill, who has had considerable experience in the business, is a neat store-keeper, and is always courteous and attentive.

Dr. B. Hutchings remains at his old stand, next door, apparently not any the worse for wear, but rather better—as ready to deal out health-giving and life-preserving compounds as ever. May it be long ere his shadow is less.

Mr. Wm. B. Lowd sells and binds books, &c.; and Mr. J. Woodman Moses (of the Piscataqua Clothing Establishment,) accurately fits clothing to his fellow-men, as usual: at their old stands, next adjoining.

Farther down, Messrs. N. T. Moulton & Son, tailors, are actively engaged in doing their part to improve the outer man. The senior partner of the firm has cut garments for two or three generations—during which time all sorts of fashions have been exhausted several times—but he has always kept up with the changes. Long may he wave!

On the corner of Ladd street, long the stand of Mr. J. Chaplin Carr, Mr. Isaac Hahn is immediately to open his New England lace and embroidery store. This is an excellent stand, and we doubt not that he will improve its advantages.

On the opposite corner of Ladd street, Messrs. Bennett & Treadwell have one of the largest, best filled, and best ordered hard ware stores in the State—and as they do not fail to let the people know it by judicious and liberal advertising, they do an extensive business.—Their enterprise merits success, and we have no doubt is well rewarded.

Mr. I. B. Fonda comes next, with a large stock of fancy goods and millinery. He is one of the best fellows in the world, to trade with; and Miss Fernald, who has charge of the millinery department, is said to be authority in such matters.

Mr. J. C. Carr has taken the commodious and elegant building, recently occupied by Mr. Oren Bragdon, and has now one of the best stores and stands in the city; and we have no doubt will do a much larger business with far more comfort than in his former limited quarters. Most business men necessarily spend the greater portion of their time in their places of business; and to us it as absurd for them to neglect to arrange workshops or stores with a view to comfort and health (as the majority do), as for the over-anxious housewife to tolerate an inconvenient or contracted kitchen, while two or three rooms, the best part of the house, well finished and furnished, are shut up "for company." We like the plan of having good roomy stores.

Mrs. Trickey's bonnet and fancy goods establishment is next, and is as popular with the ladies as ever. Her advertisement of new goods will be found in our columns.—Many of our fair readers would not consider a bonnet to be a bonnet, unless it came from Mrs. Trickey's—and we think many of them can hardly support the name, (which signifies a "covering for the head,") even though they do come from that renowned establishment, so small and frail are they. A fellow in the newspapers, the other day, called them "cranial rosettes." We cannot say that we admire the new style of bonnets—their long deep capes remind us too much of the old petticoat lamps.

Mr. Henry C. Gerrish sells refreshments; Messrs. D. Knight & Co., deal in hats; with Dr. Samuel Baker's well-known dental establishment above their heads; and Messrs. Hill & Carr manufacture and sell all sorts and any quantity of boots and shoes; Mr D. Kimball keeps his apothecary store; and B. Cheever & Son their tailoring establishment—all as usual, to the satisfaction of an extensive patronage, without particular change in their business, that we know of; though probably not without "change" accruing therefrom.

Mr. Lafayette Laighton's "tip-top" grocery store comes next—and he can't be beat.

Mr. E. A. Stevens' extensive and well arranged stove, house-furnishing and gas-fixture store, is next,—a capital place to buy.—

Messrs. Mathes & Varrell's wholesale and retail grocery and crockery ware store comes next—where this enterprising and attentive firm furnish the best goods in their line, as cheap as the cheapest.

Mr. Moses H. Tilton's well assorted grocery store, next, finishes this section of the street.

Farther down, Messrs. Lord & Folsom have succeeded Mr. Eben'r. Lord, in the furniture and upholstery business; and they are fully competent to maintain the high reputation which has long been borne by the establishment.

On the opposite side of the street, Mr. Uriah Blaisdell has taken the store formerly occupied by Mr. Nathan Jones—and is always ready to aid those who wish an assortment of articles for housekeeping.

Below, Messrs. Raynes & Neil have a large and varied stock of ship-chandlery and hardware goods, &c. Being obliging to all, enterprising and attentive to business, they are very popular, and of course successful.

The old firm name of E. F. Sise & Co., further down, still remains, though its members have changed. There is no better place than this to buy crockery ware, &c.

THE FACTS.—A correspondent who heard the Willey and Leary trial, says that from the evidence in the case, Willey's only fault or error in the premises, was the entry without a warrant; but that aside from this error, there was occasion enough for all the force he used. Leary and a woman testified, very swiftly, but not very credibly, that no one attacked the officer, and that all was quiet. But two other witnesses, much more reliable, testified positively to a violent attack by Leary and company.

Our correspondent justifies the jury in their verdict, on the ground solely, that by entry without a warrant he became technically the aggressor,—but thinks Leary and Co. deserved even heavier blows,—and deems the lightness of the fine imposed, evidence that the judge thought so too.

We deem the verdicts, in this case and in Mr. Adams's, as quite instructive to all officers, not to interfere in drunken rows, but to let the combatants beat each other to their heart's content.

STUMBLING BLOCKS.—A correspondent complains of the stone step in the sidewalk at the N. W. corner of the North Church, and of a similar step in Court street, as unnecessary, inconvenient and dangerous stumbling blocks, which the city government ought not to permit.

We have before noticed the one next the North Church,—and think it was better as it was before, viz. an inclined plane, leading the pedestrian gently and easily up or down.

It may be said, that in Boston, such things are found at the corners of almost all the streets, and that no one complains of them.—It is true they abound there, and it may be true that no complaint is made; but that is no reason why we should have them, when we can do better.

The Boston stumblings are a part of their system of paving, which is to round up their streets in the middle, and have gutters on each side, close to the side walk. This makes it needful to have a high curb stone, and of course to have an awkward step at the corners.

But we hollow our streets, and let the water run in the middle, which system we have proved to be the best for us. In this system we have no need of the steps, or stumbling blocks, and ought not to be troubled with them.

☞ It will be seen that Mrs. Wentworth's long wished-for Concert will take place on Tuesday evening next.

LATER FROM NICARAGUA.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The steamship Orizaba arrived here about 7 o'clock this evening, with dates from San Juan, Nicaragua, of the 21st inst.

The defeat of Col. Schlessinger at Santa Rosa is confirmed. About 70 of his men are reported as missing. During his trial by court martial, while on parole, he deserted, and it is supposed he went over to the Costa Ricans, having sold himself to them before the battle.

On the 7th inst., the Costa Ricans took possession of Rivas with 2000 men.

On the 11th, Wiker, with 600 men, attacked them, and after a fight of 17 1-2 hours, was obliged to abandon the city for want of ammunition. The loss of the Costa Ricans is said to be 600 killed and a large number wounded, while Walker's loss was 50 or 60 killed, and about 80 wounded and missing.

El Nicaraguense, Walker's organ, claims it as a glorious victory.

It is said that the Costa Ricans, on taking possession of Virgin Bay, fired indiscriminately on every person they saw, killing 8 or 10 American citizens in the employ of the Transit Company.

On the 10th, Lieut. Green, with 15 men, had an encounter with about 200 Costa Ricans, 18 miles above the mouth of the Serapiqui, killing 27 of them, and dispersing the rest. The American loss was only one killed and two wounded.

With the exception of a few prominent men in the former legitimate party, the Nicaraguans acted with Walker, much to the disappointment of the Costa Ricans.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—Monday afternoon, Samuel Evans, 17 years of age, was found in the Willow Room of Card Room No. 2, on the Amoskeag Mills, lying senseless, horribly mangled and torn by the machine called the cotton opener. Dr. Crosby thought his chances for recovery small.—Manchester Mirror.

TO MY JACK-PLANE.

The following lines were addressed to an old jack-plane, by one in whose service it had been for half-a-dozen years. — Newburyport Herald.

Well, Jack, my lad, you'r growing old,
You bear the marks of age ;
Your story soon will all be told—
But then, poor Jack, you long shall hold
A place on memory's page.

There 's many a mark upon your face,
And "bruise" upon your "front ;"
For in life's crowding, scrambling race,
(And ours has been no jog-trot pace,)
You've always borne the brunt.

We're bad to "rough it"—you and I ;
The work that we have done
Has worn us down a little, Jack ;
But those who follow in our track,
May glide more smoothly on.

What though by contact with the world,
In pushing on, my lad,
You're sadly scarred and bruised and worn,
And of your pristine beauty shorn—
Should such thoughts make you sad ?

'Tis only on the surface, Jack—
You're "sound and good" at heart;
'Tis but "the meaner sort of clay"
That time has from us worn away,
And left the better part.

Then push along, my worthy friend,
While life s; ins out her thread ;
There 's little time for rest or rest,
Until the sentence, "dust to dust,"
Is written o'er thy head.

West Newbury, April 18, '56. C. T.

WHAT SORT OF MEN STAY IN THE TRADE ? Here is a sample of a large class. Mrs. Kinlove, of Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, was found drowned, and the jury rendered a verdict of "Death from supposed suicide"—Her husband is the keeper of a low groggery, which is conducted in a manner which was very generally censured by the neighborhood. —Mrs. Kinlove herself condemned the establishment, and the husband admitted that she said, the night before she disappeared, "It is a pity the house would not take fire and burn up." On the occasion of the inquest over the body, the husband "evinced the most obtuse indifference with regard to the circumstances."—Prohibitionist.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OVER TWO MILLION ACRES
OF FARMING LANDS,
In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.
THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the north-east, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Gamma and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.
The soil is a dark, rich mould, from five to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.
Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.
Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one acre and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.
Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.
Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton ; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.
Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of ;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. The cost of send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them ; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.
The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found near the water courses the distance to market is far greater and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must ultimately be borne by, and reduced price of their products ; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.
The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.
PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.
The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments ; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.
Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.
As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Payments can be made the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.
READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,
Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Rockford or Freeport.
They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be constructed at the proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.
Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.
It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in hand and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.
Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, etc. with other matters of other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to
WM. BLACKSTONE,
Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. R. Co.,
Office up to the list of May, 52 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.: after that date in the New Stone Passenger Depot, So. Water st. a8 6m

CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER CASES.—The other day sat side by side, in the Peace Conference at Paris, Baron Manteuffel, plenipotentiary of Prussia, and M. Walewski, minister of France. In 1831 the former was Chief of Police at Berlin and had orders to arrest "an adventurer styling himself Walewski, and pretending himself delegated by the Poles to the French nation." Walewski on that occasion narrowly escaped being hung by the Russians in fact as he afterwards was in effigy.—Eastern Argus.

POSTAGE WITH GREAT BRITAIN.—An arrangement, which goes into effect on the first of May, has just been concluded between Mr. Campbell, our Postmaster General, and the Postmaster General of Great Britain and the Provinces, for the registration of valuable letters to and from Great Britain. The registration of letters to that country will be five cents, making the rate on a single letter, registered, twenty-nine cents.

A ship of 1100 tons, called the "Expounder," was launched at Charlestown, Mass. last week. The ship has a beautiful figure-head representing Daniel Webster.

INFIDELITY.—The Washington Union says it has no faith in the honesty of the New York Herald's pro-slavery professions.

NORFOLK, 30th.—Mr James, the British Consul at this post, has received from Lord Clarendon an order to distribute $1000 among the benevolent institutions having charge of the widows and orphans of those persons who died during the recent epidemic.

NEW YORK, April 30.—There is reason to believe the reports of loss of life at the Panama massacre are not equal to the facts. A telegraph despatch received just previous to the sailing of the steamer, stated that two days after the riot eight bodies had been buried—a majority of them Americans.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher only pledged himself to procure 25 muskets, for Kansas,—but Bishop Hughes went far, far ahead of Plymouth Church, for he pulled out of his deep pocket (the writer of this saw it all) five hundred dollars to buy bayonets for Ireland!

ELLSWORTH, ME.—The Eastern Argus informs us, that the Catholic Church in Ellsworth, a fine building, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night, together with a small, unocupied dwelling house in the rear of the church, owned by Mr. Turner. No fire had been in the church for more than a week, and it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Ellsworth American states, that in that town on Fast day, Rev. Mr. Prince took occasion to preach a sermon that hinged somewhat on temperance and the repeal of the liquor law, which so offended three of his hearers that they arose and left the house in a huff. One of the parties was the collector of customs at that place, another, one of Gov. Wells' sheriffs, and the third a whig colonel, who, according to the American, was rather more than straight as he disappeared through the door.

ADVENT CHAPEL.—A new Advent Chapel in Charter street, Newburyport, was dedicated on Wednesday. The Herald describes it thus:

The building is 60 by 36 feet, and 22 feet post; setting high enough from the ground to have a dry, airy basement vestry. Without, the trimmings are snowy white, and the body of the house slightly colored. Within, it is finished in a neat manner:—the walls are blocked off in imitation of stone, and the ceiling is arched. The room is spoken off by those who have tested it, as superior in acoustic effect: the voice of the speaker is equally distinct in all parts—and the singing, which will be performed by the congregation, with a fine-toned organ in front of the desk, for accompaniment, sounds admirably.

The floor of the house is divided into 64 pews, capable of seating some 400 persons. They are in modern style, painted and grained upon the outside. The aisles are carpeted. The pulpit (a beautiful mahogany structure), the windows (which are of French plate glass) and the side boards, are from the old North Church at Portsmouth, N. H., and were purchased long before the foundation of this house was laid.

JENNY LIND AND MR. BARNUM.—Jenny ind Goldschmidt has written letters to a friend in Philadelphia, in which she refers to Mr. Barnum's difficulties. She expresses deep sympathy for her former manager, and bears testimony to his generosity and kindness. She says:—

"I will not dwell longer upon this subject. It is painful for me to contemplate. I believe a good man should never fall, nor shall he [Barnum] do so for the want of a friend. His pride will not permit him to write to me under the circumstances—mine compels me to write to him. He, nor his, shall never know want while I have it in my power [which, owing to the goodness of Heaven, I have now,] to keep it away.

For the Chronicle.

TO ELLEN.

On Summer's Sunday, when the heated air
Proclaims the tedium of a lengthened Prayer;
When beating fans and active rustling veils
Create a host of artificial gales—
When busy flies, determined foes,
Persist in lighting on one's nose—
When bonnets bow and flowers droop,
And dresses flag in spite of hoops:—
Then, as the Preacher in the sacred place
Devoutly speaks of goodness and of grace,
And pictures in a lovely bower
The likeness of some beauteous flower,
And paints to fancy's eager eye,
An image almost heavenly;—
Then, all my thoughts together swift do flee,
And fondly fix themselves, at once, on thee.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1856.

THE PANAMA RIOT.—Another of those terrible fights between the natives and foreigners, which have occurred on the Isthmus several times since the Emigration to California commenced, transpired at Panama, on the night of Tuesday, the 15th. The result was a most horrible massacre of innocent passengers, a great destruction of passengers' baggage, and a devastation of property of both the railroad company and individual residents.

The difficulty originated in a dispute between an interiected passenger and a native, respecting payment for a watermelon. This brought forward another native, who stabbed the passenger, and then the combatants increased considerably on both sides. Some preparation had been made by the natives for this attack, but it was precipitated by the imprudence and lawless conduct of a party of filibusters from San Francisco, who were disappointed in failing to effect a landing to join Walker.

The Panama Railroad counting-room (including the desks of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company,) were ransacked, and everything of value carried off; the books and papers were cut and torn to pieces, and one of the safes was broken open and pillaged, while the other was pierced to the inner linings.—Every drawer and closet was ransacked. The freight house was riddled with balls, and all the baggage that had not been got off to the steamer was rifled. About twenty foreigners were killed, and between thirty and forty badly wounded.

Among those severely injured from this quarter are J. M. Parker of Bangor, A. W. Selover of Providence, A. L. Swaine of Maine. In the list of those who were robbed are P. H. Putnam of Lowell, of $3000, also wounded; Samuel Irvin of Boston; John Hardy of Maine, robbed of $500; P. W. Sherman of New Bedford, of $350; J. S. Parrington of Massachusetts; A. A. Payne of Massachusetts; F. A. Atwater of Vermont. Alexander Sweet of Maine, died 17th. He received three bullet wounds in the right hip, besides several severe punctured wounds in the breast. Among the wounded is Nathan Preble, a descendant of the officer of that name, now lying in the Railroad Company's Hospital, mortally wounded from four large musket balls in his right arm, right shoulder and spine.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

EXETER, April 30.

Messrs. Editors:—The Court has adjourned, and once more Exeter has become comparatively quiet. To a small place like our village, the occasional terms of the Court make a vast difference in the general appearance of business, and for a time give an unusual impetus to trade.

Judge Sargent, who presided at this term, seemed to afford universal satisfaction, and has made many friends here during his short stay. May he long preserve them. Among the pleas we were so fortunate as to hear, those of Mr. Christie of Dover, and John S. Wells, of this village, in the case of Tappan vs. Tappan, particularly pleased us for sound reasoning and clear argument.

The ladies, particularly towards the latter part of the term, were quite frequent in their attendance, and the fashion, being popular with nearly every one, is fast getting into vogue. The News Letter was out in favor of it, because the ladies are sometimes compelled to attend as witnesses, and we are willing to endorse its views, although we cannot go as far as some of the correspondents of that paper have,—that is, to admitting them to the privileges of the ballot box. That we want advocate, although one of your correspondents did charge us with favoring the "improvement" because we wrote an abstract of a lecture Lucy Stone once delivered here.

The recently appointed clerk of the Courts, Mr. Charles G. Conner, we understand will enter upon the duties of the office on Monday next. If he makes as good an officer as the present incumbent (as we doubt not he will) the bar will have no reason to complain in that respect.

We would respectfully recommend to the people of Exeter, should this chance to meet their eye, that a new name be given to the Town Hall, and ever afterwards employed.—We are hardly satisfied with its present designation, and it looks badly in print.

We have said much in favor of the building, but those forty steps in the flight of stairs going up to the Court Room, and the echo of the voice after you reach them, don't add materially to the pleasure of the visitor. G. P.

☞ The Ladies' Repository, for May, just published by Abel Tompkins, Boston, comes to us with the name of the deceased editor on its cover; though the work is now conducted by Mrs. Bacon, his widow. The number before us is a fine one; equal to any of its predecessors. A new volume will begin in July.

GREAT FIRE.

In Philadelpdia, on the night of Wednesday the 30th, a very destructive fire broke out, which raged mostly through the night.

The fire commenced at Jessup & Moore's warehouse, in North street, below Sixth St., and extended rapidly through to Commerce street, and thence to Market St—consuming also the buildings on the eastern side of Sixth to Market street.

The loss is mostly covered by insurance.—But little of the stock was saved from the Market street stores, the flames spread so rapidly. John R. Groff, a returned Mexican volunteer, was killed by the falling of a wall. Two or three others are missing, and several were injured. During the fire, James Bartley, a member of Franklin Hose Co., was stabbed in an affray with Moyamensing Hose Co. Bartley is not expected to recover.

The estimated loss is $2,000,000.

LICENSING IN PHILADELPHIA.—The Board of Licensers in Philadelphia have entered upon their duty in earnest and are licensing rum shops by wholesale. They have decided that the city is entitled to eight hundred and eighty hotels, and two hundred and twenty restaurants or eating houses; but for the present, they will apportion only twenty hotels to each ward, or four hundred and eighty in all. They will also license five restaurants in each ward for the present, making 120.

Total, taverns and restaurants, 600 for the present. The license tax varies from $50 to $1000.

LUTHER SEVERANCE.—The memory of just is blessed;—and therefore it is, more than on any other account, that we are glad to receive from the editors of the Kennebec Journal, a Memoir of Luther Severance, whom we never saw face to face, but with whose honest, noble editorial labors, in that Journal, for twenty-five years, we were well acquainted; and whose independence, joined with courtesy, we always admired.

☞ A correspondent informs us that he attended a fine Concert in the Baptist church at Pittsfield, N. H., last week. Prof. Wood of Concord, was director, and played flute accompaniment; a piano was also used to accompany. A large choir joined in the entertainment—prominent among whom was Miss Georgiana P. Drake of Pittsfield.

The New York Musical Review is of opinion that Old Folks Concerts "are of positive injury to the progress of musical taste, and a hindrance to the improvement of church music." We should like to have the Review tell how, and whether their effect, like other concerts, does not depend wholly upon the manner in which they are conducted.

BOSTON CORN EXCHANGE.—The Boston Chronicle of Thursday says:—

The Flour market has been extremely dull during the week, and prices have been gradually declining, and now range 50c per brl lw'r for nearly all kinds. The traders are holding off and purchasing very sparingly in anticipation of still lower prices, common brands Western have been at $6, a 6,50 fancy at $6 50, a 7; extras at $7, a 9,50 per bbl some few choice brands $9 75, a 10 in small lots, and to effect sales, holders have been obliged to submit to easier prices. Southern yellow has been sold at 65, a 67c and white at 62, a 64c per bush, and dull at these figures at the close.

THE FORGED LAND WARRANTS.—Washington, May 1.—The recent telegraphic statement that forgeries of Land Warrants for one million acres of land had been discovered here is wholly unfounded. A gang of forgers in these operations were detected at New Orleans some time ago, who had plans prepared for large issues, and perhaps to the extent represented, but their certificates and apparatus were seized by the authorities, and consequently the whole scheme failed. The government has information of contemplated frauds, which may lead to important results.

MONTREAL, April 30.—The new Suspension Bridge over the Falls of Montmorency gave way this morning, and the whole structure, with a man, woman, horse and cart were carried over the Falls. The bodies of the man and woman have not yet been found.

LATER FROM KANSAS.—The Lawrence Herald of Freedom of April 12th, puts at the head of its columns, the name of Col. Fremont for President.

It is stated as a matter of congratulation, that the territory is filling up with a good class of inhabitants. The Free State Hotel at Lawrence is now completed. It is a four-story dwelling, 50 by 70 feet, and contains 50 apartments, besides a hall in each story.—There are thirty or forty port-holes in the walls, that the building may be converted into a citadel in case of further invasion. Its cost has been upwards of $20,000. The landlord will be Col. S. Eldridge, formerly of Hampton, Mass. George F. Williams, Esq., of Boston, it is said, has offered to furnish the ladies' parlor in superb style, gratis.—Trans.

A TRUTH that all should realize, is that Arnold's Globules and Vital Fluid will remove from the system every kind of humor by chemical action and medicinal action in united force and power. They give to the blood the vital elements of pure fresh air, and thus they brace up and tone the system. They are growing rapidly into favor and reputation through proof of their power over humors and diseases resulting from humors, as well as from their power to give vigor and vitality —Boston Traveller.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "not" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone?

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

THURSDAY, May 1.

ALDERMEN.—Leave was granted to A. W. Haven to obstruct Market and Ceres streets, while repairing building.

Charles Robinson asked for a suspension of action in regard to the removal of post near his house.

D. H. Treadwell asked that the drain in Cabot street be extended to the mill pond.

The committee on public buildings reported that it was advisable that that part of the Spring Market devoted to the sale of fish with the exception of one stall, be obened to the country people,—Adopted.

The committee on Burying Grounds were ordered to repair wall around Burial Ground in Elm street.

A petition was read requesting the removal of the crossing east of North Meeting House, about 60 feet further north—referred.

The City Marshal reported that he had taken an account of the stock and fixtures in the Liquor Agency, belonging to the City, and had removed the same to a store in Bow street.

The committee to whom was referred the application of Wm. B. Lowd to purchase land of the city, reported a resolution authorising the sale.

[The question here arose as to the manner of disposing of City property. The Mayor thought that by the terms of the Charter, it must be decided by the City Council in convention. Mr. Rundlett was of opinion that it should be done by concurrent vote. The Mayor finally gave way to precedents.]

The resolution was read a first time and referred.

The committee to whom the matter was referred, reported that it was inexpedient to abolish the office of Clerk of Spring Market.

COMMON COUNCIL.—Mr. Raynes offered an Order requiring the Street Commissioner to cause the streets, lanes, &c. to be cleansed, —referred.

The City Clerk notified the Council that the offices of Physician of Board of Health, one Assistant Engineer, and Pound Keeper were vacant.

[Mr. Raynes in the Chair.]

Mr. Gerrish offered an Order requesting the Street Commissioner to estimate the cost of repairing High street.

Mr. Odiorne moved that it be indefinitely postponed, and demanded the yeas and nays.

When the Clerk had called about half the names it was discovered that the members from Ward 1 had voted in opposition to their intention. The question was again stated and the roll called anew, and decided in the negative. Yeas 5, nays 11.

The Order was then referred.

THE CITY LIQUOR. — The City Marshal on Thursday took charge of the liquors in the hands of Mr. John Smith, late City Liquor Agent, and removed them from Mr. Smith's premises. The Gazette states that they have been safely stored by the direction of the Mayor, "and as city property, we presume await the further orders of the Board of Aldermen."

☞ Messrs. George W. Jenness, Isaiah Wilson, and Oliver Hanscom, were drawn as Jurors for the U. S. Circuit Court, on Wednesday, by the City Clerk, in presence of the Board of Aldermen. A term of the Court will be held in Portsmouth on Thursday the 8th instant.

DANCING.—Mr. Lamprey's Summer Term of Dancing School, for the juveniles, commences at Congress Hall on Saturday afternoon. Mr. L. is too well known and appreciated here now, to need any reccommendation besides his past services in this line. He takes pains to keep posted up in the latest steps and changes.

☞ See Auction columns, for sales to-day, of a House Lot; also Fruit Trees, House Plants, &c.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 30th.

HOUSE —[Continued.] The further consideration of the bill establishing Collection Districts, modifying revenue laws, &c., was postponed to the second Monday in June.

Mr. Herbert of California, referring to the recent massacre at Panama, said this was not the first time such offences had been committed in that quarter. He offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire if any further legislation was necessary to secure the lives and property of American citizens passing over the Isthmus of Panama.

The Indian Appropriation bill was then taken up in committee.

Messrs. Buffington of Massachusetts, and Meacham of Vermont, severally spoke against the extension of slavery, and in favor of the admission of Kansas into the Union, with the Free State Constitution already presented to the House. The latter gave notice of his intention to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on Territories to report a bill for that purpose.

The Indian bill was then reported to the House without even being read, or one word said relative to it while pending in the Committee. Adjourned.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, April 30.

The steamship Illinois arrived at this port this afternoon with California dates of the 9th inst., 900 passengers, and $2,000,000 in treasure.

Ex- Governor Bigler is passenger in the Illinois.

The mining returns in California promise as large a yield as last year.

Ex-Senator Foote has withdrawn as American nominee for the United States Senate.

The State Prison contract has been given to Gen. Estell for five years, at $10,000 per month.

A new prison is to be built near Sacramento.

A brisk trade has sprung up between San Francisco and the Russian possessions.

The money market at San Francisco on steamer day was very stringent, and there were universal complaints of unsatisfactory collections.

CANINE AFFECTION.—A friend, upon whose veracity we can rely, informs us of the following incident, which occurred yesterday in the town of Watertown. A valuable and unusually sagacious Newfoundland dog was noticed by his owner to be from some cause apparently in a state of profound affliction. He howled repeatedly, keeping in continual motion, and finally started off. He soon after returned, bearing in his mouth the dead body of a much smaller dog, which had been of late his frequent companion in his rambles and for whom he had manifested a decided fondness. Having deposited this body within sight of the inmates of the house, his manifestations of grief were again audibly expressed, and were continued, until at last it was found necessary to take from him the dead body and bury it from his sight.—Traveller.

BRUTE SAGACITY.—Herr Driesbach, the "Lion King" got married two or three years ago, and became a farmer in Ohio. The other day he visited—at Zanesville, where they have been wintered—his pet animals, which had not seen him for more than two years, and (with one exception) they appeared to recognise him; and those which had been his especial favorites became jealous of the caresses he bestowed upon the others.

THE POPE'S ROSE.—His Holiness, it seems, will not visit Paris; but having forwarded the blessed baby-linen there—linen beautifully got up and washed in holy water—he further proposes to send the annual "golden rose" to the Empress Eugenie. A year or two since, His Holiness sent the golden rose to Queen Amelie, consort of Louis Philippe.

GRAIN.—We have yet to hear of the first failure of a field of wheat in these parts. The season is remarkably promising, and the farmers and gardeners are busy.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantage, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that more is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would abd that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries, prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are not over saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.—Patents secured in Great Britian, France and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in advising inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OF
FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile lands in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the northwest extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken soil, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. Supposing the land the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found near the water courses, the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in the usual instalments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brought under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country must greatly have increased the value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, published by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of living, &c. &c. BALTIMORE, April 18, 1856.

THE undersigned, Commissioner of Lotteries of the State of Maryland, being in receipt daily of letters from various portions of the country, making inquiry as to Lottery Schemes, with which the country is flooded, and which purport to be "decided by the drawings of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries," takes this method to answer all such letters of inquiry, and informs the public that all Lotteries purporting to be decided by the Maryland Lotteries are gross frauds; that certain parties who style themselves Morris & Co., and pretend to be Managers or Sole Agents for the Grand Charter Lotteries at Cleveland, Ohio, are impostors, and said lottery a fraud, having neither legal nor presumptive existence; and that another fictitious firm, styled Murry & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, are also impostors, and all lotteries which they profess to be managers or agents for, are also frauds.

RICHARD FRANCE, of this city, is the Contractor for drawing the Maryland Lotteries. The business is conducted under the firm of R. FRANCE & Co., as Bankers, and they have no sole agents in the city of Baltimore. A SAD STORY. — The Boston Telegraph informs us, that on Sunday last, in that city, a woman named Mary McGuire, and her three children, aged severally 7, 14 and 16 years, were taken from their home in Thatcher street court, by the police, both woman and children being in a state of beastly intoxication. In the Police Court, on Monday forenoon, John McGuire, aged 14, was charged with being a "common drunkard," to which he plead guilty. His sister, Mary McGuire, 16 years of age, plead guilty to a like charge, and the evidence of the officer proved it to be true. Bear in mind this was not a charge of being drunk, though that in persons so young would be sufficiently horrible; but with being "common drunkards!" The wretched mother was also charged with the same offence, and plead guilty. The children were sent to the House of Reformation, and the mother to the House of Correction. The Telegraph considers the case to be one which is worthy the attention of conservative temperance men.

A CURIOUS CASE. — About a year and a half ago a widow lady by the name of Smith, residing on Suffolk street, Lowell, Mass., (says the Citizen,) drank some water from a spring at the seashore, and as she supposes swallowed a small eel. Since that time she has been gradually getting out of health, and at length her illness became so severe and alarming that her life was thought to be in great danger. No medicine or physician could give her relief; till last week Dr. Huntoon being called in, gave her a potion that on Saturday morning relieved her of a live eel a foot in length. The eel has been preserved in spirits, and is decidedly an ugly looking customer. The lady is greatly relieved, but thinks there is another of the "varmints" left behind.

Rev. J. Phelan, late of Sing Sing, in the diocese of New York, died suddenly on the 17th ult, at Aiken, S C, where he was staying for the benefit of his health. He took an overdose of morphine and quinine by mistake.

BOTH SIDES.—Rev. Mr. Drew, editor of the Rural Intelligencer, at Augusta Me., says:—

When our late lamented neighbor, Rev. Mr Judd, publicly announced his ultra peace doctrines, and preached from his pulpit in this city, that one Christian, who lived up to the spirit of the New Testament, could bear arms even in self-defence, and who, therefore, thought the war for American Liberty—the most justifiable of all wars—unnecessary, and even plucked the plume of military glory from Washington's brow—certain politicians in our Legislature, who understood the Bible so much better than he, expelled him by an indignant vote from his place as one of the invited Chaplains of the House of Representatives. And now, when Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in giving the Bible to some of his Connecticut brethren about removing to Kansas, as their best moral defence, also gave them a Sharpe's Rifle, to defend themselves, if need there should be, against any lawless attempts made upon their lives or liberties by ruffian hosts sent in to murder them, he in turn, is pronounced ignorant of scripture teachings, and pronounced to be no Christian, by the same class of politicians who seem to understand religion on both sides better than conscientious ministers do on either.

CLERICAL.—Rev. J. L. Hatch, of Gloucester, has received and accepted a call from a church and Society in Brooklyn, N. Y., of the new school Calvinist persuasion.

☞ The Independent Democrat gives an account of a Republican Temperance Festival, held recently at the American House in Lee, which house is now kept on the temperance principle.

The same paper notices an attack of intemperate rioters, in Sanbornton, made upon the building where Mr. Fowler was delivering an anti-slavery lecture,—and states that two or three of the ringleaders in the outrage have been arrested, tried and fined.

POLICE COURTS AND JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—According to an abstract prepared by Hon. Francis DeWitt, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, it appears that the number of criminal cases before justices of the peace and polic courts throughout the State during the year 1855, was 12,230; number convicted 8175; discharged 2514; held to a higher court, 1631; tried for assault, 2789; for drunkenness 4184; for violation of the license law, 1646; for lottery dealing, 106; all other crimes, 2595. The total costs were $85,956 07; fines received $12,461 86. The amount of money received was $94,034 44.

RELIGIOUS LOTTERY.—The Methodists of Huntsville, Alabama, have a lottery scheme under way, for the benefit of the Andrew Female College. Rev. Mr. Caldwell is apparently the prime mover; $125,000 is to be collected by $20 tickets, of which $75,000 is to be paid in premiums. It is expected to raise $50,000 for the College by this means.

Horace S. Bradley, lumber merchant, No. 90 Commercial street, Boston, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a pistol, Wednesday morning. He was a bachelor, a native of Derry, N. H., 42 years of age, in good financial circumstances, but probably insane on account of monetary troubles connected with a ship built at the eastward.

MAINE MATTERS.

The Portland Journal and Inquirer calls for the repeal of the new license law of Maine. The Boston Telegraph suggests that the question had better not be an issue in the next election.

A communication in the Portland Argus signed S. says—

The Maine Law is in issue in this State.—It is therefore impolitic, and, in my judgment, dishonest, to keep the matter in abeyance. The people cannot be deceived in this thing. Frankness everybody praises, if few possess; and any attempt to secure an important object under a false guise, will meet, as it deserves, a signal rebuke. I believe the voters of Maine are in favor of Prohibition; and the more wisely a statute is framed for that purpose, of course the better.

On the communication, of which this is a part, the editor of the Argus of April 28th, remarks:

This comes, as it purports to come, from a decided prohibitionist, abolitionist, and we don't know what else, who seems to be somewhat dissatisfied with the dishonesty of his political associates. We give him the credit of being sincere in his notions, but he is as blind as a bat to the signs of the times. The Maine Law has already been repudiated in Maine, and we regret that any body desires to keep it longer in issue (1). A substitute has been enacted for it, which will probably do as much as any law can do for the promotion of temperance. It may not be quite perfect, and may require amendment hereafter, but it is founded on a correct principle, and will lead to good results (2). We are disposed to give it a fair trial, and we hope all good citizens will unite to promote its efficiency and success (3). Above all, we hope all good citizens will unite in making such use of moral suasion, and wholesome example, and wise instruction (4), as will render legislation on this subject, less and less necessary (5). It, however, the fusionists have not changed their views about the law, and still mean to keep it in politics, we concur with our correspondent, that they ought to say so manfully, and present the issue "in a bold, unquestionable form." We honestly advise them, though, to give it up altogether (6).

The Portland Advertiser of the same day, (28th,) has a leader of two columns on the subject, in which it is freely discussed. It says:—

This new law—the license system—is just going into operation. Any direct movement for its immediate repeal, without submitting the question to the people, would have to be made, during the approaching campaign, under some disadvantages (7). As stated in the article which we have quoted from the Telegraph, the questions involved in the Presidential election will engross the attention of the people, and it is important for many very obvious reasons, that the two issues should be kept as distinct as possible (8). It will be urged, too, that the new law should have a fair trial. The decided friends of a prohibitory law, know very well how it will work, but there are many who must see and feel its effects, before they will be convinced.

It is quite plain from the above extracts, that all political parties in Maine are somewhat concerned, lest the liquors, or liquor laws should upset their boats, and spill their passengers. And we think there is danger of it.

NOTES.

1. The Argus is evidently afraid that if somebody keeps the question in issue, the law will not stay repudiated, but will come up again to "trouble Israel" in some shape or other. Very probable.

2. This correct principle is no other than the license. If it shall do any good, we shall be glad of it.

3. The efficiency of a license law, is to give a legal sanction. We never knew it to do much else.

4. We go for all these things, heartily,—and wish others would.

5. But we know, that the higher we can raise the moral tone, the higher the issue will rise.

6. The Argus honestly advises the fusionists to keep out the issue.

7. The fusionists seem disposed to take the advice.

8. But the people, especially the fanatics, may happen, after all, to mix up the rum and slavery issues together, and so make bad work for somebody.

LICENSES.—The Aldermen and City Clerk met yesterday afternoon, to receive and act on applications for license to sell spirituous liquors under the law of 1856. As they, very properly, held their session with closed doors, we are unable to give our readers any information concerning their action. We understand that they are authorized by the above Act to license twelve persons.—Portland Argus, May 2.

Without coming to any decision upon the applications, they adjourned to Monday evening next. We understand that the number of applications were between 20 and 30.—Portland Advertiser, May, 2.

Why should this business be done with closed doors?

ALBANY, N. Y. — A late examination of liquor houses, stores, and shops, in Albany, gives 775 as the number of such establishments, and of these not 100 were kept by persons born in America—the Irish alone supplying 409.

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

CHAPTER III.

From the North American Review.

We omit the reviewer's comparison of the effect of alcohol on the constitution to that of a weight upon a spring, which at once rebounds when the weight is removed,—and to the effects of heat, and oxygen, and even of "mutton chops," upon the tissues,—as a mere fallacy; since no real analogy exists in the things compared. Indeed, the reviewer himself "begs the reader not to lay too much stress on these illustrations, or to suppose the writer offers them as arguments." They, in fact, subserve no other purpose than to throw dust into the reader's eyes at the outset.

The following sentences are also adapted to give the reader a false impression. "Whatever air of paradox may hover round the assertion that alcohol is food, arises from the popular ideas of food, which are extremely vague and confused. To the popular mind it would be equally paradoxical to say, iron is food, salt is food, chalk is food; the popular idea of food being limited to substances which eaten by themselves 'nourish' and allay hunger.—Nous avons change tout cela" "No one would think of nourishing a pigeon on chalk, yet the celebrated experiments of M. Chossat prove that pigeons deprived of chalk die of inanition, first suffering from a complete softening of the bones."

Thus the idea is suggested that alcohol, like iron, salt, and chalk, is essential for the nourishment of the tissues. But iron is indispensable, because it is always naturally present in the blood and some of the tissues; salt normally enters into the composition of all the fluids and tissues of the body; and chalk (carbonate of lime) is necessary to the development and nourishment of bone. Alcohol, on the other hand, is not essential to the development of any part of the body; and still more, not a particle of alcohol can by any means be converted into any tissue whatever. There is, therefore, no physiological analogy in the things compared, and the illustration can only mislead the reader. On the contrary, if iron, salt, and chalk are food because they enter as elements into the normal composition of different tissues, then alcohol is not food, as it enters not thus into a single tissue.

But we now proceed to examine the reviewer's arguments in support of his principal proposition, that "alcohol is food." It occurs to us as a striking fact, that in their whole course he does not quote a single physiologist in opposition to Dr. Carpenter, except in the use of two or three unimportant extracts from Moleschott's work, but relies on the testimony of chemists alone. Liebig is the authority almost exclusively cited. The accuracy of his opinions on the physiological bearings of this subject will be tested as we proceed.

The reader will the more clearly perceive how inconsequent and fallacious are the reviewer's conclusions, if it be remembered that he attempts to show, first, "food is force," secondly, "that alcohol is force," and therefore, thirdly, that "alcohol must necessarily be food." We shall examine his arguments in proof of each of these propositions.

"Science teaches us that food has to be considered under three aspects:—1. It repairs the waste of tissue consequent on the wear and tear of life; 2. It furnishes fuel for respiration, the main source of animal heat; 3. Under both these heads it is the generator of force."

Now, though the first two of these assertions are physiologically correct, the three together do not include all the physiological relations of food, and the last is untrue. Certain elements of our food repair the waste of plastic elements. These are albumen, caseine, fibrine, etc., and these alone are properly called nourishment. Other elements do not at all repair the tissues, but being acted upon, after they are digested and absorbed into the blood, by the oxygen derived from respiration, they are literally burned up, and thus producing heat, aid in maintaining the normal temperature of the body. Hence they have been termed "fuel for respiration," "respiratory material," and, better still, "the calorific elements of our food." They are starch, sugar, gum, and dextrine. The fat in our food, too, is in great part merely calorific; though it is also nourishment so far as it contributes to the development or the repair of the adipose tissue. But the author has entirely overlooked and ignored the residual elements of our food, which traverse the alimentary canal without undergoing any change whatever.

As a specimen of our reviewer's scientific accuracy in the use of terms, we call attention to the fact, that in the passage just quoted he states that both the plastic and the calorific elements of food generate force; a little farther on he says, "all food is ultimately translated into force"; and still farther, that alcohol, which he asserts is food, evolves force; and again, that Dr. Carpenter knows that alcohol "gives force." Now these four terms are very far from being identical in meaning; and no two of them are so. Which, then, expresses the writer's actual meaning? But we need not lose time in attempting to settle this question, since it will appear that neither of the words used is at all consistent with the facts. Moreover, in regard to the kind of force, he says at first, "into motive force all food is ultimately translated." Afterwards he says, alcohol (being food) "is translated into nerve force"; and again, "into nerve force or some substitute for nerve force." Are nerve force and motive force, then, identical? and is there any such thing as a substitute for nerve force? Our scientific champion evidently entertains conceptions somewhat "confused" of what, "strictly speaking, must be called" nerve and motive force.

NOT BORN TO BE DROWNED.—Hugh Corrigan, recently convicted of the murder of his wife, in Westchester county, Pa., was saved from drowning twenty-seven years ago by one of the jurors who have just convicted him. It is a pity he didn't go down the third time.—Lowell News.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to every body and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Billiousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone?

LOCAL.

A SUBJECT FOR THE PARDONING POWER.—We would suggest for the consideration of those who think the late officer Willey's case a particularly hard one, and his punishment undeserved, that a petition to His Excellency the Governor for a pardon might be the means of releasing him without involving a violation of his conscientious scruples, or touching the pockets of his friends. Who will get up and circulate a petition?—Gaz.

Since the adjournment of the Court, the costs in this case have been remitted by order of the Judge. The fine, $15, was paid on Friday, and Mr. Willey was discharged.

☞ We notice among the declamation class of the Mercantile Library Association, of Boston, the name of Mr. Henry C. Barnabee a native of this city, by whom, the Boston Journal informs us, The Scholar of Ben Kherat (Willis) was spoken in an easy and correct manner. Mr. Barnabee was formerly a member of the Mercantile Library Association of this city, and the rich enjoyment of his successful declamation is held in pleasant recollection by many members of the Association here.

☞ We see in the reports of the City Council, some mention made of fences near the burial ground on Pleasant street—and of the wall of the ground on Elm street, which we take to mean the North Burying Ground.

We wish the City Government would authorize the setting out of a few shade trees in each of the Grounds, as well as repair the fences. The expense would be but trifling. The benefit and ornament quite considerable.

☞ A pedestrian at the West end complains that the people walk in darkness, because some of the Gas Lights don't go.

Our imp thinks there must be some mistake about their not going, as he, himself, saw one of them go (out) the other evening.

☞ By his advertisement, it will be seen that Mr. Larrabee's harness establishment is still turning out the best of work, in any quantity desired. His harnesses can't be beat, anywhere—not to make particular mention of the extra style in which he trims carriages or the superior hose made here. By the way, we noticed a splendid new harness in the team belonging to our enterprising friend Dorr, of the Atlantic Mills, a few days since; and on examination, found it bore the name of "J. Larrabee, maker," — the best guaranty of its excellence that could be had. He is one of the best endorsers, of a harness at least, in the world; and if he gets pay according to the quality of his work, he must be amply able to "stand in the gap" for some of his friends, should they need. For a heavy harness, we think Mr. Dorr's decidedly the best we have ever seen.

THE GERRISH HOUSE AT KITTERY POINT.—Mr. Andrew Amee, the popular stage driver between this city and Kittery Point, has leased this fine watering place, and the Gazette states, will open it for the accommodation of the public about the 15th inst. There is no finer sea view or pleasanter retreat on the coast than this, and Mr. Amee is doing a good service in opening it again to the public.

A telegraphic despatch received on Thursday, announced the death of Chas. C. Israel, of this city, at New York, of the typhus fever. He had been attached to the ship Eli Whitney, and at the time of his death was off duty on account of ill-health. He was expected home by his friends on the day when the intelligence of his death was received. He was 19 years of age, and a young man of great promise, with numerous friends in this city and elsewhere.—Gazette.

TO "H."

Ah! say, degenerate youth,
Say, dost thou speak the truth—
That when the preacher paints
The graces of the Saints,
Thy fancy's "eager eye,"
In spite of "busy fly,"
Turns to an earthly shrine,
Instead of one divine?
If so, I fain would preach,
Could I thy spirit teach
To soar from earth away,
When thou dost seem to pray;
Nor let my image dare
Invade the house of prayer,
To draw one thought from thee,
Or fix one look on me:
But turn from "rustling veils"
'Mid "artificial gales"—
From bonnets, hoops, and flowers;
And spend the sacred hours
In gathering heavenly food—
In learning to be good.

May 2nd. ELLEN.

☞ The Boston Journal says that Mrs. Wentworth sung at the annual concert of Mr. J. C. Green in Providence on Tuesday evening. The audience, rising two thousand in number, completely filled the hall. She was encored in every performance.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, May 1.

SENATE.—Mr. Weller of California introduced a resolution calling on the President for any correspondence, not heretofore communicated, with our Minister at Nicaragua, in regard to the recognition of the new government of Nicaragua. He did not desire the annexation of Central America, but wanted to see a stable government there. He thought emigration there should be encouraged. No man had been so shamefully misrepresented as Gen. Walker, who, instead of being a freebooter, was a man of pure purposes.

Mr. Weller read a letter from Gen. Walker, in which it is asserted that the British government have interfered with the present struggle between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, and have furnished the Costa Ricans with arms.

Mr. Seward of New York remarked that several weeks ago, on his motion, a resolution was adopted, calling on the President for information on this subject, but as there had been no response, the President probably had good reasons, in view of the complicated state of affairs, for delaying to answer the resolutions.

Mr. Weller replied that he was not aware of the fact, else he would not have offered this now.

Mr. Seward thought it was better to let the subject rest a day or two, as information concerning it was daily being received, and it was important that the President should be left free to exercise his discretion in this delicate matter.

Mr. Douglass of Illinois believed that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was being violated every day by Great Britain, and thought something ought to be done about it. He believed we ought to enforce our neutrality laws, but not go a hair's breadth beyond the line of strict duty.

Mr. Butler thought we ought to be careful not to involve ourselves in war with any nation through the acts of intermeddling adventurers.

Mr. Weller withdrew the resolution.

Mr. Toombs spoke in opposition to the action of the Naval Board, contending that the law was not properly executed; therefore the proceedings under it are void. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House passed the Indian Appropriation bill, and the bill reviving the act of 1853 relative to suspended entries of public lands, and the act of 1846 concerning suspended pre-emption land claims.

Mr. Maxwell spoke on the southern side of the slavery question, and Mr. Perry against the extension of slavery and in favor of the Missouri restriction, and in defence of the Republican party.

Mr. Quitman of Mississippi introduced a bill to repeal certain sections of the Neutrality laws. Adjourned.

BY virtue of a license from the Court of Probate for the County of Rockingham, the subscribers, Administrators of the Estate of Hon. James Pickering, late of Newington in said county, deceased, intestate, will sell at Public Auction, to the highest and best bidder, at the times hereinafter mentioned, the following described parcels of Real Estate, to wit—

Saturday, the third day of May next, at three o'clock P. M., THIRTY-TWO ACRES OF LAND, situated in or near the north-western corner of said Portsmouth; said land is bounded northwardly by the Goslin Road, so called, westwardly by the Abednego Robinson or Plains Road, eastwardly by land of Stephen A Bennett, and southwardly by land of Messrs. Simes, Hazleton and Sheldon—being part of the old Sheafe Farm—and is about 100 rods in length from north to south, and about 50 rods in width, eastwardly and westwardly. It is all under fence, except at the southern end, where there is no fence. Upon it are two or three never failing springs of water, and altogether, no thirty-two acres in the neighborhood can be found, better, or more eligibly situated, than are these. The tract will be sold together, or in smaller parcels, as purchasers may desire, and as may be deemed most advantageous.

Terms—credit, with good security for part of purchase money, will be given, and will be particularly made known at the sale.

Woman's Rights in England.— The London Literary Journal, in alluding to the petition of 3000 ladies to Parliament, has these comments:

Perfection is impossible, and we must be contented with the greatest attainable good. More than that we cannot have. Equal rights must also include equal responsibilities. Suppose, for a moment, we were to reverse the picture, and, after citing a variety of cases in which poor hard-working husbands have been ruined by the extravagance of their wives (not a very difficult task,) we were to propose that husbands should no longer be compelled to provide for the maintenance of their wives. That would be very absurd;—but not a whit more so than the attempt of these three thousand ladies to disturb the existing state of things, for no better reason than because there are some men in the world who are brutes enough and foolish enough, to persecute and mal-treat their wives.

A young man named Calworth, aged nineteen, who resided in the western part of New York, died recently from the effects of a rye straw which he swallowed when about a year old. The straw was found lodged in the right lung, where it is supposed to have remained eighteen years, and by its constant irritation of the lung, caused death.

Florence Nightingale, the woman beloved of all men and all nations, for her noble humanity, has been gazetted officially as Directress-General of all the hospitals in the British dominions. No nurses can for the future be appointed in any public hospital without her sanction. She has been ill from a fall, but is quite recovered.

At Horicon, Wisconsin, on Monday, a man named Rich shot at a loon across the neck of the lake; the ball glanced on the water, and struck a man who stood on the opposite shore, and passed directly through his heart, causing instant death.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company

IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL

OVER TWO MILLION ACRES

OF FARMING LANDS,

In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Gamma and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one acre and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced into those States to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not as good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses in those Territories, the expense of transportation, which must always be greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual instalments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty acres of land on the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from the undersigned.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings will be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, by persons respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. &c. Maps of the State, and other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to

JOHN WENTWORTH SON,
Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. R. Co.,
Office up to the 1st of May, 52 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.; after that date in the New Stone Passenger Depot, So. Water st. a8 6m

BALTIMORE, April 15, 1856.

THE undersigned, Commissioner of Lotteries of the State of Maryland, being in receipt daily of letters from various portions of the country, making inquiry as to Lottery Schemes, with which the country is flooded, and which purport to be "decided by the drawings of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries," takes this method to answer all such letters of inquiry, and inform the public that all Lotteries purporting to be decided by the Maryland Lotteries are great frauds; that certain parties who style themselves Morris & Co., and pretend to be Managers or Sole Agents for the Grand Charter Lotteries at Cleaveland, Ohio, are impostors, and said lottery a fraud, having neither legal nor presumptive existence; and that another fictitious firm, styled Murry & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, are also imposters, and all lotteries which they profess to be managers or agents for, are also frauds.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

QUARTERLY SESSION, GRAND DIVISION, N. H.

Keene, N. H., April 29, 1856.

Eds. Chronicle and Phenix;—

Agreably to the direction of the Grand Division I herewith send you the proceedings of the same at its last session in this place.

The Grand Division met at eleven o'clock and was called to order by the G. W. P.

The G. C. reported brother S. Sawyer of Monadnock Div. No. 50, and brother C. A. Griffin of Cheshire Div. No. 36, in waiting for initiation, and they were admitted by taking the usual obligation and signing the constitution.

On motion, Voted that the clergymen of Keene, members of the order, but not of the G. D., be admitted to sit with the G. D.

A communication was read from the G. D. of Virginia, which was laid on the table.

The G. W. P. presented his quarterly report, which was referred to the committee on the state of the order.

The Grand Scribe's report after being read was referred to the Finance committee.

The committee on the state of the order made their report which was accepted and adopted.

Adjourned to half past one o'clock.

Afternoon Session. — Met at 1 1-2 o'clock and opened in form. The report of the Finance committee was read, accepted and adopted.

On motion and in accordance with the report of the Finance committee; voted that the sessions of the G. D. be located and the G. S. be located in the same place. Also, voted that Keene be the location.

The G. S. then tendered his resignation which was accepted.

The office of G. S. being vacant the G. D. proceeded to the election of G. S. and Asa Griffith of Chesire Division was declared elected, and immediately installed.

There being no further business the G. D. adjourned. Asa Griffin, G. S.

The Committee on the state of the Order, beg leave to present the following Report:

We are confirmed in the opinion that it is no time, in the present aspect of the great Temperance reform, for the Grand or subordinate Divisions within this State to cease their interest and labors in its behalf. In the recent canvass in our State, we have not been defeated; for which we have reason to thank God—for corruption, ignorance, prejudice and sordid self-interest, have pronounced against our prohibitory law. But the law stands, and we hope it may, until the last vestige of intemperance is banished from our enterprising Commonwealth. Therefore,

Resolved, That we hereby offer our devout and grateful acknowledgments to God for his blessings so manifest in the progress of the cause of Temperance in this state.

Resolved, That we hereby express our strong confidence and approbation of our Prohibitory Law, and pledge ourselves anew to its support. Respectfully submitted,

C. W. H. Clark, for the Com.

Officers and Representatives;—

We meet again, after the toils and trials of another quarter, under circumstances peculiarly gratifying, and first of all should we render to Almighty God thanksgiving and praise, for that goodness which has sustained us.

Within this jurisdiction nothing has occurred of especial interest to our order since we last met. By reference to the report of the Grand Scribe, it will be seen that there has been no particular change in our membership. We are also free from debt. The struggle through which we passed in the recent canvass of our state, was indeed a most severe and bitter one. The rum despotism fought with desperation to overthrow our glorious Anti-Liquor Law, but this power was met at every point, and the result is now before the world, recorded as one of the greatest moral triumphs of the age. We feel sad when we think of the demoralizing effects of the efforts of the champions of free rum, how many young men have been encouraged to take the inebriating cup, and as a consequence will fill a drunkard's grave. We envy not the feelings or responsibilities of the men who have done this wicked and abominable work. But our work is not yet done, we must not ground our arms, so long as our enemy lives. Our appropriate work is now to execute the law, execute it fully, execute it thoroughly. There can be no doubt of the constitutionality of the law in all its parts. We say again that it is the duty of every son of temperance to co-operate with their fellow citizens to crush out the last foul rum shop in our fine commonwealth. Shall it be done?

The fact that we are almost the only organization in the State, imposes on us great obligations, and I now submit whether we ought not, and might not take some measures greatly to extend our order. No organization is so well adapted to do the work as ours. Our subordinate divisions should be greatly multiplied. Other matters pertaining to our general welfare I leave for your consideration, trusting and hoping that we may have unerring wisdom to direct.

I am dear Brethren,
Yours in love, purity and fidelity,
E. W. Jackson, G. W. P.

MONDAY, MAY 5, 1856.

KANSAS TROUBLES.—There is late intelligence from Kansas, which goes to show that the difficulties in that territory have broken out afresh. A man, acting under a warrant of the pseudo-legislature as sheriff, attempted to make an arrest for alleged complicity in the affair of December last, upon an old warrant, which was resisted, and the officer was compelled to retire. Returning with a body of United States troops, he was shot, the report says, while sitting in his tent. Although the tent was full of soldiers, they do not seem to have discovered the author of the shot.

The trouble has been brewing for a week.—A Lawrence dispatch of the 20th says, if a war is what the administration desires, it can be accommodated by resorting to United States troops to enforce Missouri enactments, and by manifesting an aggressive and oppressive spirit. The people of the territory do not like to fight, but there is a point where forbearance ceases to be a virtue. And if driven to that position, a bloody time will be the result.

The Louis Republican says —

"The abolitionists refuse to acknowledge the authority of the laws, although they promised to do so in order to save their necks in December, and writs are to be put in the hands of the sheriff, not only for Wood, but for all those who forcibly rescued him from Sheriff Jones, and they are to be taken with the aid of a small force, if it can be done, but to be taken if it requires all the government troops in the Territory."

LAWRENCE, April 23.—The U. S. troops from Fort Leavenworth are in town, assisting Sheriff Jones to make arrests. Hutchinson, Warren, Lyman, Fuller, Hunt, and two others have been arrested for refusing to act as Jones's posse on Sunday last, and to-night are held as prisoners, guarded by the troops, who are camped here. * * * The soldiers dislike the business they are engaged in. The Congressional Commission commenced their sessions this morning.

Jones was shot on the night of the 25th. A dispatch dated at 2 A. M. on the 26th, says, Jones is considered in a very critical condition. His spine has become paralyzed. The Captain of the Kickapoo Rangers and Gen. Whitefield are in town and with Jones tonight. Wood, Searl, Tappan, and others, receiving information that their friends had been arrested, came into the city, expecting to be taken prisoners by the United States dragoons, under command of Lieut. Armstrong. Up to the present time they are at liberty, but will doubtless be arrested to-day.

PROGRESS.—Under this head, the book of The New Hampshire Churches gives this brief note:

In 1800, members of Congregational churches in the State were as 1 to 30 of the population; in 1850 as 1 to 17: Including other denominations, in 1800 evangelical Christians were not more than 1 to 23; in 1850 they were more than 1 to 8 of the whole population. Let his people thank God and take courage.

These numbers, of course, have reference exclusively to church members in full communion, and none whatever to the whole number of attendants on public worship.

The toleration law, so called, which was so much dreaded by many congregational churches, has operated very greatly in building them up.

It is proper to remark, in this connexion, for a fuller understanding and better comparison of relative numbers, that two or three denominations, which we suppose are not included in the term "congregational," as used above, have arisen in the State since 1800.—Their increase must be 100 per cent. Something like a comparison of numbers in different denominations, may be made by observing the number of ministers in each.

These are nearly as follows: viz. Congregational, min. 158; Episcopal. 7; Baptist 57; Freewill do. 150; Christian 33; Methodist 147; Presbyterian 8; Unitarian 14; Universalist 27; Roman 5; Advent 5.

The College Judge Douglas has endowed at Chicago is to be called Douglas University, and Rev. J. C. Burroughs is to be the first president. Law and medicine are to be taught with the other sciences, and a theological school is to be attached, in which students will be fitted for the Baptist ministry.

This is a desperate bid for baptist votes.—Query—whether the students in Mr. Douglas's theological school are to be of the hard-shell order; and also, whether the president was one of the 3000 ministers who protested against the Douglass Nebraska bill!

☞ The Great Falls & Dover Stage and Express has been transferred from the hands of Mr. Bickford, to Mr. Luther Thompson.

☞ A fire broke out in the Harlem & New Haven Railroad station in New York on Thursday morning, which caused a loss of about $100,000.

Mr. Willard How, son of the late Hall J. How, of South Boston, died suddenly on Wednesday, without apparent cause. He was 21 years old.

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

CHAPTER IV.

From the North American Review.

But next let us adduce the facts which decide whether any, and if so which, of the elements of our food are generators of force.—And, first, the residual elements, overlooked by the reviewer, are surely not generators of, nor translated into, force of any description; though they constitute a considerable and an indispensable part of the food of all the higher animals. To this class belong woody fibre, resinous matters, the envelopes of fruits, and the husks of seeds (as the bran of wheat, &c.,); all of which pass unchanged through the alimentary canal. The precise use of the residual elements of food are explained in every extended treatise on physiology, and need not detain us here. Nor, secondly, are the calorific elements of our food translated into force. They are converted into carbonic-acid gas and water by the action of oxygen, as already explained; and this union of oxygen with their elements, being chemically a true combustion, produces heat, precisely as does the union of the oxygen of the atmosphere with the carbon and hydrogen of coal when it is burned in a grate. And this is all. The calorific elements of food are finally "translated into" carbonic acid and water, and thus produce heat. But heat is not a motive force, nor nerve force, nor a substitute for the latter. It is merely a physical agent, while both the forces just named are vital forces. The idea that mere heat can be converted into any phase of vital force is preposterous; and the reviewer neither attempts to prove, nor even insinuates anything of the kind. Nor, thirdly, can it be said with accuracy that the plastic elements of food are translated into force; though if they are so, the fact is of no consequence to the reviewer, since he admits that alcohol does not belong to this class of elements. The simple fact is, that the plastic or nutritive elements of food are converted into the various tissues, and that each of the tissues manifests its own peculiar phase of vital force,—the muscles, contractile or motive force; the nervous centres, nervous force, &c. The tissues are excited to the manifestation of vital force, each by its appropriate stimulus; but the tissues themselves are, in no case "translated into" force. They merely constitute the organization, the peculiar mechanism, by means of which the vital force is manifested, as does the engine the mechanism by which physical force is manifested; and in the former, as well as in the latter case, the wear and tear are proportioned to the amount of activity, or of force developed. We perceive, then, that precisely the reverse of our reviewer's cardinal proposition is rigidly true; namely, that, if alcohol is translated into vital force, it cannot be food; and that, if it actually is respiratory food, it cannot be translated into vital force, but can only produce heat by its combustion in the blood.

The reviewer, supposing the reader to be satisfied that all food is force, next announces that "Alcohol is Force." He, however, merely asserts in support of this proposition, that "Dr. Carpenter knows better than most people that alcohol gives force." We wait, however, for the admission from Dr. Carpenter himself. Every one knows that alcohol, taken in a sufficient quantity, excites force;—but this is a very different thing from giving it. The spur on the rider's heel excites force, but does not give it. Hay and grain, moreover, do not excite the force of the horse in this way; and none would contend that the spur is a part of the animal's food.

But we now come to the most remarkable portion of the article under consideration,—at least so far as its logic is concerned: "The reader has already outrun our conclusion, that, if food is force, and alcohol is force, alcohol must necessarily be food." Since the high character of the Westminster Review precludes the idea that this syllogism was intended as a transparent joke, we will crave the reader's patience while we illustrates its singular capabilities. "Food is force; and alcohol is force; therefore alcohol must be food." By this logical formula we may prove that any two things possessing a single property in common must be the same generically and specifically. Thus: "Man is an animal, and a horse is an animal; therefore a horse is a man." And again: Chalk is white; and snow is white; therefore snow is chalk."—But we are mainly interested in the number and variety of its applications to the subject under consideration. Indeed, it proves so much as entirely to demolish our logician's favorite conclusion. First we have, "Alcohol is food," according to the original formula.—But, 2. "Alcohol is force, and food is force; therefore food is alcohol." 3. "Food is force, and arsenic is force; therefore arsenic is food." 4. "Alcohol is force, and arsenic is force;—therefore arsenic is alcohol." But enough of such "calling in the aid of logic to combat a fallacy." Logic "shrugs her shoulder" at such reasoning as this; and we proceed to examine the curious structure of the "links of the chain of demonstration" of the proposition that "alcohol is food."

"The reviewer states that arsenic "gives to both horses and men increased vigor, increased beauty, and an enviable rejuvenescence, when taken regularly in minute doses."

☞ A large number of the ladies in Great Falls, gave a Leap Year Party on May Day afternoon—to which the gentlemen were invited, of course. A feast was prepared in a beautiful grove; after disposing of which, the ladies escorted their beaux to pass a social evening at Odd Fellows hall.

A party of young ladies from Madbury also appeared in Great Falls on May Day—having taken their gentlemen friends out to ride. The girls "stood treat" for their partners, and shew them all there was to be seen in the village—the gents carrying the parasols, bouquets, &c., while their fair friends drove the teams.

MR. BROWN'S CASE.—The Worcester Spy states that Mr. Brown, from Worcester, who, it is reported committed suicide in Dunleith, Iowa, was murdered on board a boat, going to Galesburg, Ill. He was eating supper at the time, and was stabbed, as is supposed.—This version of the matter is contained in a letter from the wife of the deceased.

ALTON, ILL., May 3.—The Kansas and Alton Steamboat Co. have completed their arrangements, and boats will soon begin to leave this city direct with passengers and freight.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters loudly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a sloan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? We offer to you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone!

LOCAL.

☞ Messrs. Oliver and Benjamin Woodsum, of this city, were supposed by their friends here, to be on board the steamboat Cuba, which sunk on the 20th of April, on her passage from Mobile to Montgomery, Ala. Consequently, their friends had no little anxiety for their safety. This anxiety was relieved on Saturday, by the reception of a letter here, from another Portsmouth man, stating that they were indeed on board that vessel, and that he, in another steamer, was instrumental in taking them off. They are daily expected home.

☞ The sacred rite of baptism by immersion, was administered to three females, on Sunday, by Rev. Mr. Lamson, of the Middle street (Calvinist) church.

☞ Mrs. Wentworth, with the Mendelsohn Quintet Club, will give a Concert at the Temple to-morrow evening. Twice have they been greeted here by a full house, and all will be glad of an opportunity to hear them again.

☞ The Temperance Meeting announced for this evening at the Temple, is postponed to Monday evening May 19.

ABSENCE OF MIND.—The Boston train on the Eastern railroad, arriving here at 2 o'clock P. M., is eminently an accommodation train, and Mr. Marden is an accommodating conductor. Yesterday, a lady got out at Ipswich, and stood on the platform complaining that she had left an umbrella in the cars. The train was delayed, the conductor hunted in all the seats, when at last it was discovered that the lady held the umbrella over her head, and all the time had thus been sheltering herself from a pouring rain. She lifted her hands in surprise at the discovery, the passengers laughed, and the cars moved on.—Newburyport Herald.

The N. H. Patriot calls our announcement of the change of a portion of the Clerks in Courts of New Hampshire "quasi-official," and adds, "doubtless written by French."—Judge French did not write that announcement. When it was written, he was absent, and had been so, during the week, presiding at the Court of Common Pleas at Amherst. We had information, which we deemed reliable, respecting the change made, and the views of the Court in making them, and we gave it as a matter of intelligence, in which we supposed our readers would be interested. —Exeter News Letter.

The Know Nothing Council in Newburyport have elected delegates to their State Council, among whom is but one Fillmore man, one doubtful, and the remainder strongly opposed. It is expected that an attempt will be made to endorse the Fillmore and Donelson nominations, should it not be definitely ascertained previously that Fillmore declines. If such an attempt is made, it is thought that a division of that party is inevitable.—Herald.

HUMBOLT'S FELLOW TRAVELLER.—Great interest was excited at the last meeting of the Geographical Society of Paris, by the reading of a letter from M. Bonpland, in which this Nestor of French travellers, now 83 yrs. old, announces his intention of returning to Paris, to his old quarters, only to deliver his collection and manuscripts, and then go back again to his plantations in Uruguay.

A fugitive slave passed through this city from Virginia, on Wednesday last, on his passage to Canada. He had been thirteen days working his way thus far, and appeared to be in good health and spirits. His value in Virginia would not be short of $1000, for he was a good looking fellow; but the advertisement for him in the Virginia papers will not bring him back now—Newburyport Her.

INSURANCE FRAUD.—William Gill brought a suit in the Common Pleas Court at Lawrence, against the Hamilton Mutual Insurance Company, to recover insurance of $800 on a stock of furniture and stoves in a store in Roxbury, which was burnt on the night of July 3d, 1854. The plaintiff swore that his loss was $720, but the defendants proved that his stock was not worth much over $50, and a verdict was given in their favor.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The Windham County, Vt., Court last week, after a long and patient, though quite interesting hearing, found James M. Reed, a widower of forty summers, guilty of a breach of promise to marry Laura A. Wellman, a fair widow somewhat younger, and agreed that he should make her broken heart whole again by the payment of $675 as damages, besides the costs.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, May 2.

SENATE.—Mr. Benjamin of Louisiana, made a speech on the Kansas question, defending the position of the South and denouncing the course of the republicans. He stated that the South would adhere to the Constitution, but if its provisions were violated to her injury, she would "calmly but resolutely withdraw from the compact." He concluded by announcing his intention of joining the democratic party.

In condemning the American party, he remarked that it was now powerless for ought but mischeif and to help the republicans, the contest being narrowed down between the latter and the democracy, the whig party being extinct.

Mr. Cass complimented Mr. Benjamin, and eulogized squatter sovereignty.

Mr. Seward, in reply to a portion of Mr. Benjamin's remarks which respected himself, said the gentleman might have defined his own partisan history and future course, without bringing him before the Senate and the country. Seven years ago, when he entered the Senate, being aware that every word he said here was recorded at a heavy expense, he had announced that on no occasion and under no circumstances, should any member draw from him a statement or word by which, independently of the measures he maintained or defended, it could be known whether he was a whig, democrat or abolitionist, or that he belonged to one party or another. He thought it undignified thus to elevate party and give it a place in the history of the Senate. He had not risen to assign the objects or purposes of his public action—they explain themselves; if they do not, he was willing to rest under all the reproaches which posterity might cast on him.

Mr. Hale, alluding to what he said were grossly personal attacks on him, in Mr. Clay's recent speech, remarked that he had but one word to submit in reply—that it will take something besides malignity to redeem imbecility from contempt.

Mr. Clay, (springing to his feet, greatly excited), I defy the senator's malice as much as I contemn his baseness. No man shall assail my rights or those of my constituents, & shirk his responsibility by skulking behind the plea of non-combatancy. If he were animated by those heroic feelings which he professes, he would not come upon this floor, and, under the protection of its rules, seek immunity for his insolence. I know he is pleased with this attention. There are those of his class, who, like the London Attorney, "Mark Meddle," in the play, are ambitious of a kick. (Sensation.) Mr Clay concluded by remarking that he had nothing more to say to that senator, having twice declined his acquaintance; he asked pardon of the Senate for consuming so much time about a senator who soils the carpet upon which he treads.

Mr. Hale replied that he had never sought an introduction to Mr. Clay, but once, and that was on professional business, for the benefit of a citizen of Alabama.

Mr. Clay rejoined that he did not think his reputation for veracity would suffer by comparison with one who had repeatedly eaten his own words.

Mr. Hale replied that if he did eat his own words, he would have a more palatable meal than the Senator from Alabama, if he should undertake to eat his. (Laughter.)

HOUSE.—The House was engaged on private bills during the day, thirteen of which were passed.

Adjourned till Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 3d.—The President yesterday sent a message to Congress, enclosing the correspondence of the P. M General and the Panama Railroad Co. relative to the carrying of the mails, the latter claiming a greater rate than heretofore allowed.

The Department offered 18 cts. per lb. but the company insist on 22, which makes for the year ending March last, nearly $138,000.—The Postmaster says he unwillingly yields to this unjust demand, rather than risk the consequences which might follow the execution of the Company's threats of throwing up the contracts, the route to Panama being now the only direct and expeditious channel of communication between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The President endorses the recommendation of the P. M. General, that the latter be authorized to contract with the Railroad Co. for the conveyance of the mails across the Isthmus, at a price not exceeding $50,000 per annum.

Also, for a semi-monthly conveyance of the mails from New York and New Orleans to San Francisco, via Nicaragua, alternating with the present line, at $200,000 per annum.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Despatches from Lawrence state that a large meeting had been held in that city, on the subject of the murder of Sheriff Jones. Resolutions were passed disclaiming all responsibility for the act, and denouncing the murderers. A reward of $500 is offered for the apprehension of the assassin.

DAILY PROOF.—Almost daily some instance transpires of what Arnold's Globules and Vital Fluid are doing for the health of the community. But it is in giving strength and vitality, and in eradicating humors that their effect is most apparent. The demand for them is rapidly increasing throughout the country, as results of their peculiar chemical action become puplic.—Boston Herald.

On the passage from Tarna to the Crimea, no less than 272 horses were lost—horses, worth £75 apiece. By the first Sunday on board, they were short of forage. For the heavy brigade, of an average strength of 727 horses, there died in November, December, (1854,) January February and March (1855), 501, that is 77 per cent. In the light brigade, (under Cardigan, Lucan's relative and enemy,) the loss was 92 per cent during the same period.

Rev. Ebenezer Burt of Athol, preached on Sunday, March 2d, at the Baptist church, his birth-day sermon—he being 90 years of age. Although so old, his discourse was quite interesting, and he spoke with a good deal of energy.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW READY TO PAY
OF
FARMING LANDS,
In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credits and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, ensures a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large pro ducts. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to $2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands, one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of the land itself, and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for enough vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to that extent precisely are the incomes from their farms, and of course are their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this company, and their consequent yield over those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference of the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be bro't under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,

Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Other buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward all the materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be cheerfully given, on application, either personally or by letter, in English, French or German.

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

CHAPTER V.

From the North American Review.

☞ The reviewer cites a passage from Dr. Carpenter's treatise on Physiology, which, he says, is "addressed to men of science," and asserts that it contradicts his Essay on the effects of alcohol, thus placing Dr. Carpenter, as he assumes, in the very ungracious position of "himself maintaining that alcohol is food, not poison; unless Dr. Carpenter retracts his own language, unless he witholds the name of food from all substauces not forming tissue."

We hold the insinuation that Dr. Carpenter has spoken the truth, when obliged to do so, in a work addressed to men of science, while he intentionally suppresses or perverts it in a more popular essay, to be simply contemptible. Our reviewer "knows better than most people," that Dr. Carpenter's scientific reputation is as much concerned in his work on the physiological effects of alcohol, as in his work on physiology in general. He is also doubtless aware, that, if there is an apparent contradiction in these two works, candor requires that he should regard the Essay on this special subject as embodying Dr. Carpenter's more mature views of the effects of alcohol, and those which he is prepared to defend. But a fair interpretation does not suggest to the reader even an apparent contradiction. On the page containing the passage quoted by the reviewer, Dr. Carpenter classifies "the organic compounds usually employed as food by man," under four heads, the Saccharine, Oleaginous, Albuminous, and Gelatinous; and, speaking of the Saccharine, has the passage alluded to: "To this group belong starch, gum, woody fibre, and the cellulose of plants, which closely resemble each other in the proportion of their elements, and which may be converted into sugar by chemical processes of a simple kind, whilst alcohol, which is derived from sugar by the process of fermentation, has a composition which rather connects it with the next group."* But Dr. Carpenter is not here deciding the question what is food, physiologically considered. He is merely classifying the "compounds usually employed as food by man;" and after specifying starch, gum, woody fibre, and cellulose as food, he adds that alcohol is unlike these compounds both in its origin and its chemical composition, and in the latter respect is more nearly allied to the Oleaginous group. He does not intend to say here that alcohol is food, or is not food, physiologically considered. It is often taken with food by man; and he means to say of it precisely what he does say, and nothing more,—though certainly his remark suggests the inference that it cannot be properly classed with the elements of our food. In his other work, however, he discusses that question at length; and decides that, physiologically speaking, alcohol is not food. This "link of the chain of demonstration" therefore fails entirely.

The reviewer next quotes Liebig: "The amount of nourishment required by an animal for its support must be in a direct ratio with the quantity of oxygen taken into the system," and adds: "But under the term of nourishment our readers have learned to include alcohol, which nourishes as fuel." Liebig is also quoted and commented upon as follows:

"'Of all respiratory [calorific] matters, alcohol acts most rapidly,' that is, is most rapidly consumed, says Liebig. And in this rapidity there is great virtue, for starch, very good in itself, requires some hours before it becomes soluble in the alimentary canal of the bread-eater, so as to enter the blood, and there serve the purposes of respiration.—Both starch and alcohol are burned, and in burning, throw out force; but when the demand for force is urgent, the food which most rapidly creates it is the most valuable."

It is here proper to inform the reader, that alcohol is capable of producing three entirely different effects, in proportion to the amount taken into the stomach. If a very small quantity, well diluted, be taken when the stomach is nearly empty, (one drachm perhaps, in the case of most persons,) it is very rapidly burned up by combination in the blood with oxygen, and thus produces heat, it being converted into carbonic-acid gas and water. Only under these circumstances is Liebeg's assertion true. If a larger dose be taken, so as to be felt at all in the head, it has a stimulant and not a calorific effect. In this case it excites force; in the other, it produces heat merely. In a still larger dose, alcohol becomes a narcotic, and produces the stupor characteristic of the narcotic poisons. In this case it paralyzes force, and at the same time, instead of proving calorific, perceptibly diminishes the heat of the body. It is therefore only when alcohol ceases to be alcohol, or is burned up, that it is calorific; so long as it remains in the blood unchanged into carbonic acid and water, and manifests its real character, it is either stimulant or narcotic, according to the quantity taken.

These facts are ignored by the reviewer;—and from Liebig's unqualified assertion that alcohol is rapidly burned, he deduces the inconsequent conclusion that it is better food than starch and sugar, after repeating the groundless assertion that starch and sugar in being burned throw out force. To make this sentence from Liebig even theoretically true, we must read it thus: "Starch and alcohol are burned, and in burning throw out heat; but when the demand for heat is urgent, alcohol, as creating it the most rapidly, is the most valuable." Of course, in all other circumstances, starch is the most valuable. Practically, however, the sentence, even as altered, is not true. For, in order to prove merely calorific, alcohol must be taken in small quantities; and it is so rapidly burned up, that the small doses must be almost incessantly repeated. Even thus, if we may credit our reviewer, we canot long keep the supply; for he says, "Alcohol is not, and cannot be, continually present in the blood;" and adds, that if this were possible, it would produce a fatal effect. Not very reliable, valuable, or safe food this, we think! Starch and sugar are far better; since they may always be kept on hand in the blood, and never produce any dangerous effects. If it require "some hours" for the last-mentioned elements to enter the blood of the bread-eater, he has only to take another meal the same number of hours (as we all do) before the proceeds of the preceding one are consumed, and he will always have a sufficient amount of fuel on hand.—Alcohol, therefore, if it is food at all, is so because, like starch and sugar, it is a producer of heat, and not because it is force, or an exciter of force. So far as it affects force, it is a stimulant or a narcotic, and in no possible sense food.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1856.

COTTON, COTTON, COTTON.—Senator Clay, of Alabama, in a late fiery speech, glorifies cotton and slavery to the utmost, and boils over with rage at New England, and at liberty. He says, among other things:

I am ready to acknowledge, too, that the South is a large debtor, as well as creditor of New England, deriving from her many materials of necessity and luxury. As just and friendly neighbors, they are mutually useful and beneficial. But, as foes, neither lending nor borrowing, giving nor taking, the South would suffer far less than New England.

What New England has to sell, the South could make at home, buy elsewhere, or do without. What the South has to sell, New England cannot make at home, do without, or buy elsewhere. Cotton is the staple of her existence. She knows it as well as she knows the plant is grown and its fruit pinched by the hand of slaves.

These items, relating to economics, are copied that the New England reader may amuse himself with the idea of his absolute dependence on cotton. The fire and fury of his speech are so common-place, as not to be worth extracting.

MAINE MATTERS.—The Biddeford Union says:—

Making it [the Maine law] a prominent object or issue, this fall, might suit the purposes of the Argus and other border ruffian sheets, for it would enable them to do as they did last fall, talk about State issues, to the exclusion of national questions; but neither the friends of prohibition or the Republican presses will accept the issue now, and for a contest which in all senses will be of national rather than State importance.

On this, and similar articles, the Eastern Argus says:

If the existing statute—the Barnes bill—leads to intemperance, as the Morrill journals assert, is it their duty to let it alone, and devote themselves to an idle and worse than idle crusade about the affairs of Kansas?

The Argus here evidently prefers that the fusionists or Republicans of Maine should put in the repeal of the license laws, as an issue in the next election,—and fears the results as it says, further on,—

If, on some outside issue, the Dow men should carry the State next September, what sort of a submission to the people would they make? To entrust such persons with power again, would be to hazard just such a reign of petty tyranny as has recently been overthrown.

RETURNING TO MORAL SUASION.—Everybody knows that the cause of temperance has been seriously damaged in this State and city by mixing it up with politics, and like everything handled by politicians since 1851, it has been well nigh ruined. Honest temperance men have seen this and are now returning to moral suasion as the true source of redeeming the victims of rum. In this city, new temperance societies have been organized, and the old Washingtonian excitement and sincerity are likely soon to be revived. Every man will rejoice at this; for we have never yet seen the person who has been willing to defend drunkenness, though we have seen drunkards preaching temperance, and voting for liquor laws. A better day is dawning. The season of debauchery is nearly over.—Boston Courier.

We wish we could believe the last statement, or prophecy, that "the day of debauchery is nearly over." As it is, we hope for a better day, and expect patiently to wait, as well as labor for it. As to a return to moral suasion, we hope it will take place forthwith, in all who have left it, if any have done so. For ourselves, we have no need to return, inasmuch as we have not ceased, in twenty years or more, to urge the moral view wherever we could get a hearing. And we would respectfully invite all the writers and speakers, who so often bepraise moral suasion, to use it themselves, and make all the converts they can, to temperance, and not to its opposite!

WOMEN AND NEWSPAPERS. — The facetious editor of the Boston Republican is warm in the praise of his lady subscribers. He says:—

"Women are the best subscribers in the world to newspapers, magazines, etc. We have been an editor now going on for eight years, and we have never yet lost a single dollar by female subscribers. They seem to make it a point of conscientious duty to pay the preacher and the printer—two classes of the community that suffer more by bad pay, and no pay at all, than all the rest put together. Whenever we have a woman's name on our book, we know it is just as good for two dollars and a half as a picayune is for a ginger-cake."

Moreover, he asserts that ladies read the newspapers to which they subscribe more thoroughly than men, and concludes by declaring 'that he would rather have a dozen ladies upon his book than one man!'

SENSIBLE.—J. A. Nash, of the Board of Agriculture, in praising the Essex exhibition, makes the following hit; it would be good policy and humanity to give general heed to the suggestion:

No immorality was noted, unless it be to compel an ordinary yoke of cattle to take up a steep hill, and hold down the same, four tons on a cart. Your delegate is of opinion that oxen will make their working qualities quite as discernable under reasonable as under severe demands.

SPRING.

Spring has come at last with its opening buds and flowers, its balmy air, and fresh, invigorating sea-breezes. Yes, it is here, after an unusually cold and severe winter. How pleasant to think of the cold winter which has just closed, and to watch the grass, and the trees, as day by day they begin to assume a more and more lively and pleasant appearance; to hear the birds warble their melodious notes in the early morning, and to watch all the various changes of nature as she puts off her old robe in which she has been clothed and assumes one far more beautiful and becoming. These, and many other things remind us that spring has come in earnest.

The season of youth in life, is like the season of Spring in the year. Like Spring it passes away, and each of the seasons of life, as the seasons of year, take tkeir places. As the leaves, the buds, and the blossoms, appear in the spring, and give promise of what is to be in the seasons to come, so in youth the ideas and actions, which then present themselves, remind us of what we may expect in the seasons of manhood and old age. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap, are the words of the Bible. As the husbandman sows in the spring that, of which he expects to reap in the fall, so should we endeavor to instil into our minds in youth, such principles, as will be best fitted to make us happy and useful through life. If wrong principles and actions are instilled into our minds in youth, we must expect to reap the fruits of them in after life. As well might the husbandman plant tares, and expect to raise wheat, as we enforcing bad actions and principles upon the youthful mind, expect to raise therefrom a good, virtuous, and noble man. As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined, so also whatever takes effect upon our mind in youth the spring time of life will have an effect upon us for good or for evil throughout the remainder of our days.

Let us see to it then that we seek to inculcate into our minds, much that is good, so that in after life we may not have to regret a misspent youth.

F. E.

DEDICATION IN CONCORD.—The new and beautiful Church Edifice, just completed in Concord by the Second Congregational (Unitarian) Society, was dedicated in the afternoon of Thursday, May 1. Introductory Prayer, by Rev. H. F. Harrington, Cambridge, Mass. Reading Scriptures, by Rev. Dr. Barrett, Boston. Dedicatory Prayer, by Rev. M. G. Thomas, New Bedford, Mass.—Sermon, by Rev. A. B. Muzzey, Pastor.—Concluding Prayer, by Rev. Dr. Peabody, Portsmouth.

The day was pleasant, the church filled with people, and the services of an exceedingly interesting character. The edifice is one of great beauty, well finished, and furnished with a good organ and other conveniences.

The dimensions of the building on the ground are fifty-four by ninety feet. The tower on the front end projects from the main building five feet, and is twenty wide at the base. On the rear end of the building is a projection, or leanto, four by fifteen feet, for the accommodation of the pulpit.

There are ninety pews.

The whole height of the main building from top of foundation to top of cornice is thirty-one feet, six inches, and from thence to the apex of the roof is, vertically, seventeen feet.

The spire is 160 feet high.

The foundations of the building are constructed of blocks of granite, and laid in the most permanent manner, with bearings of cast iron where it was thought necessary. The superstructure is of hard burnt brick, covered on the exterior with stucco, and blocked off to imitate red sandstone. The tower above the first section is constructed of wood.

The room is thoroughly ventilated by means of four registers in the walls near the ceiling and one large register in the centre of the ceiling.

The cost of the edifice and furniture is about $15,000, exclusive of organ.

☞ One William Smith was committed to Portland jail on Thursday, for rape, committed in Bridgeton, on an old lady in a field. He has been once in the State Prison, for a similar offence, and was pardoned out, on a petition of his friends, and by advice of the officers of the prison.

A party of sixteen German Catholics have been examined and held to bail by the Philadelphia court, for the singular crime of torturing the child of a Jew. The boy says they seized him, carried him to an upper chamber, tied him to a bed and tortured him by running pins into his flesh, telling him they were punishing him because the Jews crucified Christ!

FIRE IN IPSWICH.—Saturday morning, between 3 and 4 o'clock, a barn and two pigs belonging to Jacob Brown, valued at about $100, were burned. What was amusing about the fire, was, that nobody knew of the loss till in the morning an Irishman went out with his bucket of swill to feed the swine, when he discovered that pigs, pen and all, were burned, and he quietly carried his swill back to the house again.—Newburyport Her.

GREAT LOSS ON PRODUCE.—It is now stated that the immense quantities of wheat purchased at Chicago, Milwaukee, and other points at the West, last fall, said at the time to be on account of the French government were in reality bought for parties in Boston, New York, &c., who will "realize" a loss of something near a million of dollars! Millions of bushels were purchased, and the prices paid were considered as high at the time, the purchasers expecting to realize an immense profit.

SELF-LOADING HAY CART.—By D. H. Thompson, of Fitchburg, Mass. This invention consists in the employment of rakes applied to a cart or wagon, in connection with an inclined frame, operating in such a way that the hay will be raked up and loaded into the cart or wagon by merely drawing the vehicle or wagon over the meadow. Truly the march of improvement is onward. The next contrivance, perhaps will be a self-moving barn, that goes out into the field, fills itself with hay, and then returns to its foundation.—Scientific American.

HALF AND HALF.—A party of Americans were lately taking the pleasant drive "round Montreal mountain," when they met an Indian woman with a baby on her back, whose light complexion and Caucassian features betrayed the infant as not altogether of "savage" origin. One of the ladies, stopping to admire the "pappoose," exclaimed, "Surely, my dear woman, that isn't an Indian baby." "Yes," said the squaw, with the sullen indifference of the race,—"Yes—some Indian; some soldier." My lady was satisfied, and the party drove on.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Billiousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone!

LOCAL.

☞ On Sunday evening an incendiary fire occurred in the house No. 104 State street, owned and occupied by Mrs. Hall. Mrs. H. was absent at the time, being at lecture. The members of another family, living on the lower floor of the house, heard some person go up stairs, and after a few moments go down again, but thought little of it, until in a few minutes they smelt smoke, and heard a crackling, as of fire. Ascending to Mrs. H.'s room they found a closet completely filled with fire. By the help of a neighbor, they put out the fire, but not until the closet, with its contents, was consumed. They then retired below stairs, but in a few minutes more, a fresh smoke induced their return, and they found a dress and other articles on fire in another closet, remote from the first. This latter fire was also soon extinguished.

The matches were all taken from a box, and newspapers removed from a table, doubtless being used by the incendiary, to kindle the fires in both closets, at once: but one burned faster than the other.

It is difficult to conceive a motive for this dastardly act.

☞ The five engines of this city were all in operation on Monday evening. The regulations of this fine Department require that the tubs shall be operated at each monthly meeting from the 1st of May to the 1st of October.

CONCERT THIS EVENING.—All the lovers of music will hear in mind that Mrs. Wentworth's Annual Concert will take place this evening, at the Temple. She will be assisted by the Mendelssohn Quintet Club of Boston.

This will be one of the greatest musical entertainments of the season. Three or four hundred tickets, we learn, have been already engaged. Our citizens always have taken a lively interest in Mrs. Wentworth, as well they may; for besides being a daughter of Portsmouth, she has stood at the head of her profession as a Concert vocalist, for the last five years, in Boston; and as is well known, that city is one of the most critical in America.—No vocalist is more popular—in fact she is admired by the whole musical community. We have no doubt she will meet a cordial reception.

DEATH OF DR. WARREN.—Died, at his residence in Park street, Boston, on Sunday morning, in his eightieth year, JOHN COLLINS WARREN, M. D., Emeritus Professor of Anatomy and Surgery in Harvard College.

For more than half a century, he stood at the head of the Surgery of New England, and for forty years, in addition to a most laborious private and hospital practice, was a most faithful and thorough teacher of anatomy and surgery.

He was the son of Dr. John Warren, surgeon-in-chief in the first revolutionary army, the nephew of General and Dr. Joseph Warren, and has proved himself worthy of the renowned stock from which he descended.

After receiving his early education in the public Latin School, where he obtained the first Franklin medal ever awarded, he graduated at the University which he since contributed to honor and enrich. He was a pupil in medicine with his father, but completed his primary studies in Europe, where he enjoyed the friendship and instruction of Sir Astley Cooper, as well as all the advantages which were to be had on the continent.

At the very early age of twenty-one—he was recalled home by the sudden death of his father, and immediately compelled to assume all the professional responsibilities and labors from which he was never afterwards wholly free.

It was Cobbett who said (and he told the truth too) that "women are never so amiable as when they are useful; and as for beauty, though men may fall in love with girls at play, there is nothing to make them stand to their love like seeing them at work."

MOOSE HUNTING.—A Maine Philosopher having been beguiled into hunting a moose for seven days last winter, until he finally "got him," thus sums up the profit and loss of the speculation.

"And when I came to reckon up—
True as I hope to holler,
I found by throwing out my time
I'd gained just half a dollar!
Now folks may talk about the chase
And with loud words may praise it,
But when I want moose-meat again,
I'll buy a calf and raise it!"

A NOBLE EXAMPLE.—Washington A. Bartlett, late first lieutenant of the United States ship Jamestown, who was a witness of the destitution existing in the Cape Verde Islands in October last, has taken the initiative measures for furnishing relief, by offering to "commence a subscription with one hundred bushels of corn, and to take charge of the vessel that may be loaded with the bounty of our people, and at my own cost and charge to find the means to man and navigate her to the Cape Verde Islands, and to sail the moment such a vessel can be loaded." We cannot doubt but this noble example will be followed until a ship load of provisions is furnished for the perishing inhabitants of those Islands.

The Washington Star says that the discovery of resin oil is justly hailed by the south as a means of balancing the relative influence and power between the southern and northern States. The revenue derivable from this source is almost incalculable; and as the oil can be manufactured upon the spot where the resin is produced, the entire profits will remain with the south.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LOTTERIES. } BALTIMORE, April 10, 1856.

THE undersigned, Commissioner of Lotteries of the State of Maryland, being in receipt daily of letters from various portions of the country, making inquiry as to Lottery Schemes, with which the country is flooded, and which purport to be "decided by the drawings of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries," takes this method to answer all such letters of inquiry, and inform the public that all Lotteries purporting to be decided by the Maryland Lotteries are gross frauds; that certain parties who style themselves Morris & Co., and pretend to be Managers or Sole Agents for the Grand Charter Lotteries at Cleaveland, Ohio, are impostors, and said lottery a fraud, having neither legal nor presumptive existence; and that another fictitious firm, styled Murry & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, are also impostors, and all lotteries which they profess to be managers or agents for, are also frauds.

RICHARD FRANCE, of this city, is the Contractor for drawing the Maryland Lotteries. The business is conducted under the firm of R. FRANCE & Co., as Managers, and they have no sole agents in the city of Baltimore. FARM LANDS FOR SALE.
The Illinois Central Railroad Company
IS NOW PREPARED TO SELL
OF
FARMING LANDS,
In Tracts of 40 acres and upwards, on long credit and at low rates of interest.

THESE lands were granted by the Government to aid in the construction of this Railroad, and include some of the richest and most fertile Prairies in the State, interspersed here and there with magnificent groves of oak and other timber. The Road extends from Chicago, on the northeast, to Cairo at the south, and from thence to Galena and Dunleith, in the north-west extreme of the State, and as all the lands lie within fifteen miles on each side of this Road, ready and cheap means are afforded by it for transporting the products of the lands to any of those points and from thence to Eastern and Southern markets. Moreover, the rapid growth of flourishing towns and villages along the line, and the great increase in population by immigration, etc. afford a substantial and growing home demand for farm produce.

The soil is a dark, rich mould, from one to five feet in depth, is gently rolling and peculiarly fitted for grazing cattle and sheep, or the cultivation of wheat, Indian corn, etc.

Economy in cultivating and great productiveness are the well known characteristics of Illinois lands. Trees are not required to be cut down, stumps grubbed, or stone picked off, as is generally the case in cultivating new land in the older States. The first crop of Indian corn, planted on the newly broken sod, usually repays the cost of plowing and fencing.

Wheat sown on the newly-turned sod is sure to yield very large profits. A man with a plow and two yoke of oxen will break one and a half to two acres per day. Contracts can be made for breaking, ready for corn or wheat, at from $2 to 2.50 per acre. By judicious management, the land may be plowed and fenced the first, and under a high state of cultivation the second year.

Corn, grain, cattle, etc. will be forwarded at reasonable rates to Chicago, for the Eastern market, and to Cairo for the Southern. The larger yield on the cheap lands of Illinois over the high priced lands in the Eastern and Middle States, is known to be much more than sufficient to pay the difference of transportation to the Eastern market.

Bituminous coal is mined at several points along the Road, and is a cheap and desirable fuel. It can be delivered at several points along the Road at $1.50 to $4 per ton; Wood can be had at the same rates per cord.

Those who think of settling in Iowa or Minnesota, should bear in mind, that lands there of any value, along the water courses and for many miles inland, have been disposed of;—that for those located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of those lands, corn or rye hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence Government lands thus situated, at $1.25 per acre are not so good investments as the lands of this company at the prices fixed.

The same remark holds good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses the distance to market is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands are carried either in wagons or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their products; and to this extent precisely are their incomes from their farms, and of course on their investments, annually and every year reduced.

The great fertility of the lands new offered for sale by this company and their consequent yield, are those of the Middle and Eastern States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this Road, and others with which it connects, and the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of summer, or the frosts of winter.

PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The Price will vary from $5 to $25, according to the quality, location, &c. Contracts for Deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual installments; the first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

Interest will be charged at only 3 per ct. per ann.

As a security to the performance of the contract the first two years interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one tenth of the land purchased shall yearly be brought under cultivation. Twenty per cent. from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

READY FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS,
Which can be set up in a few days, can be obtained from Responsible Persons.

They will be 12 ft. by 20 ft. divided into one living and three bed rooms, and will cost complete set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road $150 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates The Company will forward materials for such buildings over the Road promptly.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply those purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale price.

It is believed that the price, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will probably have increased their value four or five fold. When required an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information, and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, &c. by contract—or any other information—will be furnished, on application either personally or by letter, in English, French or German, addressed to Land Commissioner of Ill. Central R. Co.,

ERRORS OF TEETOTALISM.

CHAPTER VI.

From the North American Review.

But the reader may ask, What is the physiological objection to recognizing alcohol as food, since, like amylaceous and saccharine elements of food, it is, in the circumstances mentioned, a producer of heat? We answer, that the characteristic physiological effects of alcohol are its stimulant and narcotic powers; it is calorific only incidentally, and when taken in doses not sufficient to manifest its essential character. In its calorific capacity, we have seen too, it is utterly incapable of sustaining that equable temperature of the organism required for the highest development of the vital force. We have also seen that, even were it a valuable calorific element, this fact does not really concern us in our present argument, since the moderate man uses alcohol in stimulant doses at least, as the reviewer admits, and thus the idea of its being food, like starch and sugar, is entirely precluded.—Moreover, if the reviewer adopts the proposition that everything is food that is calorific, it is one altogether too pregnant for his purpose. If alcohol is food merely because it is calorific in certain circumstances, so are ether, and many of the essential oils; and the reviewer, if consistent, must also add these to his bill of fare. Physiologically considered, then, alcohol is a stimulant and a narcotic, and is not food.

Having previously asserted without the least warrant, as we have seen, that alcohol is nourishment, he next gathers strength to make the extraordinary statement that "the digestibility of alcohol (so to speak) surpasses that of any other aliment; it requires less elaboration to fit it for its ultimate purpose, namely, its translation into nervous food." Hitherto we have been told that all food (and of course alcohol) is converted into motive force. But this discrepancy has already been alluded to; and whether the reviewer is ignorant of the difference between motive force and nerve force, or is here unfairly substituting the latter term for the former, the reader may decide.—But what is "digestibility (so to speak)?"—This is a somewhat ambiguous expression for a scientific writer. Digestibility has reference to the ease and rapidity with which food is digested; but alcohol is not digested at all. It is absorbed into the blood from the stomach and the lower portions of the alimentary canal, without undergoing any previous change. We therefore make no further comments on the preceding quotation.

The third link of the chain of demonstration is thus constructed: "'Alcohol stands high as a respiratory material. Its use enables us to dispense with starch and sugar in our food.' (Liebig.) Is more wanted," demands the reviewer, "to show that alcohol is food?" Besides, the reviewer informs us, that the members of the Peace Congress at Frankfort ate an enormous amount of pudding, because they drank no wine. For "wine replaces pudding," and "pudding replaces wine;" but "poisons have not the property of replacing wholesome food." Therfore alcohol (wine* rather) is food. "Wine replaces pudding," which is doubtless food; and "therefore wine is food." But pudding also replaces wine, which is doubtless a stimulant; and therefore by the same reasoning pudding is a stimulant!

But let us examine these propositions in detail. And, first, has Liebig or any one else known an alcohol-drinker entirely to dispense with the amylaceous and saccharine elements in his food? It would certainly require more than a "moderate use" of alcohol to replace all of these elements. But the reviewer also says, in another connection, that alcohol "cannot be continually present in the blood." What would then ensue, if starch and sugar were dispensed with, when the alcohol failed? Death, we suppose, from the entire loss of animal heat. How then can the reviewer say, from Liebig, that alcohol "stands high" as a respiratory material? According to his own statement, it is superior to starch and sugar only in the fact of burning more rapidly; a quality which has been shown to render it unfit for calorific purposes, in an organism where a steady and uniform temperature is demanded. We should add, however, that we have quoted the reviewer's assertion that "alcohol cannot be constantly present in the blood," only in order to allow him to refute himself; the fact being, that it can be kept constantly present in the blood during an indefinite period, if the doses be often enough repeated. So long as a person exhales the odor of alcohol in his breath, he is exhaling alcohol from the blood as it circulates through the lungs, and so long it is of course present in the blood; and every one knows that some persons exhale alcohol in every expiration for weeks at a time. Our writer, however, asserts that, if the blood could be kept constantly charged with alcohol, it would produce fatal effects; and this assertion with some qualification is true. But, again to reverse his argument, "it is not the property" of wholesome food to produce fatal effects merely from being constantly present in the blood; therefore alcohol cannot be food. Besides, if alcohol is food because it "replaces" food, in some sense arsenic is also food; for, as the author asserts, a given amount of food with "regular doses" of arsenic added confers both on horses and men increased fullness of form and vigor, while the food alone would not have this effect. The reader must not, however, be surprised at this conclusion; since we have previously shown that arsenic is food by another formula which the reviewer has afforded us.

*Wine contains only from nine to about twenty-six per cent of alcohol; the remainder being water, sugar, acids, &c.

THE LIFE AND EXPLORATIONS OF JOHN C. FREMONT.—Colonel Fremont, one of the most adventurous spirits that has appeared in our time, some months ago placed in the hands of an eminent writer his papers containing his own remarkable personal narrative. His romantic history is to be illustrated from scenes taken in daguerreotype by himself while on his great expeditions. The work has been prepared under Fremont's own eye (an eye by the way not to be forgotten by those who have ever seen it) and will be published next month by Ticknor & Fields, Boston.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1856.

THE GOOD SOUGHT OUT.

The unknown and Boston correspondent "Argus," treats Uncle Toby to a column of pleas in favor of moderate rum drinking, of which the following item is a favorable specimen.

Argus.—But while all the evil effects resulting from their abuse, are paraded before the public in the police reports, their good effects, when judiciously administered, are from the nature of the circumstances, passed by unnoticed, except by the beneficiary. If a man's days are shortened by excess, the fact becomes notorious; but if an individual's life is sustained and prolonged, by spirituous liquors, through a series of years, (as in a case occuring under my own observation, and for which I have the highest medical authority,) nothing is known of the circumstances beyond the circle of his immediate friends. Therefore, in judging of their effects, the good should be carefully sought out and taken into account, as well as the evil. But Uncle Toby's pledge admits that intoxicating drinks may be useful as a medicine; and if so, why not leave the patient, who knows best when his system requires a stimulus, or his stomach a tonic, to his own discretion as to their use?

U. T.—There: is not every body convinced by that argument?

The pledge leaves the medical use of alcohol, untouched; therefore every body had better drink half a pint of rum per diem—every toper whose stomach requires a tonic to make him feel better, should be left to his own discretion!

Argus.—For instance, I stated, in general terms, that the use of stimulants was more common and customary in large cities than in the rural districts.

Uncle T.—If you had said only this, no reply would have been made.—Boston, of which you spoke particularly is the great liquor mart of New England,—and just now a very drunken place. But you said, in your former article:

"Their use, both in a sanitary and moral point of view, may be considered as indispensable to the condition of things (in which excitement is the habitual aliment both of the mind and body) which exists in a crowded metropolis, like ours."

To this we took exception then,—and take exception now, more particularly.

If Argus could show that dram drinking is good for morals and health in a city — but bad for both in the country, he would be a workman—but it cannot be shown, by him or anybody else,—though he does say, like a bungler, that it is indispensable in town, and undesirable in the country!

Argus.—He [Uncle Toby] begs the question, by replying that history, "in the last hundred years," shows the latter to be "quite as intemperate as the seaports." * * *

Again he says, "Judging from what we see of their [ardent spirits] effects in the city, they are not desirable anywhere" I trust he will not here forget the compliment he has just paid the city, of being quite as temperate as other places.

Uncle T.—This statement is not true. We have paid no such compliment. We have not shown the city to be as temperate as the country. What we did say, is just this: "The history of intemperance in the last hundred years in New England, shows that the farming, milling and lumbering towns, were quite as intemperate as the seaports." Now it is certain, that 40 years ago, this was exactly the case—but this is quite a different thing from showing them to be so now. They are not so now. The temperance reformation, by moral means, and legal attempts, in the last thirty years, has made great progress among American citizens in New England, in Boston and in the country, as to drinking habits. But there is this difference. In the country, the selling interest has been weakening,—gradually—and there is little foreign population. In Boston, the selling interest is very strong and rich; the worst men in the trade having been driven from the old stands in the country, have crept into the city, followed by the topers, gamblers and loafers of their several districts; and 40 or 50,000 foreign drinkers have been imported to swell their ranks. All these, like Argus, deem tippling to be indispensable both in a moral and sanitary point of view!—and therefore, Boston will not obey the law, but is just such a drinking place as Argus describes.

Surely here are the good things sought out.

THOSE LETTERS.—We have the authority of the friends of Mrs. Dalton for stating that the letters purporting to be addressed to young Sumner, and which were read at the trial of Coburn and Dalton, and were recently produced before the committee on pardons, were not actually written by Mrs. Dalton.—The letters produced only purported to be copies, made by one Gibbens, a fellow who testified that he wrote young Sumner's letters, and the friends of Mrs. Dalton asserts that they are base forgeries—that no letters of the kind were sent by her to Sumner.—Boston Papers.

Yet these same letters helped the culprits on one trial, and aided in getting up the sympathy which produced the great petition for pardon.

☞ The Aldermen of Portland, on the 5th, licensed six innholders, and four victuallers. Nothing was done as to licensing apothecaries or grocers.

MR. SATTER IN THE NEWSPAPERS.—We sincerely regret that Mr. Satter, the almost unrivalled pianist, has got into a discussion—nearly a quarrel,—with some of the musical editors. Dwight's Musical Journal, of Boston, and Willis's Musical Times, of New York, have been publishing his articles written for the latter paper,—accompanied with comments in no wise flattering to him as a writer.

Mr. Satter has given a very successful series of chamber concerts in Boston, during the past winter; and has written critical notices of each, for publication in the N. Y. Musical Times—in which he gives himself his share (though no more than his share) of praise. If any one is disposed to ask, how is he known as the author of this self-praise; we reply,—why, he signed his name to each, for publication.

An allusion to these letters, and an admonition given to Mr. Satter, among others writers, to use more moderation in speaking of musical characters, — by Mr. Dwight of the Journal of Music, is the occasion for rather a bitter personal letter to Dwight, from Satter—which is copied into the Journal from the Times.

We say we regret to see our friend Satter engaged in a war of words — for we fear he can't beat 'em all with his pen so easily as he can on a grand piano—though he does write uncommonly good English for a foreigner. People are altogether too fond of getting into a newspaper quarrel. This is very poor policy. If a fellow belies you, let him lie—don't raise him into notice by replying to him. This proneness to public discussion arises from a misconception.—We have seen enough to convince us that while a man cannot be much harmed by others writing, or talking about him, it is one of the easiest things in the world for him to write or talk himself down.

ASSAULT.—In Newburyport on Monday morning, three men, named Cordis, King, and Smith, were brought before the Police Court, yesterday morning, on complaint of Edward O'Neal, for assault and battery. The defendants are sailors, and belong to some vessel in the harbor. O'Neal stated that he was standing at his door, on Merrimac street, near the foot of Market street, on Friday evening last, about half past seven o'clock, when these men came up to him, and after a few words, drew knives and commenced fighting him. He having no weapon, other than an umbrella, could not well defend himself, and in the affray received a cut upon his hand, and had his coat cut in several places. The charge was for simple assault, and Cordis and King were convicted, the youngest, Smith, not having participated in the assault, was discharged. The Court fined the parties convicted four dollars and costs. H. G. Johnson, Esq., appeared for government, and, considering the condition of the parties at the time, asked for a light sentence.

Half drunken assaults, like these, may be set down, if any body pleases, among the good effects of a certain traffic.

GOOD.—The Lowell Citizen says an attempt at badgering a witness was cut short in the Supreme Court Saturday morning very pleasantly. The witness, a female, was asked how long she had lived with her husband, from whom, it appears, she has separated.—"That's my business, not yours, sir," was the curt reply. The counsel on both sides took fire—the one side against the witness, the other in her behalf. A brief passage-at-arms ensued, when the Court was appealed to, that it would compel the witness to answer. Judge Metcalf's reply was very brief, very quiet, and very pertinent:—"The woman's right.—It's none of your business!" No further attempt was made to pry into the domestic affairs of the witness.

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—Later from Kansas.—A letter from Westport, Kansas, dated 26th, says hopes are entertained that Sheriff Jones will recover.

Col. Sumner arrived at Lawrence on the 25th, with his whole command, and threatened the people for firing into his soldiers' tents. Gov. Robinson charged the act on the pro-slavery party. Sumner denied this, and said if the Governor would leave the matter to him he would soon settle it. Stringfellow had demanded to appear on behalf of Kansas, before the Congressional Commission, either in person, or by counsel, and introduce testimony, examine witnesses, etc. Howard, the chairman, refused the demand. The deputy sheriff of Douglas county is having writs issued for the arrest of 100 citizens of Lawrence, charged with the commission of crimes under territorial law. A standing army will be stationed at Lawrence until all the arrests are made, and the parties sent to Lecompton.

The United States soldiers employed to assist in making arrests in Lawrence apologized to the inhabitants for doing the disagreeable duty to which they had been ordered, and one of them said that "never before had he blushed to be called a United States soldier.

☞ David Hull, of Guilford, N. H., has been imprisoned on a charge of assault with intent to kill Benjamin Dow. Dow is the principal witness against him. Dow's wife is also arrested, and bound over in $100 to answer to a charge of adultery with Hull.

☞ In a Court at Cambridge, Mass., last week, Alice Baren, of Lowell, was fined $10 and costs, for selling liquor. This case had been to the Supreme Court on exceptions, and was thence sent back for sentence. The complaint was under the law of 1852.

LIQUOR CASE.—In the Supreme Court at Lowell, Mass., Judge Metcalf presiding, the suit of Abel Hunt of Watertown against Arad Moore of Waltham, Justice of the Peace, who issued the warrant to seize the plff.'s liquors in 1852, was decided in favor of the plff.—damages $50.

"If you are Coming, Why don't you Come along?"

THAT is the "mot" now-a-days. Every locomotive on every Railroad shrieks it. It is daily rapped out on every Telegraphic Line in the country. The echoing blows of our Ship Carpenters hourly exemplify it. The smith at his anvil hammers it out. The clanking Press with breathless haste, sends the cry home to every family—"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"

It is uttered in an hundred tongues in a hundred lands. It has sounded like a slogan through the political world, and the "Old Fogies" are creeping along among the baggage wagons and the wounded. Thought, that moved at a funeral pace, now rushes on a tremendous charge; and all the old remedies for Liver Complaint have given way for

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along."—Six paces to the front, is the word to everybody and everything that wants to be listened to or looked at. If you have anything to do, do it; if you wish any person to see anything, show it; if you have anything to be cured, CURE IT WITH

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you have a Bottle of Holman's Bitters in your house, you need not suffer from

Biliousness, Weakness at the Stomach, Indigestion, Heartburn, Lowness of Spirits,

Nor any of the diseases incident to the season.

It used to take six men to make a pin; now one boy, a pull, a clip, and two strokes, and that's the way the pins are made. Once it took a Physician, lots of precious time, and quantities of nauseous drugs to cure some simple disease of the Blood.—Now, a quarter expended in

HOLMAN'S SPRING BITTERS

Brings Life and Health, flowing spirits and rosy cheeks.

"If you are coming, why don't you come along?"—If you are sick and weak, why don't you cure yourself? Here we offer you the article that will do it—there is no mistake about it. Every body knows about HOLMAN'S BITTERS; they have been tried and have "toed the mark straight."

They are a good medicine; they are better than anything else for all Spring Complaints; they are just the best Bitters that can be bought—and that's the best thing we can say about them. "If you are coming, why don't you come along," before they are all gone?

LOCAL.

☞ The Concert by Mrs. Wentworth, with the assistance of the Mendlesshon Quintet Club, on Tuesday evening, was a rich treat. Mrs. W. improves on (musical) acquaintance, and is certainly one of the most charming of warblers. We need not particularize the different performances, for of course all who have much desire to know of her success, were on hand, and a good large audience they made. She gives no concerts on her own account, except in this her native city; and it must be especially pleasing to her, always to receive so cordial a greeting here. The Quintet Club performed with their usual spirit and accuracy—which is saying not a little.

Besides her four songs in the programme, Mrs. W. sang "I'll ne'er forget my home," exquisitely; also a verse from the Alpine Shepherd Boy's Lament, "O my home, native home, how dear are thy hills;" the "Normandy Maid," and "Comin' thro' the Rye"—all in response to repeated and hearty applause.

☞ We are pleased to observe respected indications of the flourishing condition of the condition of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association, and the general confidence placed in this important institution—the success of which is so intimately connected with the well-being of the young men of our city, and so of our whole community. An evidence of this popularity, was the application for admission, at the last meeting, by nearly thirty young men. The fee for membership was raised a few months ago, from $1 to $3; but it was deemed advisable to reduce it to the old rate, which was recently done; this result evinces with how much wisdom.

☞ Our neighbor, Gen. Hadley, of the Piscataqua House, invited in his friends to a capital lunch on Tuesday, on the occasion of the raising of a handsome new sign and post in front of his hotel. The sign was painted by Messrs. Swasey & Rowell, from the original design which has so long swung over his hospitable door, (ever since 1828) representing a military officer on horseback.

Gen. Hadley is thus by many years the veteran in the business here, and we hope another 28 years will find his shadow no less.

HIAWATHA.—Mrs. Annie Senter, the brilliant histrionic reader, will read from Longfellow's beautiful Poem, Hiawatha, on Thursday evening at the Temple. She will appear in the costume of Minnehaha. She was received most enthusiastically by a discriminating audience at Salem, Mass., a few days ago. We hope she will be greeted with a crowded house.

DEATHS IN APRIL.—The Record of mortality for the last month, as furnished by Mr. Robert Bell, is as follows:—

Males—five,—aged 2 years, 12, 22, 57, 68.
Females—five,—aged 1 year, 4, 20, 46, 88.

Total number of deaths for the month, only ten, in a population of ten thousand.

☞ The second lesson for Mr. Lamprey's Juvenile Class in Dancing, at Congress Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

☞ The train from Boston, last evening, which should have passed through this city at half-past 7, for Portland, did not arrive here until 9, being detained an hour and a half, by the breaking of a locomotive engine at Beverly.

☞ The Daily Chronicle which contained the proceedings of the Rockingham Bar on the death of Joseph Tilton, Esq., was mailed as usual for the Exeter News-Letter,—and its reception four days after, shows that it went "abroad," and did not get back in season. It probably went to Exeter, Maine.—The News-Letter says it has not failed before for six months.

☞ The May Day Breakfast and Fair of the Unitarian Society in Exeter, yielded a net profit of $223. There were no games of chance in the entertainment.

Portsmouth & Concord Railr'd.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, May 5.

SENATE.—Mr. Pugh presented the resolution of the Ohio Legislature in favor of the admission of Kansas with the Topeka Constitution.

Mr. Bayard advocated the adoption of his substitute for the bill reported by the Naval Committee, amendatory of the Act to promote the efficiency of the Navy. The substitute proposes to restore all officers, who have been placed on the reserve list, and investigate by Courts of Inquiry the capacity and fitness of all those dropped, who so desire.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House passed, by 74 majority, the bill especially defining the objects for which the balance of the appropriation for the improvement of Savannah river shall be expended.

The bill to give the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad Company the right of way through lands occupied by the Jefferson barracks also passed.

Mr. Clingman asked leave to submit to the following joint resolution:—

Resolved, That, for the better protection of the persons and property of American citizens, under the law of nations, and as secured by existing treaty stipulations with reference to the thoroughfares or lines of travel between the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the President be, and is hereby authorized to employ any part of the land or naval forces of the country, and call for and use any number of volunteers that may be necessary to provide for the safety of passengers and others of our citizens in those localities; and such forces may be used by him in aid of the local authorities, or otherwise, to ensure the observance of such rights as the Government of the United States and citizens may be entitled to enjoy.

Objection being made to the introduction of the resolution, Mr. Clingman moved a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Stephens inquired what disposition Mr. Clingman desired to make of the resolution.

Mr. Clingman thought it ought to pass;—but if the House should refer it, he would not object.

Mr. Stephens was willing to receive the resolution, but not to vote on its passage.

Mr. Jones of Tennessee understood that the resolution authorized the President to take possession of Central America. (Laughter.) He did'nt want it now.

Several voices—"We do—let's take it!"

Mr. Campbell of Ohio said he should like to amend the resolution, looking to the annexation of the British Provinces.

Mr. Clingman—"I shall make no motion cutting off such an amendment."

Mr. Jones of Tennessee, in order to see the resolutions in print, moved an adjournment, in which case the proposition would go over till next Monday.

After an ineffectual motion for a call of the House, an adjournment was effected by a vote of 65 against 63.

One of the most violent and continuous rain-storms ever known in New Orleans occurred there on the 27th of April. The streets and cellars were flooded, and everything was afloat. The storm commenced so suddenly at the Lake end of Ponchartrain railroad that men near the shore in skiffs had not time to land, and eight were supposed to be drowned. Large quantities of lumber were washed from the wharves, and boats were driven ashore by the waves.

PORTLAND, May 5.—The new powder mill at Gorham blew up this morning. Alfred R. Allen of Gorham, who was cleaning the stones at the time, was killed. He leaves a wife and three children.

During the siege of Sebastopol, a Russian shell buried itself in the side of a hill without the city, and opened a spring. A little fountain bubbled forth where the cannon shot had fallen, and during the remainder of the siege afforded to the thirsty troops who were stationed in that vicinity, an abundant supply of pure cold water.
